Heat Wave . . .

A RECORD 74 degrees—highest for December in 114 years—is registered at the Quincy Co-operative Bank's downtown branch on Hancock St. Saturday afternoon. Beth Ann Streng, former Miss Quincy Bay, didn't have to check the thermometer to know it was warm as she walks by with jacket over shoulder. Boston registered 73 degrees—highest ever recorded by the National Weather Service in December since it started keeping figures in 1870.

McCauley To Deliver Mid-Term Talk Monday

The City Council will meet in a rare morning session at 10 a.m. Monday, Jan. 7, to hear Mayor Francis X. McCauley deliver his mid-term address and to confirm James A. Sheets for a second year as Council President.

"Hopefully, it will be unanimous this time," said Sheets, "the calm after the storm."

A year ago, Sheets, who had put together a coalition of five votes to insure his election, received eight votes for the post with Councillor Joanne Condon voting "present."

Then dissident councillors tried to scuttle choice of Donna Pollara as clerk of committees and an attempt failed to have the routine adoption of Council rules sent to the Rules Committee.

The meeting is expected to proceed more smoothly this time.

McCauley, as has been his practice in the past, has refused to give a hint of the contents of his mid-term address to the Council and the city, except to say that he will have no prepared text.

Sheets said he will also give a brief address after his reelection to another year as president. Under Council rules, a president is allowed two years at the post and cannot run for another term. Sheets said the agenda for the Council meeting will contain five financial items, all of which probably will be sent to committee.

One of them calls for an appropriation of $30,000 to revalue personal property in the city, an item that was cut from McCauley's original budget for fiscal 1985 and later was permitted to die in Council when it was reintroduced by the Mayor.

A second item on the agenda will be a home rule petition seeking permission from the State Legislature to issue an abatement certificate for $2.5 million to General Dynamics and pay it off before the end of 1995.

The Council also is expected to reelect Jean Reardon as clerk of committees and Councillors Condon and Stephen J. McGrath to the Hospital Board of Supervisors.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. John McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, and the benediction by the Rev. Russell McCallie, minister of the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene.

$4.6 Million In New Construction

Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald reports that he issued 67 permits for construction estimated to cost $4,610,780 during the month of November.

The biggest permit issued was for an office building at 25 Newport Ave., Extension, North Quincy, to cost $4,075,000.

There were two permits for one family dwellings at $95,000, one for a garage at $5,000, 38 for residential alterations at $178,330, 12 for other alterations at $207,050, one removal at $1,900, seven signs at $9,700 and five miscellaneous jobs at $38,800.

Meeting Set For Jan. 7

Neighbors Raise Concerns Over Hospital Plans

By TOM HENSHAW

Members of the Hospital Board of Managers will meet informally Monday, Jan. 7, to listen to neighborhood complaints that have surfaced over the $62 million rebuilding plan for Quincy City Hospital.

The neighbors, organized as the Colonial/Heritage Neighborhood Association, have protested that Hospital Corp. of America, manager of the city-owned hospital, has not kept them informed of the plans.

"The hospital has shown no concern for the neighbors," said Mark Donovan of 72 Colonial Drive, spokesman for the association.

"We don't want the new hospital not to be built. But we want to be involved in the planning. So far our attempts to talk to the people at the hospital have gone unanswered."

"We will use every legal avenue open to us, possibly even an injunction, if they don't listen to us."

HCA hopes to break ground to replace the old and outdated buildings in the late summer or early fall of 1985. Construction is expected to take place over a period of up to three years.

"No public hearing had been held," said Donovan, enumerating the concerns of the membership of the association which claims to have 129 members.

"The citizens of Quincy have not been told what is completely involved in the rebuilding of the hospital. In fact, the neighbors were not notified until Dec. 10 nearly a month after plans had been finalized."

"The citizens of Quincy deserve to have an environmental impact study and the results of that study made public. What immediate and long term problems may arise from the excesses of water drainage, noise, dust and air pollution and sewage."

"The present construction calls for heavy construction equipment in the area of Presidents Hill, Glendale, Whitwell, Adams and other surrounding streets. No precautions have been made for the safety of children, excessive noise and traffic."

"The Association is also concerned with the devaluation of abutting and neighboring properties in the Hospital Hill area."

Donovan said one family on Hospital Hill tried to sell its home for $169,000 and was offered $132,000 "with the stipulation that if anything happened at the hospital they would be liable."

Donovan said neighboring residents have never been shown a scale model of the proposed new hospital and there is some question as to whether such a model is in existence.

"John Kane, chairman of the Board of Managers, says 'no,'" said Donovan. "Jeffrey Harsfield of HCA says, 'yes.'" Is there any possibility of HCA and the city of Quincy locating this model and making it available to the people?

"All we have been shown are some sketches of the new hospital on an overhead projector. We were shown the front of the hospital, not the back where the majority of the people live."

"Others claim to have seen a scale model but they haven't shown it to us. Maybe they fear our reaction."

Donovan said some parts of the new hospital come within 30 feet of homes in the area.

Commuter Boat April 1

The Squantum-to-Boston commuter boat suspended service last Friday but a spokesman for Harbour Crossing Co. said the daily runs to Foster's Wharf will be resumed April 1.

"We are in the commuter boat business to stay," said Walter J. Hannon, director of development, for the company, which is an affiliate of the O'Connell Brothers Construction Co. Hannon said the service, consisting of two round trips a day, was discontinued because of lack of ridership since work on the Southeast Expressway ended for the winter.

Dairy Mart Request At License Board Meeting Jan. 8

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A continued request from Dairy Mart Convenience Stores, Inc., for licenses for four former Dacey Bros. stores will be among the agenda items as the License Board resumes its meetings Tuesday, Jan. 8.

The meeting, the first since the holiday recess, will begin at 10 a.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall. It is open to the public.

The stores, recently purchased by Dairy Mart, which has 300 stores in its chain, are located at 213 Samoset Ave., 139 West Elm Ave., 263 Beal St., and 330 Washington St.

The C.V. licenses are to sell items such as coffee and sandwiches.

At the Dec. 11 meeting, Chyuan Jang, Dairy Mart Eastern Division general manager, was instructed by the board to clear up some problems with the Health Department and to speak to neighbors of the stores about their concerns.

Other agenda items scheduled for the meeting are:

- Request from Richard J. Carriger of Weymouth for common victualer and Lord's Day licenses for the Pilgrim Restaurant, 1472 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

- Continued hearing on a request from the Third Rail, 1185 Hancock St., to sell pizza.

- Request from Savvas Savyros for the common victualer-all alcoholic licenses held by Dutton's, 125 Sea St.

- Request from Hung Truong of Dorchester for a common victualer license for Saigon Kitchen, Inc., 25 Temple St.

- Continued hearing regarding a sign at Sousa & Sons, 60 Franklin St., South Quincy.

- Continued hearing regarding a lodging house at 25 Shaw St., Quincy Point.

- Continued hearing on a request from Joannis Koutsis and Valentine Koutsis of Norwood for a common victualer license for Valentine's, 150 Parkingway.

- Request from Stephen Cuestau of Squantum for a lodging house license for 10 Edgewood Circle, formerly held by Richard Flippin.

South Shore Hospice In Annual Fund Drive

The Hospice of the South Shore, Inc. has launched its annual fund drive in Quincy and 10 neighboring communities where the program provides home health care and support services to the terminally ill.

Contributions will help Hospice to answer the physical, psychological, social and spiritual needs of patients and families dealing with a life-threatening illness.

Donald C. Olson of Braintree, president of the VNA Foundation of the South Shore, Inc. is heading up the fund drive for Hospice, which is a VNA affiliate.

In his letter to contributors Olson said:

"Living life fully and making the most of precious time is a vital part of the mission of Hospice of the South Shore. Because care is never denied due to inability to pay, Hospice will provide over $100,000 in subsidized care in 1985. Your donation makes this possible."

Hospice is an alternative to hospital and nursing care in which health care professionals and trained volunteers help the family to care for their loved one at home in familiar and comforting surroundings.

Donations to Hospice of the South Shore, Inc. may be sent to 400 Franklin St., Braintree, 02184. All contributions are tax-deductible.

Boston Gear Wins Senate Award

Boston Gear, one of the nation's leading manufacturers of power transmission products, has won the 1984 U.S. Senate Productivity Award.

The award, presented by U.S. Senator Paul E. Tsongas, was made in recognition of Boston Gear's successful programs to increase productivity and international competitiveness.

Tsongas presented the U.S. Senate Productivity Award bronze medallion to Hobart Rowe of Scituate, Quality Assurance Manager of Boston Gear, during a Senate reception honoring the nation's first winners of the newly created award. Boston Gear is the first Massachusetts company to win this coveted award, and one of only 34 award recipients nationwide, thus far.

In presenting the award, Tsongas said:

"As a winner of the U.S. Senate Productivity Award, your organization serves as a leader for us all. I commend your outstanding productivity efforts. You have shown initiative and foresight, and I encourage others to follow your fine example. Your organization not only recognized the need to enhance performance in order to remain competitive in the world market — you did something about it."

Each U.S. Senator is entitled to present one Productivity Award each year to a company in the Senator's home state. Boston Gear was chosen from among a group of candidates presented to the State Productivity Board, which was established to assist in the selection process. The Board judged the candidates on the basis of their commitment to a productivity improvement activity that can benefit other organizations.

Since 1980, Boston Gear's Total Quality Assurance Program has been instrumental in increasing productivity through improved quality. Thus far, the program has reduced the company's annual manufacturing costs by over $400,000.

For over 100 years, Boston Gear has been a major manufacturer of gears, reduction drives, and other power transmission devices used throughout the world.

For further information on Boston Gear's productivity programs, contact: Boston Gear, Quality Assurance Division, 14 Hayward Street, Quincy, Ma. 02171. Telephone: (617) 328-3300.

CATV Regulations Ruled Valid

Security deposit regulations enacted by the State Community Antenna Television Commission are valid, according to a recent decision of the Suffolk Superior Court.

CATV Commissioner Rosalind A. Niles announced that Judge Mel Greenberg recently rejected the challenge of the New England Cable Television Association and eight cable television operators to the Commission's authority to promulgate regulations governing security deposits held on cable converter boxes.

The security deposit regulations, adopted on June 14, place a ceiling on deposits at $50 or the cost of the converter, whichever is less, require the payment of interest to subscribers at 7 per cent twice annually, for all deposits held six months or more and require operators to place deposits in separate, interest bearing accounts.

"The court's decision enables our commission to proceed with regulations that are designed to protect the interests of cable subscribers in Massachusetts," said Commissioner Rosalind A. Niles.

Secretary of Consumer Affairs and Business Regulation Paula W. Gold viewed the ruling as "a victory for cable subscribers throughout the state."

"More importantly," Gold added, "while the cable regulations recognize the legitimate interests of the industry in protecting their equipment, the court decision affirms the important role the state can play in assuring that these business practices do not unfairly impact upon consumers."

The first interest payments to some subscribers were required as of Dec. 28.

18-Year Old Held In Younger Brother's Death

An 18-year-old South Boston youth pleaded innocent in Quincy District Court Monday to charges that he murdered his 16-year-old brother in North Quincy during what police said was a dispute over a bottle of whiskey.

The body of David Morgan, with multiple stab wounds, was found sprawled over a coffee table in the living room of his mother's apartment at 28 Newbury St.

His brother, Stephen, was charged with murder and assault and battery with a dangerous weapon. Judge Albert L. Kramer ordered him sent to Bridgewater State Hospital for 20 days of psychiatric observation.

Capt. David Rowell, head of the Quincy Police Detective Bureau, said three younger children, ages 3 to 6, may have witnessed the stabbing. He said both brothers appeared to have been drinking at the time.

Police who were summoned to the apartment at 3 a.m. by a trouble call said they found David Morgan still breathing but he was dead by the time he reached Quincy City Hospital despite the attempts of medics to administer CPR.

Rowell said the suspect had fled but later returned and was arrested without resistance by Officers Ronald McKim and Anthony DiBona.

He said the apparent murder weapon, a fish filleting knife, was found on the premises with what appeared to be blood on it. The knife was sent to the State Police lab in Boston for analysis.

Rowell said some clothing that was worn by Stephen Morgan also was sent to the State Police lab.

The mother of the Morgan Brothers, Frances Morgan, was on the premises, said Rowell, but it was not established whether she witnessed the stabbing.

Rowell said indications were that the brothers had been arguing over a bottle of whiskey and that at least one of the younger children was present at the time.

Tax Refunds Due 30 Residents

The Internal Revenue Service is trying to locate 30 residents or former residents of Quincy who are owed refunds on their 1983 income taxes.

John D. Johnson, district director for the IRS, said the taxpayers may have moved or changed their last names during the year and failed to notify the IRS or their handwriting may have been illegible.

The names on the IRS list are:

Jean R. Brosseau, Pauline Brown (deceased) and Anna S. Yanopky, Susan A. Cameron, Joseph Cristwa, Patrick Dwyer, Henry G. Falda (deceased), Harry Hain, Constance Holt, Judith A. Jones, B. Natalie Kodak.

Gina R. Moffett, Paula Moore, Mark E. and Dorothy M. Pohl, Janet R. Stevens, William E. Strachan, Charles W. Taylor, Richard C. Tilley, Kevin M. Browder, William C. Campbell, Daniel K. Gresham.

Ann Lewis Hasnlon, Ann Lewis, Rebecca M.

Mitchell, John Hanlon, Robin L. Parker, Mary G. and Richard E. Cobb, Eduardo and Nora Galvez, Krishnan B. and P. Padmaja Gireesh, Warren D. Harford, Kris Anne Hurley.

Those whose names are on the list should call the IRS's toll free number 1-800-424-1040.

Con Com Meets On QSD Project

The Conservation Commission was scheduled to meet yesterday (Wednesday) in the conference room at City Hall to discuss construction of a multi-unit apartment building on Quincy Shore Drive.

The item on the agenda was a request by Noreno, Inc., of Newton for permission to remove the 40-foot high Wollaston Bowladrome building at the corner of Vassall St. and the drive to make way for the new building.

The first item to be taken up at the 7:30 p.m. meeting was a notice of intent by the state to perform maintenance dredging of silt and sand from the channel and basin in Quincy Bay near the Wollaston and Squantum Yacht Clubs.

Also on the agenda was a request by the city for permission to repair the existing seawall on Edgewater Drive between Darrow and Bell Sts.

Frightened Off

Someone tried to kick in the back door of Beau's Place, Washington St., Quincy Point, shortly after closing time Sunday morning but was frightened away when he found the bartender still in the building.

Chevrolet Recovered

A 1981 Chevrolet Chevette, reported stolen from Diane Murray of Milton, was recovered early Sunday abandoned on Burgin Parkway after it had jumped the curb into Freedom Park. The driver had fled.

Business, Education Join To Aid Young Find Work

A South Shore Regional Education Foundation has been formed to create and maintain a partnership between business and education to enhance the skills of young people and help them find jobs in which they will be happy.

The Foundation, set up as a nonprofit, charitable and educational organization, is the result of a year's work by a 40-member Business and Education Committee appointed by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

"The foundation's operations will be divided into two divisions, a funding division and a business resource division," said Mark Cullings of Hingham, who was chosen to be its first president. "Each division will operate two separate programs."

The funding division, said Warren Noble, vice president of community affairs for the Chamber and a member of the foundation's board of directors, "will operate a mini-grant program providing cash grants to teachers."

"It will also operate an organizational grant program that will provide operational grants to certain accredited organizations serving South Shore youths."

"The business Resource Division," said Cullings, "will operate two programs that are non-cash in nature. "Be First" (Business-Education for Investing Resources in Scholarship and Training) is an adaptation of the adopt-a-school movement.

"The career awareness program is a comprehensive effort to promote greater understanding among youth of various careers, the worlds of work, and specific opportunities within the region."

Incorporators of the foundation include:

Noble and Cullings, who is a member of the Hingham School Committee; John Doody, president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Eleanor Gowan, principal of Scituate High School; Lawrence Fitch, president of Jobs for Bay State Graduates.

Terry Fancher, manager of business and transportation at the Chamber; Peter Mollo, faculty coordinator in cooperative education at Northeastern; Amy Geogan, vice president of the Bank of Boston; Ronald Zooleck, executive vice president of the Chamber.

Ron Cheney of Harrison and Maguire is general counsel for the Foundation.

Initial item on the foundation agenda is the first business commitment. Interested parties should contact Terry Fancher at 479-1111.

Water Board Appointee?

Who will be Quincy's representative on the powerful governing board of the newly created Water Resources Authority?

That intriguing question around City Hall this week has the Speculation Department working over-time.

Several names are being mentioned as the possible Quincy appointee to the 11-member board that will play a major role in the cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay:

- City Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson.
- Jack Walsh, community activist and head of the Community Advisory Committee dealing with Nut Island pollution.
- Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney who lobbied for the bill that spelled out that Quincy and Winthrop — both of whom have problem sewage treatment plants — be represented on the governing board.

• Former ward 1 Councillor Leo Kelly, chairman of the City Council's Environmental Committee who has waged a long battle against Quincy Bay pollution.

• Councillor at-large Patricia Toland, chairman of the City Council's Beautification Committee and a strong supporter of Gov. Michael Dukakis.

Mayor Francis McCauley plans to meet with David Stanley, the city's consultant on harbor pollution and Peter Koff, special counsel, to discuss the mechanics of the legislation that created the new authority and was quickly signed into law two weeks ago by Governor Dukakis.

McCauley says he isn't sure whether he is required to submit one name or a list of names to Dukakis who will make the first appointment.

But a source who has closely looked over the legislation says that McCauley will be called on to submit three names to Dukakis and the letter will select one for the appointment.

McCauley, who would prefer to make his own appointment directly, has indicated he will consider someone with a knowledge of the pollution problem and possibly someone with a legal background or maybe a city official.

As of this writing no lawyer's name is being rumored.

As of now, the governing board is a non-paying job. The Legislature did not include an appropriation in the bill for a salary, apparently preferring to leave that up to the board itself.

Some believe the job will carry with it an eventual expense account or a salary of approximately $10,000.

The board will have a lot of muscle setting policy for the authority.

The authority, in turn, will oversee millions of dollars in contracts to clean up the harbor — and keep it clean.

Some 800 employees of the MDC will be transferred to work under the authority and another 200 jobs will probably be created.

It's going to be a major milestone in the state's history.

And, who will be the Quincy representative to help move it ahead?

MAYOR Francis McCauley celebrated his 55th birthday quietly with his family last week.

"No big deal," he said, declining a birthday interview on Quincy Sun Ch. 8. "I have a birthday every year."

FORMER City Council President William Ellis and his wife, Katherine, have been living in Ft. Pierce, Fla. for a number of years now and keep in touch with Quincy via mail subscription to The Sun.

They write they are delighted in having Bishop Thomas Daily in Florida as their bishop. "We received a great gift from the Boston Archdiocese," is the way they put it.

They fondly recall that he was at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, when their children went to school there.

HOPE Frank Messina really steps up the renovation of the old Sears building and conversion of it into small specialty shops.

Walk by that building at night and it's a long, dark walk. Makes you realize how bit and empty the building is and how important it is to downtown Quincy for it to be open with plenty of activity.

Christmas is a time for giving and giving thanks to people who are poor and don't get as much as you do. So even if you don't get what you want, be happy you got something at all.

spokesman for the hospital administration, said there is "no model of the new hospital per se but there is an etching." He said there is a scale model of the Gordon House, a part of the hospital complex, and model rooms of the new hospital have been shown.

He said Kane has asked the members of the association to submit a list of their complaints which will be discussed at the Jan. 7 meeting.

The list of complaints drawn up by the association include:

"How can the hospital be showing concern for the neighborhood if it has notified the neighborhood of their proposed building plans only after it has already gone through approval procedures with the city.

"The hospital and city have not taken the necessary time to prepare an environmental impact study for the proposed site construction. We request and expect a complete study be made.

"Environmental concerns result from construction 30 feet from our homes, water drainage, property damage, noise, traffic, parking, dust, dirt and access to construction site.

"The inability to sell our homes for fair market values due to proposed construction site of hospital.

"The proximity of proposed site of construction diminishes the quality of life.

"The plans, initially called for a new structure on the site of existing building, but no acceptable reasons were given for a drastic site change.

"Past record of concerns for neighborhood has been deplorable: oil spill, fence maintenance, trash, excess noise, power plant smoke, etc.

"No long range plan for parking given.

"No architectural model displayed at the Dec. 10 meeting.

"Artist's renderings from the Colonial Drive side of the proposed site were not shown.

"Lack of barrier (street-open space) between quiet residential area and overwhelming hospital complex."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Mayor Burgin Calls For More Fire Officers

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin, in an inaugural address starting his first full term as mayor of Quincy, called for an increase in officers in the Quincy Fire Department from two captains and 12 lieutenants to 11 captains and 10 lieutenants.

The mayor also asked for an immediate start to construction of the new Central Fire Station on Quincy Ave. near Christ Church and an enclosed municipal stadium on the site of Pfaffman's Oval at the junction of Hancock St. and Southern Railway.

And he recommended the city purchase the parking land that was now being leased and that an unpaid commission of citizens be set up to study a proposal to build a new City Hall.

TWIN YACHTS STARTED

Construction was started at the Quincy Adams Yacht Yard on sister 71-foot yaws, the first time that two such large yachts of the same design have every been built side-by-side in the same yard.

The two luxury crafts, both due for early spring delivery, were ordered by Thomas Dabney of Medfield and Carl J. Schmidlapp II of Cincinnati.

TRUNKS FOR BOXERS

Dominic A. Grazio was re-elected president of the Community Club of South Quincy, whose members voted to buy trunks for Charles Daley and Bruce Campbell so they could compete in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

STERLING SILVER

Silver is harder than gold but softer than copper. Because it is too soft in its pure state to be practical for commercial use, silver is usually mixed with copper to form an alloy. Through the ages, the percentage of pure silver in "silver" has greatly varied. Edward I of England, in 1300, decreed that a definite standard be established. This standard, 925 parts of pure silver to 75 parts of copper, is known as "sterling." The word "sterling" may have been derived from a group of German traders, the Easterlings, who came to England in the 17th century to buy goods. They always paid for their purchases with pieces of bright silver of uniform purity that were eventually called Easterlings.

For silver or gold pieces the place to come for exquisite jewelry is TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY. We cater to the tastes of our clientele. If you prefer simple or ornate styles you'll find it here at 1163 Hancock St. Remember when you give a gift of gold or silver, you're giving something that will long be remembered and not fade away like a bouquet of flowers. Our friendly staff will always help you with your purchases and make suggestions if you want. Shop with us Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 11-4, Tel. 479-9484.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

A New Year is here. The old year probably had moments of fear, distress, disappointment and unfulfilled hopes. But you had days of good cheer, beauty, variety and happiness too. It is the usual pattern of life.

There is really no use in mourning the past year or the years before. The New Year is here for all of us. It gives all of us a chance for new hopes, new dreams, new individuals if we make it so. It gives us a new chance to have good intentions; a chance to have whole-hearted instead of half-hearted resolution to do better. It gives us a chance to live better through guidance from the Good Book and the counsel therein. It gives us a chance to do good things; write long delayed letters, live cheerfully with new understanding and concern for others. It gives us a chance to have new enthusiasm.

It is a God given opportunity for all of us. Can you think of any reason why any one should not at least try to make the most of it?

Kiwanians Sponsor Course In Pediatric Trauma

A course in Pediatric Trauma Management for Basic and Advanced Emergency Medical Technicians will be held Saturday, Jan. 12, at the South Shore Mental Health Center, 460 Quincy Ave.

The program is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Quincy, hosted by Quincy City Hospital and presented by the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute at the New England Medical Center in Boston.

The day will begin with registration and coffee at 8:30 a.m., the first class at 9 a.m., a break for lunch at 12 noon and adjournment at 5 p.m.

The faculty includes Richard E. Murphy, a senior physician assistant at the Pediatric Trauma Institute and instructor in surgery at Tufts School of Medicine; Dr. Kerry Bergman, resident in surgery at New England Medical Center; and Meredith Leiter, assistant nurse leader at the Pediatric Trauma Institute.

Class topics will include: Demographics of Pediatric Trauma - A look at the statistics of childhood injuries and deaths, their causes, frequency, outcome, and their relationship to pediatric emergency care.

Children, Not Small Adults - Anatomical and physiological differences in children; their unique response to shock; and their special needs during emergency care.

Principles of Multiple System Injury Management - Getting ready, physical assessment; establishing priorities; looking for occult injury; avoiding pitfalls; and putting it all together.

Head Injury - The problem; assessment; treatments; associated injuries; and the possible outcome.

Respiratory Emergencies - Airway assessment; position; basic and advanced interventions; and the unique pediatric response.

Chest Trauma - Assessment; physical differences; treatments; and associated injuries.

Faculty and Guest Panel - A look at the issues of child abuse, psychosocial and legal problems in pediatric emergency care, and an opportunity for participants to ask questions of the faculty and guests regarding local and special topics of concern.

In the past three years, the Kiwanis Club of Quincy has donated more than $10,000 to the Pediatric Trauma Institute.

The course has been approved by the Massachusetts Office of Emergency Medical Services for seven years of continuing education credit for basic and advanced emergency medical technicians.

Feast Of Lights At Sacred Heart Jan. 6

The ninth annual Ecumenical Epiphany Feast of Lights Service will be held Sunday, Jan. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart church, North Quincy.

The event will be enriched by the addition of original costumes.

It is sponsored by the Inter-Church Council of North Quincy and Wollaston which lists 12 member congregations.

Fr. Robert J. Boyle of Star of the Sea and Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern of Wollaston Congregational will be welcomed to this year's event.

Open to the public, the service will feature A Cappella Choir and the Brass Ensemble of Eastern Nazarene College, under the direction of Prof. Robert Howard.

The Rev. Eugene Langevin will deliver a brief homily. Clergy and laity from all member churches will participate. A social hour will follow the service.

A candle-lighting ceremony is a central feature of the event, representing the light of Christ entering the world and "gradually spreading through time and space," according to the Rev. William D. Underhill of St. Chrysostom's Church, one of the council members.

"The candle-lighting ceremony climaxes with each worshiper holding a lighted candle to carry forth into the world," he said.

The members of the Inter-Church Council now include Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church, First Church of Squantum, Star of the Sea Roman Catholic Church, Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Wollaston Church of the Nazarene, First Baptist Church of Wollaston, Union Congregational Church, Wollaston Congregational Church, Wollaston Lutheran Church, The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church, and Quincy Community United Methodist Church.

The committee planning the service points out that this Feast of Lights is for the entire community and open to the public. There will be ample room for all who wish to attend.

2 Residents Graduate

From Elder Advocates Program

Esther Harrington and Don Strong, both of Quincy, recently graduated from the Fall 1984 Elder Advocates Training Program sponsored by the Executive Office of Elder Affairs.

The completion of the program represents two full days of training.

Issues covered at each training session included Elder Consumer Rights; Pension Rights; Elderly Housing and Transportation Advocacy; and a two part series on Medigap Health Insurance Coverage.

In addition, presentations were made on Health Insurance issues, Nursing Home Residents' rights as promoted by the Massachusetts Nursing Home Ombudsman Program, and an overview of the legislative process.

Hunger Fighter QCA Speaker

Mrs. Esther Sanger, who feeds the indigent and hungry of Quincy daily from her camper in Quincy Square was scheduled to speak at a meeting of the Quincy Citizens Association last night (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. in the Montclair Men's Club.

The QCA was to install the following officers who were reelected at the recent annual meeting: Arthur M. Chandler, president; Joseph N. Gildea Sr., vice president; Dorothy C. Kelly, secretary; and Sau! Lipsitz, treasurer.

A Big Quincy Win Weekend

By TOM SULLIVAN

Last year Quincy's first-year basketball coach, Rich DeCristofaro, enjoyed only four victories but this season the Presidents already have three and DeCristofaro won't soon forget last weekend.

The Presidents, going in with a 1-2 record, went to Weymouth and won the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament with a 67-56 decision over the host team in the championship game Saturday night.

Two nights earlier the Presidents had evened their record at 2-2 with a 64-61 victory over Weymouth North.

Quincy hosts Stoughton tonight (Thursday) at 7:30, will open its Suburban League season at home against Waltham Saturday at 7:30 and next Tuesday will play at Brookline at 3:30.

"Winning this tournament is great and is a tribute to our players' great determination," said DeCristofaro. "They did a fantastic job and regardless of what we do the rest of the season, this will be one of the highlights."

"They have a truly great player in (Nathan) Bailey, but we didn't gear our game to stop him. We just played our regular game and gave him his points."

"Billy Shaughnessy has been tremendous for us but several of the other boys are also playing outstanding ball and we have been showing pretty good scoring balance. The boys are showing great enthusiasm and this has been a big point for us. Also, most of them have not experienced many wins and their experience is beginning to pay off. I'm confident we will win a lot more games this season."

Shaughnessy exploded for 34 points in the championship win over Weymouth South. Don Parry, Pat Faherty and Daron Tucker each scored eight points.

The Presidents showed good scoring balance in the win over Weymouth North with five players hitting double figures.

Weymouth took a 19-17 first period lead and the teams were tied at 35 at halftime.

After three quarters it was still tied, 48-48. Quincy moved in front, 60-53, but Weymouth, sparked by Brian Connors, who scored 30 points, scored six points in a row to move to within a point. Tucker made it 61-59 with a free throw but Weymouth tied it on Jack Matheson's hoop.

Parry's foul shot proved to be the clincher but Weymouth turned the ball over and Faherty added two foul shots for the final three-point margin.

Shaughnessy had another big night with 22 points, while Parry had 13 and Faherty, Tucker and Mike Farrand had 10 points each.

North Off To Slow Start

North Quincy's boys' basketball team is off to a slow start with a 1-4 record.

Coach Eddie Miller hopes the Raiders would play more consistently tonight (Thursday) when they open their Suburban League season at home against Brookline at 7 p.m.

North will play at Brockton Saturday night and will host Newton North Tuesday at 3:30.

The Raiders lost both games last weekend in the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament, although they played fine basketball at times and did a good job in the consolation game Saturday, losing to Weymouth North, 51-46.

Freshman Dave Lawless scored 11 points for North, while juniors Chris Rossi and Brian Morris added 10 apiece.

In the opening game North lost to Weymouth South, 71-59, with the Wildcats taking advantage of a big size advantage.

Nathan Bailey, Weymouth's 6-6 forward, who is being eyed by many colleges, paced his team with 20 points and had a big night on the boards.

"Size was the big difference in this game," said Miller. "Inexperience was another problem. We have a young team with only two players with any varsity experience to speak of. We showed our inexperience with some inconsisent play in the first half."

Mark Scanlon paced the Raiders with 17 points, nine from the foul line. Ken Runge had 13, Morris 10 and Lawless eight, all from the foul line. North outscored Weymouth from the foul line, 25-15.

"We just have to keep plugging and hope we will steadily improve," Miller said. "We will win some games, but we are going to find the going rough in the strong Suburban League."

MARILYN McBride of Quincy, an Abp. Williams cheerleader, presents gift to Quincy's Ken Mahar, varsity football player, at annual football banquet.

Long Win Streak Comes To End For Raiderettes

The North Quincy girls' track team was upset by Newton North, 48½-37½, in its opening meet, ending a streak of 20 wins in a row. It was only the Raiderettes' second loss in the last 44 meets and their first since 1981.

Although coach Lou Tozzi refused to use it as an alibi, it is a fact that the Raiderettes were missing two of their top scorers, Tricia Barrett and Mary Ann Kelleher, who were ill. Their presence certainly would have made a big difference.

The North girls, who were 9-0 last year and took a 41-1-1 record into this season, will face Brockton Friday at 3:30 at Cambridge Rindge and Latin and will meet Weymouth South next Tuesday at the same time and place.

Meg Leary won the mile in 5:40.7, an outstanding effort for an opening meet.

Lisa Fitzgerald won the 50-yard dash in 6.6, another fine performance. Lee Anne Fitzgerald, won the 600 in 1:36.1 and freshman Caryn Collings placed third in her first race.

Noreen Connolly won the shot put with a 33-foot toss and Georgia Traficante won the high jump at five feet.

Joanne Zdankowski took third in the hurdles, Sharon Barre was second in the 1000. Traficante was second in the 300, Tricia Leary was second and Ann Toland third in the two-mile and the relay team of Lisa and Lee Anne Fitzgerald, Traficante and Leary, lost a heart-breaker by one step after leading all the way. North's time was an excellent 4:31.5.

"This was a tough relay loss," said Tozzi. "The girls led all the way but our anchor runner was just nipped by an inch at the wire. The girls did a fine job and we missed Tricia and Mary Ann a lot. But give Newton credit, they did an excellent job and deserved to win."

Darcy Team St. John's First Half Champs

Tom Darcy's team won the first half championship of St. John's Holy Name Bowling League.

Darcy finished at 46-38 (total pinfall of 20,428), followed by Dick Guerriero, 44-40 (20,579); Mike Panarelli, 42-42 (20,330); Lou Faiella, 42-42 (20,143); Bob Saluti, 40-44 (19,677);

Jim Mastrangio, 38-42 (19,989).

Panarelli rolled the seekly high single of 137 and Darcy and Bob Guerriero each had 132. Panarelli also had the high three of 369 and Dick Guerriero had 365.

Mastrantonio's team had the high team single of 560 and Panarelli had 541.

Darcy had the high team three of 1520 and Panarelli had 1514.

The Top Ten: Dick Guerriero, 115.2; Panarelli, 112.8; Saluti, 110.4; Faiella, 107.0; Mastrantonio, 103.5; Darcy, 103.0; Joe Matarazzo, 102.0; Mike Guerriero, 101.7; Lew MacLennan, 100.0; John O'Donnell, 99.0.

B. C's Sugar Bowl Win 'Thrill Of A Lifetime'

John Joyce of West Quincy, a 6-foot-4, 220-pound reserve lineman, returned from New Orleans with many tales of Boston College's upset 19-13 victory over undefeated and untied Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day.

"It was the thrill of a lifetime," said Joyce, a sophomore who failed to see the action in the game.

The most glorious sight, he said, was Eagle halfback Charlie O'Rourke sprinting around left end for the winning score on a 24-yard run with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

QUINCY TOPS TRADE

Glenn (Shorty) Fleischer, the little ambidextrous forward, tallied 15 points to lead the Quincy High School basketball team to a 34-23 victory over Quincy Trade for its fifth straight win.

The Quincy lineup: Fleischer, Pena, Caddy, McInnes, forwards; Keating, Nankin, centers; Saldi, Mathieson, Sjostrom, guards.

The Quincy Trade lineup: Papile, Cummings, Scanlan, Duggan, forwards; Donovan, Osborne, centers; Gramazio, Pettiti, Janeterino, Barsella, guards.

NORTH COMES FROM BEHIND

Diminutive Bud Wood threw in his only basket of the game in the last minutes and it provided the winning margin as the North Quincy High School basketball team came from behind to nip Braintree, 31-29.

A total of 37 personals and three technical fouls, including one on Raider Coach Jack Muller in the last minute, were called in what was termed the wildest game every played in the North Quincy gym.

The North Quincy lineup: Johnson, Wood, Swindler, Jones, forwards; Hibbard, Peden, centers; Cooke, Smith, guards.

WALPOLE BLANKS QUINCY

Ed Malloy turned in one of the finest goaltending performances of the season but the Quincy High School hockey team bowed to Walpole, 1-0, and dropped five points off the pace in the Bay State League.

Walpole's George Geehan took a pass from Bill Jurgelevich at 2:54 of the second period to net the only goal of the game to spoil Malloy's fine performance.

The Quincy lineup: Malloy, goal; Staples, Powers, defense; Libertine, Carey, Gullickson, forwards; McKenna, Steeth, Condos, Donovan, spares.

GERMAINE IN NO CONTEST

Ted Germaine, the bad boy from South Boston, got too rough with Frank Beel of the Navy, who returned the compliment, so their wrestling match at Quincy Arena was declared "no contest."

Dr. John (Dropkick) Murphy, a former Alabama football star who operates a rest home in Acton, fought to a draw with Marvin Jones of Texas in another bout on promoter Newman Savage's card.

HAT TRICK FOR ACKER

Earl Acker had the three-goal hat trick to lead the Wollaston Barons to a 6-2 victory over the Randolph Maple Leafs in a South Shore Hockey League game at the Rockland Rink.

The Wollaston lineup included Laban Whittaker in goal, the Acker brothers, Earl and Harold, Ronnie Sleeth, John Schmitz and Franny Page.

ALLEN, ELLIS STAR

Phyllis Allen and Marion Ellis scored 23 of their team's 25 points in leading Wollaston Methodist to a 25-12 victory over Sacred Heart in a Girl's Church League contest.

BACCARI SHOOTS HIGH

Dom Baccari shot a 96 for high score as Coach Jimmy LeCain's Quincy High School rifle team recorded a close 459-457 victory over the Alumni in a New Year's Day meet at the new range.

SPORTS BITS '41

Smith's 12 points were to no avail as the Woonsocket YMCA basketball team dropped the Quincy Y, 47-30.

Bill Cowley, the NHL's leading scorer, and Roy Conacher, his wingman, were sidelined with injuries as the Boston Bruins tied the Chicago Black Hawks, 2-2, in overtime. . . . Ernie Caddy scored seven points to lead the Quincy High basketball team to a 26-22 win over Arlington. . . . Charlie O'Rourke, the hero of Boston College's Sugar Bowl victory, said he plans to talk business with the Chicago Bears of the NFL. . . . With Al Papile scoring a game-high eight points, the Quincy Trade School basketball team romped over St. Patrick's of Watertown, 42-13, in the Quincy High gym.

Penalties Cause Problems For Quincy Icemen

Quincy's hockey team is off to a 1-3-1 start and penalties have played a big part in the Presidents' troubles.

Last week Quincy appeared headed for a win against Brookline but a late penalty enabled Brookline to score its third power-play goal and tie the Presidents, 3-3.

Last week Quincy appeared headed for a win against Brookline but a late penalty enabled Brookline to score its third power-play goal and tie the Presidents, 3-3.

Quincy played unbeaten Waltham last night (Wednesday), will face Newton North at Watertown at 7:30 Saturday and will meet North Quincy for the second time Wednesday at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

"Stupid penalties at stupid times have hurt us considerably," said Quincy coach Bob Sylvia. "We haven't been scoring, but you can't control that. You can control the amount of penalties you get and good teams don't get penalties late in the period or near the end of the game."

Brookline's Richie Sheridan scored on a rebound for the team's third power-play goal with just 3:52 left in the game to salvage the tie.

The Presidents took an early lead when John Kelley blasted a low shot past goalie Tim Hennessey. Mike Hays, who had a goal and two assists, set up the goal. Brookline tied it at 7:20 of the period when Mike Keaveney's shot banked off a Quincy player's skate with Quincy, as usual, short-handed.

Quincy again took the lead at 1:40 of the second period on a perfect play. Maneuvering in the corner, Hays slipped a soft pass to John Gleba all alone in front of the goal and Gleba put the puck into the top left corner.

Again Brookline tied it with a Quincy player in the penalty box. With just seven seconds left in the period, Dennis Radley grabbed a loose puck and scored.

In the third period Hays gave the Presidents their third lead at 1:40, taking a perfect pass from John O'Connor, that lead lasted until Sheridan's tying goal.

"It's not that we're not trying," said Sylvia. "The end of any period is an emotional time for both teams, but Brookline tonight went into the locker room sky high after both periods. They had tied the game twice on power-play goals and they did it again to gain the tie. We have nobody to blame but ourselves and we just have to stop with the stupid penalties."

Raiders Win But Jago Looks For Improvement

The North Quincy hockey team rebounded from its only loss to defeat Brookline, 6-1, last Saturday and improve its record to 4-1, but coach Kevin Jago is still dissatisfied with the Raiders' performances.

North faced Brockton, one of the Suburban League powerhouses, last night (Wednesday), will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Saturday at 7:50 p.m. at the Youth Arena and will meet Quincy next Wednesday at 6:40 p.m. at the Youth Arena.

"We are not playing as well as we should and have been too inconsistent," Jago said. "We have looked good in spots but no so good in others and we have to show more consistency. Our most consistent player has been goalie Matt Higgins, who has been outstanding all season. He had 21 stops against Brookline and had 33 in our loss to Waltham."

Bob Reidy had two goals against Brookline and also had two assists. Rich Horrigan, Tom McGrath, Dave Tapper and Mark Simonelli had the other North goals. Pete Furtado had four assists, Reidy two and Dave Cooke, Horrigan and Bill Connolly one each.

Earlier in the week undefeated Waltham, rated the team to beat in the league this season, handed North its only loss, 4-2, despite another outstanding performance in goal by Higgins.

The Raiders took an early 1-0 lead on Tapper's goal, but Waltham tied it in the second period on a goal by Jeff Lazako.

The Hawks went ahead, 3-1, on goals by Eric Pardiff and Bob St. Cyr before North's Mike Hays scored to make it 3-2. Waltham's Pat Kavey added an insurance goal.

● St. Ann's Hockey

Lydon Holds Bantam Lead, JDA, Ideal Tied In Pee Wee

Lydon-Russell maintained its one-point lead in the Bantam Division of St. Ann's Hockey League with a 9-2 victory over New York.

Brian Crespeau and Paul Carthy each had three goals and an assist. Bill Kulick two goals and Kevin Cohane a goal and two assists. James Morris and Steve O'Connell scored for New York with Ed Ceriani assisting on each.

The standings: Lydon-Russell, 4-1-2; Plaza Olds, 4-2-0; New York, 3-3-0; Bike'n'Blade, 0-5-1.

In the Pee Wee Division,

JDA and Keohane's remained in a top tie with victories.

JDA romped over Ideal Elevator, 8-1, with Brian Gorman having a hat trick and as assist, Erik Visocchi and Steve White two goals and an assist each, Mike Pedersen a goal and assist and Mike Michard two assists. Kevin Karlberg scored for Ideal and Hugh Merlino assisted.

Keohane's edged Colonial Federal, 6-5, with Mark Cummings and George Nightingale having two goals apiece, Dave Edwards a goal and Mike Michard a goal and assist. Dean Campanelli scored four goals for Colonial, Bo Smith had a goal and assist and Brian Halpin an assist.

The standings: JDA, 5-1-0; Keohane's, 5-1-0; Ideal, 2-4-0; Colonial Federal, 0-6-0.

Bunker's Time Has Come At U-Maine

Charles (Chip) Bunker, former North Quincy High star and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bunker, has been a patient man at the University of Maine.

The 6-11 center for the Black Bears' basketball team had to be patient because for the past two years he was the backup center to one of the Northeast's best centers, 6-10 Jeff Cross, a third round draft choice of the Dallas Mavericks of the NBA.

But Chip's time has come and no longer is he a backup of a "big man" practice player. He is the starting center on the Maine team and is making a big contribution.

Although he is not a prolific scorer, he has already scored more points in seven games this season than he had scored in his first two years on the team.

Chip, whose father just resigned as North Quincy baseball coach after 14 years, was one of the best rebounders in the Suburban League while playing for the Raiders and it is on the boards and defensively that he makes his presence felt for the Black Bears.

In three of Maine's games he was the club's leading rebounder, pulling down 11 against Rhode Island and eight against Bowling Green. He was also a factor in slowing down Syracuse's tall front line in a game in the Carrier Classic in Syracuse.

In the Bears' first seven games Chip has hit on 11 of 26 field goal attempts and one of two free throws for 23 points and a 3.3 points a game average. He is the club's second leading rebounder, averaging 5.5 a game. In its first seven games Maine defeated Lowell, Valparaiso and Brooklyn, while losing to four formidable foes, Syracuse, Bowling Green, Rhode Island and Hartford.

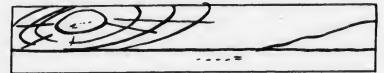

Chip is also a big favorite with the crowds at Maine's Memorial Gym. He has become a favorite of the student cheering section and is affectionately called "The Force." Some of the greatest crowd reaction comes when he scores from underneath or takes down another rebound.

"Chip's been a real contributor to our program this season," said Coach Skip Chappelle. "He knows the offense very well and definitely he gives us the big man we so badly need in the middle."

Chip's brother, Chris, one of North Quincy's top baseball players over the past three years and the Suburban League's batting leader the past two, is currently enrolled at Dartmouth.

HAZARD OF
THE SNOWBLOWER

Some dangers around the house merely change appearance by the season. For example, the snowblower - winter's cousin to summer's potentially hazardous power lawn mower.

The motorized snowblower breaks up snow and tosses it to the side. There's no doubt that it has safety advantages - such as reducing the exertion of shoveling snow (which can result in heart attack), and making walks less slippery. But it has, also, built-in hazards similar to those of the power lawnmower.

The snowblower has blades or augers that can slice off parts of the human anatomy, and a number of users have had fingers mangled or amputated while using their hands to unclog a snowblower when the motor was running. It's imperative to shut off the blower's motor and wait for the blades to stop revolving before putting your hands near the discharge area. In general, say safety engineers, you should treat snowblowers with the same caution as you do power lawn mowers.

After Cape Cod Classic

North Girls Open League Season At Brookline

The North Quincy girls' basketball team made an excellent showing in last weekend's Cape Cod Classic at Barnstable but dropped a 60-57 squeaker to Falmouth in the championship game, its first loss of the season after four wins in a row.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes open their Suburban League season today (Thursday) at 5 p.m. at Brookline. They will host Brockton Saturday at 2:30 and next Tuesday will play at Newton North at 5.

North, which had defeated host Barnstable, 57-39, in Friday night's opener, trailed, 16-14, after a period against Falmouth, which had beaten Mattitikon in the opening round. Eileen Warren, who had an outstanding tournament, was selected the MVP and was named to the all-star team, had eight of her game-high 19 points in the opening period.

The Raiderettes tied it at 28-28 at halftime as freshman Nancy Flukes came up with four key foul shots and Capt. Ann Duggan, who missed the opening game due to an ankle injury, did an excellent job in the second period.

Falmouth moved in front, 44-38, in the third period and, although North outscored the winners in the final and cut the gap to two points with three seconds to play, it was too little and too late.

Warren, who also had seven rebounds, scored 11 points in the final period and Sandra Proude had four points. Karen Runge scored 11 points and Flukes had eight.

In the tourney opener North took a 17-11 lead in the opening period as Proude scored seven points and Warren six. North couldn't score until the final two minutes of the half as Barnstable cut the lead, but the Raiderettes exploded in the third quarter, outscoring Barnstable, 20-8, and it was clear sailing from there. North had a 17-11 advantage in the final session.

Geraldine Murphy came off the bench and filled in for Proude in the last quarter and scored two big foul shots.

Warren had 17 points and 11 rebounds, Proude 12 points and six rebounds, Flukes had seven points, Anne Marie Hughes had five points and sophomore Tricia Koski scored four points in the final three minutes of the game.

"The girls are playing with a lot of intensity, but there have been far too many lapses," said Bregoli. "We haven't put four good quarters together yet and, unless we start playing with much more consistency, we will have our troubles in the league. But, we continue to be very competitive and I look for an interesting season."

Hofbrau, Kelly's Remain Deadlocked For Top

Hofbrau and Kelly's Pub remained in a tie for the Quincy Youth Arena Senior Hockey League's top positions.

Hofbrau edged Fowler House, 3-2, as Lou Mathews scored twice and George Mackey once. Steve Murphy had three assists and John Jackson, Mark Giordani and Tom Brennan one each. Bruce Cornell and Peter Janis scored for Fowler House and Steve Blazer had two assists and John Yaxter and Scott Richardson one each.

Kelly's edged Waterfront Lounge, 5-4, on goals by Frank McGinnis, Mark Andrews, Glen Hanson, Jim Moore and Tom Gerry. Dave Ohlund and McGinnis had two assists apiece and Willy Parsons, Andrews and Moore one each. Steve Rice had two goals and Tom Findley and Tom O'Hare one each for Waterfront. Bob McHugh had two assists and Rice, Bob Hayes and Findley one each.

Kane's Place topped China Star, 6-2, as Mark Paolucci had a hat trick, John Mitchell two goals and John Andrews one. Andy St. Pierre had three assists, Jack Dunn and Mitchell two each and Ed Kane one. Jack Tobin and Kevin Mellyn scored for China star and Tom Bamberg and George Lavoy had assists.

High Rise and Joe's Pub tied, 1-1. Mark Kelly scored for High Rise with assists for Pat Clifford and Steve Randall, while Roy Giarusso scored for Joe's and Jack Cronin assisted.

The standings: Hofbrau, 7-1-0; Kelly's, 7-2-0; Kane's, 5-1-3; Joe's, 4-2-3; Waterfront, 4-4-1; Fowler House, 3-5-1; China Star, 1-8-0; High Rise, 0-8-1.

Point Panthers Present Awards At Annual Banquet

The Quincy Youth Football League's Quincy Point Panthers, who have won 19 championships and this fall were runnersup to the North Quincy Apaches, recently held their annual awards night banquet at the Fore River Clubhouse.

All team members and cheerleaders received runnerup trophies and individual awards were also presented.

Joe Taylor, the team's leading scorer, was presented the Varsity Players Award, voted by his teammates. Taylor was sidelined for three games due to an injury. The Don Bosco High freshman missed two key games against the Apaches, the final regular season matchup and the championship game.

The Coaches Award was won by Charlie Freeman, who played an integral part of the team both on offense and defense. The Quincy High freshman was second to Taylor in scoring and led the club in tackles.

Jay McLernon was presented the Most Improved Player Award. At guard, following an injury, he became one of the best blockers in the league. He is eligible to play again in 1985.

The Vinny Barrett Memorial Award went to Tim Brillo, a freshman at Don Bosco, who was the team's leader at quarterback. The award, named for the former Panthers coach, is presented to the player who best exemplifies the Panthers organization. He is the oldest son of Maureen and head coach Frank Brillo.

George Moran was awarded the Twelfth Player Trophy. This award, sponsored by Trifone's Lire and Wedge, was given to Moran by owner Nick Trifone. Moran had the biggest game against the Elks. An eighth grader at St. Joseph's School, he is eligible again next season.

Other awards included the Junior Varsity Players Award to Steve Zambruno, the JV Coaches Award to Billy Norton, the JV Most Improved Trophy to Joe Crespi and Steven Feeley and the JV Twelfth Player Award to Ralph Bevilacqua.

Capt. Kristen McGhee was selected as the Most Spirited Cheerleader by her fellow cheerleaders. A four-year veteran, she was captain for three years. The Quincy High Freshman is active in the Point Congregational Church and starts for the Quincy Jayvee basketball team. She is the first captain to receive the award in four years and was the choreographer for the "Lucky Star" pom-pom routine, performed at halftime.

League all-star trophies went to Freeman, Brillo, Taylor, Steve Slicis, Wayne Chambers and Vinny DiGiacomo.

Coaches Brillo, Mike Dunlea, Tom Donovan, Jack Kilrain and Bill Myers were presented store and restaurant gift certificates from the players. Patti Myers, varsity cheerleading coach, was presented a scrapbook of the season and junior varsity coach Kathy Myers received gifts from the Jayvees.

Graduating cheerleaders received plaques. They include four-year members McGhee, Jodi Farrell, Tricia Shaughnessy, Tracey Thornhill and Julie Munn, three-year member Kathy Corliss and Laurie Woodford Andrea Roche and Amy Larson.

McGhee presented her varsity squad with yellow roses. The players, represented by Slicis and Freeman, presented the varsity cheerleaders with gifts for their support and the Jayvee players gave their cheerleaders flowers.

Pee Wee B's Run Win Streak To 11

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, remained undefeated in the Greater Boston League by defeating Dedham, 5-1; South Boston, 13-0, and Wellesley 5-4, to extend its unbeaten streak to 11.

Against Dedham Danny Savage, Greg Hohman, Jeremy Burm, Sal Manganaro and Keilly Morris had the goals and Mark Kelleher, Duane Keegan, Jeff Freeman, John Witham and Hohman had assists.

In the South Boston romp Billy Lydon and Burm had hat tricks, Freeman had two goals and Richie Brooks, Bobby Scott, Hohman, Manganaro and Witham one each. David Mellyn, Hohman, Lydon, Burm and Scott had two assists apiece and Matt Swierk, Jimmy McCarthy, Brooks, Kelleher, Freeman and Manganaro one each. Pat O'Donoghue and John Bertrand were outstanding in goal.

Quincy took a 2-1 first period lead against Wellesley on goals by Brooks and Manganaro. Mellyn scored two within 40 seconds in the second period for a 4-1 lead but Wellesley came back and scored three in a minute and 55 seconds to tie the score at 4-4 going into the third period. With 5:18 left Lydon scored the winner. Brooks had four assists, Manganaro two and Lydon, Scott and Witgam one each.

In a non-league game Quincy defeated Weymouth, 8-3 as Hohman scored four goals and Burm and Savage two each. Kelleher had three assists, Manganaro, Freeman and Hohman two each and McCarthy, Burm and Keegan one apiece.

Donovan In Key Role At Mass. Bay

The Mass. Bay Community College women's basketball team has finished the first half of the schedule with a 10-2 record and is ranked fourth in New England NJCAA Region

21. Among the team's top performers is Christine Donovan of North Quincy, who is averaging 13.3 points game and is the team's top scorer.

Keohane Funeral Home Honored For 52 Years

The Keohane Funeral Home in Quincy recently received a plaque of recognition for its "52 years of dedicated service" to its community from the Massachusetts Funeral Directors Association at ceremonies held at the Lantana in Randolph.

"We are proud of these 52 years of service," Edward J. Keohane, president of the firm said in accepting the plaque. "It is a testimony of the trust that families have placed in us at their time of need. A testimony we appreciate."

Cornelius V. Keohane established the funeral home on Hancock St. in 1932. Edward J. Keohane joined his father in business and became president when his father retired in 1974.

Keohane has participated in a series of school symposiums by providing speakers for their death and dying course. They have hosted groups of Hospice workers at the funeral home and conducted informal discussions helpful to each other. As a member of the Massachusetts Funeral Directors Association Speaker's Bureau they are available to speak at school, church or other civic organizations and they maintain a library of books relating to death, bereavement, the grief process and the like. Keohane's staff members are available to interested parties to discuss making pre-arrangements for funeral services.

Other professional affiliations include the Quincy Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce; the National Funeral Directors Association, the International Order of the Golden Rule and the National Selected Morticians.

The Massachusetts Funeral Directors Association presents plaques to its members who consistently demonstrate high standards of professionalism in funeral service. The Association which represents 492 funeral homes in the Commonwealth is a federated state affiliate of the National Funeral Directors Association based in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

FIREPLACE FLUNKS AS HEATER

QUESTION: Is a fireplace an effective method of heating a house?

ANSWER: When the weather is frightful, the fire is delightful. But as a house-heater, it flunks. It actually does a better job of heating the outside than the area in front of the fireplace. Ninety percent of the heat goes straight up and out. Add to this the extremely high cost of firewood and you have a lot of money going up in smoke. When the fire is not going, be sure the flue is closed or you'll lose 20% of the warm room air out the chimney each hour.

There are ways you can increase the heating efficiency of your fireplace, such as the addition of glass doors, duct vents or hollow tube grates.

YOUR FIREPLACE actually does a better job heating the outside than the area in front of the fireplace.

3 Religious Leaders On Cable Talk

Cabletalk, the longest running, all volunteer public access program on Quincy Cablesystems, will present a 60 minute special with three community religious leaders Monday, Jan. 7.

The program will be shown at 7:30 p.m. on Ch. 3.

Appearing with program host John Noonan will be the Rev. Bedroe Baharian, Pastor Emeritus of Quincy Point Congregational Church and former Planning Board chairman; Fr. Joseph Downey, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, and Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue.

The three clergymen will review their respective careers, reflect on the changes that their religions have gone through, and discuss the changes Quincy has experienced in the past 40 years.

Rev. Baharian, Fr. Downey and Rabbi Mann have been members of the clergy for more than 40 years.

Mayor's Mid-Term Address On Sun Ch. 8 Jan. 7

Mayor Francis McCauley's mid-term address will be shown on videotape delay Monday, Jan. 7, at noon and 8 p.m. on Sun Channel 8.

The mayor is expected to review his administration's accomplishments in 1984 and to set goals for 1985.

It is the mayor's custom not to use a prepared text, but to speak from rough notes.

His mid-term address is expected to be 20-25 minutes long.

Flea Market Raises $1,444 For S.S. Rehabilitation Center

Shoppers at the flea market at Marina Bay had the opportunity to take a chance on prizes recently and help the South Shore Rehabilitation Center, Wollaston, at the same time.

Some $1,444 was raised from the sale of chances for prizes such as two Cabbage Patch dolls, a football autographed by Boston College players including Doug Flutie, a desk and two clocks.

The prizes were donated by dealers at the flea market.

"We want to thank everyone who helped," said Hassan Haydar, manager of the flea market, "especially the dealers who donated prizes."

"And we hope other people will hold similar events to raise money for organizations."

WEEK OF: JANUARY 3, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Conflict in the community shows signs of resolution, but don't force any issues. Open new lines of communication, especially with youngsters. Styles focus on a natural look.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

A colleague or friend can bring a fresh point of view to a tired problem. New Year's resolutions are especially effective in areas of fitness, diet, and finance.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Year is off to a creative start, you express yourself through a favorite medium. Absent-minded streak surfaces toward the weekend. Reunions and reconciliations are featured now.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

You may be thinking "wealthy" this week; be careful that you don't overextend yourself financially. Your ancient promises may return to haunt you. Loved one is unusually upbeat.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

A fine moneymaking idea benefits from some refinement. Loved one sets out to spoil you. Colleagues are unusually supportive. A Libra or fellow Gemini may step into the friendship picture.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Year is off to a buoyant and optimistic start. It's easy to be distracted, but a project reaches the critical stage - and demands full attention. Avoid acting impulsively.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Friend may oppose your plan, and it's wise to listen to his/her opinions. Modest financial windfall is accented. You may find yourself at auctions, museums or theaters.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Emotional ups and downs are stabilizing. Good week for beautifying your surroundings and launching a new hobby. People in high places admire your commonsense and logical approach.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Your best approach to romance is a lighthearted one, with partner preoccupied with career matter. Meeting is delayed, but this proves a blessing in disguise. Health inventory is a priority.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Good week for introductions, parties, and local tips. Mechanical troubles should be left to the professionals. In romance, a subtle approach is all-important. Home improvements are favored.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Loved one may press you for a commitment. New pets suit you in the new year. Possible promotion is in the offing. Pets are in the picture - perhaps a stray adopts you.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Withdrawn friend becomes much livelier, thanks to your efforts and patience. Conflict at work may come to a head. Meeting with someone from abroad can develop into a friendship.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Determination is your keyword, and you'll experiment with approaches to get what you're after. You're reliable and you have a fine sense of humor. Too rigid an outlook, however, can slow down your progress. Education is the theme of the year, a period for learning and teaching.

BORN THIS WEEK

January 3rd, singer Melanie; 4th, actress Barbara Rush; 5th, actor Jean-Pierre Aumont; 6th, actress Bonnie Franklin; 7th, actress Burt Reynolds; 8th, actor Jose Ferrer; 9th, singer Joan Baez.

Working Quarry, School Sought For West Quincy

A touch of the glory days of the granite industry will return to Quincy if Council President James A. Sheets and sculptor Edward Monti of West Quincy have their way -- and the cooperation of the MDC.

Sheets would like to see the MDC take over the 80-acre quarry area west of the Expressway, drain Granite Rail Quarry and restore it as an operating quarry for the tourist trade.

Monti, a pioneer in the cutting of granite by heat, would like to operate the quarry in conjunction with a school that would teach his fast-dying trade to students from around the world.

Monti, 58, a third generation stone cutter who started working on stone chips when he was in the fifth grade, recalls the day when there were 100 stone sheds in the city employing 1,000 men.

"To let all that die is a sin," he said. "We would do this to preserve something that would die without being recognized."

Monti cuts stone in a shed on Centre St., South Quincy, in the midst of a yard filled with granite figures of animals, fountains and assorted statues.

"I used to have 14 stone cutters," he said. "There are two left. The younger generation does not want to pick up a hammer and beat stone. If they're taught this technique they'll do it."

The Monti technique consists of flaking the hard Quincy granite to 3,600 degree fahrenheit with a mixture of oxygen and kerosene. He is the only cutter in the world who uses the method.

"The technique does things that can be done by hand only it does them 40 times faster," he said. "I can make an eight-ton bear in two weeks. It would take four months by hand."

Monti said he believes there is still enough of the once famed hard blue Quincy granite in Granite Rail Quarry to make operation of the quarry worthwhile and possibly even profitable.

"I would sell some of the granite to pay for the school," he said.

Sheets said the plan would be for the MDC to take the quarry land by June, drain and flush Granite Rail, remove the dangerous grout pile and enter into a contract with Monti to operate it.

"It would be a demonstration quarry, shown in conjunction with the Granite Railway incline," said Sheets. "Tourists could look down and see the actual quarrying operation. Then the granite would be used as part of the teaching process."

Monti said it would take about a year to get the quarrying operation under way and set up the school.

Development of the area in such a manner would not only add to the historic significance of the railway and the granite industry but it would enhance the security of the area.

Quincy Firefighter Hailed As Life Saver

Quincy fire fighter James McCarthy recently received A Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Massachusetts Life Saver Medal from Dr. Henry J. Heimlich for successfully using the Heimlich Maneuver to save the life of a choking person. James, who lives on Babcock St., Houghs Neck, saved the life of Mary Lou Minichello, owner of the Washington Tap, who was choking on food while watching last year's

"James is a true hero, who during difficult and life threatening circumstances retained his composure and utilized the Heimlich Maneuver to save someone's life," said Carol Nashe, vice president for public affairs.

"His quick thinking and willingness to get involved will long be remembered by the person whose life was saved."

President Reagan sent a congratulatory letter to all of the saviors who were honored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield:

"I would like to congratulate you particularly for the presence of mind you showed in using your skill in a crisis. Because of you, a person's life was saved. You're very fortunate to go through life knowing that in time of need you acted wisely and well - and made the difference."

McCauley Keeps Welcome Mat Out To Developers

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley rolled out the welcome mat for developers in his mid-term "state of the city" address Monday to the City Council and the city at large.

But he warned those who would plunge ahead wildly with plans that would "diminish the quality of life in our city" that he would take steps to bridle their enthusiasm.

McCauley, starting the second year of his second term as the 30th mayor of Quincy, noted that "we now hear talk about slowing down (development); we hear talk about a no-growth policy."

"It wouldn't work even if we wanted it to," he said. "In our lives, in business or in our government you don't stand still. You either go forward or you go backward."

"However, there are groups in this city, there are

city councillors who are raising very valid points about the boom in economic development, the effect it has on the city's infrastructure and traffic.

"These concerns must be addressed."

"So let me say this, the welcome mat is still out to those individuals and those developers who want to come to the city of Quincy to develop."

"But I think we're going to say to those people, when you come, present us with a plan that the city can live with, that's compatible with the location that you're going into and will not, repeat, not diminish the quality of life in our city."

McCauley said he plans to send letters to the Planning Board, the Zoning Board of Appeals and the Conservation Commission informing them of his new policy.

The major portion of the Mayor's mid-term address was devoted to what he regarded as the accomplishments of his first three years in office, particularly to those of the past year.

One of the crowning achievements, he said, was the legislation creating a water resources authority to clean up Quincy Bay, a move that was initiated by a law suit filed by the city against the Boston Sewer and Water Commission and the MDC in December, 1982.

"As a result of the court's involvement," he said, "the Dukakis administration in 1984 filed legislation to set up an independent Sewer and water authority. That legislation was adopted and

Dutton's May Reopen Under New Ownership

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Duttons may reopen under new ownership and with a seafood menu, but not before the License Board and Ward Councillor are satisfied with the plans.

The board voted Tuesday to continue to Jan. 22 the request from Savas Spyros of Roslindale for common victualer and all alcoholic licenses for the restaurant at 125 Sea St., which closed the end of December.

According to the application, the new owner intends to extend the kitchen in the back of the building, construct a new bathroom and redecorate the premises.

"When it was the Fox and Hound it was very nice," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald. "The day they left, it went downhill."

"There's no way I'll license it unless I know what's going on inside and out, and unless it's first class."

MacDonald also complained of traffic problems at the restaurant.

Ward Councillor Michael Cheney asked for a two week continuance so that he could learn more about the proposal.

Architectural plans are to be submitted to the Building and Health Departments.

"It's going to be done right, or not at all," said Police Chief Francis Finn.

Added MacDonald, "It may well be the license should never go back."

The matter was voted on by a four member board since the fifth member, Health Commr. Dr. M. Grace Hussey, suffered a stroke recently.

The meeting was the first after the board's holiday recess. There will be no meeting next Tuesday because of the Martin Luther King Day holiday.

Talking 10% Pay Hike Police Seek Mediator In Contract Dispute

By TOM HENSHAW

The Quincy Police Betterment Association has filed a petition asking the State Joint Labor Management Commission to mediate its contract dispute with the city of Quincy.

Police officers have been without a contract since June 30.

Joseph McParland, attorney for the police union and a former city labor negotiator himself, said he expects that a mediator will be assigned and a meeting date set sometime this week.

"I hope they can resolve this problem," said McParland. "We are not willing to accept a 3 percent increase Jan. 1 and a 4 percent increase July 1 like the unions that have already settled."

McParland said the police unions are talking a 10 percent wage hike while Mayor Francis X. McCauley and labor negotiator David Grunebaum are offering only 2 percent.

"It is common knowledge," said McCauley, "that the unions that have accepted settlement have a parity agreement with the mayor that if he is required to settle for a higher figure with the teachers, fire and police he'll make it up to them."

"We consider this a sweetheart deal so that the mayor could establish a pattern and attempt to force other unions into that pattern."

McCauley said he does not have a formal agreement with the 180-member Laborers Union or the seven-member Public Safety Union who have already signed contracts to reopen them in such a situation.

"But if we struck a financial bonanza that let us improve our position," he said, "we would look at that type of situation. It's called the 'doctrine of fairness.'"

He said the matter has been discussed with the heads of the two unions and they were told that, "if the situation improves and they come back we'd talk about it."

"We signed agreements based on the circumstances at the time," he said.

"I see no variation from the 3 percent this year. The 4 percent is predicated on projections for the 1986 city budget and increased state aid. Can it change? I don't know."

He said the 3 percent Jan. 1 would cost $650,000 this year and the 4 percent hike on top of it would cost the city $3.1 million in fiscal 1986.

"That is a substantial amount," he said.

McParland said the issues that will be brought to the mediator include wages, a policy for injuries on duty, binding arbitration on successor contracts and longevity compensation.

He questioned McCauley's claim that the city cannot afford more than 3 and 4 percent hikes.

"We made a proposal at the bargaining table that we bring in the State Department of Revenue and have them do a financial survey of the community," he said.

"Grunebaum refused to agree to that. What have they got to hide?"

CITY EMPLOYEES fortify their bargaining position for new contracts by picketing City hall as Mayor Francis X. McCauley delivers his mid-term 'state of the city' address.

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Feb. 5 a request from Dairy Mart Corp. for licenses for four former Dacey Bros. stores.

The matter was continued to allow area residents to meet with representatives of Dairy Mart, and to arrange for the vice president of the company to appear at the February meeting.

Dairy Mart is requesting licenses for 213 Samoset Ave., 139 West Elm Ave., 263 Beale St., and 330 Washington St.

City Clerk John Gillis said that common victualer licenses are needed for the automatic coffee machines at the stores.

During the meeting, Ward councillors and area residents voiced their concerns about stores at the different locations.

A neighbor of the Beale St. store complained about an overflowing dumpster and customers who parked in front of residents' driveways rather than in the business' parking lot.

Ward Councillor Michael Cheney said he opposed the coffee machine at 213 Samoset Ave. because it is low to the ground and could burn a child's hand.

He also complained about 38-40 foot delivery trucks travelling through residential areas.

A resident told the board that a Dairy Mart truck travelling on Chickatabot Rd. knocked off part of a tree.

Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath also opposed a coffee machine at the 139 West Elm Ave. store and said he was on the verge of proposing a roll back in the store's hours because of gangs congregating.

He requested that eight foot fence be erected at the rear of the store, and gave the board a letter from the Wollaston Park Association opposing the c v license at that location.

McGrath agreed that the large delivery trucks were a major concern and suggested that a distribution center be set up and smaller trucks used to deliver goods in Quincy.

Atty. Robert Fleming and Chyuan Yang, Dairy Mart general manager, explained that the delivery trucks are refrigerated and the large size is more economical because they travel from Connecticut.

Fleming expressed the willingness of the company, which has been in business for 25 years, to work out the problems.

Dr. Hussey Remains In Fair Condition

Public Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey was in fair condition on the danger list at City Hospital Tuesday, a week after she suffered a stroke at her Merrymount home on New Year's Day.

Dr. Hussey, who is 72, was named to the post by Mayor Francis X. McCauley in June, 1982, following her retirement after 30 years with the State Department of Public Health.

McCauley has credited her with doing quiet, effective work in the city in the health job since she succeeded the controversial Dr. Robert McKeogh, who had been dismissed by the mayor.

McKeogh was charged with failing to devote fulltime to the position within the normal business hours.

McCauley said he is in the process of naming Mrs. Beatrice Kaplan, permanent senior clerk in the Public Health Department, to handle the routine administrative practices in the commissioner's office, like signing the payroll and the monthly bills.

Dr. M. GRACE HUSSEY

He said there is no provision in the law for the delegation of the commissioner's authority to sit on the License Board so that board will remain a four-member body for the time being.

$250,000 Lumber Co. Fire

A three-alarm fire on Southern Artery which caused an estimated $250,000 damage to three businesses is "definitely of suspicious origin" according to Fire Department officials.

The fire broke out at 3:18 a.m. Saturday at the Quincy Lumber Co., 610 Southern Artery, which has been closed since April 1, 1983, according to Captain Robert Curtin.

The wood construction, two story buildings were heavily involved in flames, and the side of the third structure was starting to catch fire, Curtin said, when the Fire Department arrived.

The two buildings and the stock within them were completely destroyed, said Curtin.

The fire also progressed to 666 Southern Artery where Anchor Marina and Tuff-Kote are located.

Nine boats were damaged and five automobiles destroyed at the marina, according to Curtin.

Snow and strong winds made the fire more difficult to fight, he said. Lt. Gary Stein suffered frostbite to his left foot.

"The fire was definitely suspicious," said Dep. Chief Thomas Gorman. "There was no reason for it to start. The electricity at the lumber company had been shut off.

Fire Chief Edward Barry

was also at the scene. The second alarm was sounded at 3:24 a.m. and the third at 3:51 a.m. All out was at 7:21 a.m.

Fire departments from Boston, Weymouth Braintree and Milton covered for Quincy departments which were fighting the fire.

The fire is under investigation by the Quincy Police, Fire Prevention Bureau and State Fire Marshal's Office.

Weatherization Program Can Save On Fuel Bills

"If you spend $100 to weatherize your home with our energy services," said David LaLiberty, "you will save more than that amount in one year on fuel bills and be far more comfortable in your home."

LaLiberty, energy coordinator of Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services, explained the cost and comfort of participation in the WNHS Weatherization Program at a recent energy workshop.

The program is available to all Southwest Quincy homeowners regardless of income and participants receive a free energy inspection and cost estimate of a weatherization package.

All owners who choose to have the work done pay for materials (average about $100) and those meeting income guidelines receive free installation. Others pay an average of $100.

"We are now taking applications on a first-come, first-served basis," said LaLiberty. "People are welcome to stop by the QNHS office at 266 Water St. or call 770-2227 to schedule an appointment."

Stolen Truck Recovered In Chase

John Bozza of Taunton reported to police Tuesday that his 1984 Nissan pickup truck was stolen from the parking lot at Eddie's Diner on Quincy Ave., Quincy Point.

About an hour later, Officers Michael Lukeman and William Lanegan spotted the truck on Water St. and gave chase.

The vehicle was abandoned at the corner of Water St. and Brook Rd. and Ernest J. Aldopoulos of 1055 Southern Artery, Quincy Point, was arrested for larceny of a motor vehicle.

Gunman Holds Up Old Colony Station

A man with an automatic pistol held up the attendant at the Old Colony Gas Station, 1230 Furnace Brook Parkway, Saturday and made off with $300 in cash.

The attendant, Michael Kosciuszak, 17, of Pembroke, told police the man walked into the station, cocked the pistol at him and said, "Give me all the money. I'm not kidding."

Kosciuszak gave him the money and he fled on foot.

The man was described as about 45 or 50, clean shaven with light brown hair and wearing a green jacket and a brown scally cap. Police said he had been drinking.

Task Force To Study Traffic Problems

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announced Tuesday that the city is about to embark on a "comprehensive traffic improvement program" to upgrade and modernize its traffic management techniques.

The first step in the three-phase, multi-year program will be the appointment of a special mayor's task force made up of 10 people representing government, business and residents of the community.

The task force, said McCauley, will examine and define the area of traffic problems and report its deliberations to the mayor in the late spring or early summer of 1985.

"I do not expect solutions from this committee," said the mayor, "but I expect a concrete document detailing the problem areas as they exist."

The second phase of the program will be the hiring of a professional traffic engineering firm to analyze the problem areas spelled out by the committee and offer suggestions for improvement.

The third phase, he said, will be implementation of those suggestions.

The committee will consist of representatives of the Traffic Commission, the Planning Department, the Public Works Department, the Police Department, the City Council, a company in the State Street South complex, the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the Crown Colony development team, the residents of North Quincy and the city at large. They will be named, he said, in a week to 10 days.

Planning Director James Lydon will head the committee, McCauley said.

27 Officers Commended

Twenty seven Quincy policemen have been commended by Chief Francis X. Finn for their excellent police work on certain cases during the past year.

Citations also went to Robert Lingoes, the department's chief telephone operator, and to four youths who aided police in apprehending an accused arsonist.

Nine of the police officers were commended for their work leading to the arrest of several young men later convicted of assaulting five sailors outside a Houghs Neck bar.

They were Dets. Thomas Casey, Thomas Healey, Ernesto Lijoi, Russell Miller, William Stenmon, Lt. Neil MacDonald, Sgt. Paul Leman, and Pts. Thomas Hickey and Stephen Krug.

Three commendations were awarded to Officers John Kelley and Thomas Tierney, two to Casey, Healey, Leman and Miler and Officer Daniel Dowling.

Others cited were Lt. John Doyle, Sgt. Michael Barry, Officers Henry Bradley, George Clark, Bradley Cole, Robert Curtis, Peter Flynn, John Haines, William Horick, Francis Johnson, Robert Lamb, William Lanegan, Stephen O'Brien, George Taylor, and Peter Turowski.

Lingoes, a civilian, was commended for his "professional curiosity" in recovering stolen cars through his strong ties with the Massachusetts Auto Theft Bureau.

The four youths—Mark Zimmerman, Michael Teeney, Craig Wright and Shawn Butland—were cited for witnessing a man throw a Molotov cocktail at the Murphy Tool and Dye factory in North Quincy and telling police the man ran to the MBTA station where he was apprehended.

Sheets Proposes New Development Restrictions

By TOM HENSHAW
City Council President James A. Sheets said Monday he plans to submit to the Council a list of six zoning and ordinance changes that would place new restraints on wide open development.

"We must plan for the orderly development of Quincy in the future," he told his fellow councilors in what has become the traditional president's mid-term statement.

Chief among Sheets' proposed zoning changes is the rezoning of 76 acres of land on the eastern side of Quarry St. to open space and new restrictions on egress from apartment developments to public ways.

He would also like to see, he said, an ordinance requiring that the City Council be notified within 10 days of plans to construct multi-family housing projects.

"For too long," he said, "the councilors have been to only lines of defense against bad development and the improper use of land."

"As a ward councillor entrusted with the responsibility of protecting the integrity of West and South Quincy, I must act."

"I cannot stand by and watch a section of Quincy hoisted, drawn and quartered on the petard of bad development."

Here is the text of Sheets' mid-term address to the Council:

It has become traditional for the City Council President to make a brief mid-term statement or address and I intend to do that this morning and in so doing I intend to zero in on a problem which I consider very significant to me as a ward councillor.

Charles Kettering, an outstanding literary figure, once made the statement: "There is a great difference between knowing a thing and understanding it."

We know here in Quincy that Quincy has undergone tremendous change in the past decade and a half. We know that Quincy now hosts four MBTA stations which bring between 6 and 8,000 automobiles into our city every single day.

We know that while the people population has remained relatively stable in Quincy for the past 10 years, the auto traffic on our roadways has tripled and in some areas even quadrupled. Three minute waits at intersections are now five and seven and on some occasions even 10-minute waits and to go from the north to the south end of the city, which once took about 10 minutes by automobile, it may now take as much as half an hour.

We know that Quincy is fast becoming the office mecca of the South Shore. Projects such as Crown Colony Place will ensure that this trend continues. These buildings not only provide employment for Quincy residents, which is good, but they also bring tens of thousands of additional people into Quincy by automobile and by public transportation.

We know that along with tremendously increased employment opportunities in Quincy comes the additional demand for housing. The additional demand for housing creates higher property values. Higher property values means increased property taxes for all of us.

We know that the demand for new housing is intense and great as it has ever been in the city and that traditional neighborhood communities are being disturbed and destroyed by the sound and action of

Free Smoke Detector Program Offered By City

The city of Quincy, through the Planning Department, is offering a free smoke detector installation program to all income eligible Quincy residents.

The purpose of the program is to install battery-operated smoke detectors for fire safety in Quincy homes.

Specially trained personnel will advise homeowners of the number and location of the smoke detectors needed for proper safety. Convenient installation time may be arranged by phone. Income guidelines include:

A family of one, $18,000;
a family of two, $20,700; a family of three, $23,250; a family of four, $25,850; a family of five, $27,450; a family of six, $29,100; a family of seven, $30,700;
and a family of eight,
$32,300.

Applications may be obtained by contacting the Planning Department at City Hall or the various community centers around the city.

Reader's Forum Give Police A Modern Facility

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I went to the Quincy Police Station for information. Was treated with respect and courtesy. Matter of fact I felt like a V.I.P.

What really amazed me was the condition of the station. Cramped office space and quarters plus lack of storage space. No doubt this building is outdated and our protectors deserve better than this. These public servants are productive and willing to sacrifice their lives to serve the public.

They are unlike our civic leaders who sit in their beautiful glass buildings with all the modern facilities available.

If I had to work 8 hrs a day in the Station my morale would be so low I could walk under a snake. What do you say Quincy? Turn the present Police Station over to the Historical Society. Give our protectors a modern facility which we all can be proud of. Seeing is believing.

The renovation of the old building will be a waste of the taxpayers money.

Quincy Representatives In Line For Key Appointments

Quincy's three state representatives are expected to be tapped for key committee chairmanships by New House Speaker George Keeverian.

The trio, Reps. Robert Cerasoli, Thomas Brownell and Michael Morrissey, were early supporters of Keeverian in his battle to oust Speaker Thomas McGee.

State House sources believe that Cerasoli, who is particularly close to Keeverian, will be named chairman of the Post Audit and Oversight Committee.

"The situation is very fluid right now," says Cerasoli who declined to get involved in speculation about committee assignments.

"I know that I am under consideration for Post Audit and Oversight. There is also the possibility of the new Administration and Personnel Committee."

BROWNELL

"I expect to be part of the leadership team," says Morrissey. "I have expressed a preference for the Housing and Urban Development Committee. The question is, am I going to be chairman? I feel, yes."

Morrissey was vice chairman of the committee in the last legislative session. Brownell and Cerasoli figure to be seventh and eighth on the seniority list among those 90 Democrats who supported Keeverian in the final showdown with McGee last week.

Key chairmanship appointments for Cerasoli, Brownell and Morrissey would give Quincy extra clout on Beacon Hill.

MONDAY MARKED the mid-point of Mayor Francis McCauley's second term and the 96th anniversary of Quincy's city government.

Charles H. Porter, Quincy's first mayor, took office on the first Monday in January, 1889 and delivered the first inaugural address to the City Council.

That first council had 23 members—five elected at large and three from each of the six wards. The new city's registered voters numbered approximately 2,400.

BURGIN

MONDAY also had a special significance for Quincy's senior living former mayor—Thomas S. Burgin. It marked the first two of three anniversaries in his business and political life which covers a span of 60 years.

Sixty years ago on the first Monday in January, 1925, Burgin was sworn in as Councillor from Ward I which then comprised Quincy Center, Merrymount, Adams Shore, Houghs Neck and Germantown.

Like today, the council numbered nine members. And, 60 years ago on the same day, Burgin established an insurance agency under his name and now known as Burgin, Platter.

Fifty years ago, in 1935 he became Quincy's 20th mayor and went on to serve four terms before resigning to accept a commission as lieutenant in the Navy during World War II.

Now 82 and retired from both business and public life but affectionately looked on as Quincy's Elder Statesman, he comments:

"What a privilege it has been to be a cog in the wheel of progress, along with so many others, in making Quincy the fine city that it is."

It's been a privilege for Quincy in having you as a leader, Tom.

HMMM! DEPT: Linda Bowes is resigning as treasurer of her brother Councillor Richard Koch's election committee. Which will probably trigger speculation that she may be planning to run for office herself. Like for the Ward 6 City Council seat expected to be vacated by incumbent Joanne Condon to challenge Mayor Francis McCauley.

THE CITY PLANNING Dept. is losing another one of its bright young people.

Susan Spelios, principal planner for economic development for the past year, is leaving Friday to join the Winchester Group, the leeway development corporation for the Winchester Savings Bank.

She worked in the Quincy Planning Department four years, moving up from assistant planner a year ago when Judie Cullen left to join a private development firm.

The department has also lost Gerry Cavanaugh, now Planning Director in Salem, and Robert Luongo, who has a similar job in Wakefield.

VETERAN Police Officer Carmine DiRamio, a popular figure at City Hall where he is assigned, has been given a new title by friends: "Professor."

DiRamio has been appointed a part-time instructor at Quincy Junior College for the spring semester starting Jan. 21. He will teach, appropriately, "Introduction To Criminal Justice" Wednesdays 6 to 9:15 p.m. and "Security Administration" Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1:15 p.m.

DiRamio is a graduate of QJC, Stonehill College and Anna Maria College.

LOUISE BRABAZON, the secretary to the City Council, quietly observed her 20th anniversary of working for the city of Quincy Monday.

bulldozers, pile drivers and construction equipment.

We know that each day the number of homes experiencing sewer backups is increasing.

But as Kettering has said: "There is a great difference between knowing a thing and understanding it."

We understand that the creation of the Massachusetts Water Resource Authority is a major step in a long battle against bay pollution as well as home pollution.

We understand that federally funded sewer projects are beginning to provide relief for certain Quincy communities.

We also understand that controlled development is both necessary and essential to the future of this city.

But do we understand that we do not have controlled development in some areas.

But do we understand that for too long the ward councillor and often the councillors at large have been the only lines of defense against bad development and the improper use of land. It has been the councillor who has been the one to stand before the Conservation Commission, the Planning Board, the Zoning Board of Appeals, along with a handful of people fighting to retain the integrity of their communities. Obviously, we welcome, Mayor, your comments that you're going to take an active interest in the activities of those boards as well.

Do we understand that the demand for housing is so great that marginally developable land in areas such as Residence B is now being developed, often dumping 30 or more automobiles per development on roadways less than 22 feet wide, with egresses and egresses at such an enormous grade that only a mountain goat could climb it.

Do we understand that some residential areas in West Quincy and South Quincy have begun to disappear in a sea of small apartment buildings. These buildings congest our roadway and sidewalks with parked cars. They add to the traffic; they create deterioration of community life, agitate sewer and flooding problems, and make demands on public safety, police departments and fire departments already undermanned.

Do we truly understand what is happening in some areas of Quincy or like the proverbial prospector are we spending our time hunting for the "fools gold" of property tax income from small developments, from small developments instead of seeking to retain quality of life communities that will maintain stable property values in the future.

As a ward councillor entrusted with the responsibility of protecting the integrity of West and South Quincy, I must act. I cannot stand by and watch a section of Quincy hoisted, drawn and quartered on the pretext of bad development.

On Jan. 21, I intend to submit to the City Council the following orders:

No. 1, in conjunction with Councillor Lydon, I am going to ask to have the 76 acres on the eastern side of Quarry St., infamously known as the Kanavas property, rezoned open space. If that occurs, and if the MDC completes its commitment to buy 80 acres of land in the quarry area, that will add over 160 acres of open space to West Quincy and to Ward 4.

Second, I will ask that the zoning bylaws be amended in certain categories to prevent the construction of any apartment building that will have an egress and an egress on a public way which is less than 32 feet wide.

Third, I will ask that the zoning bylaws be amended in certain categories to prevent the construction of any apartment building with an egress or an egress on a public way if that egress or egress has a greater than eight degree grade.

Fourth, I will ask that the ordinances of the city of Quincy be amended so that any developer who applies for a building permit or submits plans for a building of multi-family housing in excess of four units or a commercial building in excess of 25,000 square feet must notify the City Council within 10 days of such submission by registered mail.

Fifth, I will request the Ordinance Committee study and increase in certain zoning categories the number of parking spaces for each dwelling unit in an apartment from 1 and a half to 2 and a half.

And Sixth, it is my intention to submit an order affecting the ration of parking for restaurants making sure that ratio shall be one space for every two seats rather than one space for every six seats as it now is.

It is not enough to know what is happening. It is not enough to understand what is happening. But as elected officials, we're imbued with a very sacred trust. We must plan for the orderly development of Quincy in the future.

Two Quincy Men Arrested For Brinks Job

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced in Washington that the $2.7 million Brinks robbery in Boston in January, 1950, had been solved with the arrest of six men, two of them residents of Quincy.

Two other robbers already were in custody for other crimes, Hoover said, one was dead and two others were still being sought.

The men arrested were Vincent James Costa, Michael Vincent Geagan, Joseph F. McGinnis, Henry Baker and the two Quincy residents, Anthony Pino, 48, for many years a resident of 638 Quincy Shore Drive, and Adolph Maffie, who was picked up at his home, 118 Billings St.

Stanley Albert Gusciora was in jail in Pennsylvania, Joseph James O'Keefe in jail in Springfield; Joseph Sylvester Banfield was dead; and James Ignatius Faherty and Thomas Francis Richardson of Weymouth were the objects of an intensive manhunt.

BILL OPPOSED, SUPPORTED

Legislation that would provide for administrative assistants for Plan A mayors was supported by Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa and former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin but opposed by Laurence J. Curtin, chairman of the Quincy Plan A Citizens Committee.

Curtin called the bill "a direct attempt to put Plan E in effect under Plan A through the back door."

The bill, sponsored by George Yarrington, executive director of the Quincy Taxpayers Association, would enable mayors to appoint administrative assistants similar to those aiding city managers at salaries between $8,000 and $10,000 a year.

SEEK FARE HIKE

Quincy taxi cab owners were planning to ask the City Council for a 100 per cent increase in the basic fares in the city to 50 cents for the first mile and 10 cents for each additional quarter mile. Fares had not been increased since 1930.

Laurence Mattie, owner of the Yellow Cab Co., said it now cost $4,200.25 to put a new cab on Quincy streets. It had cost only $600 in 1940, he said.

Koch Club Christmas Programs Successful

The Koch Club completed its 1984 Christmas Charity Program last week as 2,000 items of new and used toys were delivered to Hispanic organizations and groups in the South End of Boston where hundreds of needy children were provided Christmas enjoyment at parties scheduled on Sunday.

That is the day when the Hispanic community celebrates Little Christmas which highlights the reenactment of the three wise men's gift giving to the new born Christ Child.

In its 29th year of participating in the Koch Club charity projects, the Koch Club collected, cleaned, packaged and distributed over 6,000 new and used toys to social service, community and church agencies providing assistance to the needy throughout the year and in the 14 years have provided over 26,000 new and used toys for children in need.

Food was distributed to 85 families in the Quincy area along with gifts for the children during the Christmas holiday while thousands of articles of good used clothing have been made available to needy families in sections of Boston while new woolen hats, gloves and socks were provided to shelters for the homeless at Pine Street Inn, Rosie's Place and Long Island Hospital.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Koch Club expressed thanks and appreciation on behalf of those served to the many volunteers of the Christmas charitable endeavors who by contribution of time, money, food, clothing or toys assisted in making the 1984 charitable holiday activity the most productive on behalf of those in need of help.

The Koch Club, established in 1948, was initiated to provide social, recreational and charitable activities in the community. The first 10 years the organization's activity was largely concerned with social and recreation programs in the 1960's and 1970's. The Koch Club embarked on an extensive city-wide youth recreational program providing wholesome year round enjoyment for thousands of boys and girls throughout the city. With the decrease in school age children by 50 per cent in 1980 and many new athletic programs established, the Koch Club reduced its recreational activities and concentrated its efforts on its charitable projects where a great increase in need exists and the Koch Club will make its charitable projects as the major thrust of the organization's energies in the eighties.

Koch explains that the Koch Club has been more of a coordinating agency and that dozens of groups, schools, churches, families and individuals from Quincy and neighboring communities have been providing help each year to insure the success of the extensive and far reaching program.

Red Cross Life Saving Course Starts Jan. 18

Golf Cart Gift To Patients Completes City Club Program

The Quincy City Club highlighted its 1984 holiday charitable activities by presenting a used golf cart to the Long Island Hospital to provide the nurses with a vehicle to allow the patients unable to walk to be driven over the Harbor Island site.

Many of those chronically ill may be provided with hours of enjoyment from the confines of the building.

The request was made by June Sutcliffe, Director of Activities, who said the vehicle for patients would be of therapeutic value as well as an enjoyable experience. The idea was realized from a newspaper article described from Norfolk County Hospital where a golf cart was used to break up the monotony of invalid patients unable to get around.

Richard J. Koch, club president, said a second major gift was a color television set presented to Mattapan Chronic Disease Hospital on River St. in one of the units where the terminally ill are hospitalized.

Koch said one of the most rewarding endeavors of the City Club was the involvement with homeless shelters where clothing and bedding was provided at the request of the various directors.

The Medfield State Hospital and a number of halfway houses were presented gifts for distribution to patients and persons living at the homes.

The City Club delivered its annual gift of five dozen pajamas for use of the patients. A South Shore Home for alcoholics was provided personal gifts at their Christmas Party.

Personal gifts were again donated to the Quincy Recreation Department for the annual Christmas Party for the retarded.

Thirty-two new folding chairs were donated to the Long Island Shelter for the recreation and meeting hall where A.A. meetings are conducted for the homeless that are housed there nightly.

Donald E. Conboy, chairman of the Fund Raising Committee, said that $5,000, has been raised and expended to date from members and friends to accomplish the 1984 charitable commitments.

In the 10 years of conducting the charitable endeavors, over $30,000, has been donated and expended by the 100 members and several friends who assist in the charitable endeavors.

Quincy High School Math Team Among Top 30 In U.S.

Results of the first competition in the Continental Math League has found the Quincy High School Math Team listed among the top 30 schools in the country and first in Massachusetts.

Two Quincy student competitors, Ronald DiBona and Jen Fay, were listed among the individual leaders nationwide.

The QHS Math Department has enrolled in two math leagues, the Continental and the New England, which hold meets throughout the school year.

Several ninth grade classes in Algebra and Geometry are participating in the Euclidean Division of the Continental League, which holds five meets during the year.

Each meet takes 20 minutes and consists of six questions. The team score is the sum of the scores of the top six scorers.

Top scorers for Quincy in the opening competition were Ronald DiBona and Jen Fay.

Other high scorers were Gale Morrell, Rachael Boland, Keith Canniff, Mike Boyce, Eddie Flavin, Joyce Cahakalan, Kerry Byrne, E.J. Hartnett, Maria Politano and Rickey Morris.

A number of classes in Algebra, Analysis and Calculus in Grades 10, 11 and 12 are participating in the New England Math League, which holds six meets during the year.

Each meet takes 30 minutes in which the students must solve six problems. The team score is the sum of the scores of the top five students.

Top scorers for Quincy in the first competition were Renee Picard, Steve Protasowicki and Jan Savice.

Also scoring high were Rich Armstrong, Cathie Buckley, Sam Connolly, Susan Destradeur, Collene Dunn, Michael Gray, Andrew Lenhardt, David McArthur, Peter Mellyn, Scott Mezzettim, Stacie Nigro, Steven Perfetuo, and Kimberly Scigliano.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Too many times we seem to be caught up in the struggle of life and quest for happiness that we forget the beautiful and important things of life are all around us. We go ahead with our daily routines and are indifferent to the beauty which surrounds us all.

Yet, in one form or another beauty is around nearly all of us and all we have to do is to behold. The blue sky, the green lawns and hillsides, the starry skies, the flowers budding, the white snow falling, the town we live in, the beauty of a smile from a friend and the warmth of fellowship are all there for us to see and enjoy... They go a long way toward turning any sad hour into brightness and joy.

Yes, beauty lies everywhere about us. We were given two eyes to behold this beauty and the wonderful thing about it is that it doesn't have to cost us a cent to behold it...

Henry J. Willman, 86, Retired YMCA Director

A funeral for Henry J. Willman, 86, a retired associate executive director of the YMCA, was held Wednesday in Bethany Congregational Church, 18 Spear St., Quincy.

Mr. Willman died Sunday at his home after a brief illness.

Born in Boston, he lived most of his life in Houghs Neck.

He joined the Quincy YMCA now the South Shore YMCA in 1955 as program and membership secretary and later was associate executive director until his retirement in 1972.

Membership during his tenure increased from 500 to 8,000, and he re-established the Y-sponsored South Shore high school basketball tournaments.

He directed the church league sports programs and initiated the sailing championship program in Squantum.

He began work at the YMCA in 1918 in Brockton, directing the Leader's Club and volunteering at the swimming pool. He was named assistant physical director in 1922, serving for 17 years until becoming physical director.

Heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano was in one of his classes.

He was past president of Massachusetts and Rhode Island YMCA physical directors' societies, secretary to Massachusetts and

HENRY J. WILLMAN

Rhode Island track and field committee for the Y, a past member of the New England Track and Field Officials Association, the Y representative on the governing board of the New England Amateur Athletic Union.

He was affiliated with Quincy Bay Race Week committees for many years.

During World War I he was a Navy career candidate officer. He later joined the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

He was in charge of the "learn to swim" campaign for the South Shore area and Cape Cod during World War II.

Husband of the late Irene (Anderson) Willman, he is survived by a daughter, Natalie (Willman) Duffy; and two grandchildren.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Dewane Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Donations may be made to Bethany Church.

There will be two worship services Sunday, Jan. 13, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

At 9 a.m., the service will be held in the chapel, and at 10 a.m., in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon at both hours. The sermon topic "Broken Dreams" is based on scripture texts in Romans 15:17 - 25 and the Gospel of Matthew 5:1-10.

The lay scripture readers will be Lois Nordstrom at the early service and Russell service. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will serve as liturgist at both worship services.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of organist Peter E. Kraskinski, will sing as the offertory, "Lord, I Trust Thee" by Handel, and as the second anthem, "O Word of God Incarnate" from the 1693 Meinungen Gesangbuch.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class, ninth through 12th grades, will meet at 9 a.m. with Robert R. Peoples, Jr., teacher.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers at the 10 a.m. hour.

At 11 a.m., there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen

Parlor. Families and individuals from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

The service will also be broadcast over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc., at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

For information concerning Bethany Church, its ministry and programs, contact either of the ministers or the church office at 479-7300.

'Good Old Days' Squantum Church Topic

When church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin of the First Church of Squantum was called away recently for a funeral in Michigan, he left the young people of his church in charge of the Sunday morning service.

David Williams preached on the topic, "These Are the Good Old Days," taking his text from Psalm 90:12, "So teach us to number our days that we may get a heart of wisdom."

Sarah Mildram gave the call to worship. Susan Scott led the opening prayer, and Minda Hurd gave the greeting.

Robert Dixey announced the registration of attendance and led the congregation in reading Psalm 90.

Andy Ogilvie made all the announcements. Steve Williams led the pastoral prayer and gave the prayer of dedication. David Williams gave the benediction.

The Chancel Choir sang "O Harkener Ye" by Albert Burt. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Lewis and Jan Townson were greeters. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers. Grace Holmes and Hazel Mayne were in charge of the Fellowship Hour.

Last Sunday, at the earlier service, Steve Williams and Mary Ruth Scott played the guitar. Rev. Langevin preached on the topic, "An Understanding Heart" and asked the congregation to join him in thinking of ways in which Christian family life could be enriched if family members could model their own behavior on that shown in Jesus' own family.

David Scott and Chris Dixey were ushers.

At the later traditional service, Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "The Ever-present God," taking as his text the verse from Matthew (1:23b), "...and His name shall be called 'Emmanuel' (which means, God with us)."

Hymns sung during the service included "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "We Would See Jesus; Lo! He Star is Shining," "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," "Ring Out, Wild Bells" and "Angels We Have Heard on High."

The Chancel Choir sang "Heavenly Light" by Lopylow-Wilhouky. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott served as ushers. Sandra Stohberg and her daughter Deborah were greeters. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Gretchen Bumpus and Val Gorrill.

This Sunday there will be two services again: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional one at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

Memorial Mass For Raymond Tausovich, Jr.

A memorial mass was celebrated Saturday at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, for Raymond T. Tausovich, Jr., 25, of 128 Willard St., who died Dec. 2 when his car hit a pole on Sea St. in Merrymount.

His mother, Mrs. Margaret Tausovich, defended her son against what she called implications by police in the news media that her son was a "reckless drunken speeder."

Police estimated his car was going at 70-75 miles an hour when it hit the pole.

"All of us who knew him well know he didn't drive fast," she said. "He was a cautious driver, always kept his car in good repair, never took chances."

Homecoming For Renewal At H.N.

Houghs Neck Congregational Church will set aside Sunday, Jan. 13, for a special service of worship to celebrate the past, present and future of its congregation.

Everyone who has ever been associated with the congregation is urged to attend the service at 10 a.m.

Letters have been sent to all on the church mailing list inviting them to be present.

During the service, some will say a few words and messages will be read by others. It will be a time to honor the importance of faith and the local congregation. Following the service, refreshments will be served during a friendship hour in Fellowship Hall.

"Homecoming for Renewal Sunday" will be an opportunity to be a part of a living testimony to the power of the church in people's lives and to renew the commitment to have the Houghs Neck Congregational Church continue forever.

Applicants Sought For Rotary Scholarships

The Rotary Club of Quincy is seeking applicants for Rotary Foundation Scholarships, which are available in the forms of graduate, undergraduate, vocational, journalism and teacher of the handicapped.

Scholarship applicants must participate in a selection process by the Rotary Foundation Committee of the Rotary Club of Quincy, headed by Gerald T. Reilly.

Recently, the Quincy club has sponsored two successful candidates for Rotary Foundation Scholarships. Brian O'Toole of Quincy studied pure mathematics at Trinity College in Dublin Ireland in 1982-83 and Michael W. Smart of North Quincy is studying economics at the University of Stockholm, Sweden.

Applicants for scholarships should apply in writing to Gerald T. Reilly, Rotary Foundation Chairman, Quincy Rotary Club, Box 346, Quincy, 02269.

Sons, daughters, or other relatives of Rotarians are not eligible.

Mass Bay Reaches Goal

James J. Carroll of Hingham, was South Division chairman of the United Way of Massachusetts Bay's 1984 fund-raising drive which raised $35,236, 864 or 100 per cent of its $35.2 million goal.

The amount is 10 per cent more than was raised last year. The south region contributed $813,812.

In 1983, over 2,700 individuals and families in Hingham were served by 42 United Way agencies.

The agencies include South Shore Chapter, American Red Cross, Hingham office; South Shore Day Care Services; Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore, and the South Shore YMCA.

"I think those of us who have followed this problem know that the passage of the legislation is not the end of the water pollution problem in Quincy Bay. It's not even the beginning of the end but it might be said that it is the end of the beginning."

McCauley said that in the next week or 10 days he will submit a list of three names to Gov. Dukakis from which one will be chosen to serve as Quincy's representative on the Water Resources Authority's 11-member board of directors.

"Hopefully," he said, "as 1985 unfolds, we now have an authority whose prime purpose is to clean up the bay. It's not going to be done in 1985 and it might not be done by 1990 but I think a beginning has been started."

easy to extremely difficult, in high school math and the students are allowed 90 minutes to complete them.

Awards include an honor roll pin and certificates for outstanding achievement.

Following is the text of Mayor Francis McCauley's mid-term address delivered Monday at ceremonies at City Hall.

By way of introductory remarks this morning I would like to announce that the city of Quincy is celebrating a birthday this morning. Ninety six years ago this morning, Monday, Jan. 7, 1899, the city of Quincy became a reality and in these Council Chambers at high noon, the first mayor of the city of Quincy was sworn into office, the Honorable Charles H. Porter. He was sworn in along with 23 members of the Quincy City Council.

Seeking some inspiration for my remarks this morning, I took the opportunity to review that first inaugural address. Mayor Porter notified the City Council that there was a problem facing the new city of Quincy. That problem was one of sewage disposal and water pollution. Sounds rather familiar.

Mayor Porter also noted that, strange as it might seem, the city of Quincy in 1899 was faced with a Proposition 2 and one half type situation. State law at the time dictated that cities spend less money than towns. The city of Quincy in 1899 was faced with a reduction in spending of approximately $30,000 less than the town of Quincy could spend in 1899. The budget for 1899 in the town of Quincy was $171,000 and the city budget for 1899 was $141,000. Of course, a $30,000 figure in an age now when our budget probably will be $80 million for 1986 is a small amount of money. However, it was a substantial amount of money in 1899 because it represented a decline in spending of about 17 and one half per cent.

It has been a tradition at those mid-term addresses that the mayor of the city of Quincy review the occurrences in city government over the past year and take a brief look ahead and I will continue that tradition this morning. I will start my remarks with a review of the city finances.

City's Finances

I am pleased to report this morning that the city's finances continue to show improvement over 1984.

We finished within our budgetary appropriations and, for the third year in a row, we experienced no revenue deficits. We are complying with Proposition 2 and one half.

In 1984 the city made continued progress reducing the deficit in the free cash account. The free cash account in the city of Quincy is a reserve account and when that account is in surplus monies can be used from it for any municipal appropriation that in years gone by funds have been transferred from that account many years to reduce the property tax rate. The account showed a substantial surplus in the 1960s and the early 1970s and then in the mid-1970s that account slipped into a deficit position. That deficit reached some $10,969,000 at the close of 1982.

I am pleased to report that we made substantial progress in reducing that deficit. We reduced it by some $3 million in 1983 to approximately $8,011,000 and a reduction in 1984 has brought that account deficit down to some $6,361,000 a decrease of some $4,608,000 or a reduction of 42 per cent. On March 5, 1984, the city of Quincy was notified through the board of assessors by the Department of Revenue that the full fair cash valuation of the city had been approved. This completed a revaluation program that started in November, 1979, when the City Council and the Mayor appropriated funds to hire an outside firm to update our values. In calendar year 1984 the city of Quincy set two tax rates. In April, 1984, we set the 1984 tax rate and in October we set the 1985 tax rate. On both occasions, the city of Quincy availed itself of the property tax classification amendment that was passed by the voters of the city of Quincy back in November, 1978.

On both occasions, the City Council, upon my recommendation, by majority vote approved a plan of classification that set the value of the city for tax rate setting purposes, for commercial, business and personal property owners at 130 per cent with a corresponding reduction to about 87 to 88 per cent for the homeowner. This was necessary so the homeowner who traditionally is hurt the most by revaluation would be sheltered.

Delinquent Taxes

One of the major problems facing my administration when I took office three years ago was the large amounts of uncollected real and personal property taxes and interest. Early on in 1982, my administration began an intensive program to effect the collection of those taxes. I'm pleased to report that the close of business last Friday the three year total of collections of delinquent property taxes amounted to some $4,648,000. That compares with the immediate preceding three years of $1,284,000, or an increase of some $3,364,000 or a percentage increase of 252 per cent. Let me say as long as my administration stays in office, we will continue to aggressively go after these uncollected property taxes.

Hospital In Black

Four years ago this week, on the first Monday in January, 1981 Hospital Corp. of America took control of the day-to-day operations of the Quincy City Hospital. I'm pleased to announce today as I announced a year ago that all goes well at Quincy City Hospital. The hospital is operating in the black. All the monies necessary to fund the operation of that hospital have come directly from hospital receipts. Once again the city of Quincy taxpayers have not had to pay any monies from taxpayers' revenues to support the hospital.

Over the past four years the Hospital Corp. of America, along with the hospital board of managers and the medical staff have introduced many new programs in the hospital. They brought on many new doctors to work as members of the hospital staff.

A year and a half ago, the state regulatory authorities gave the hospital permission to construct a new hospital and we have been working on that plan for the past year and a half. It's a very complex hospital, a very important proposal that eventually will require City Council action as well as action by the State Legislature. We are hopeful to have all the paper work done so that ground-breaking for the new hospital would occur as early as the late summer or early fall of 1985.

Working with HCA and the medical staff is a nine member board of directors or board of managers, who are appointed by the mayor for staggered five year terms. The terms of two of those members expired this morning and I am pleased to that both of those members have accepted reappointment. They are Atty. Lawrence F. O'Donnell of Adams St., a Quincy lawyer with offices here in Quincy, and a past chairman of the board, and Dr. Peter V. Corea, pastor of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church. Those terms will run to the first Monday in January, 1990.

On Sept. 19, 1984, the Quincy School Committee unanimously elected Mr. John A. Osterman the 12th superintendent of the Quincy School system. Jack Osterman has spent 33 of his 34 years in education in the Quincy School System, starting out as a classroom teacher, continuing on in the positions of assistant principal, principal, director of the summer program, personnel director and for the past 14 years assistant superintendent of schools. When that position became vacant in July, 1984, Jack Osterman was my first and only choice for this position. He is thoroughly familiar with the school system and will give that system the degree of confidence to move it ahead as we go into the late 1980s and the early 1990s.

School Enrollment Declining

Enrollment continues to decline in the Quincy Public Schools. A year ago at my inaugural address, I pointed out that there were some 9,671 students in the system and I predicted on that date that the enrollment would drop to 9,100 students in the fall of 1984. I wasn't right on target but I was pretty close. There are 9,101 students there. That's a decline of about 6 per cent. Projections show a continuing decline down to about 8,800 students, a decline of about 3.4 per cent in October of 1985, with a bottoming out of about 8,300 students as we close in on the end of the 1980s.

In calendar year 1984, in line with my policy of allocating a proportion of extra available funds over and above budgetary amounts to the School Department, the City Council unanimously appropriated some $750,000 to the Quincy School Department. In April, 1984, $250,000 was appropriated for learning materials in the three high schools, while in September, 1984, some $500,000 was appropriated from the sale of school building accounts to provide for the upkeep and the upgrading of our existing school buildings.

Economic Development

In the area of economic development, the city of Quincy experienced a building boom in 1984. Several projects that I mentioned in my inaugural address a year ago at the vocational technical school are now off the drawing boards and into the ground. I'll just briefly mention some of them.

The Dickinson development project at 200 Newport Ave., which is a $16 million project; ground was broken for that project in April and we expect that project will be completed in April or May of 1985.

Work has been done on the Captains Cove project. That's 300 units of condominiums at the foot of River St., in Quincy Point. The first building is already well under construction.

In September, ground-breaking ceremonies were held for the so-called Crown Colony project up in West Quincy. That is another major project. One of the largest development projects in the city's history. We will be building some two million square feet of office space and a first class hotel in that particular area. At my inaugural address a year ago I noted that a group of developers were going to purchase some property just outside the downtown area and bring in a couple of name stores. That project has been completed and that's the Kings Plaza project and in October we opened a Bradley's and a Medi Mart there. That project will bring some 200 to 225 jobs to the city of Quincy.

Year Makes A Difference For Sheets

Burgin Parkway Ext.

In August of 1984, at long last ground was broken for the Burgin Parkway Extension. That was a project that goes back many...I think it goes back to the administration of Amelio Della Chiesa. It would be very difficult for me today to mention the efforts of all the people in my administration and in prior administrations.

I really would like to single out one particular person who really made the difference and that's Sen. Paul Harold. About a year and a half ago Sen. Harold held a meeting in the State House to check up on the progress of that project and we were flabbergasted to learn that some million and a half dollars of funding, MDC monies that were part of the project had been used for something else and that project was put on hold until the money was available. Sen. Harold, working with the legislative delegation in the House, was able to get that money included in a supplementary budget and ground was broken, as I say, in August. That work is well ahead of schedule and there is a possibility that that project will be completed in the fall of 1985.

In July of 1984, at long last we had some action on the Sears Roebuck Store. Messina Enterprises of Braintree purchased the building from the Faxon Trust and at present time, just about a month ago, some $3,600,000 worth of renovations has been started in the building and we expect that job will be completed in late 1985 when there will be some nine to 12 specialty shops in that mall-type arrangement when it is completed.

Pollution

Early in my remarks I mentioned the fact of Mayor Porter mentioning the water pollution and sewage disposal problem in the city of Quincy. It goes that far back. Those of us who read the Quincy's Yesterdays column in the Quincy Sun by Tom Henshaw will note that over the years, many city officials and state officials of their day, as well as civic leaders, complained about the problem of sewage and water pollution in Quincy Bay. During the three years I've been in office we took some steps, what I consider positive steps, to try to start to close in on that problem. In June of 1982, with the approval of the City Council, $7,500 was appropriated to hire an attorney to work with the citizens of Quincy as well as the neighborhood groups who were fighting expansion of Nut Island, who were concerned about treatment plants going in on Long Island.

In the summer, again in 1982, we established a water pollution task force, comprised of city officials both elected, state officials and civic leaders. And then in the fall of 1982, the then City Solicitor William Golden, who is now a state senator in the Norfolk and Plymouth District, came to me with the proposal that in order to really start to get this thing moving, courts would have to be involved. He recommended to me that the city of Quincy sue the Boston Water and Sewer Commission and the MDC.

After discussing that matter with Bill I did authorize him to file suit. He filed suit with the city of Quincy some two years ago in December, 1982, and I think the rest is history. In 1983, in the summer, Master Haar, who was appointed by Judge Garrity, reported that in effect there was a substantial pollution in Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay. As a result of the court's involvement the Dukakis Administration in 1984 filed legislation to set up an independent Sewer and Water Authority. That legislation was adopted and signed by the governor last month, almost two years to the day we filed suit. I think those of us who have followed this problem know that the passage of the legislation is not the end of the water pollution problem in Quincy Bay. It's not even the beginning of the end but it might be said that it is the end of the beginning.

The legislation provides for an 11-member board of directors. One member of that board shall be appointed by the governor from a list of three names submitted by the mayor of Quincy. Within the next week to 10 days I will be submitting those names to the governor with my recommendation. We also have an advisory board. There are 60 communities involved in this legislation and each community has a member to serve on the advisory board. I can serve myself but I plan to appoint somebody to represent me. The advisory board also appoints three members of that 11-member board.

Hopefully, as 1985 unfolds, we now have an authority whose prime purpose is to clean up the bay. It's not going to be done in 1985 and it might not be done by 1990 but I think a beginning has been started. I will be watching it through the vantage of our consultants, who have worked for the city of Quincy. The courts will be watching the progress and once again let me congratulate all those people over the years who have worked so hard to get to this particular point.

Ladies and gentlemen, this completes my review of 1984 and I'd like to look ahead very briefly to 1985.

Looking Ahead

By way of looking ahead I'm going back three years. Back in 1982 I took office as the 30th mayor of the city of Quincy and as my administration unfolded I was subjected to some criticism by people who said that the economic development programs in the city that had progressed so well in preceding administrations seemed to have slowed down. Nothing seemed to be happening. We don't hear that kind of talk anymore because there has been an economic boom in the past 18 months in the city of Quincy. We now hear talk about cutting back slowing down; we hear talk about a no-growth policy. Let me say that my feeling about a no-growth policy, it wouldn't work even if we wanted it to. In our lives, in business, or in our governments' you don't stand still. You either go forward or you go backward.

However, there are groups in this city, there are city councillors in this city who are raising very valid points about the boom in economic development. The effect it has on the city's infrastructure; the effect it has on our traffic. These concerns must be addressed.

But these concerns are infinitely better to solve than the problems with a recession. Nobody is thinking about recession now. Everything is on an upswing. Unemployment is down; everything is going well. I think about recession because I know what a recession in this city and this state would do to our cherry sheets.

Welcome Mat Out

So the problems that we have to face—and they're there—are better solved in an area of economic expansion. So let me say this, that the welcome mat is still out to those individuals and those developers who want to come to the city of Quincy to develop. But I think we're going to say to those people, when you come, present us with a plan that the city can live with, that's compatible with the location that you're going into and will not, I repeat, not diminish the quality of life in our city.

I plan to send letters to the three unpaid boards that deal very closely with economic development, informing them of my comments here this morning. Those boards are the Planning Board, the Zoning Board of Appeals and the Conservation Commission. I think that working together as we go into the future we can address the problems of our economic because there are some very definite advantages to it.

Ladies and gentlemen, that completes my remarks in my so-called mid-term address. This morning I am starting the fourth year as the 30th mayor of the city of Quincy. Let me say I've enjoyed my work, working with the City Council, the School Committee and elected and appointed officials at all levels and I'm looking forward to a very productive year in 1985.

Once again thank you for coming this morning and thank you for your kind attention.

Financial Aid Hotline For Students

Rep. Michael Morrissey (D-Quincy) announces that the Massachusetts Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators has set up a financial aid hotline for all Bay State Students and Parents who need information on how to apply for college financial assistance.

The free service will be offered from Jan. 15 until Feb. 15 weekdays, 5 p.m. until 9 p.m.

The hotline service insures that students and parents receive accurate, up-to-date information.

Morrissey encourages all prospective college students to use this new service to guarantee maximum assistance.

The toll free number is: 1-800-325-2523.

Any other inquiries can be directed to Morrissey at the State House.

"Jim Sheets is elected," said City Clerk John Gillis and he added: "Easier than last time, Jimmy."

Sheets was elected to a second one-year term as President of the City Council Monday by unanimous vote of the seven councillors present.

A year ago, Councillor Joanne Condon voted "present" when Sheets' name was placed in nomination and three other councillors voted reluctantly for him.

Councillors John J. Lydon Jr. and Theodore P. DeCristoforo were absent from Monday's organizational Council meeting.

Mrs. Jean Reardon also was a unanimous choice to serve as the Council's clerk of committees. She left the post briefly last year to be Mayor Francis X. McCauley's secretary and later returned.

In other actions, the Council:

Re-elected Councillors Condon and Stephen J. McGrath to the Hospital Board of Supervisors.

Nominated Dr. Luleen Anderson to the board of managers of the Woodward School, then tabled the nomination for the required one month before voting on it.

Named City Auditor Robert E. Foy III and William MacDonald to the Adams Temple and Building Fund.

Invited representatives of the MBTA to attend a meeting of the Public Transportation Committee to outline plans for a second platform to enable Quincy trains to stop at the UMass-JFK station in Dorchester.

Sent six financial orders to the Finance Committee, notably one that would appropriate $50,000 to the assessors for a personal property value update. The Council has turned down the order twice before.

Also dispatched to the Finance Committee a home rule petition to the legislature asking permission for an overlay deficit to wipe a $2.5 million General Dynamics tax overcharge from the books.

The Council meeting, which also featured mid-term addresses by McCauley and Sheets, was attended by several former councillors, including:

Thomas Gilmartin, Joseph E. Brett, J. Vincent Smyth, Leo J. Kelly, Sen. Paul D. Harold, and former Mayors Arthur H. Tobin and Walter J. Hannon.

The meeting was picketed by a number of sign-bearing city employees, whose negotiations for new contracts with the city have been stalled for several months.

52 Pints Of Blood Collected For Jaclyn Miller

Morrisette Legion Post hosted a blood drive recently and collected 52 pints of blood for Jaclyn Miller, the 22-month old daughter of Joan and James Miller of Quincy who is stricken with leukemia.

This was the second blood drive set up by Massachusetts General Hospital and held at the Morrisette Post for the young girl.

The first drive, held Dec. 17, netted 67 pints for a total of 119 pints.

Sulo Ruuska Retires From Quincy Savings Bank After 33 Years' Service

When Sulo Ruuska went to Quincy Savings Bank as a teller in 1951, U.S. Treasury bills were paying two per cent.

Last week, when Ruuska retired from the bank as senior vice president, the same type of investment was yielding about 9 per cent.

Ruuska served the bank in several capacities over the years: as assistant comptroller in 1965, assistant treasurer in 1968, and assistant vice president in 1973. He was elected vice president in 1974, senior vice president in 1980.

During his 33-year banking career, Ruuska witnessed many other changes, especially in the investment opportunities he weighed every business day in recent years, until his retirement.

"There are far more areas of investment today," Ruuska says. "Though there are fewer investment houses, because of mergers, the variety of offerings and rates requires greater investment ingenuity than before."

Ruuska, a native of Quincy, graduated from Quincy High School and served in World War II four and a half years with the 85th Infantry Division in Italy. He later graduated from Northeastern University where he became a member of the honor society, Sigma Epsilon Rho. He and his wife Elia now live in Braintree.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Raiders Off On Wrong Foot

North Quincy boys' basketball coach Eddie Miller said before the season opened that the Raiders would have trouble winning in the strong Suburban League.

His forecast was borne out last week when the North hoopmen lost to Brookline and Brockton in their first two league games, dropping their record to 1-6.

The Raiders faced Newton North Tuesday, will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday at 3:30 and will host Marshfield on a non-league game next Wednesday at 7 p.m.

"We are out of our class against such teams as Brockton and Cambridge as well as Brookline and Waltham," Miller said. "They are all much bigger and more experienced than we are and Brockton and Cambridge are especially outstanding. We shouldn't be playing in the Suburban League."

Last Saturday unbeaten Brockton (6-0) paced by 6-9 Cleveland Jackson, who blocked a number of North shots, rolled to a 17-4 first quarter lead and went on to defeat North, 79-44.

The young Raiders, with two freshmen in the lineup, never had a chance against the Boxers.

Brockton had a huge 40-19 halftime bulge as North's Ken Runge (16 points) did his best to try and keep the Raiders in the game with 10 second quarter points.

The Boxers quickly got the lead up to 30 points (53-23) four minutes into the third quarter and never trailed by less than that the rest of the way.

Freshman Dave Lawless, who has been having a fine season, chipped in with 10 North points.

Earlier in the week North bowed to Brookline, another league power, 81-53, as the Raiders trailed, 42-27 at halftime.

Lawless had a good game with 15 points and Brian Morris had one of his best games with 12 points and 14 rebounds.

Presidents Drop Pair

The Quincy boys' basketball team, after winning the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament, lost twice last week, dropping its record to 3-4.

Rick DeCristofaro's Presidents played Brookline Tuesday, will host undefeated Brockton Friday at 7:30 and will play at Suburban League co-leader Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Wednesday at 3:30.

The Presidents lost a disappointing 54-52 squeaker to Waltham last Saturday despite 30 points and 13 rebounds by Co-Capt. Bill Shaughnessy, who is having just as outstanding a basketball season as he had in football.

Quincy, which lost a nine-point lead late in the game in its previous game, led Waltham, 28-24, at halftime but the Hawks had a 16-8 advantage in the third quarter.

Quincy moved to within two points in the final minute on Andy Lenhard's three-point play but in the last five seconds Don Parry and Shaughnessy barely missed the tying basket.

"Shaughnessy was again sensational and Parry gave us excellent floor leadership," DeCristofaro said. "We had our chances but just couldn't sink that tying basket."

Seven of Shaughnessy's rebounds came at the offensive end. Pat Faherty added eight rebounds.

Earlier in the week against non-league opponent Stoughton, Quincy led, 50-41, with 4:46 remaining, only to have the Black Knights, who were winning their fourth game in five, come back to win, 63-57.

"If we could have scored another hoop then, I think we would have pulled it out," DeCristofaro said. Instead Stoughton ran off 14 unanswered points, then sank pressure free throws down the stretch.

Shaughnessy scored 16 points, Faherty had 12 and Max Johnson added 11, six of them late in the second quarter when a 10-4 run enabled Quincy to take a 24-23 lead at halftime.

Stoughton won the game at the foul line, hitting on 19 to just three for Quincy.

Traficante Leads North Girls

Georgia Traficante won the 300 and high hurdles as the North Quincy girls' track team rebounded from its first loss in three years to top Brockton, 58-28, last week at Cambridge.

The 1-1 Raiderettes faced Weymouth South Tuesday and will meet Brookline Monday at 3:30 at Cambridge.

Traficante won the 300 in 43.0 and the high jump with a leap of 5 feet.

Other North winners were Lisa Fitzgerald, 50-yard dash (6.6); Caryn Collings, 600 (1:40.5); Meg Leary, mile (5:55.4); Tricia Leary, two-mile (12:37.4); Noreen Connelly, shot put (33.0), and the mile relay team of Fitzgerald, Traficante, Collings and Tricia Parrett (4:33).

Second place finishers were Theresa Collings, 300;

Tricia Barrett, 1000; Sharon Barrett, mile; Ann Toland, two-mile, and Missy Silkwood, shot put.

Finishing third were Cheryl McCarthy, 600; Jennifer Raftery, hurdles, and Theresa Collings, high jump.

Junior Gun Safety Program At Braintree Club

As a community service, the Braintree Rifle and Pistol Club, on Liberty St., near the DAV Hall, has openings in the Junior Gun Safety program for boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 18.

The program is held Fridays at 6:30 p.m. at the club's indoor range.

Aram Saverian is director and coach. He is also a teacher and coach of the Braintree High School rifle team.

At least one parent must accompany each new applicant to discuss the details and the safety regulations.

Eye and ear protection is mandatory.

Rifles and shooting jackets will be available.

Saverian will be assisted by experienced instructors in the safety and marksmanship qualifications.

Club membership is not required.

North Swimmers Win 2, Bow

The North Quincy swim team, after two easy wins, bowed to Newton North, 92-79, in its Suburban League opener.

The 2-1 Raiders, seeking their ninth straight winning season, met Cambridge Rindge and Latin Tuesday and will host Brookline Monday at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

In an impressive 104-64 victory over Middleboro, Mike Melanson won the 500 freestyle (5:46.9) and the individual medley (2:25) to spark the Raiders.

100 butterfly (1:07.5); Dan O'Sullivan, 100 backstroke (1:12.7); Dan Moriarty, 100 breaststroke (1:13.7); Eric Giordano, diving (160.4), and the 400 freestyle relay team of Tom Farmer, Sean Geary, Dave Stockless and

Ed Carroll of North Quincy, who had an outstanding season for the Plymouth State College basketball team last year, averaging nine points a game and having a brilliant rebounding season (24 in one game for a school record.) has been hampered by a cracked wrist which has kept him sidelined much Chris Roberts (4:29).

Second place finishers were John Bangs, 500 freestyle; Brendan Walsh, 100 freestyle; Stockless, 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle; Farmer, 100 butterfly; and Greg Toland, diving.

The junior 6-4 former North Quincy star has played sparingly but is rapidly getting back into shape.

Quincy's Arin McCarron, a senior forward, is one of the top players coming off the bench for the Plymouth State women's team.

Placing third were Walsh, 500 freestyle; Bangs, 100 freestyle; Ton-Huynk, 100 backstroke; Rich Stanton, 100 breaststroke, and O'Sullivan, 200 individual medley.

North Outskates Cambridge

The North Quincy hockey team continues to breeze along in the Suburban League and last Saturday defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 8-3, to improve its record to 6-1.

Kevin Jago's Raiders, losers only to undefeated Waltham, sought their second win over Quincy last night (Wednesday), and Saturday will host Newton North at 7:30 at the Youth Arena.

North's line of Dave Tapper, Rob Reidy and Rich Horrigan, one of the highest scoring lines in the league, continued to shine in Saturday's win over Cambridge.

Reidy had a hat trick, giving him seven goals on the season, and Tapper had two goals (ninth and 10th) and two assists to lead the Raiders.

Tom McGrath, Dave Fasano and Jerry Layden had the other North goals.

Reidy took over for the sensational Matt Higgins in goal in the final period and had seven saves. Higgins, the leading goalie in the league, had 17 saves in two periods.

Higgins has a goals-against average of 1.4, the best in the league.

Earlier in the week North defeated Brockton, 3-1, as Higgins was spectacular with 27 saves against a team that was averaging eight goals a game. It was only the second loss for the Boxers.

The Horrigan-Reidy-Tapper line accounted for all three goals and combined for six assists.

Horrigan scored his fourth goal and Tapper his eighth to break open a 1-1 tie in the third period. Reidy had opened the scoring in the second period with his fourth goal. Brockton tied it moments later on a goal by Dutch Bagas.

Brockton goalie Jeff Krauthamer also had an outstanding game as he turned away 27 North Quincy shots.

Quincy Icemen Tie Newton North

The Quincy hockey team continues to find the going rough in the Suburban League but last Saturday it did tie the defending champion Newton North, 3-3, making its record 1-4-2.

Bob Sylvia's Presidents played North Quincy last night (Wednesday), will play at Brockton Saturday at 4 o'clock at the Asiat Rink and next Wednesday will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

Scott McGahey's late goal enabled Quincy to tie Newton North last Saturday.

Earlier in the week the Presidents bowed to undefeated Waltham's league leaders, 7-4.

Steve Constat scored twice for Quincy and McGahey and John Gleba scored the other goals.

Indoor Soccer Program To Start Jan. 22

The Quincy Recreation Department announces a new program of indoor soccer clinics to be conducted for boys and girls age eight through the fifth grade.

The program will be held Tuesday afternoons and will utilize the staff and facilities of the South Shore Sports Center, the area's only indoor soccer facility.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, said: "We have developed a program with the South Shore Sports Center which will provide individual and group instruction in the fundamentals of soccer as well as practice in actual game conditions that will emphasize the skills and the strategy and not the score."

All of the instructors have high school and college soccer experience and excellent reputations as instructors of youth. The head instructor will be George Montoya, a former standout at Boston College.

The program will cost $20 for four weeks and includes bus transportation from the Recreation Department to Hingham and return, supervised by a member of the recreation staff, and an hour and a half of clinic and play. The bus will leave Quincy at 12:15 p.m. and return by 3 p.m. The program will run for the next four Tuesdays.

Registration is being taken now at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery weekdays from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Registration is limited. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Limited Openings For N.H. Ski Trip

The Quincy Recreation Department has limited openings, for a one-day ski trip to Pat's Peak Ski Area in Henniker, N.H.

The trip, to be held Tuesday, Jan. 15, which is the Martin Luther King holiday, is open to all Quincy residents age 10 through adult. Those under age 10 may attend if accompanied by an adult. Family groups are encouraged.

Fee for a round trip coach bus and all day lift ticket is $18. Reduced rates for rental equipment and optional lessons can also be arranged. The trip will be supervised by Recreation Department Staff.

Registration will be held in the Recreation Office at 100 Southern Artery weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and will continue as long as opening exist.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 773-1380, ext. 204.

Morrell Rebounds Quincy To Win

Capt. Tom Morrell turned in what some called the greatest rebounding effort at both ends of the floor in the history of the school to lead Quincy High School's basketball team to a 47-46 upset of Chelsea in the Quincy gym.

Morrell also scored 16 points, 10 of them in the crucial last period, as the Presidents moved into a five-way tie with Everett, Medford, Somerville and Chelsea for first place in the Greater Boston League, all with 2-1 records.

The comparative low score was attributed to good defense on the part of both teams as Quincy kept the Chelsea shooters off balance with their raised hands and the Red Devils threw a difficult 3-2 zone defense at the Presidents.

NORTH QUINCY 'BEST EVER'

"They're the best high school team I've ever seen," said Capt. Russ Halloran after his Newton High School basketball team had been overrun by North Quincy, 76-63, for their eighth straight victory that left them only three wins shy of qualifying for the state tournament.

Al Adams, the towering North center, had 29 points and Doug Grutchfield, the only junior in the starting five, added 18 as the Raiders moved out to a 22-7 lead at the end of the first quarter, thanks to an amazing 60 per cent shooting average from the floor.

The North Quincy lineup included: Grutchfield, Fitzpatrick, Crowley, Paiten, Deane, forwards; Adams, Carney, Huber, centers; Stevenson, Cox, Walsh, Mann, guards.

QUINCY-HINGHAM TIE

Bob Belanger scored at 5:21 of the third period to lift the Quincy High School hockey team to a come-from-behind 1-1 tie with Hingham in a South Shore Hockey League thriller at the Boston Arena.

The Hingham skaters were on the offensive for most of the game but they were stopped by Quincy goalie Bob Krabich's dazzling performance. The only Hingham shot that eluded him was Dave Morse's long drive that slid under his stick at 5:47 of the first period.

The Quincy lineup included: Krabich, goal; Belanger, McLeod, defense; Zanardelli, Wong, Mattie, forwards; Vient, Burke, Williams, spares.

NORTH-BISHOPS TIE

Little Bill O'Neill slapped in a goal at 3:24 of the first period to give the North Quincy High School hockey team a 1-0 lead but Archbishop Williams swept back to tie their South Shore League game 1-1 on a third period score by John Butler.

The North Quincy lineup included: Lloyd, goal; Cobban, Noonan, defense; Ready, Cook, Joyce, forwards; O'Neill, McNiece, Quintiliani, spares.

Raiderettes Drop 2 To Top Teams

Beginning its Suburban League season against the two top teams in the league, the North Quincy girls' basketball team lost both games last week, dropping its record to 4-3.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes hoped for better luck this week, playing Newton North Tuesday and hosting Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday at 5 o'clock. They will play at Marshfield in a non-league game next Wednesday night at 7.

Last Saturday the North girls started their first home game since early December, losing to Brockton, 56-43.

Brockton ran out to an early lead as the Raiderettes turned the ball over nine times in the first quarter. But North's pressure defense enabled it to cut the lead to four points at the end of the quarter.

For the second game in a row, the North girls found themselves at the mercy of the officials as Brockton shot 15 foul shots in the first half. Several North starters were on the bench in foul trouble.

However, North got good performances off the bench from seniors Stephanie Petrakas and Geraldine Murphy up front. Freshman guard Nancy Flukes also was impressive, making several steals and scoring four first half points. North trailed by only 28-26, at halftime.

North's foul trouble increased as starting forward Karen Runge fouled out early in the third quarter, while two other starters were on the bench in foul trouble.

With three minutes left in the third quarter North trailed, 32-20, but Brockton scored eight unanswered points for a 40-32 lead going into the final quarter.

North was never able to get the deficit under eight points despite five points from Capt. Ann Duggan and four from Sandra Proude. Four North players fouled out and three others had four fouls each.

Eileen Warren finished with 11 points and 15 rebounds. Proude had eight, Duggan seven and Runge and Flukes six each. In addition to the foul trouble, North had 23 turnovers.

Earlier in the week the Raiderettes went to Brookline and lost, 72-48.

North trailed, 17-12, after a quarter and still trailed, 29-23, at the half.

Runge, Warren and Proude had four points each in the second quarter. Each team had nine baskets but Brookline had the edge from the foul line.

Brookline increased its lead to 49-32 in the third quarter, hitting on nine free throws as North again ran into foul trouble. Anne Marie Hughes hit for four points in the quarter. Brookline continued to increase its lead in the final despite a fine 13-point effort by Proude. She hit three baskets and was seven of eight from the line.

Bregoli was so incensed at the officiating as Warren was low-bumped on a rebound attempt and Jean Welby was intentionally tripped, that he was hit with three technicals and was ejected from the game.

Proude had 21 points and Warren had 12.

"We didn't get any breaks from the officials in either game," Bregoli said. "Our kids played well and it is too bad incompetent officiating ruins their efforts. On the positive side, our defense held the two top centers in the league, both all-stars last year, to three baskets for both games."

Mite-Squirt House

Balducci's Moves Back To First

Balducci's blanked Rogan Hennessy, 4-0, to move back into first place in the Mite Squirt House League. Jim Cipriano, Chris Geary, Andrew Vermette and Brendan O'Brien scored the goals and Brad Watkins had two assists and Vermette, Mike McKinnon, Cipriano and Steve Provost one each. Goalie Mark

Gilmore was outstanding. Lydon-Russell upset the Paul Harold Club, 2-1, with Steve Miller scoring both goals and David Cooper assisting on each. John Lewis scored for Harold and Brian Connolly assisted. Bo Car Printing defeated UCT, 5-2, paced by Steve Bartkus' hat trick. Leo Hughes and Mike Grant had a goal each. Mike Smith had three assists and Dan Beaton and Mike DesRoche one each. Doug Nolan had both UCT goals and Mike Morrison and Dan Grant had assists. The standings: Balducci's, 8-3-0; Harold, 7-3-1; Rogan Hennessy, 5-4-2; Lydon Russell, 5-5-0; Bo Car, 4-6-1; UCT, 1-9-1.

Bantam House

Burgin Lead Shaved By Sun

Burgin Platner's Bantam House League lead was shaved to five points when it was tied by the Quincy Sun, 2-2.

Bob Ierardi and Art Cangemi scored for Burgin, while Brian Mosher and Chris LaForest had the Sun's goals. Brian Mantville, Brian Blackman and Bill Fraser had assists for Burgin and Jeff Bina, Wayne Foley, Jeff McClory and Joe Hajjar for the Sun.

Doran & Horrigan outscored Johnson Motor Parts, 8-6, with Rod Davis having a hat trick, Chris DeNatale and Darren Simonelli two goals each and Scotty Prioli one. Mike Galvin had four assists. Simonelli, Jeff Hemphill and Davis two apiece and Kevin Marston, Mark Cafano, Tom Gleason, Prioli and David Nogler one each. Bob Loughlin and Sean Hunter had two goals apiece for Johnson and Paul McLellan and Jim DeCarli one each. Martin Feeney had two assists, Hunter two and McLellan and Jim Allen one each.

The standings: Burgin Platner, 8-2-1; Doran & Horrigan, 6-5-0; Johnson, 4-6-1; Quincy Sun, 2-7-2.

Midget House

Marines Land On Fire Dept.

Caddy Marine walloped the Quincy Fire Dept. 10-5, to cut Suburban Disposal's Midget House League lead to six points.

Mike Bartkus had a hat trick and Dave Maimaron and Marc Winter two goals apiece. Jon Hays, P. J. Hussey and Mike Hays had the other goals. Maimaron had five assists and David Hack, Bartkus, Jon Hays and Winter one each. Scott Collins and Rich Fitzpatrick had two goals each and Tom Donovan one for the Fire Dept.

Baskin Robbins upset Suburban, 5-3, with Kevin Tobin and Dave DiAntona scoring twice each and Kevin Kuska once. Frank Morrell had two assists and Bob Burgess, Tobin and Dave Savage one each. Ed McArdle had two goals and Larry Mahoney one for Suburban. Ricky Ames and Mike Bille had assists. Goalie Bob Sheehan was outstanding for Baskin as he led his team out of the cellar.

The standings: Suburban, 7-2-2; Caddy, 4-5-2; Baskin Robbins, 4-5-2; Fire Dept., 4-7-0.

North Football Boosters Annual Banquet Sunday

The North Quincy Football Boosters Club will hold its 27th annual banquet Sunday at 6 p.m. at the Quincy Sons of Italy Hall.

Dr. Al Yacubian, a former North football star, will be the principal speaker.

The Jack Donahue Memorial Award will be presented to the best North Quincy player in the Quincy game.

Other awards will include the Father Cornelius Heery

Award for sportsmanship, the Firefighters Union Award to the 12th player, the William Schaezel Award for unsung hero, the Robert F. X. Schaezel Award, the Coaches Award to the Most Valuable Player and awards for the best defensive and best offensive players.

An award will be presented to the football queen and there will be other special awards. The 1985 captains will be introduced by the 1984 captains. Joanne Kelly will explain the club's scholarship awards.

All freshmen, sophomores junior and senior players and the cheerleaders will be honored.

Janet Coughlin is the banquet chairperson and is being assisted by club president John Ellis, Ed Miller, Alice Rency, Madeline Tavares, Eleanor Watkins, Mary Doherty and Joanne Kelly.

Pee Wee A's Win, 5-2

Quincy's Pee Wee A team, sponsored by the Quincy Elks, defeated Wellesley, 5-2, in a Greater Boston League game.

Mike Baylis and Kevin Daly scored two goals apiece and Brian Zimmerman one. Daly, Ronnie Last, Rich McDonald, Steve Carroll and Ken Staskywick had assists.

Although the team was undefeated in the Cranberry Tournament at Pembroke, it finished second as another team scored more goals.

Quincy trampled Whitman/Kingston, 10-0, as Daly had a hat trick, Joe Fasano and Joe Bevilacqua two goals each and McDonald and Mike Hughes one apiece. Daly and McDonald had two assists apiece and Baylis, Mike Lally, Last, Fasano, Carroll and Tim Collins one each. James Tiberio was outstanding in goal.

Quincy tied Tri-Valley, 3-3, with McDonald, Last and Fasano scoring the goals. Carroll, McDonald and Daly had assists.

Fasano's hat trick sparked a 6-3 victory over Hanover. Daly, Baylis and McDonald had the other goals. Fasano also had three assists and Fasano, Staskywick, Lally and Bevilacqua one each.

Squirt A's Win

Quincy's Squirt A team, sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank, defeated Parkway, 5-1.

Sean McArdle had two goals and Bobby Fitzpatrick, Jamie Schatzl and Joey Zona one each. Mat Riley, McArdle, Fitzpatrick and Sean Vermette had assists.

Scott McClory, Shane Abboud and Riley were outstanding on defense and Dennis Ruggiero sparked in goal.

Quincy tied Medfield, 2-2, with Brian Fitzgerald and Jeff Craig scoring the goals and Riley, McArdle and Fitzgerald having assists. Danny Morrell and Matt McGowan played strong games and Doug Johnson had an outstanding game in goal.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante.

DON'T DIG GRAVE WITH SNOW SHOVEL

You can almost count on it the day following every huge snowstorm. The daily obituary columns will be peppered with sudden deaths of men who over-exerted themselves while shoveling snow.

If you are in good health and have had a recent physical checkup, snow shoveling can be beneficial exercise says the American Medical Association, but be sure not to overdo it.

Use a small shovel, rub wax on it to prevent snow from sticking, and push or scoop the snow to the sides rather than lift it. Do the work in stages and take frequent rests.

If you have any doubts about your physical capabilities, do not shovel snow. It can cause a collapse, especially with men who are middle-aged, overweight or have heart conditions. If you're in one or more of these categories, hire someone to shovel the snow or use power equipment. We all have to go sometimes - no need to rush it.

Choral Society To Resume Rehearsals Jan. 14

The Quincy Choral Society will resume rehearsals Monday, Jan. 14 at 8 p.m. at the East Congregational Church of Milton with Dr. Edward Maclary conducting.

Dr. Maclary has chosen Mendelssohn's "Elijah" for the Society's spring concert to be presented in late April. The two hour oratorio is the most ambitious work sung by the Society now in its fourth

It is written for full chorus of mixed voices, soprano, alto, tenor, and baritone solos as well as a double quartet of mixed voices.

The Quincy Choral Society invites experienced choral singers, especially tenors, basses and first sopranos to join in singing this work of Mendelssohn. A chorus of 100 voices is planned.

ENC To Present Pulitzer Prize Winning Play

The Communications Arts Department of Eastern Nazarene College in Wollaston will present the Pulitzer-Prize winning play "The Effects of Gamma Rays on Man-In-The-Moon Morogolds" by Paul Zindel

Thursday, Jan. 24 through Saturday, Jan. 26 at 7 p.m. at the Cove Fine Arts Center at Eastern Nazarene College.

A.D. 1984 at 9:00 o'clock A.M. at the time when the same was seized on execution in and to the following described real estate.

A certain parcel of land situated in said Quincy being lots numbered 10 and 11 on a plan entitled "Design for Subdivision of Land in the City of Quincy, Mass., owned by the heirs of James Nightingale," by Frederick E. Tupper, C.E., dated February 1914, duly recorded with Norfolk Deeds, and bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Town Hill Street, one hundred twenty (120) feet; Northwesterly by land now or late of Lark, being Lot No. 12, on said plan, forty-two (42) feet; Northwesterly by other land now or late of Lark, being Lot No. 9, on said plan, one hundred twenty (120) feet; Southeasterly by Granite Street, fifty (50) feet; and Southerly by a curved line at the intersection of said Granite Street and said Town Hill Street, as shown on said plan. Containing 5350 square feet; excepting therefrom so much of said premises as are described in a certain partial release of mortgage from Quincy Trust Company to Oskar A. Pittiaho, dated May 15, 1929, and duly recorded with Norfolk Deeds. All of said measurements and area being more or less. Being the same premises described in a foreclosure deed to the Quincy Trust Company, dated October 20, 1932, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 1973, Page 492.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the said Quincy Trust Company, has caused its corporate seal to be hereto affixed and this instrument to be signed acknowledged and delivered in its name and behalf by Chester J. Weeden, its Treasurer, hereto duly authorized, this fifteenth day of April 1935.

Shotgun Robbery Fails In North Quincy

Two men in a Toyota tried to hold up a tow truck in North Quincy with a shotgun Sunday but fled empty handed, when the driver told them he had no money.

Pete Candelora of Quincy, a driver for Biondi's on Willard St., told police he was stopped for a red light at Holbrook Rd and Newport Ave, when the Toyota pulled up in front of him.

A passenger got out, he said, and pointed a shotgun at him through the truck window and demanded money. Candelora told him he had none and the man got back into the Toyota and it drove off.

The man with the shotgun was described as black, in his 20's, 6-foot-1, 200 pounds with a beard and mustache and wearing an Army jacket with sergeant's stripes.

FFC Looted

Thieves broke into the back room the Friendly Family Center store, 1453 Hancock St., and stole two canvas bags and a tire iron. They did not get into the main store.

Hospital, Neighbors Meet On Building Plans

By TOM HENSHAW
Members of the Colonial Heritage Neighborhood Association and the City Hospital Board of Managers met for five hours Monday night to discuss the construction of a new hospital.

Both sides said the meeting went well. "It was a very good meeting," said Mark Donovan, spokesman for the association, which has complained that neighbors of the hospital have not been kept adequately informed of rebuilding plans.

"The meeting went well for us," he said. "At least they are talking to us now. There were three city councillors there and they are listening to us."

John Kane, chairman of the Board of Managers, said the meeting was "not bad, although a couple of people got agitated."

"We will examine the concerns of the neighbors," he said. "Those requests that are reasonable we will make an effort to comply. Those that we feel are unreasonable will make no recommendation."

"We are the members of the community as well. We want to do what is reasonable."

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, who attended the meeting as a member of the Hospital Board of Supervisors, said he had been "under the impression the neighbors had been informed. Apparently that was not the case."

"I favor a new hospital," he said, "but those people have to be accommodated. I can see their concerns. Some of their requests are very reasonable."

One of the chief concerns expressed at the meeting was that the planned psychiatric ward was to be located too close to some of the neighboring residences.

A psychiatric ward is required under the terms of the certificate of need from the state, which grants permission to build.

Other concerns included a possible decline in the value of nearby property due to the proximity of a large hospital and traffic on the side streets around the hospital.

Fiscal '86 Budget Expected To Go Up

By TOM HENSHAW

Fiscal 1985 has barely turned the halfway mark and already the city budget for fiscal 1986 is taking shape in the office of Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

It will undoubtedly go up although just how much has yet to be determined.

McCauley said he sent requests to department heads for level-funded budgets, that is, the same as last year, and most of them have been returned in compliance.

"I hope to have all the budgets in by Friday, Jan. 18," said the mayor.

Under the provisions of Proposition 2½ the city will be able to increase its tax levy by some $1,176,000 in fiscal 1986. The levy was fixed at $47,067,506 in fiscal 1985.

McCauley said he expects that cherry sheets listing state aid and charges may be out this week, which would give him a better handle on how much money will be available for spending.

Two fixed charges in the budget that are bound to go up, said McCauley, are Blue Cross-Blue Shield premiums and pension payments.

The budget has to be submitted to the City Council by April 8, which is 90 days following the organization of the city government on Jan. 7.

But, McCauley noted, it has been traditional in the past few years for the state to extend the deadline by a month.

State Census Begins

City Population Seen Reaching 90,000 Mark

By BOB BOSWORTH

The official state census is underway in Quincy and City Clerk John Gillis believes it will show the city's population at the 90,000 mark or close to it.

This would be an increase of 6,000 since the 1980 federal census pegged Quincy's population at roughly 84,000. That was the census that gave the city its first population decrease ever, dropping it from 87,966 in 1970 to 84,243 in 1980.

Gillis's optimistic assumption is based on what he calls "a tremendous building boom in condominiums and apartments throughout Quincy."

If he is correct, a new state representative seat for Quincy would be created.

Gillis said the census is "vital" for that reason.

Quincy now has three state representatives and one state senator.

Gillis also said the ward and precinct lines throughout Quincy will be redrawn in 1985. Census figures will be the primary criteria for the procedure. Regardless of population fluctuation, Quincy will always have nine city councilors, he noted.

Census figures for 1985 could also affect the amount of aid Quincy receives. Usually, state and federal aid increases as population increases. However, Gillis pointed out that the Reagan Administration could cut back aid regardless of a population surge.

The census is also important because it is through its information that voting lists are compiled. "If someone has moved, the street list can be updated," Gillis said.

Anyone who states Quincy as their permanent address is involved in the once every 10 years event. The state census is administered at the same time as the city drive.

Those 17 and older will also be listed on a city census card. Those under 17 will be listed on a Quincy Public School census card in addition to the state card. All cards are to be filled out at the time of visitation.

The drive will end Tuesday, Feb. 5.

Those who attend college and commute are counted in the city's population figures while college students who live away in another city or town are counted for voting purposes only.

All military personnel from Quincy are included in the count.

The work force for the drive is short by 20 people, but the vacancies are expected to be filled by students at Quincy Junior College, Gillis said.

Finn Orders Strict All-Night Parking Enforcement

Police Chief Francis X. Finn has ordered strict enforcement of the all night parking regulations on city streets with the coming of the snow season.

"If we don't get the cars off the street," he said, "the snow plows can't do a decent job."

He noted that the penalty for all night parking is a $5 fine.

The only persons who are permitted to park their cars all night on city streets are residents who have obtained a night parking permit from the Police Department.

But, Finn noted, the permit is suspended in a snow emergency and the vehicle must be removed from the street until plowing operations are completed. If not, it is subject to being towed.

Two years ago the City Council passed an ordinance permitted parking on the odd numbered side in even numbered years between Oct. 15 and April 15.

This year, 1985, parking is permitted only on the odd numbered side to give snowplows enough room to make a straight path down the street.

positive information but they are very conservative people.

"They told us a long time ago that we had to settle the General Dynamics tax case before they would consider upgrading our bond rating."

"Now they say, 'Okay, you settled, but you increased your debt.' You can't win."

City Fails In Bid To Boost Bond Rating

Despite what Mayor Francis X. McCauley calls a "positive" financial picture, the city has failed in its year-long bid to have its bond rating upgraded.

For the past four years Moody's Investors has rated the city "Ba," one of the lowest in the state along with Boston, Chelsea and Somerville.

The low rating means that the city has to pay higher interest rates on its borrowings and bondings.

"I was disappointed," said McCauley, who was notified of Moody's refusal to boost the rating just before the end of the year.

"We had been meeting with Moody's for a year and furnishing them with a lot of

Stereo Stolen, Fish Tank Smashed

Thieves broke into the home of Eric Larsen, Washington St., Quincy Point, over the weekend, stole a stereo and smashed a 32-gallon fish tank, killing all the fish.

There was extensive water damage to the apartment.

Police said entry was gained by reaching through a hole in a door window and unlocking the door.

$300 Cash Stolen

Neil MacLean of Hudson St., Quincy Center, reported to police Sunday that $300 in cash was stolen from his home by thieves who kicked in the panel of a door and broke a window to gain entry.

NQHS Will Be Vindicated, Chrisom Tells Boosters Club

"We'll come out of this particular episode fine," Peter Chrisom, principal of North Quincy High School, told guests at the school's Boosters Club banquet last week.

The particular episode was an investigation by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., into allegations of cheating on the scholastic aptitude tests (SATs) at the school Dec. 1. ETS spokeswoman Wendy Nardi said there were indications of a security breach during the tests. Some of the scores registered by students "just didn't add up," she said.

It was reported that some student scores had come out more than 250 points above those registered previously by the same students.

"All I can say is some of us might have made mistakes in our lives," Chrisom told the banquet. "I'm sure we'll get rid of those mistakes and we'll be all right."

"North Quincy High School has always kind of been the underdog since I can remember as a kid and I'm sure we will come out of this with flags unfurled and will be vindicated again."

Search Starts For New Health Commissioner

Mayor Francis X. McCauley plans to advertise in trade journals and the Boston newspapers in the next few days for applicants for the $40,593 post as public health commissioner in Quincy.

The job was left vacant by the death last week of Dr. M. Grace Hussey.

"It might be a difficult job to fill," said McCauley. "Dr. Hussey was perfect for the job. She not only had all the qualifications but she was retired from practice too."

Applicants must be medical doctors who cannot have a private practice because the commissioner's job is considered fulltime. They must have masters degrees in public health and two years experience in the field or four years experience without a masters degree.

McCauley said he hopes to be able to appoint a successor to Dr. Hussey quickly because "there are certain things that can be done only by the commissioner."

One of the commissioner's duties that cannot be delegated is the License Board, which will have to get by with only four members until a new commissioner is named.

Mrs. Beatrice Kaplan, permanent senior clerk in the department, has been designated to handle routine administrative matters; City Clerk John Gillis has assumed the duties of signing death certificates.

McCauley said the commissioner does not necessarily have to be a Quincy resident.

McCauley Nominates Three For Water Resources Board

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has submitted the names of three Quincy residents as candidates for the 11-member Board of Directors of the newly created Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

They are Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson; Arthur Foley, the Mayor's administrative assistant; and Richard Meade, principal planner in the Planning Department. The board is unpaid.

McCauley said he strongly recommended to Gov. Michael Dukakis that he name Anderson to the authority that was created by the State Legislature to initiate the cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy bay.

McCauley also appointed former City Councillor Leo J. Kelly to be his designee on the 67-member Advisory Board of the MWRA, which will take over the MDC's water and sewer functions on July 1.

The legislation gives Quincy one representative on the Board of Directors to be selected by the governor from a list of three made up by the Mayor. The governor has 14 days to make the appointment.

"I have strongly recommended to the governor that he name Mr. Anderson," said McCauley. "He has worked closely with the issue for many years. He has represented me at many meetings."

McCauley said he was unhappy with the fact that the mayor of Boston gets to name three directors while Quincy and Winthrop, two closely affected communities, do not get direct appointments.

Anderson and Kelly, he said "are good, competent people who have had long experience on the issue of harbor pollution."

The MWRA is authorized to borrow from the state $60 million seed money during its first six months and then float bonds up to $600 million to upgrade and maintain the old MDC sewer facilities and equipment.

Creation of the authority was spurred by a court mandate that was generated by a suit filed by the city of Quincy against the MDC and the Boston Sewer and Water Commission to halt pollution of the bay.

McCauley said he has urged Sens. Paul Harold and William Golden, who was Quincy's city solicitor when the suit was filed, to lobby with Gov. Dukakis to secure Anderson's appointment.

Coin Shop Picketed In Protest Of Apartheid

Pickets from the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights demonstrated peacefully in front of the Del Greco Coin Shop, 543 Washington St., Quincy Point, Saturday to protest apartheid in South Africa.

The coin shop is selling the kruggerand, a gold coin issued by the South African government in an effort to obtain foreign currency.

"We are protesting that kruggerand as a symbol of the apartheid system which enriches a small minority of white people at the expense of the vast majority of black people and other peoples of color," said Sandy Eaton, a spokesman for the coalition.

"We hope the kruggerand will not be bought by people of conscience in this country and all aspects of investment in that system will be terminated."

Eaton called it "the most appropriate celebration" of the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., whose holiday was observed Tuesday.

Permit Sought For 300-Boat Town River Marina

Stephen C. Ricciardi of Captain's Cove Trust has filed for a federal permit to establish a 300-boat marina on the Town River, including 150 finger piers of 20 to 30 feet in length.

The marina is planned in conjunction with a residential complex on the old Duane Co. steel salvage yard that eventually will include 303 housing units and cost about $40 million.

Written statements commenting on the proposal should be sent to the U.S.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Ralph Atkinson at the Corps of Engineers, 647-8497 or the toll free number, 1-800-362-4367.

Dr. M. Grace Hussey Eulogized As Dedicated Public Official

By JOHN NOONAN

A celebrated funeral Mass was said at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount Monday for Dr. M. Grace Hussey, Quincy Health Commissioner, who died last Thursday at Quincy Hospital after suffering a stroke New Year's day at her home. She was 71.

Dr. Hussey was eulogized by principal celebrant Rev. Frederick J. Barr, associate pastor, as being a dedicated public official who served her state, city and church in an exemplary manner and who was never perplexed by the crisis of the day.

He spoke about the gentle nature of the city's top health official and the manner in which she was able to make valuable contributions to the people of Quincy in the few years she held that office.

"During dark times she was able to see the light, and, in the later years of her life as health commissioner she embarked on a mission from which many would shrink in this great city," Fr. Barr said.

He recalled that one of Dr. Hussey's favorite expressions was, "if they give you lemons, you can always make lemonade." He said she could always find the positive side of a difficult situation.

Two major contributions made by Dr. Hussey involved Quincy Bay pollution clean-up and the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition. Fr. Barr said Dr. Hussey worked zealously with city, state, civic, and business officials and agencies to bring about remedial steps to curb further pollution of the bay. The signing into law by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority was her commitment to meeting the needs of a clean environment.

Fr. Barr, who is chairman of the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition, said she had a very special concern for the homeless, hungry, and less fortunate individuals. She was very instrumental in assisting in the founding of the Coalition a year ago. The Coalition sponsors two shelter programs for the homeless in Quincy, at the Salvation Army and St. John's School.

Dr. Hussey, a longtime resident of Quincy and Merrymount, had just retired in 1982 after a public health career. She had served as a Division Director in the Massachusetts Department of Public Health as a specialist in maternal and child welfare, school health education, psychotropic drug relations, and handicapped children.

Under her direction Massachusetts was the first state in the nation to set up a PKU testing program for newborn infants. PKU or phenylketonuria is a disease that could cause retardation if not detected in its early stages.

She was also in the forefront in drafting the first set of regulations for Massachusetts day care centers.

Following her retirement from the state she was appointed by Mayor Francis X. McCauley in June 1982 to be the City Health Commissioner, the first woman to hold that post.

As health commissioner she directed the annual flu immunization programs conducted throughout the city. She was present at each of the major clinics held at the JFK Health Center the past three years. A record 5000 Quincy residents received free flu vaccine last year.

She was particularly concerned with the problems of the elderly and served the past three years on the Quincy Council on Aging. She organized seminars, lectures, health screening programs, and health fairs to benefit Quincy's elder citizen population, the fastest growing in the state.

Mayor McCauley led a delegation of city officials who attended the funeral. Those attending included: Mark Mundy, Quincy Hospital Director; Dr. Fred Costanza, longtime local physician and member of the hospital staff; City Clerk John Gillis, Police Chief Francis Finn, Building Inspector Allan McDonald, Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti, City Solicitor Dean Nicastro. Also attending were public health and hospital nurses, and former Mayor Walter Hannon and Peter O'Connell, President-elect of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Hussey is survived by a daughter Dr. Kathryn Evers of Hillsboro, Oregon; a son, Daniel Hussey of Las Vegas, three grandchildren, and her sister Dr. Margaret B. Hussey of Quincy.

Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, Hingham.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Funeral Service, 74 Elm St., Quincy.

Condon Proposes Land Use Task Force

City Councillor Joanne Condon plans to file a resolve at the Jan. 21 Council meeting asking the establishment of a Land Use Task Force to study the future development at Boston Harbor Marina.

The task force should be appointed no later than Feb. 1, she said, and report back to the City Council by June 30.

"Their report," said Condon, "is to include recommendations relative to future development and what impact future development will have on each of the five city departments."

She said the report should also contain a list of "benefits to the city particularly as it broadens the tax base and reduces the burden of real estate borne by the city's homeowners."

Current plans for the area, which used to be the Squantum Naval Air Station, call for development by Peter and William O'Connell of 845 condominium units, a 300-room hotel and commercial space at a cost of $250 million.

Condon said she will recommend that the nine-member task force be comprised on one member appointed by the Ward 6 councillor (Condon) and three members named by the councillors at large.

The others would be the Building Inspector, the Fire Chief, the Police Chief, the Public Works Commissioner and the Planning Director or their designees.

Condon outlined her plan in a letter to the Planning Board which was scheduled to meet yesterday (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. to discuss three proposed zoning changes to clear the way for Marina development.

Condon told the Planning Board that she was in favor of two of the proposed zoning changes and opposed the third, that would change a portion of the area from Planned Unit Development (PUD) to Business C.

"This would relinquish over 22 acres of existing PUD and would not allow the community to have input regarding the development of this site," she said.

She favors, she said, the other changes which would move 18.82 acres from Industrial A to PUD and 22.58 acres from Industrial A to Business C.

"This land is currently being used for business and in fact is not now or in the future proposed to be an industrial area," she said. "This zoning change would conform to the present use of this land."

Koch Will Not Support Zoning Changes

City Councillor Richard J. Koch says he will not support three proposed zoning changes that would help clear the way for a $250 million development on the old Squantum Naval Air Station.

"The community is changing and development is playing a big part in this change," he said.

"But as our mayor and City Council president recently pointed out, we must take a good look at all proposed projects and see if they are compatible with the neighborhoods.

"I have taken a long and hard look at this proposal and feel that a change to planned unit development (PUD) for the entire area would be in the best interests of the people of Quincy."

Koch said he plans to vote no on a proposal that would change part of the area from PUD to Business C "since this would remove the control the City Council has over this parcel."

He said he will offer an amendment to another zoning change proposal that would shift an Industrial A parcel to PUD instead of Business C.

"This would make the entire area PUD," said Koch. "It would allow the developers flexibility since PUD permits a variety of uses similar to Business C except that PUD requires a two-thirds vote of the City Council."

Repubican Party Damaged In McGee Battle Support

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
The recent action by the state Republican Party leadership on Saturday, Dec. 29, 1984 when they backed a last-minute losing battle with former Speaker Tom McGee has badly damaged the credibility of the state Republican Party and any elected Republican office holder.

The informal Saturday session in the closing hours of the old House has hurt
Republicans everywhere.
McGee's so-called "Rules Reform" was nothing more than an apparent last minute attempt to hold on to the Speakership for another term and had little to do with opening up the House to more democratic procedures and the Republican leadership had to be very aware of that fact.

The loyal opposition on Beacon Hill now apparently have even less clout under Speaker Keverian and Republicans have state Rep.
Andrew Natsios who also serves as state GOP chairman to blame.

Republicans are hopelessly outnumbered in both the state Senate and House of Representatives and any hopes Republican legislators had of increasing their influence on Beacon Hill has been dampened, maybe, fatally.

The Republican leadership will not be remembered for Rules Reform but rather for trying to thwart it by backing the desperate actions of Tom McGee.

Reform-minded Republican legislators now know who the enemy is and it is not Speaker Keverian.
As Pogo once said, "We have met the enemy and they are us."

The Republican Party apparatus now needs some Rules Reform of its own.
The Party needs to be open to more democratic means.
The leadership should not be able to speak for its legislative members anymore than Speaker McGee spoke for Democrats on Dec. 29.

Republican officeholders on Beacon Hill have a right to expect that their Party not go into deals without first informing them, especially when those deals are cemented into defeat.

The fact that the GOP leadership stands by their action is not surprising. It's hard for people to admit to their mistakes, especially when they go around carrying lamps like Diogenes looking for the honest man.

If the Republican leadership can not admit to their errors of judgement, can we now understand why Republicans in the Commonwealth are political dinosaurs?

CONDO BOUNDS OF OWNERSHIP

QUESTION: Just what is a condominium and what would be my bounds of ownership in relation to the other inhabitants if I purchased one?

ANSWER: Condominium is a latin word meaning, "own together" and is a form of ownership whereby individuals can own an apartment, town house or other type complex. It is much the same as owning your own home except the structure in which your apartment is located, the hallways, facilities and the grounds are owned in common. In short, you own the interior space within the walls of your apartment. Everything else is owned in common with the others and the expense of maintaining the "common elements" is shared by all.

AS A CONDO OWNER, you own the interior space of your living quarters. Everything else is owned in common.

Condon Definite Mayor Candidate

There is speculation around political circles that Joanne Condon will run for city councillor at-large instead of for mayor.

Don't believe it.

Condon will announce her political plans at an 8 p.m. to midnight reception Jan. 30 at Morrisette Legion Post.

Invitations being printed now say:
The Friends of Joanne Condon invite you to enjoy, share and espouse 1985 predictions at "An 'Ole Tyme Party."

One of the predictions: she is running for mayor.
She has heard the speculation that she will announce for councillor at-large.

"No way," she says. "Never. I'm not running for councillor at-large. If I wanted to run for the City Council again I would run for re-election in Ward 6."
She definitely isn't retiring from the political scene.
So—she obviously is running for mayor as reported here months ago.

She's not making anything official until Jan. 30 but she's certainly talking like a mayoral candidate, to friends.

"I'm going to wage a very positive campaign," she tells them.

"I'm not running this year for the experience to run two years from now. I'm running this year to win—not to lose."

She selected the Morrisette Legion Post as site for her announcement for a sentimental reason.

Her father, the late George (Joe) Moore was chaplain and sergeant-at-arms at that post, and he used to take her up there.

As for the speculation she will switch plans and run for councillor at-large, she thinks it may have started in City Hall—probably in Mayor Francis McCauley's office.

"It's either wishful thinking on their part," she says,
"or they planted the seed hoping I might think it was a good political move."

CONDON

Observers estimate it will cost between $75,000 and $100,000 for a challenger to wage an effective battle against an incumbent mayor.

Where will she get the money?

"Where will he (McCauley) get it?" she replies to those who ask the question.

She figures there are enough people "out there" who will help her raise enough money and support her campaign in other ways.

Her entry into the mayoral ring should make this a most interesting political year.

McCAULEY

McCauley had the luxury of a "free ride" to re-election to a second term last year. He is only the second mayor in the city's history to have that political privilege. The first was Thomas Burgin in 1940.

Regardless of how it ends in November, McCauley will know he has been in a battle.

Condon is a scrapper and does her homework. She's not a political pop-off. If she thinks she has a legitimate issue, you're going to hear about it. And if she has questions to ask you, someone better have the right answers.

She's going to take her campaign to the people and if she goes down, she'll go down fighting.

But, according to those close to her, she isn't intending to go down. She feels she can win and is going to win.

One veteran observer who isn't a friend and has disagreed with her on certain matters more often than he has agreed with her, says with candor:

"Joanne Condon is a hard campaigner. If the McCauley camp tries to dismiss her as no one to worry about, they could be making one of the biggest political mistakes ever.

"They're going to find that having Joanne Condon running against them is going to be like having a hornet buzzing around their head. They're not going to shoo her away."

Quincy Legislators Chair Key State House Committees

For the first time in the city's history the entire Quincy legislative delegation of three representatives and a senator are chairmen of important committees in the State House.

"Quincy has significant political clout," observed Sen. Paul D. Harold, who last week was named Senate chairman of the Joint Committee on Criminal Justice.

On the House side, Reps. Thomas F. Brownell chairs the Judiciary Committee; Michael W. Morrissey the Committee on Counties; and Robert Cerasoli the Post Audit and Oversight Committee.

"It should help the city to have its legislators on such good terms with the leadership," said Mayor

Francis X. McCauley. "They were on Keverian's side early and that could be helpful."

Rep. George Keverian of Everett ousted Rep. Thomas McGee of Lynn as speaker of the House as the 1985 legislative session opened and installed his people in key leadership and committee roles.

Harold who was named to chair the Criminal Justice Committee by Senate President William Bulger, noted that the committee will handle one item of priority legislation, the presumptive sentencing bill.

"Along with Massbank and the education bill," he said, "that is one of Gov. Dukakis' three top priority items."

Brownell Urges Retain SS Benefit Hike

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has written to President Reagan asking him not to freeze the cost-of-living adjustments scheduled for Social Security recipients.

Reagan told a televised press conference last week that he might consider deferring a scheduled cost-of-living increase as part of a deficit reduction package.

"In my mind," wrote Brownell, "there is no justification for expecting the poor and elderly to accept a cutback in their benefits while there are other segments of our society that can well afford to tighten their belts.

"Deferring cost-of-living adjustments for Social Security beneficiaries would save us only $6 million, not enough to make a difference fiscally but enough to place an enormously heavy-handed and undeserving burden on our most vulnerable citizens."

Brownell quoted a study by Data Resources, Inc., of Lexington, that found if the cut was enacted the number of elderly poor persons would rise by 500,000 from 4.6 million to 5.1 million.

Workshop Jan. 23 For Firms Doing Business With Federal Government

Local businesses hoping to do work for the federal government will be able to get some assistance Wednesday, Jan. 23, at a workshop in Boston, announces Congressman Brian Donnelly.

"The federal government is an untapped market for many local manufacturers, distributors, and service industries," Donnelly said. "The purpose of this workshop is to show business people what the government is looking for and how to go after federal contracts."

The workshop, "How To Do Business With The Government," will be held from 9 a.m. to noon at the John W. McCormack Post Office and Court House in Boston. The seminar will be led by Joseph Lawless, Regional Chief of the General Services Administration division of business Services management.

Topics will include services and products sought by the federal government, where to obtain specifications for military and civilian bids, how to introduce new products to the government, and the most common mistakes companies make in soliciting government contracts.

Business representatives planning to attend the seminar should make reservations by calling the General Services Administration at 223-2868.

Donnelly said his office receives many inquiries from South Shore businesses for help in obtaining work from the federal government.

"We are always glad to help local firms identify opportunities for doing business with the government," he said. "This seminar will offer business people a chance to find out more about how the government decides and picks suppliers."

Harold Named To Chair Criminal Justice Committee

Sen. Paul D. Harold has been named to the Senate chairmanship of the Joint Committee on Criminal Justice by Senate President William M. Bulger.

The committee will be responsible for substantive changes in the state's criminal law, including a major proposal to enact the presumptive sentencing package.

That set of proposals redefines crimes, penalties, and sets "presumptive" sentences for most criminal offenses.

"Presumptive" sentencing involves a range of punishment options which judges must use in sentencing convicted persons unless they set out reasons otherwise in writing.

"The presumptive sentencing bill is one of the most important pieces of legislation in the last 25 years, because it will provide for truth in sentencing and a range of prescribed sentences so that we can have some uniformity in our criminal justice system," Harold said.

Harold was also reapointed to the Transportation Committee, which oversees the MBTA and expressway reconstruction.

He was also selected to serve on the Commerce and Labor Committee and the Committee on Government Regulations.

Harold is an attorney and former chairman of the Joint Committee on Local Affairs.

The Criminal Justice Committee was formed about 18 months ago when the duties of the Judiciary Committee were divided in order to provide a better focus on the public demand for criminal law reform.

Former Chairman Patricia McGovern was named to chair the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

Open House At Hospital Blood Bank

Quincy City Hospital will hold an open house at the hospital Blood Bank, Saturday, Jan. 19 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Purpose of the open house is to encourage participation by individuals and groups during January, which is National Blood Donor Month.

There will be a tour of the facilities to acquaint visitors with the various procedures involved in donating blood and what happens to blood after it has been collected.

With the increased use of blood and blood products throughout the nation, there is an urgent need for more donors.

Blue Hills Area Passes Muster As UN HQ Site

"The Blue Hills Reservation could well serve as a buffer between Boston and the headquarters," he said.

"We must have a place that is not too close but is not too far from a great city. We must have schools and hospitals and other advantages of a city and yet we must not be engulfed by a city."

The United Nations Organization's site-finding committee, headed by Dr. Stoyan Gavrilovic, toured the Blue Hills and Dr. Gavrilovic said the site meets all the basic requirements for the location of the UNO world headquarters.

The UNO committee, trailed by two busloads of reporters and photographers, took a good look at the Blue Hill, then went to investigate a site in Plymouth and on the way back stopped for lunch at the Toll House in Whitman.

The committee also visited Milton Academy to call on two students, Brenda Gilchrist, daughter of the secretary to the UNO commission, and Adlai Stevenson Jr., son of the alternate third delegate from the United States.

DRAFT OFFICIALS HONORED

Nineteen winners of Selective Service Medals from Quincy were honored at ceremonies during which Gov. Maurice Tobin broadcast statewide from the Quincy High School auditorium thanking selective service workers around the state.

Awarded congressional medals and certificates of merit were:

Draft Board 125 - George W. Arbuckle, William A. Bradford, John J. Duane, Carlton Easton, William C. Edwards, Lawrence W. Lyons, L. Paul Marini.

Draft Board 126 - A. Wendell Clark, Charles J. Herbert, Avery W. Gilkerson, Constanzo Pagnano, John R. Shaughnessy, Edward P. Shaw.

Draft Board 127 - Harry S. Burr, William F. Campbell, William P. Hughes (posthumously), Martin A. King, Arthur W. MacFarland, Francis G. Moulton.

NEW PROPOSALS

City Councillor Thomas J. Gilmartin pushed through a resolve that the annual poll listing be taken by unemployed war veterans rather than the police to give the officers more opportunity to do their duty fighting crime.

Toodie's Jewelry Concepts

by Howard Jacobs

RINGS

During the Elizabethan era, if a man wanted a wife, he wore his ring on the first finger of his left hand. If he were engaged, he wore it on the second finger; if married, on the third. If this ring was on the fourth finger, it meant that he never intended to get married. If a woman was not engaged, she wore a hoop or diamond ring on her first finger; if engaged, on her second. If she were married, the ring was on her third finger and, if she intended to remain married, on the fourth. A widow proclaimed her status by wearing rings on the right hand and the little finger of the left.

Rings seem to be a symbol of love. Whether they're engagement or wedding rings or birthstone rings they are jewelry items enjoyed by women and men. Yes, a man does appreciate a fine piece of jewelry that is masculine and designed with him in mind. AT TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY we carry an assortment of rings that will catch the eye of the most discriminating shopper. We carry all precious gem stones which look magnificent in a ring. Stop in at 1163 Hancock St. for beauty and quality that's hard to find anywhere else, even in Boston. Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 11-4, Tel. 478-8464.

The Greeks believed that a vein in the third finger of the left hand went directly to the heart.

I would like to thank all my customers for their patronage and for spreading the word—making 1984 a Super Year for TODDIE'S.

Sheila McIntyre Honor Student

Sheila McIntyre, daughter of Mrs. James R. McIntyre of Quincy, recently received honors for the fall term at Kent School, located in Connecticut.

Miss McIntyre, a senior, is a Prefect at the preparatory school and sings with the Kenettes.

AT&T announces that telephone customers in the Quincy exchange area (328, 471, 472, 479, 770, 773, 786 and 847) will soon be asked to choose a long-distance company as their primary provider of service.

In the next few weeks, customers will be receiving information from New England Telephone about choosing from among the various long-distance companies serving their area. If customers do not make a selection, their long-distance calls will continue to be handled as they are today.

Service in the Quincy exchange area will be activated April 20 by New England Telephone. At that time whatever company is chosen, customers will be able to call long distance by just dialing "1", an area code and a local number. Currently, only AT&T offers such an arrangement.

"You may have to choose, but you don't have to change," says George Walsh, AT&T Communications project manager. "You can continue to call on AT&T Long Distance to give you the same reliable, high-quality service we have been providing for over 100 years."

The long-distance company selection process was laid out in the 1982 Modification of Final Judgement, the court-approved agreement between AT&T and the Department of Justice.

The agreement not only required AT&T to divest itself of the local Bell operating companies (such as New England Telephone), but also required the local Bell companies to make changes to their equipment to allow all long-distance companies to be connected in the same manner as AT&T is today.

According to Walsh, the company plans to make it easy for customers to choose AT&T. "We will use a combination of advertisements, direct mail and telephone calls to encourage Quincy exchange customers to choose AT&T Long Distance."

"If customers have questions, they can contact one of AT&T's two toll-free information centers: residence customers should dial 800-222-0300, while business customers should dial 800-222-0400," Walsh added.

"Our nearly 40,000 operators can help customers place person-to-person, collect and credit card calls, and immediately credit accounts for misdialed or disconnected calls."

"AT&T has long been a part of the Quincy community and we will emphasize our experience, new ideas, and commitment to service."

"Our 108 years in the telecommunications industry, new ideas like 'Reach Out America' and 'Opportunity Calling' plans and our unique commitment to serve all customers should be among the factors customers consider when they choose their long-distance company," Walsh emphasized.

From now through September 1986, most U.S. residential and business customers will be required to choose a long-distance company from among those serving their area. Not all telephone customers will be affected since local telephone offices that serve fewer than 10,000 customers and others where conversion would be uneconomical may not be required to be modified.

AT&T Communications is the AT&T unit that provides long-distance and international services.

Harold Bill Preserves Civil Rights Of Lebanon Service Vets

Legislation filed by Sen. Paul D. Harold to preserve the Civil Service rights of military personnel who served in Lebanon has been signed into law by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

The new law provides that any person who is unable to appear for a Civil Service examination owing to service in Lebanon must be given an opportunity for a special examination and must be included on any current Civil Service list in the same category.

The law also provides that any person who was in a provisional Civil Service category while serving in Lebanon must be retained in that category, and must be allowed to take a special examination for any regular examinations missed due to such service.

"I filed this bill because I felt that people serving in the armed forces should be protected, and not lose their Civil Service rights at home while they are serving abroad," Harold said.

He noted that all other Civil Service laws, including applicable merit or preference allowed to applicants, must also be given to those who served in Lebanon.

Teachers Institute Work To Rule Policy

The Quincy Education Association, deadlocked in negotiations with the School Committee over a new teacher contract, has announced the immediate implementation of a "work to rule" policy for its membership.

Work to rule means that teachers will not perform any voluntary services not specifically called for in the contract, which expired last Aug. 31.

"Building representatives (of the QEA) wanted this action in September," said QEA President Mary Curtin in a letter to the membership, "but agreed to my request to please wait and let bargaining have a chance."

"With four and a half months gone and no contract, I did not ask the Representative Council to again wait."

"Until such time as our contract is resolved or the Representative Council rescinds the withholding of voluntary services, the following policy is in effect:

"No voluntary services—No unpaid curriculum work, no service on unpaid curriculum committees, no further scheduling of field trips, no further volunteering for intramurals.

"No pay, no work—No evening meetings, no open houses, no early arrival, no after hours tutorial or guidance services, no after hours class projects."

Meanwhile, state mediator Nancy Pease met with both sides in the dispute for the first time Monday night. "It was mostly a get acquainted session," said Curtin. "She introduced herself to both parties and she told us what procedure she is going to follow. There was nothing substantial beyond that."

Curtin said the mediation could go on for a week or a month or more.

"I don't think there will be a quick settlement," she said. "Miss Pease is a very skillful person. She got a quick grasp of our problems. But she knows it is going to be a long time."

Mrs. Curtin noted that the School Committee "dishonored itself in 1980 and 1981 by refusing to pay the 1979 salary (increase) as it had promised it would at the bargaining table. We can neither forgive nor forget."

But, she added, "I do not want the association to lower itself to the level of the School Committee."

"Therefore, it is my express wish in instances where solid commitments have been made that these be honored. For example, a bus has been booked for a field trip, students know they will be going to a particular site in April—that commitment should be kept."

"General plans for a PTA meeting sometime in February stop. However, if a firm date was announced, parents and teachers have noted that date in calendars, an agenda has been set—that event should go forward."

"It is most unfortunate," Mrs. Curtin added, "that association members must continue to fight for a just contract instead of expending our full energies in the classroom."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he was disappointed by the teachers' work-to-rule action.

"We have been negotiating in good faith," he said. "The bottom line is the availability of funds. We are in a tight financial situation."

Two other unions of city employees have settled for raises of 3 per cent Jan. 1 and another 4 per cent July 1.

"We can see 3 per cent for a half year and, contingent on the cherry sheet, another 4 per cent for a year," he said. "That's a 7.12 per cent raise in base pay."

McCauley said that amounted to an average $37 a week hike for teachers in two steps over a six month period.

"That's a pretty good weekly raise and it reflects the city's ability to pay," he said.

of Ryder Road, South Weymouth, was elected to the newly established secretary-treasurer position.

Ken Tarabelli of Quincy, executive director of the organization which is housed in Quincy, said, "services are available primarily to residents of the South Shore - regardless of their ability to pay."

"Survival makes a special effort to teach underserved populations and particularly those who can benefit from creative, non-traditional approaches."

Former Quincy School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon has been re-elected president of the board of directors of Survival, Inc.

The non-profit, community-based agency has been offering a range of services to troubled adolescents and their families for the past 15 years.

Creedon was a founder of the organization along with the late Dr. Charles Djerf. Carl G. Soderstrom Jr. of Quincy was re-elected vice president.

Peter O'Connell Elected President Of Chamber

Peter O'Connell, a partner in the Quincy development firm of OBC, Inc., has been chosen president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Jerry Ellis, president of Building 19 in Hingham, was moved up to first vice president and Warren Noble, president of Noble's Camera Shops in Hingham and Cohasset, was elected second vice president.

Seven new members were elected to the Board of Directors. They are:

Alexander Clark, vice president of the Vulcan Co., Inc. of Hingham; Ronald McKee, chief executive officer of the Quincy Cooperative Bank; Daniel Quirk, president of Quirk Chevrolet of Braintree and Quirk Ford of Quincy.

PETER O'CONNELL

Donald F. Godby, president of the Rockland Trust Co.; John F. Myatt Jr., president of Myatt and Tower, CPA, Hingham; David J. Keefe, vice president of American Cablesystems; William H. Wheeler Jr., president of Eldred Wheeler Co., Inc. of Hingham.

In his President's Message to members, O'Connell noted that "the South Shore is the place to live and work."

"Unemployment is very low," he said. "Our economy is strong and expanding. There are incredible opportunities available to everyone. And, most important, the total quality of life here is the best."

"All this has not happened by accident. Over the years many people have worked hard to make our area what it is today. During the year ahead, I am pledged to foster these ideals."

O'Connell announced that, for the third straight year, there will be no increase in the Chamber dues for 1985.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

There are many definitions of work. Voltaire said of it that "work is the only thing that makes life endurable." Ralph Waldo Emerson said that time devoted to work was never wasted. . . Thomas Carlyle said: "All work . . . is noble; work alone is noble . . . a life of ease is not for any man, nor for any God."

We have had many successful men in America. Some of our foremost successful - Ford, Edison, Carnegie - have told how happy they were in their work, and how their success was the result of the love they put into it. It was not just the money, fame nor luxury that was the goal of these men; these are merely the things which are added to those who succeed in doing their work well. Granted, love of one's work does not always bring fame, wealth or luxuries, but it can bring much happiness.

And, incidentally, thanks to those of you who have taken the time to write us either pro or con about the thoughts you read here. Such letters are always welcome - and appreciated.

Inter-Faith Epiphany Feast Of Lights

THE REV. GENE LANGEVIN, left, Pastor Squantum Congregational Church, delivered a homily during the ninth annual Epiphany Feast of Lights Service at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy. The offering went to the Quincy Crisis Center and the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition.

CANDLELIGHTING CEREMONY during the Feast of Lights had each worshipper hold a lighted candle to carry forth into the world. The event was sponsored by the Inter-Church Council of North Quincy and Wollaston which lists 12 member congregations. (Quincy Sun photos by Linda Jarvis)

'Gentle Spirit, Tender Heart' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

They will be held at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both hours on the topic "Gentle Spirit, Tender Heart" based on the scriptural text in I Peter 3:1-9.

Lay scripture readers will be Jean C. Smart at the early service and Jean Ann MacLean at the late service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will assist in leading the worship at both hours.

During the 10 a.m. service, the sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to Sara Nicole Gordon, daughter of Robert D. and Robin (Gorichs) Gordon. Godparents will be Jode Gorichs and Mark Melanson.

During the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory, "Make A Joyful Noise Unto The Lord" composed by Healey Willan, and as the anthem, J. S. Bach's "Whatever God Ordains Is Good."

The service will also be broadcast over South Shore radio station W J D A, 1300 kc at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class, ninth through 12th grades, will meet at 9 a.m. with Robert R. Peoples, Jr., teacher. Nursery care will be provided for babies at the 10 a.m. hour.

Immediately following the late worship service, a brief congregational meeting will be held in the sanctuary, beginning at approximately 11 a.m. Howard S. Willard, Sr., moderator, will preside.

This is the annual finance meeting for receiving the 1984 treasurer's report and for adopting the 1985 budget. Unless there is an unusual amount of discussion the congregational meeting will be 15 to 20 minutes long.

Following the congregational meeting at 11:30 a.m., there will be a fellowship time in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

For information about Bethany Church, its ministries and programs, contact Pastor Arnold or the Church Office at 479-7300.

'Sharing The Faith' At Wollaston Congregational Church

The Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern will preach at the 10 a.m. Sunday worship at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Based on the text, John 1:35-51, Mr. Zuern's sermon is entitled, "Sharing the Faith".

After the service during the Fellowship Hour, the Church School will host an Open House for parents to talk with teachers and see displays of work.

At 11:15 a.m., Mr. Zuern will meet with any youth interested in joining the Confirmation Class.

For more information of church activities, call the church office at 773-7432.

6 Residents On Dean's List

Six Quincy residents have been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Fitchburg State College. They are:

major; Claire M. Noenickx, nursing; Darlene M. Marston, business administration; Peter P. Gardiner, business administration; Lisa M. Giglio and Gary S. Canniff.

Martin Luther King's Birthday Celebrated At Squantum Church

The anniversary of the birth of slain human rights leader, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was celebrated Sunday at the First Church of Squantum with a special choral selection and a prayer for inter-racial understanding by the pastor.

The choral selection, which was sung by the Junior Choir and the Chancel Choir combined, was a special arrangement of "We Shall Overcome" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" as arranged by choir director Mary Ruth Scott.

In the first service, guitarist Steven Williams, Andy Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott provided the music. Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "Baptism Into Life." Melissa Stamos and Jason Deary served as ushers.

In the second service, Dr. Langevin's sermon was entitled "Water Into Wine."

Hymns sung during the service included "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," "When Morning Gilds the Skies" and "Lord, Dismiss Us With Thy Blessing."

Greeters at the second service were Mindi Hurd and Lori Ogilvie. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Hazel Mayne and Diane Lindblad.

The church will hold its annual meeting Friday, Jan. 18, at 7 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. There will be an all-church Potluck Dinner before the meeting at 6 p.m.

On Sunday there will be two services again in the morning: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. A nursery and Sunday School classes are provided during the second service.

COMMON COLD DEBATE

Recently, the big toe - a part of the anatomy which usually gets little attention in the headlines - became news in medical circles. Israeli researchers reported that they found a cure for the common cold by chilling the big toe with a refrigerant chemical. According to the doctors, the sudden chilling dries up the nostrils and cures colds. This method has not been tested here as yet.

Unorthodox new "cures" for the common cold have popped up throughout the ages. Some have been on the offbeat side, such as wearing garlic around the neck, sniffing smelling salts and standing on one's head.

One of the most controversial cold cures in recent years is the claim by Nobel Laureate Dr. Linus Pauling that large doses of vitamin C can prevent and cure the common cold. Other studies have found Dr. Pauling's theory debatable and have questioned the preventative or therapeutic effectiveness of vitamin C. The debate rages on - and so does the common cold.

Pediatric Trauma Course Helps Inform EMTs

If your child should suffer a serious accident, locally, chances are now even better that he or she will receive the appropriate treatment, thanks to a Pediatric Trauma Management Course held recently.

The course, for Basic and Advanced Emergency Medical Technicians, attracted 64 EMTs, registered nurses, firefighters and police officers from Quincy and surrounding communities.

"It's a very important course," said Richard T. Sweeney, Jr., president of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy which sponsored the event.

"The treatment for a child after an accident is different than that for an adult."

The course, hosted by Quincy Hospital and presented by the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute, at the New England Medical Center, Boston, covered topics such as "Demographics of Pediatric Trauma" and "Children - Not Small Adults." "Head Injury," "Respiratory Emergencies" and "Chest Trauma" were also discussed during the program held at the South Shore Mental Health Center, 460 Quincy Ave.

"It's the first time that we have held anything like this," said Sweeney, who added that the club may hold a similar course next fall. "It was a tremendous success."

During the course, Sweeney explained that the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute, opened in 1981, is supported by the organization's 256 clubs in New England.

"In the last two years alone," said Sweeney, "over 140 high grade trauma situations involving children ranging from infancy to 17 years of age have been administered to.

"The trauma center has the capacity to air lift injured children by means of its own life-flight helicopter system.

"As members of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy, we are proud to be a small part of this worthwhile endeavor."

Sweeney praised those who attended the course.

"I firmly believe that you will leave here today with a better understanding of the difficulties associated with pediatric trauma care."

"It takes a special person to place themselves in an environment whereby they are exposed to the horrors of accidental injury, illness and other life threatening situations."

"On behalf of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy, we commend you and your colleagues for your dedication and commitment to serving your fellow man."

Miller, DeCristofaro Agree:

Time For Quincy, North To Get Out Of Suburban League

By TOM SULLIVAN

It becomes more evident every game that Quincy and North Quincy must get out of the Suburban League if they hope to have winning teams.

A year ago North Quincy basketball Coach Ed Miller said that the two schools are too small for the strong Suburban League and should move into another league.

Weymouth North and Weymouth South two years ago moved from the Suburban League into the Old Colony League and now get their share of victories.

"Quincy and North are the smallest schools in the Suburban League and we can't compete with teams like Cambridge, Brockton and Brookline, with a few exceptions, and I feel it is time Quincy officials take a good look at our situation and get us into a league where we can win some games," said a frustrated Miller.

Although Quincy coach Rick DeCristofaro, a good friend of Miller's and his assistant for three years before taking over the Quincy reins, isn't quite as outspoken, he agrees with Miller.

"It is asking a lot for our boys to compete with the top teams in the Suburban League," he said. "The players give 100 percent and more but they are just up against a stone wall."

The Quincy and North teams find it rough in the league in all sports. There are exceptions, such as the North Quincy girls' track teams, the Quincy girls' volleyball teams and, this year and last, the North hockey team but, in the long run, the Quincy and North teams are up against it.

Brockton has as many students in the freshman class as Quincy and North have in the entire school.

Going into the games last night (Wednesday) Quincy and North were still winless in the league.

The Presidents were 3-6 with the wins coming against Walpole, Weymouth North and Weymouth South.

The Raiders were 1-8 with the only win coming in a non-league squeaker against Hingham.

Good examples of the Quincy and North problems were last Friday's basketball games.

Quincy found itself down, 9-0, in the first couple of minutes and 31-19 after a quarter as it was outclassed by Brockton, 85-62.

Meanwhile, at Cambridge North Quincy was annihilated by Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 89-38.

"Brockton just has a tremendous amount of raw talent," DeCristofaro said. "Thank God we don't play them more than twice a year. My kids could only run with a team like this for so long—they just wear you down. Brockton can send in eight or nine quality players. It's amazing."

The Presidents were able to make the game a bit respectable, thanks to 27 points by Bill Shaughnessy, who is averaging over 25 points a game and is one of the league's top scorers.

Pat Flaherty had a fine game, scoring 13 points and playing a solid defensive game. Don Parry, who ran the offensive well, chipped in with 12 points.

At Cambridge North Quincy never had a chance against the perennial league powerhouse which, like Brockton, is unbeaten in league play.

Earlier in the week North fell to Newton North, 59-43, as it trailed, 29-23, at the half and 48-32 after three quarters.

"Not only are we too small to be playing in this league but we are very young and inexperienced," said Miller. All the players except captain Ken Runge and Jim Martin are underclassmen. Plus the fact we are a small team. The league teams are all so much bigger than we are. The kids hustled and gave 110 percent. They played as hard as they could but it just seemed not to be good enough."

Runge, the team's top scorer, had 17 points and was the only Raider in double figures.

Brookline topped Quincy, 6-52, Quincy losing a halftime lead as it has many times this year.

The Presidents led, 21-18, at the half and were still leading going into the fourth quarter.

Shaughnessy had another big game with 28 points and 11 rebounds but it wasn't enough as Quincy again endured a cold shooting streak in the final quarter.

Either Quincy or North will enjoy its first league win Friday when they play each other at 7:30 at the North gym.

Tuesday Quincy hosts Newton North at 3:30 and North plays at Waltham at 7 o'clock.

THESE FOUR players from the Quincy Pee Wee A hockey team, left to right, center Kevin Daly, defenseman Brian Zimmerman, defenseman Ken Stasky and wing Rich McDonald, have been selected to the Boston Mini-Bruins all star team which will play at Boston Garden next Thursday, Jan. 17, between periods of the Bruins-Calgary Flames game. The team will then represent the Greater Boston area in a tournament at Quebec City, Canada, Feb. 14-24. The team will be playing for the America's Cup against teams from many nations and the team must raise $20,000. Anyone wishing to contribute can send check made out to the Greater Boston Pee Wee All-Stars to Kevin Daly, 3 Montello St., Quincy 02169. The four Quincy youths will receive credit for any contributions.

North Swimmers Defeat Cambridge

The North Quincy swim team improved its record to 3-1 with an easy 114-56 victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin and two divers qualified for the South Sectional championships.

Eric Giordano and Greg Toland finished 1-2 to qualify for the post-season event. In order to qualify a diver must score over 140.0 points in three meets and Giordano (152.70) and Toland (142.90) did that, helping the Raiders to their third win.

North Quincy will be at Newton South Friday at 5 o'clock and will be home to Brockton Tuesday at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

Steve Mackay won the 200 freestyle 2:11.2 and also the 100 butterfly in 1:08.0.

Other Raider winners were Brendan Walsh, 100 freestyle (57.6); Mike Melanson, 500 freestyle (5:40.6); Dan O'Sullivan, 100 backstroke (1:12.3); Rich Stanton, 100 breaststroke (1:21.8); Dan Moriarty, 200 individual medley (2:43.7); and the 200 medley relay team of O'Sullivan, Moriarty, Melanson and John Bangs (2:00.4) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Paul Nitschke, Harry Towle, Jim Sumner and Fred Cawthorne (5:04.9).

Placing second for North were Rob Weikel, 50 freestyle; Bangs, 100 freestyle; Dave Stockless, 200 freestyle; Sean Geary, 500 freestyle; and Tom Farmer, 100 butterfly.

Third place finishers were Geary, 200 freestyle; Chris Roberts, 500 freestyle and 200 individual medley, and Ton-Huynk, 100 backstroke.

Inconsistency Plagues North

Inconsistency continued to plague the North Quincy girls' basketball team last week as the Raiderettes lost to Newton North, 57-41, and dropped a 52-48 squeaker to Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

North's record fell to 4-5 and it is 0-4 in Suburban League play.

Paul Bregoli's North girls played Marshfield in a non-league game last night (Wednesday), will play at Quincy Friday at 5 o'clock and Tuesday will host Waltham at 5.

The Raiderettes showed considerable improvement in losing to Cambridge last Friday. They fell behind, 14-5, after a quarter as Capt. Ann Duggan played excellent defense. They fell farther behind at the half as North hit on only five field goals during the half.

The Raiderettes looked like an entirely different team in the second half as they totally outshouted and outplayed the visiting Warriors.

North exploded for 17 third-quarter points as Karen Runge hit for seven, Sandra Proude six and Eileen Warren four. North trailed, 36-32, going into the final quarter.

Runge, playing her best game as a Raiderette, scored six more points, including some clutch free throws, in the final, and Warren added four. Jean Welby, returning to the starting lineup, was effective in shutting off Cambridge's Erin Peterson. Anne Marie Hughes, Duggan and freshman Nancy Flukes also were effective, taking turns guarding Rhonda Greene.

North's defense was immense in the second half, allowing Cambridge only five field goals, while scoring 14 of its own.

Runge had 17 points. Proude had 12 and Warren nine.

"I think we may have turned the corner in this game," said Bregoli. "Eventually, and it will be very soon, we will put a whole game together and will blow some teams out. Our second half of the season will be interesting."

Earlier in the week North scored first on a Proude hoop and led, 12-6, before Newton cut the gap to 16-14 after the first quarter. Warren had eight points and Runge and Proude four each in the quarter.

The lead see-sawed back and forth in the second quarter as neither team could muster any sustained offense. Runge continued to be effective, adding four points despite being slowed down by the flu. North trailed at the half, 25-23.

The Raiderettes scored two quick baskets to open the third quarter as Flukes hit a jumper and Proude hit a baseline jumper. However, North suddenly went cold from the floor, hitting only three for 24 in the quarter. Newton opened up a 42-30 lead going into the final session.

The Tigers continued to increase its lead despite five points for Warren and basket each by Hughes and Mary Alice Sullivan.

Bregoli had high praise for Flukes, Warren and Runge. Warren finished with 13 points and 12 rebounds, while Runge added eight before going to the bench, too ill to play. Flukes handled the offense well, filling in for Welby, who was sidelined by illness.

Killilea Defense, Scoring Boost Quincy To Win

Lanky center John Killilea threw a defense blanket over Weymouth star Henry Boucher and scored a game-high 14 points himself as the Quincy High School basketball team ran up an 11-point halftime lead and went on to a 38-28 victory over the Maroons.

The Presidents sewed up the game in the second period as Killilea hit steadily from under the hoop and Weymouth was limited to a field goal by Dick Caruso and free throws by Boucher and Tony Daniele as Quincy outscored the opposition 13-4.

The Quincy lineup included: McKim, Needel, forwards; Killilea, DeSantis, centers; Papile, McKinnon, Marini, guards.

NORTH WINS IN ROUT

Big Bill Cahill showed the way with 11 points as the North Quincy High School basketball team outscored Abington 36-5 in the second and third periods and coasted to a 48-17 victory over the five from Strawberry Valley in the North gym.

Sid Cedrone sparked the Red Raiders with his usually excellent floor game, scoring eight points while holding Abington star Kenny Bates scoreless while he was in the game.

The North Quincy lineup included: Burke, Gillis, Collins, Morrissey, forwards; Cahill, Sullivan, Barrett, centers; Cedrone, Sweeney, Wilkenson, Reid, guards.

HOCKEY CLUB LOSSES

Casali scored two goals and Ash tallied once but the Quincy Hockey Club bowed to the Arlington Arcadians, 7-3, at the Hingham Skating Rink. The Arcadians, one of the strongest amateur teams in the state, led by 3-1 after one period and 5-2 after two.

POINT WINS

Al Pasquale led all the scorers with 10 points as the Point basketball team had little trouble subduing North, 32-16, handing the Baby Red Raiders their first defeat of the Junior High School League season.

CENTRAL PREVAILS

Dick Mudge scored four of his game-high six points in the opening minutes to give Central a 6-4 lead and his team went on to an 18-8 triumph over South in a Junior High School basketball game.

The Central lineup included: Midge, Wheelock, Pappas, forwards; Granville, Lura, Adams, centers; Manna, Donaher, Lawrence, Tombari, guards.

NORTH ALUMS TRAIL

Tom Smith's 15 points were high but the North Quincy Alumni basketball team saw its undefeated record go by the boards in a 49-44 loss to the Braintree Woodsums.

The North Quincy lineup included: Heap, J. White, Whitelaw, forwards; Edson, Walsh, centers; T. Smith, Reid, guards.

SPORTS BITS '46

Jack Casey scored 16 points but it was not enough as his Sacred Heart team lost to Christ Church, 38-37, in a Quincy Church Basketball League game at the YMCA. . . The Boston Yanks traded their placekicking specialist Augie Lio to the Philadelphia Eagles for Rocco Canale, the former Boston College guard. . . The Squantum Yacht Club contracted with the Quincy Adams Yacht Yard to construct three new floats for the club. . . Vic DiGravio's 21 points inore than matched the 13 by Harold (Turk) Beston and enabled the Granite Chips to take a 47-40 decision from the Quincy Varsity Club. . . Bill Speck and Bob Norton had the low gross of 77 in the season's opening four-ball best ball tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Club. . . The Boston Red Sox announced that veteran relief pitcher Mace Brown had been discharged from the Navy and would join the team at spring training in Sarasota, Fla., next month. . . Jim Gosselin and Ray Callahan scored 10 points between them but their St. Mary's junior basketball team from West Quincy went down before St. Agatha's of Milton, 46-20. . . Boston Bruins Goalie Frank Brimsek had his first shutout since returning from Coast Guard duty with a 3-0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

N.Q. Apaches Present Trophies

The North Quincy Apaches, the 1984 Quincy Youth Football champions, held their annual banquet recently at the Sons of Italy Hall with over 300 attending.

The team's coaches, head coach Tom Carter, Paul Moody, Bill and Brian Schmitt, Jack Brown, Bill and Mike Peters, Jamie Walsh and junior varsity coach Rick Higgins, were introduced as were the other head table guests.

The speakers included Quincy coach Jack Raymer, Assistant North Quincy coach Kevin Cobban, B.C. High assistant coach Joe Morani, and Councilor-at-Large Richard Koch Jr., who presented Carter with a proclamation from the council for the team's achievements and proclaiming the outstanding job done by the staff for the youth of Quincy.

The Apaches were unbeaten four of the last five years and were 9-0 last fall.

All players received trophies and receiving special awards were Mike Ainsley, MVP; Keith Gott, most improved; Joe Julvey, unsung hero; Chris Mendes, outstanding rookie; and Ryan Craig, coaches' trophy.

All-star trophies went to Mulvey, Ainsley, Craig, Danny Steele, Billy McDougall, Eddie Ryan, Brian Mahoney, Gott and Mike Shields.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Presidents Find Scoring Power But Bow, 11-5

The Quincy hockey team has been having trouble scoring, but came up with five goals last Saturday at Brockton.

However, the five goals came after Brockton had taken a 9-0 lead and the Presidents bowed, 11-5, dropping their record to 1-6-2.

Quincy played Cambridge Rindge and Latin last night (Wednesday), will play at Brookline Saturday at 6 o'clock and next Wednesday will host Hanover in a non-league game at the Youth Arena.

"We have cut down on our penalties, which were killing us, but we just have to score more goals," said Quincy coach Bob Sylvia.

Brockton was red hot Saturday and, after leading by only 1-0 after one period, the Boxers scored five goals in the second period and added three quick ones in the final period for a 9-0 lead.

Brockton coach Bob D'Arcy pulled starting goalie Jeff Krauthamer and the Presidents scored four goals in three minutes against Phil Collyer.

Mark Abboud scored two of Quincy's goals as did John Gleba and Mike Hays, who had hit the Boxers in the first period, scored the other.

It was a tough night for Quincy goalie Bill Cahill, who had been outstanding earlier in the week against North Quincy. Brockton has been averaging more than eight goals a game and the only goalie to stop it was North Quincy's Matt Higgins, the Suburban League's leading goalie, who held the Boxers to one goal and had 28 saves.

Earlier in the week North Quincy blanked Quincy for the second time, 3-0, despite Cahill's performance. He was peppered with more than 40 shots and made several sensational saves.

Higgins had a fairly easy night in goal but the Presidents tested him in the final period as Sylvia pulled Cahill for the last three minutes of the game.

Raiders Edge Newton N., 3-2

The high-flying North Quincy hockey team was given a scare last Saturday but came from behind to edge Newton North, 3-2, and improve its record to 8-1.

Kevin Jago's Raiders will be out to avenge its only loss Saturday when it hosts unbeaten Suburban League-leader Waltham (9-0) at 6:40 at the Youth Arena. Next Thursday North will face Brookline at 8 p.m. at the Watertown rink.

Matt Higgins, the league's top goalie with a brilliant 1.1 goals-against average, had another good night against Newton, the defending league champion. After giving up two goals to give Newton a 2-1 lead, he was outstanding with many fine saves.

Mike Haynes put the Raiders ahead in the opening period but they couldn't score again until the third period.

Pete Furtado tied the game with a fine rush and put in his own rebound and seven seconds later Haynes scored the clincher.

Earlier in the week the Raiders defeated Quincy for the second time, 3-0, despite a superb performance by Quincy goalie Bill Cahill, who turned aside 40 shots.

Tom McGrath put North ahead at 6:29 of the opening period with Dave Fasano and Haynes assisting, and Rich Horrigan made it 2-0 at 11:05 of the period, taking a pass from Rob Reidy.

The Raiders scored their final goal at 7:30 of the second period when Dave Cooke scored on passes from McGrath and Dave Tapper.

"The only way we are able to score is to forecheck in the corners and score from the slot," said Jago. "We don't have a pure scorer and have to work hard around the net. We've scored only one goal from outside the slot all season. We just have to muck it out and work hard for every goal."

"I know we've scored a lot of goals but we're just at the halfway point of the season. We are not going to score a lot of goals. We are going to be in more of these 2-1, 3-0 type games. We have to play very unselfishly and I think we're beginning to do that. The goals we are scoring are from just working hard, not because of finesse."

North Wrestlers Sweep 3 Meets

The North Quincy wrestling team had a good week last week, sweeping three meets to improve its record to 7-3.

Steve Joyce's Raiders faced Plymouth-Carver last night (Wednesday), will be at Brockton Saturday at noon and will host Norwood next Wednesday night at 7.

Last Saturday North won a tri-meet at home, defeating Weymouth North, 37-25, and Weymouth South, 35-26.

John MacDonald (140),

In the Weymouth North meet Paul Tobin won, 15-5, at 114 pounds; Pat Marchan won, 11-1, at 121; MacDonald won by pin, Bull won by pin; John Kelly won, 12-3, at 169; Mike Moriello won by pin at 187 and DiBella won by pin.

at 134; Bull won by pin at 147, Kelly tied, 5-5, at 157, and DiBella won by pin.

Earlier in the week the Raiders had handed Cambridge Rindge and Latin its first loss, 35-29.

Silverman won by pin at 100, Ward won by pin at 107, Tobin won by forfeit at 114, Marchan won, 10-3, at 121; Greenwood won, 15-10, at 134; Bull won, 17-2, at 147; and DiBella again won by pin in the heavyweight division.

Hayes New Hockey Coach At B.C. High

Bob Hayes of Quincy is the new coach of the Boston College High School hockey team, succeeding Jim Gormely, who took over as Norwood coach.

The Eagles graduated 15 players from last year's outstanding team and have only one returning forward. Their inexperience showed at the start as they lost their first two games but they came back with five wins in a row, including a big 1-0 decision over Rhode Island power Bishop Hendricken.

"The kids needed time to get used to me," said Hayes. "We were a week behind the other teams in practice time, but they are gelling now."

Hayes was one of the founders of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association and coached in the league for many years.

Raiderettes Hand Weymouth S. First Defeat

The North Quincy girls' track team handed Weymouth South its first defeat, 49-37, last week to improve to 2-1.

Leanne Fitzgerald ran a league-best 1:36.4 in the 600 and then joined Lisa Fitzgerald, Caryn Collings and Meg Leary to win the relay in the season's best time (4:27).

Georgia Traficante also turned in a league best height in the high jump, winning at 5-2.

Other Raiderette winners were Lisa Fitzgerald, 50 (6.5); Meg Leary, 1000 (2:59.7); and Tricia Barrett, mile (5:26.9).

Finishing second were Traficante, 300; Caryn Collings, 600; Tricia Leary, mile; Ann Toland, two-mile, and Noreen Connolly, shot put.

Taking third places were Theresa Collings, 300; Sharon Barrett, 1000; Colleen Toland, two-mile; Jennifer Rafferty, hurdles, and Missy Silkwood, shot put.

WEEK OF: JANUARY 17.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Give and take arrangements accent the former. If making loans, be sure to get the terms in writing. Legal and other documents require a careful reading. Love life perks up.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Energy level peaks on the weekend. If hosting a party, you do so with special flair. Use the week to catch up on assorted health needs. Romance demands more attention.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Competitive spirit can land you in some difficulty; a low-key approach, on the other hand, can move you closer to goals. Group-oriented sports program is accented.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
In-laws or other relations decide to back you on a family matter. Children respond well to your encouraging words. Be sure that you don't misinterpret loved one's motives.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Enjoy some encouraging financial news. Partner may need an ego boost. Pets can figure in the picture, a stray pooch, perhaps, may arrive at your door. Intuition is strong now.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Appreciation comes mostly in intangible forms. Updating your skills can lead to a promotion. Romancewise, timing may be a little off. A fellow Cancer figures in the friendship picture.

LEO - July 23-August 22
In mediating a dispute, you see both points of view; the key is to get the participants to compromise. Communication tie-ups lead to delays in completing projects.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Enjoy opportunities to use a newly developed skill. Communication problem is solved. If hunting for a house or a job, this can be a remarkably favorable period.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Workload increases through the week, but don't neglect fitness and health programs. Romance partner is evasive. Bright light is shed on financial situation.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Romantic disappointment is shortlived - don't lose either your sense of perspective or your sense of humor. At home or on the job, the key now is to speak your mind.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Taking a trip can lead to an encounter with a favorite friend from the past. As for the future, the week favors long-term planning in matters financial and educational.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Pisces or Virgo may step into the friendship scene. Some of your ideas are challenged, but certainly not vetoed. Spending long hours at the drawing board can have bright results.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You excel in administrative tasks, and you're famed for your ambitious spirit and delightful sense of humor. Caution is a strength and a weakness of yours. Travel, perhaps in conjunction with education, is a theme of the next twelve months.

BORN THIS WEEK

$871,235 In New Wiring

City Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports that he issued 93 permits for wiring estimated to cost $871,235 during the month of December.

Major projects under the permit included 101 condominium units at 100 Captains Way, four condos at 146 Quincy Shore Drive, a three-story office building at 1150 Hancock St. and the McDonald's Restaurant at 275 Hancock St.

Purpura reported that his department received $7,704.75 in permit fees and issued 50 certificates of approval to the Massachusetts Electric Co.

A total of 189 inspections were made. 24 defects noted and 11 reinspections made.

Purpura said work relating to the new CAT SCAN at City Hospital is in progress and electrical improvements to 400 units for the Quincy Housing Authority have been completed.

Mayor Gives Up Personal Property Revaluation Bid

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has given up, at least for now, in his attempt to get $50,000 for the assessors so that personal property values in the city can be updated.

"They say the third time never fails," said the Mayor Tuesday, "but last night it did."

The City Council Monday night shot down for the third time McCauley's request for the money. This time the vote was 5-4 in opposition and a move to reconsider also lost by 5-4.

With the revaluation of personal property, said the Mayor, the city could have picked up an estimated $8 million an valuation, which would have reduced both residential and business tax rates by 13 cents.

Councillor Michael

Cheney led the opposition to the reval, saying that it would hurt the small business man and not the big ones like banks, whose property is exempt by state law.

Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr. noted that currently there could be three businesses on a block with two paying taxes on personal property and the third paying nothing because "we haven't updated personal property in years."

Assessor Marion Fantuccio warned the Council that the state requires the city to be at 100 per cent of full fair value in both real estate and personal property valuations.

"We have to reassess every three years," she said. "They are keeping watch on us. The state could force us to revalue."

Nevertheless, the Council voted it down, 5-4, with Councillors Cheney, Joanne Condon, Theodore DeCristofaro, Joseph J. LaRaia and John J. Lydon Jr. voting against it.

McCauley said he has no intention of bringing the appropriation back to the Council a fourth time, although the assessors may try again in their fiscal 1986 budget.

Extra $2.9 M Seen In State Aid

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he has been informed that the city will receive an additional $2,980,000 in state aid for fiscal 1986.

But, he added, "it's hard to tell the impact it will have until I see the offsets on the cherry sheets."

McCauley said the figures he received were the raw figures of what the state is giving the city in direct aid and did not contain such charges to the city as MBTA, MDC and county expenses.

"The picture is still cloudy," he said. "We don't know if the charges will be increased or decreased and how much. I want to see the cherry sheet before I spend the money."

In fiscal 1985, the city received $29.5 million in state aid and had charges of $6.2 million on the cherry sheets for a net of $23.3 million.

Zoning Changes Bring Marina Bay Condos Closer

The $250 million Marina Bay project moved a step closer to reality Monday night, although not in the precise manner the developers had planned.

The City Council approved two zoning changes requested by the developers, William and Peter O'Connell of Quincy, but declined to approve a third in its entirety.

The Council also approved the establishment of a land use task force for Boston Harbor Marina which would study the impact the development would have on city services. Councillors then rejected an attempt by Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr. that would have zoned all the land in question for planned unit development (PUD) and thus under Council control.

The two zoning changes that went through virtually as proposed transferred 18.2 acres from Industrial A to PUD and 33.07 acres from Industrial A to Business C.

But the O'Connell's bid to change 22.54 acres from PUD to Business C ran into a snag.

PUD means that the Council has the right of approval on all development of the land and councillors are reluctant to give up any such prerogatives.

Instead of the full 22.54 acres, the Council, at the behest of Councillor Joanne Condon, trimmed it to 5.8 acres, just enough for the extension of Commander Shea Blvd. to the development.

Koch proposed that, instead of Industrial A to Business C, the shift of the 18.2 acre parcel be from (continued on Page 1)

Stephen Colman Named Morrissey Aide

Rep. Michael Morrissey, chairman of the Committee on Counties, announces the appointment of Stephen J. Colman of Arnold Rd., North Quincy as his new legislative aide.

Colman is a 1984 graduate of Curry College, a former manager of a local restaurant, and is active in the Quincy hockey circles.

"Stephen is familiar with the district and knows many of the people. He will handle constituent services, as well as other legislative matters," said Morrissey.

GD May Get $174.2M Contract

The General Dynamics Quincy shipyard may be in line for at least one $174.2 million contract to build a 677.5-foot diesel-powered 39,550-ton oil tanker for the Navy.

"It's a logical job for Quincy," said John Stobierski, spokesman for Cong. Brian J. Donnelly.

"It's the kind of ship Quincy is ideally suited to build for the Navy as opposed to combat ships."

Stobierski said Congress has appropriated $522 million to build three of the tankers, the bids are in and the Navy is in the final stages of evaluating them.

"There should be an announcement soon," he said. "The Navy usually announces contracts late Friday afternoon."

Four of the tankers already are under construction at the Avondale shipyard in Louisiana, he said, and the government is seeking to spread the work around to keep the shipbuilding industry alive.

Power Failure Leaves 6,000 Homes Cold

A cable failure at the North Quincy substation eventually plunged 6,000 homes in North and West Quincy into darkness Monday morning as temperatures plunged toward zero on the coldest night of the year.

Anthony Siciliano, head of Civil Defense in Quincy, established facilities at the Vocational Technical School to shelter elderly persons and families with small children whose homes went cold without power. No one took up the offer.

A spokesman for Mass Electric said the cable failed in North Quincy at 11:30 p.m. Sunday, affecting 3,000 homes in that area. At 2 a.m., he said, the West Quincy line became overloaded trying to help and another 3,000 subscribers were lost.

Power was restored at 5:06 a.m. Monday, he said.

Frozen Car Stolen

Cynthia Maher of 119 Merrymount Rd., Quincy Center, reported to police Monday that her 1971 Plymouth Scamp was stolen from a parking spot near Nelson Cleaners, 512 Sea

St., Adams Shore.

She told police the doors of her car froze shut Sunday night and she left it there. When she returned Monday evening, she said, the vehicle was gone.

Council Favors New Stop At Columbia

The City Council went on record Monday night in favor of a second platform at the JFK-Columbia MBTA station in Dorchester so that Red Line trains from Quincy can stop there.

Right now, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey told the Council, Quincy riders wishing to go to UMass-Boston, B.C. High, the Boston Globe and the JFK Library have to go to Andrew station and return one stop to Columbia.

The MBTA has spent

$750,000 on design work for a two-platform station at Columbia, said Morrissey, but the work was halted by pressure from the Dorchester community for a further study.

Dorchester residents are calling for a so-called "flyover" of tracks so that the Quincy and Ashmont sections of the Red Line could merge before reaching the Savin Hill station.

The flyover would cost between $10 and $18 million more than the two-platform alternative, said Morrissey, and an added stop at little-used Savin Hill station would further delay Quincy commuters.

He said he and all state representatives down to Marshfield favor the two-platform alternative.

He urged Quincy residents to express their feelings by phone or letter to Transportation Secretary Frederick P. Salvucci and MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary to counter the pressure from Dorchester.

McCauley, Safety Officials To Confer On Disaster Plan

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who was out of the city at the time, says he plans to confer with public safety officials to determine why the city's disaster plan failed during a fire at the Merrymount Manor Nursing Home last week.

"I won't have anything to say about it until I've had the people in and talked to them," he said, adding that the meeting probably will be at the end of this week or early next week.

The City Council, however, had plenty to say about the disaster plan Monday night.

"I was totally embarrassed to find that we have a disaster plan and it failed," said Councilor Joseph J. LaRaia. "Those responsible for the safe evacuation of those people are lucky nothing went wrong."

Under the disaster plan, called "Operation Red Light," all 24 patients at the nursing home should have been evacuated to Quincy City Hospital. Only four were admitted.

The rest were sheltered temporarily at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Forbes across the street at 37 Edgemere Rd. and then sent on to other nursing homes in the area.

LaRaia noted that the man in charge of Civil Defense in Quincy, Police Chief Francis X. Finn, was home in bed with a cold Wednesday night when the fire swept the home at 38 Edgemere Rd.

"That should be no reason for a breakdown in communications," said LaRaia.

"There is no reason that such a mixup should be repeated. I urge those responsible to meet quickly and ensure that if such a situation exists again we will be fully prepared."

Other councillors were less critical but all agreed that there had been a breakdown in the disaster plan.

Councilor Michael Cheney said he questions whether it "does any good to go headhunting. I was at a meeting in the morning at Civil Defense and I thought the problem was resolved. Then the hospital started criticizing officials."

The issue was initiated the day after the fire when hospital spokesman William Henderson said that the mayor or Chief Finn or deputy Civil Defense director Anthony Siciliano should have been on the scene to coordinate the response.

"Unfortunately," said Cheney, "nobody is looking at the positive side of the thing. The Fire Department carried the people out and the policemen also risked their lives to help."

"The only negative thing was the confusion at the hospital."

Cheney suggested that the Council invite the Forbes family and others who were involved in rescuing and helping the patients at the home to a meeting to receive commendations.

Fellow councillors agreed.

Two firefighters were injured battling the blaze. Stephen Corbo suffered a cut on his face while removing siding from the building and I.T. William Phelan was treated for a foreign object in his eye.

A Fire Department spokesman said the fire started in an overheated vent pipe from a dryer. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

MRS. PAUL A. BOBO of Niagara Falls smashes a bottle of champagne on bow of maritime prepositioning ship 2nd Lt. John P. Bobo, named for her Vietnam War-hero son. Left to right, Vice Admiral William H. Rowden, commander, Military Sealift Command; Marine Lt. Gen. George R. Crist, deputy chief of staff for logistics and installations; Vice Admiral Thomas J. Hughes, deputy chief of naval operations for logistics; Mrs. Mary Ferenc, sister of John P. Bobo; David Lewis, chief executive officer of General Dynamics; and Mrs. Bobo.

Admiral Calls For Halt In Shipbuilding Decline

Navy Vice Admiral Thomas J. Hughes has urged all Americans to get behind a renewed shipbuilding effort so that "the decline of our maritime industries should not occur by default."

"National security and commercial viability are both at stake," he said.

Admiral Hughes, who is deputy chief of naval operations for logistics, was the speaker Saturday at the launching of the USS John P. Bobo, a maritime prepositioning ship, at the General Dynamics Shipyard.

"History has repeatedly shown that seapower is essential to military and economic strength," he said.

"And strategic sealift, the ability to deploy and sustain troops whenever and wherever our national interests require, is an integral part of seapower."

"To meet our strategic sealift needs, we depend both on Navy resources and ships of the U.S. flag merchant marine."

"But when we look at our defense requirements and compare them to the availability of sealift in our U.S. flag commercial fleet, we see shortfalls under some scenarios.

"Unfortunately, further decline of the U.S. flag fleet is projected over the next five years."

Admiral Hughes noted that the Navy is attempting to meet the shortfall in a number of ways, including the maritime prepositioning ship program.

But, he added, "these measures only speak to defense shipping requirements."

"As a nation we also need to meet requirements for economic shipping in wartime and commercial viability in peacetime."

"These are complicated issues that the Navy is not responsible for or capable of solving. They are truly national issues which all of us as citizens have a responsibility to address."

"Government and industry must both participate and the population as a whole should be informed about the issue so that it, too, may participate."

The USS Bobo is named for Marine Second Lt. John

P. Bobo of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who won a Congressional Medal of Honor and died while covering the evacuation of his command group during the Vietnam War.

The ship was christened by his mother, Mrs. Paul A. Bobo of Niagara Falls.

As a maritime prepositioning ship, the 673-foot Bobo has the capability of carrying and offloading enough military cargo to supply the needs of 4,000 marines in an amphibious operations for 30 days.

She is the first of five MPS being built at the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard. Eight other ships are being converted for the program at other American shipyards.

Also on the list of speakers at the launching were Gary S. Grimes, general manager of the yard; David S. Lewis, chief executive officer of General Dynamics and Vice Admiral William H. Rowden, chief of the Military Sealift Command.

The ship was blessed by the Rev. Thomas Reilly of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Sheets Says Zoning Changes Would Correct Weaknesses

By TOM HENSHAW

"It is not my aim to impair development but to correct certain weaknesses in our zoning ordinances," said Council President James A. Sheets.

"We are developing marginal land now and some action is needed to stop that."

With that Sheets introduced three zoning ordinance changes at Monday's City Council meeting that would make it a little more difficult to develop land of marginal size and shape.

A fourth Sheets ordinance change would require any developer submitting plans for a multi-family residence or a large commercial building to notify the City Council by registered mail.

The first three proposals included:

—No permit shall be issued for an apartment building in Residence B or C areas showing a proposed way with a grade exceeding 10 per cent or less than one half of one per cent.

—No permit shall be issued for a multi-dwelling building in Residence B or C areas fronting on a travelway less than 30 feet in width.

—Raise the number of required parking spaces per unit in a multi-dwelling building in Residence B and C from 1.5 to 2.5.

Sheets, who announced Jan. 8 that the proposals would be made, conceded that some developers had legitimate concerns with the increased number of parking spaces.

"It means that they would have to have much more land for a major development," said Sheets. "But we've got to do something about traffic on our residential streets."

"Seven or eight years ago apartment dwellers here had only one car. Now, with skyrocketing rents, people are living three and four to an apartment in order to share the rent. We end up with three or four cars in some apartments. They spill over onto the street."

Council Approves Study Of Elderly Transit

The City Council Monday night gave its approval to a state and federally funded study of ways to improve the city's elderly transit program.

The action was taken after the Council heard a glowing report on the program as it exists today from Richard Domas of the Planning Department.

"I know of no other city of this size that has a program of this nature and extent," he told a meeting of the Senior Citizens Activities Committee.

The city's five operative vans, he said, made 20,000 trips last year—more than 10,000 to keep medical appointments, 6,500 to nutrition sites and 1,400 for purposes of shopping.

"The program has developed to this size without an overall plan," said Domas.

It has grown so big, he said, that it has become a burden on the staff of the Planning Department and should have an administrator of its own.

The program is also suffering from lack of maintenance of vehicles, he said, and the possibility that it is competing in some ways with established MBTA routes.

"We are concerned," said Domas, "that we may not be able to continue offering the program at this level because of the cost, $100,000 a year. The Planning Department may not be able to fund it in the future."

Domas said the study would cost $17,500—$13,000 from the state and $4,750 from the Planning Department in federal community development funds.

"The grant application is before the state now," he said. "We want City Council support to show that the city is really interested in the study."

The Council gave its support readily.

Dutton's License Request Withdrawn

Potential buyers of Dutton's withdrew their request for licenses for the restaurant at 125 Sea St. during Tuesday's License Board meeting.

The request from Sea St. Restaurant, Inc. for common victualer-all alcoholic licenses was withdrawn without prejudice through a letter from Atty. Glenn M. Shriberg.

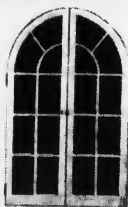

The request may be resubmitted at any time.

The matter had been continued from the Jan. 8 meeting when plans were discussed for a seafood menu at the restaurant which closed the end of December.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald complained of traffic problems at the restaurant, and asked for architectural plans.

Ward Councillor Michael Cheney asked for the two week continuance so that he could learn more about the proposal.

Reader's Forum Concerned About Quincy Bay Pollution

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
I am greatly concerned about the quality of the water in Quincy Bay and the surrounding coast line. Year after year the water in our bay gets browner and browner, and only until the past few years had anyone even attempted to do anything about it.

Today, the story of Nut Island polluting Quincy Bay is the topic of discussion everywhere. Is anything actually being done or is it just that, a discussion. As the political power struggle goes on, what is happening to the bay? Nothing, absolutely nothing, the bay continues to get worse as our politicians decide who is going to run the show.

Should we be worrying about who is liable for the damage or should it just be corrected and decide who was at fault later. Everyone is going to pay in the long run, the longer we wait the more its going to cost to alleviate the problem. The problem of raw sewerage being dumped into the bay must be resolved to ensure the youth of today and tomorrow the same chance of using Quincy Bay for fishing, swimming and boating as we had.

Living on the coast line gives the youth of today many options as to what to do with their spare time. I feel that this is another great reason why the bay should not be allowed to get damaged beyond repair.
The cost that everyone will pay if the bay gets that far will be devastating. Who is going to determine when serious action will begin to start the clean up? Its obvious. Oh, well we can wait another year or can we?

Friends Of Hospice Thanks Readers For Support

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Would you please permit us to thank our readers for their generous support of Hospice of the South Shore, Inc. during our winter fundraising drive. Although the campaign for this year has not been completed, we are very pleased to date with the individuals, businesses and organizations throughout the South Shore area who have helped us toward our goal.

We would like to assure those who give that Hospice is a non-profit organization and all the funds go directly to subsidize the program of home care Hospice provides for terminally ill patients.
This year we expect to give over $100,000 in subsidized care.

The Hospice program included the coordinated services of professional nurses, rehabilitation therapists, a medical social worker, home health aides and trained volunteers.

Much emphasis is placed on helping the whole family to cope with the distress of illness and bereavement.

Community support for Hospice makes it possible for those with life-threatening illnesses to receive compassionate care

Harold Appointed To Anti-Crime Group

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis has named Sen. Paul D.
Harold as a member of the Statewide Anti-Crime Council.

Harold, recently appointed Senate Chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Criminal Justice, will be responsible for handling major crime legislation, including the Governor's presumptive sentencing package.

The statewide council, which included law enforcement, correctional, judicial, legal and legislative officials, works to formulate, coordinate and implement criminal justice policies and programs in the state.

In appointing Harold, the Governor noted that the effectiveness of the council depends upon "the active participation of key legislators."

Sheets, Gillis Out Of Mayor Race

This year's mayoral race looks like a two-candidate only contest between incumbent Francis McCauley and challenger Joanne Condon.

City Council President James Sheets and City Clerk John Gillis, both of whom have been mentioned as potential candidates, will be sitting this one out.

Gillis definitely won't be running this year and probably won't in the future.

Those close to him think he has taken himself out of the old ball game for good. He really doesn't want to be mayor.

GILLIS

Sheets would have been a more likely candidate this year but isn't going to be.

Friends say he has given considerable consideration to making a bid this year but has decided against it.

The way they tell it, he feels this is not the year for him to run regardless of who else is or is not running.

The reasons are personal and political.

According to sources close to him, however, he has his sights trained on 1987.

Sheets, like Condon, differs with McCauley on general political philosophy and on a number of specific matters (police, fire budgets, General Dynamics tax case settlement, etc.) and some observers feel that he and McCauley are on a definite head-on collision course.

Sheets is expected to remain neutral in this year's race between McCauley and Condon although he and Condon are much closer now than they were two years ago.

There's little doubt, though, that he would like to see Condon give McCauley a good run.
How good remains to be seen.

public information pamphlet entitled "Introducing Your Home Health Aide."

The pamphlet is available to the residents of Quincy by mail. It explains how ill, disabled or elderly and frail persons can be more comfortable and secure in their own homes with the need to go to a nursing home.

Personal care provided by the aide includes bathing, dressing, skin care, feeding, help with toileting, and assistance with prescribed physical therapy or other rehabilitative exercises.
Home health aides also help the ill or frail person to maintain the comforts of

Quincy's 60-Plus Population Expected To Pass 20,000 This Year

The year 1985 marks the 20th anniversary of the passage of the Older Americans Act, chairman John Noonan of the Quincy Council on Aging, notes.

The enactment of the Older Americans Act (OAA) by Congress in 1965 was the centerpiece of the federal government's commitment to the elder citizens of the country, the fastest growing population of all age groups.

Over the past 19 years the Quincy Council on Aging, through a combination of city funds and Community Development Block Grants made available through the city's planning and development department, has been able to provide a wide range of services to the elder citizens of Quincy.

Through the coordinated efforts of city departments, neighborhood centers, and other social service agencies, a referral network has been set up to assist senior or elder citizens in need. The decentralizing of activities has resulted in various programs being made available to elder citizens through neighborhood centers in various sections of Quincy.

Noonan said he was optimistic about the coming year and the capability of the Quincy Council on Aging to keep pace with Quincy's growing elder population.

In 1967 the Quincy Council on Aging conducted a survey and found that there were 14,763 Quincy residents over the age of 60.

"It is expected that by the end of 1985 there will be more than 20,000 individuals living in Quincy who will be 60 years and older," said Noonan.

Quincy is one of the fastest growing cities, in terms of its senior population, in the country. Noonan pointed out that 17 percent of the city's total population is over the age of 60. This is six points higher than the national average of cities of comparable size.

The Quincy Council on Aging and collaborating agencies provide directly or through referral such varied services as counseling, companionship or friendly visitor, educational opportunities, fuel assistance, health services, home delivered meals, home-maker services, transportation, information and referral, weatherization, tax consultative services. Also, public information programs such as the newsletter published monthly by the Quincy Council and programs of interest to the elder citizens telecast on Quincy Community Television.

One important daily program of the Quincy Council is the transportation program involving some 5700 individuals over the course of a single year. These residents are transported daily to the several South Shore Home Care Nutrition sites located in the city.

Quincy elderly are also transported to hospitals and medical facilities within the South Shore and Metropolitan Boston area. Some 12,300 are transported annually through vans and other vehicles under the supervision of the Council.

The Council sponsors the periodic MBTA pass and identification program for those 65 years of age and older. Educational and social day trips at nominal prices are also sponsored by the Council.

The Council also provides meals to needy seniors at Thanksgiving as well as sponsoring the Mayor's Annual Thanksgiving Dinner which benefits over 200 seniors.

Health services sponsored by the Council included dental and hearing screening tests, a rectal cancer screening and the flu immunization program in cooperation with the City Health Department.

The Consumer Assistance Program for senior citizens, now in its 10th year, is made available by the Council under a grant from the Office of the Attorney General.

More and more senior citizens are availing themselves of the Rent-A-Kid program which the Council makes available through the Quincy Youth Commission. The purpose of this program is to provide seniors with assistance with odd jobs and daily chores.

There is also an inter-generational program involving shut-ins, elder residents of nursing homes with children and young people.

The city of Quincy through the Council on Aging is a member of the South Shore Elder Services, Inc., a non-profit corporation which offers a variety of services to people 60 years of age and older in South Shore communities.

Quincy is the largest elder population in the South Shore Elder Services. Two delegates from the Quincy Council, Frank Kearns and Mrs. Mary Kay Bamford, serve on the Quincy Inc. Board of Directors. Kearns is also serving his second term as treasurer of that organization.

Last month the South Shore Elder Services Inc. Board of Directors voted to approve the awarding of Title 111B money for community projects which will benefit elder residents of the area.

The Quincy Council on Aging received funding approval for a part-time limited program to provide information and referral services for elderly Quincy residents.

The Quincy Salvation Army received funds to continue "scholarships" to the Adult Health Care program for the residents of the 11 participating communities who are over the Medicaid income guidelines yet are in need of the programs' physical and mental health activities and facilities.

The South Shore Center for the Blind located at 474 Beale Street, Quincy received approval for funding for the transportation of the area's elderly blind persons to the Quincy center.

Other local groups receiving funding approval for projects include the Protestant Social Service Bureau, Alzheimer Support Group, South Shore Council on Alcoholism, and Beechwood Community Life Center.

Brian Buckley serves as Coordinator for the Quincy Council on Aging with the assistance of a secretary, seven outreach workers, two senior corp part-time assistants and 1 part-time VISTA volunteer.

Members of the Council on Aging Board are: John Noonan, chairman; Mary Kay Bamford, vice-chairman; Trudy Buckley, Rev. Alicia Corea, Sabina Kavanagh, Frank Kearns, Bella Krovitz, Thomas MacDonald, Maida Moakley, Herbert Morgan, Mildred Trout, Theresa Whitaker, executive director John Comer of the Quincy Housing Authority, City Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey, and director Barry Welch of the Quincy Recreation Department.

The Council will hold its first meeting of 1985 Jan. 24 at 2 p.m. in the second floor conference room of City Hall Annex.

All meetings of the Council are open to the public and interested senior citizens of Quincy are cordially invited to attend this and any meeting of the Council.

Rent Control Board Walks Out In Protest

Six members of the Quincy Rent Control Board walked out of the weekly meeting in protest against Atty. Joseph P. McDonough's attempt to participate in the session after he had been removed as chairman and member by City Manager William J. Deegan Jr.

McDonough tried to take over the meeting as chairman, contending that he was still a member and presiding officer pending court action on his appeal from Deegan's removal order.

McDonough was ousted after he announced that a general rent increase authorized by the board was not effective in spite of a ruling by the city solicitor that it was.

"I do not challenge the city manager's right to remove a member of a municipal board but I do challenge the method in which he is attempting to remove me," said McDonough.

"I challenge the legality of his action on the question of good faith and on the genuineness of the allegations he made against me."

WHITWELL ST. SCHOOL

Architect Earl Harvey said that at least part of the new six-room elementary school proposed for a site on Whitwell St. should be ready for occupancy in September, 1954. He estimated it would cost about $220,000, not including landscaping.

Meanwhile, a group of Cranch School PTA members appeared at a School Committee meeting to ask the board to reconsider its vote to name the new school the Cranch Hill School. A poll of potential pupils favored the name Hillside School.

DEFICIT SHARING OPPOSED

PROF. RALPH KOLONNY

Ralph Kolodny Honored For Social Group Work

Ralph Kolodny of Quincy, a Boston University professor, was recently recognized for his achievements and contributions to the advancement of social group work by the Committee for the Advancement of Social Work with Groups.

A social worker at the Boston Children's Service Association for 15 years, Kolodny worked with socially isolated children. He was also a supervisor and researcher at the BCSA.

The Boston Children's Service Association offers foster home and adoption services as well as case work for troubled youngsters.

Kolodny's group work with the BCSA helped children experiencing normal adolescent problems as well as more severe emotional disturbances by organizing small, informal groups to discuss the children's concerns.

Colby College Hall Renamed For Grossman

A newly renovated residence hall at Colby College, Waterville, Maine, has been renamed in honor of Nissie Grossman, chairman of the board of Grossman's.

Grossman, who lives in Wellesley, is an overseer at Colby and a former member of the college's board of trustees.

He was instrumental in creation of a professional chair, the Grossman Professorship of Economics, which honors his mother and father.

A 1932 graduate of Colby, Grossman was president of the Boston Colby Club and the Boston Colby Alumni Council.

He is Chairman of the Board of the Granite Cooperative Bank.

The chairmen of five Democratic Ward Committees have announced the locations of their Feb. 9 caucuses to select delegates and alternates to the State Democratic Convention May 18 in Springfield.

Ward 1 Democrats will meet in the Houghs Neck

Community Center; those from Ward 3 will confer at Granite Place, 125 Granite St.; and the Ward 6 committee at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center.

The Ward 4 committee will hold its meeting at the Faith Lutheran Church, 65 Roberts St., and Ward 5 at the Wollaston Methodist Church, 40 Beale St.

All caucuses will be at 2 p.m.

The Springfield convention will adopt a party platform. There will be a $25 registration fee for each delegate to help defray the cost of the convention.

Quincy Joins Governor's Anti-Drug Abuse Campaign

Quincy recently joined Gov. Michael S. Dukakis' anti-drug abuse campaign aimed at Massachusetts students.

Quincy has pledged to re-evaluate the drug problem in its schools and take action along the guideline recommended by the governor.

Dukakis said he is aware of many excellent programs already underway in schools across the state, but he said that neither a good drug education nor a strict discipline code alone would suffice.

The governor has asked that school superintendents and others who are interested in playing an active role in their own community's anti-drug effort to contact Wilmington School Superintendent Dr. Carol Sager, chairperson of the Governor's Alliance Against Drugs.

Animal League To Meet Sunday

PHILIP J. LAWRENCE, retired president and new chairman of the board and Mary L. Reilly, new president of the Colonial Federal Savings Bank, check over a business transaction.
(Quincy Sun photos by Charles Flogg)

COLONIAL FEDERAL Savings Bank in Wollaston is "people oriented" and will stay that way says its new president, Mary L. Reilly.

Mary Reilly Succeeds Philip Lawrence

Colonial Federal Has First Woman President

By TOM HENSHAW
Mary L. Reilly of Randolph, executive vice president, has been elected of the Colonial Federal Savings Bank of Wollaston, the first woman to hold the post in a federally chartered savings bank in Massachusetts.

An employee of the bank on Beach St. for nearly 40 years, she succeeds Philip J. Lawrence of Groveland, who is moving up to the post of chairman of the board.

"I'm delighted with the opportunity," said Miss Reilly. "It will be a stimulating experience. But I'm a little apprehensive at the same time. There will be a lot of hard work and difficult decisions."

"No," she added with a laugh. "I don't feel like a pioneer. The board of this bank has always been progressive for an ultra-conservative group. They've always believed in giving equal opportunity to all employees, including women."

Miss Reilly joined the bank, then known as the Wollaston Federal Savings and Loan Association, in April, 1945, shortly after her graduation from Bridgewater State Teachers College.

"I never wanted to be a teacher," she said. "I really didn't know what I wanted to do and Bridgewater was the handiest college."

She also attended Bentley College in Boston, the University of Connecticut School of Executive Development, the Graduate School of Savings and Loans at the University of Indiana and the Weaver School of Real Estate.

She moved up through the ranks at Colonial Federal, becoming treasurer in 1968, vice president in 1973 and a member of the board of directors in 1979.

Lawrence, who had been president of the bank since 1967, said he plans to leave the entire operation of the bank to Miss Reilly.

"I am handing it over to her," he said. "Of course, I may come in once a month just to bother her."

Miss Reilly said she plans no changes in the operation.

"We are a people oriented bank," she said, "and we will remain that way. They make our business and if we don't cater to them we won't be in business long."

Never in her wildest dreams when she joined Colonial Federal did she think she would ever be its president.

"I was never career oriented," she said "until I was here a few years. We have always had an excellent board as far as offering career opportunities to employees. It's always been ahead of the times."

She said that as far as she knows the only other woman president of a savings bank in Massachusetts is at the Arlington Five Cent Savings Bank, a state chartered institution. Colonial Federal is federally chartered.

Miss Reilly has lived in Randolph all her life. She is a trustee of the Turner Free Library in that town and served nine years as a town meeting member.

She is a member of the Wollaston Golf Club and notes that "I don't play enough or well enough to have a handicap. I just play for pleasure."

Lawrence, who is past president of the Massachusetts Federal Savings Council, joined Colonial Federal as executive vice president in 1965 and became president and chief executive officer two years later.

The bank had $25 million in assets at that time, now has $68.5 million.

Red Cross Life Saving Course Starts Jan. 18

The Quincy Recreation Department will hold registration at the Lincoln Hancock Community School for an American Red Cross Life Saving Course.

The Advanced Life Saving Course will be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings beginning Jan. 18. The course is open to those at least 15 years of age who are capable of passing a pre-requisite swimming test. Successful completion will result in certification as a lifeguard.

Registration can be made in person at the Lincoln Hancock School and Pool from 5 to 9 weeknights beginning immediately. There is a $10. fee and students are responsible for their own books.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Today, more people than ever are planning ahead. In such matters as insurance, wills, property and investments, families know the importance of looking into the future today.

That is why many people are discussing funeral arrangements in advance. Planning ahead gives you the opportunity to make known your wishes while giving full consideration to the needs, desires and sensibilities of others at a sorrowful time. Pre-arrangement does away with any possible disagreement among the bereaved as to what to do and how much to spend. In effect, pre-arrangement eases the burden placed on the immediate family - in terms of both the proper course of action to follow and it also gives peace of mind in knowing that arrangements have been made in advance.

We at the Name of Home are available to discuss pre-arrangements with you at any time. We offer complete information on pre-arrangements and will answer all questions honestly and truthfully. Feel free to contact us at your convenience. There is no obligation, of course...

'Right Time' Wollaston Topic

The Rev. Mr. Elden D. J. Zuern will preach on "The Right Time has Come" based on the text Mark 1:14-20 Sunday at Wollaston Congregational Church.

During the 10 a.m. worship service, the church will dedicate a portrait of Edward B. Whittredge, former organist and choir director for 34 years.

Music composed by Whittredge will be sung by the Senior Choir.

Carolyn Gray, representing the choir, will be the lay reader.

At 11:45 a.m., members of the church will conduct the annual meeting, hear reports and vote on the budget for the coming year. Confirmation class will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

Interested youths are urged to call the church office for more information. The Singles and Doubles Club will hold a Winter Weekend at Attitash Valley March 1-3.

For more information on church activities, call 773-7432.

'Classmates Today' Breakfast At Beth Israel Feb. 10

Three Quincy students will be among those honored by the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post at the annual "Classmates Today - Neighbors Tomorrow" breakfast meeting Sunday, Feb. 10.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., Quincy Point.

The local students, chosen by their classmates as best exemplifying brotherhood in their daily activities, are Stephen E. Magee, Quincy High School; Michele Proude, North Quincy High School; and Christopher A. Connel, Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Other students to be honored are Maureen E. Johnson, Weymouth North; Paige Ferry, Weymouth South; and Stephen Lane, Hull High.

Presentation of citations to student honorees will be made by local officials, leaders within the local veteran's organizations and officers within the post.

David Freedman is chairman. Committee members are past commanders Irving Isaacson, Ben Rudner, Harvey Solomon, Dave Minkofsky and Jason Stone and Commander Ralph Paul.

Laity Sunday At Bethany Church

Laity Sunday will be observed Jan. 27, at the 10 a.m. service in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre. The usual 9 a.m. chapel service will not be held.

Lay members of the congregation will conduct the entire worship service in keeping with the theological concept of "the priesthood of all believers."

While upholding the need for a specially trained and educated clergy, set apart by ordination to provide leadership for the churches, the Protestant movement asserted that every person was called by God to be engaged in ministry by their style of life and by service to others.

Before God all Christian believers, clergy and laity, are equal, and by virtue of being baptized into Christ's name and into his Church, all are given the responsibility of being ministers of Jesus Christ, according to the church.

The sermons will be prepared and delivered by Helen Krasinski on the theme, "The Blessed Tie That Binds" based on Acts 9:1-8, and by Darryl Mikami on "Soulbusters and Ragpickers" based on 1 Corinthians 3:10-17.

The service will begin with a special prelude "Trumpet Minuet" with Peter E. Krasinski at the organ console, and Terry McGinty on trumpet.

Kinya Mikami will conduct the opening call to worship and invitational prayer. The comments on church life and work and the offering will be led by H. Winslow Betinson.

Scripture readers will be James Ross and Arlene Billingsley. The pastoral prayer will be offered by Nancy Cosgrove, and the closing prayer and benediction will be given by Sylvia Hofsepien.

The Men of Bethany Singers will provide special music. They will sing the anthem, "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" and the closing choral response, "Farewell My Friends."

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class, ninth to 12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples Jr.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers during the worship services.

At 11 a.m., there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

Sunday beginning at 6 p.m. there will be a covered-dish dinner "Newer Members Night", honoring persons who have become members of Bethany during the past five years, and families with children in the Church School.

For information about Bethany's ministries and programs, contact either Pastor J. William Arnold or Pastor Joel F. Huntington, or call the church office at 479-7300.

Squantum Church Leaders Installed

The newly elected leaders of the First Church of Squantum were installed in their offices Sunday morning in a special installation ritual held at both services.

The persons installed were elected by the congregation at the annual meeting Friday night.

During the first service, church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "Going to the Wilderness." Mary Ruth Scott, Steven Williams and Andy Ogilvie provided the music with their guitars.

Deborah Stohberg and Karen Reister were ushers. Marci Hurd was in charge of the refreshments which took the form of a birthday party for Mary Ruth Scott, the church choir director.

At the second service, the pastor's sermon was entitled "Available Power."

Greeters were Calvin and Gretchen Bumpus with their daughter, Blythe. Ushers were Torie Wallin and Stewart Scott. Christine Young and Carolyn Chisholm were in charge of the Fellowship Hour afterward.

ENC Joins Campaign To Support Small Independent Colleges

President Stephen W. Nease announces that Eastern Nazarene College has joined the Council of Independent Colleges in a three-year public information campaign, endorsed by the Advertising Council, to promote the values and benefits of small independent colleges.

The campaign's theme, "Small Colleges Can Help You Make It Big," offers convincing proof with an Honorary Committee of successful small college graduates, among them the President of the United States, the President of World Bank, the Chairman of Ford Motor Company, and several household name media and entertainment personalities.

ENC is a four-year liberal arts college in Quincy, offering majors in over 30 fields along with nine graduate programs in Education, Counseling, and Religion. Eastern Nazarene College will be cooperating with CIC in publicizing the role ENC plays as an institution of higher education on Boston's South Shore.

Representing 650 institutions with enrollments under 2,500, the campaign seeks to increase public knowledge of the values and benefits of small colleges, and cultivate student enrollments and private financial support for the campuses. "The campaign follows on the heels of the release of two major reports, one by the National Institute of Education and the other by the National Endowment for the Humanities, calling for increased emphasis on the liberal arts and teaching excellence, just the very values small colleges offer the American public," said Gary Quehl, President of CIC.

"Small colleges have a compelling story to tell, and the effective communication of this story can influence their continuing vitality and quality. It is time that small colleges are understood and valued for the great contribution that they make to our society," he added.

Carl Soderstrom Cited For Community Concerns

Carl C. Soderstrom Jr. of Germain Ave., Quincy Point, has been cited by his peers in the U.S. Post Office for his community work, particularly with Survival, the drug rehabilitation program.

"If a price could be put on helping others—on caring and sharing—this Boston Branch 34 member would be a philanthropist," said the Postal Record, the monthly magazine of the Letter Carriers Union.

"Working with recovering drug addicts and battered children, organizing Thanksgiving dinners for the elderly, raising funds for church projects, handling grievances for co-workers—Soderstrom gives freely of his time to help others.

"His involvement in community social service projects dates to 1969 when an epidemic of drug abuse among young people prompted him to volunteer at Survival, a drug treatment center in Quincy. "Combining the academic with the practical, he enrolled at Northeastern University night school as a sociology major, and began taking residents of the drug treatment center to school with him to discuss how they got hooked.

"For the past seven years Soderstrom has been vice president of the board of directors of Survival, which has grown to be the largest drug abuse program south of Boston.

"With Soderstrom's help it has spawned an emergency shelter for abused children in Weymouth and a program to integrate institutionalized children back into their families."

Soderstrom is also chairman of the board of trustees of the Quincy Point Congregational Church.

North Edges Quincy 43-42 For First League Win

It has been a long, hard season for North Quincy boys' basketball coach Ed Miller.

Going into last week's games the Raiders had a 1-8 record and were winless in the Suburban League.

But Miller felt a lot better after last week's games as the Raiders came from behind to pull out a last-second 43-42 win over Quincy for their first league victory.

Earlier in the week North had broken a seven-game losing streak with a 69-42 non-league win over Marshfield.

North (3-8) played Waltham Tuesday, will be at Brookline Friday at 7:30 and will be home to Brockton's powerhouse next Tuesday at 7 o'clock.

"I've always set a number of goals for our team," said Miller, finally able to smile.

"It has always been either winning the Suburban League title, reaching the tournament or just win the city championship."

However, after the Raiders had lost seven in a row, Miller set a new goal—two wins in a row.

"The kids knew they were going to get destroyed at Cambridge so we were hoping to bounce back and win both our games after that," Miller continued.

"We got beaten badly as expected at Cambridge and prepared hard to win the next two games. I feel a lot better after winning them, especially beating Quincy."

It didn't come easily for North against Quincy. The Presidents, paced by Bill Shaughnessy, the Suburban League's top scorer, had taken a 15-10 lead after a quarter and still led, 24-18, at halftime.

The Raiders came back and cut the gap to 34-31 going into the fourth quarter and they finally took the lead, 39-38, with 52 seconds left when Brian Morris tipped in a rebound.

With Quincy leading, 40-39, and 52 seconds left, North turned the ball over but Mark Scanlon, quickly stole the ball back and fired a perfect pass to Ken Runge, who was all alone under the basket and scored easily, putting North up, 41-40.

Quincy turned the ball over again and Scanlon was fouled with 29 seconds left. He hit on both and, after Quincy scored again, Shaughnessy's desperation shot fell short at the buzzer.

Scanlon not only won the game but did a pretty good job covering Shaughnessy, who had his usual big night with 23 points. Scanlon scored 13.

Morris led the Raiders with 14 points and had a great night on the boards. Runge and freshman Dave Lawless had eight points each.

"Scanlon was the story for us tonight," said Miller, "but the key was winning the Marshfield game. That got us going and we did a good job defensively. We were especially concerned with Shaughnessy, who can score 30 or more points like nothing. We are a young team with only one senior and winning a game like this obviously helps us quite a bit."

The Raiders led all the way against Marshfield with pressure defense and led by the scoring of Jim Martin, Scanlon and Chris Rossi.

Martin led the way with 18 points, Scanlon added 15 and Rossi chipped in with 11.

North Swimmers Outclass Newton

The North Quincy Swim team easily defeated Newton North, 87-44, last Friday, improving its record to 4-2.

Bill Walker's Raiders faced Brockton Tuesday, will be at Waltham Friday at 7:30 and will host Dedham next Wednesday at 7:30 at the Charles Djerf pool at the Lincoln-Hancock School.

North's 400-yard freestyle relay team of Brendan Walsh, Steve Mackay, Mike Melanson and Dave Stockless won with its best time of the season, 3:53.9.

Individual winners for the Raiders were Greg Toland, diving (167.4 points); Walsh, 100 freestyle (57.8); and Melanson, 500 freestyle (5:36.6).

Placing second were Stockless, 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle; Melanson, 200 individual medley; Walsh, 50 freestyle; Eric Giordano, diving; Mackay, 100 butterfly; and Dan O'Sullivan, 100 backstroke.

Taking third were Tom Farmer, 200 freestyle and 100 butterfly; and Rich Stanton, 50 freestyle.

A Heartbreaker For Presidents

The Quincy boys' basketball team has found the going rough since winning the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament and last Friday suffered its most heart-breaking defeat, 43-42, to cross-town rival North Quincy.

The Presidents, who have lost six in a row, dropping their record to 3-8, faced Newton North Tuesday and next Tuesday will play at Waltham at 7:30.

Quincy, still without a Suburban League win, appeared to be in good shape in the first half at North Quincy, leading, 15-10, after a quarter and still holding on to a 24-18 advantage at the half.

However, the Raiders chipped away and cut the Presidents' lead to 34-31 going into the final quarter.

North took its first lead with three minutes left, 39-38, but Quincy regained the lead, 40-39, with 52 seconds left.

A turnover gave North the ball and it took a 41-40 lead and the Presidents again turned the ball over and Mark Scanlon hit on two foul shots to give the Raiders a 43-40 lead. Quincy scored again but a desperation shot by Bill Shaughnessy fell short at the buzzer.

"This loss hurts," said Quincy coach Rick DeCristafaro. "Our offense just let down in the final three minutes. Give credit to North's defense. This was just another game in which we've lost leads and had to scrap our way back. A lot of times it's just too late and this was one of those times."

Shaughnessy, leading the Suburban League with a 25-point average, had another big night with 23 points. Don Parry, Daron Tucker, and Pat Faherty turned in fine two-way efforts.

Earlier in the week the Presidents had been mauled by Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 83-82. (Cambridge a week earlier had bombarded North Quincy, 89-36).

North Title Hopes Dimmed

The North Quincy hockey team is headed for the state tournament for the second year in a row, but its hopes of winning its first Suburban League title were dimmed last Saturday when it bowed to league-leading Waltham, 3-1.

Kevin Jago's Raiders, now 8-2 (both losses to Waltham), will play Brookline tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock at the Watertown rink and Saturday will host powerful Brookline at 7:50 at the Youth Arena. North needs only three wins in its last eight games to qualify for the tournament.

Brookton had handed Waltham its only loss of the season earlier in the week and the Raiders would have moved into first place with a win Saturday.

North took the lead at 7:04 of the opening period when Glen McGlame scored. Rich Horrigan and Dave Cooke assisted.

Waltham tied it at 13:40 on a goal by Eric Tardiff.

The score remained at 1-1 through the first period.

the third period when McGlame was sent off for tripping and the Hawks' Mark Borgeois scored the tie-breaking goal. With 10 seconds left in the game Bob St. Cyr scored an insurance goal.

Jago didn't feel McGlame was guilty of tripping. "You won't see a better hip check anywhere," he said. That was the turning point right there. We didn't generate much offense, but I'm not convinced the better team won."

North's Matt Higgins, the league's top goalie, had another fine night and made many excellent saves to keep Waltham from running away with the game. In the second period Higgins, sprawled in the crease, batted away a shot with a diving lunge to his right.

"Matt has been one of our steadiest players," Jago said. "He really holds the fort down. He played another great game."

Adams, Gilbody Baskets Send North To OT Win

Sophomore Center Al Adams tied the game twice with last minute baskets and Eddie Gilbody won it in overtime as the North Quincy High School basketball team squeezed out a 49-47 victory over Thayer Academy.

Adams took a pass on the sidelines and threw in a basket at the buzzer to deadlock the contest at 43-all in regulation time. Then he popped in another in the dying moments of the first overtime to tie it 47-47.

After only 18 seconds of sudden death overtime, Joe Crowley fed Gilbody, who drove the lane for the winning score.

The North Quincy lineup included: Gilbody, Ames, Penzo, forwards; Denneen, Adams, centers; Crowley, Densmore, guards.

HURLEY SCORES TWO

Frank Hurley scored his second goal of the game at 6:13 of the third period to lift the North Quincy High School hockey team to a 2-1 victory over Hingham in a South Shore League game at Boston Arena.

The North Quincy lineup included: R. Hayes, Hurley, Gorham, forwards; Meleedy, Moran, defense; K. Hayes, goal; Hamel, spare.

MEDFORD BEATON

Marvin Weinstein scored 22 points and Bob MacDonald had 13 and cleared both boards with authority as the Quincy High School basketball team came up with a pressure-packed 63-57 victory over Medford in a Greater Boston League game.

The Quincy lineup included: Dearden, Williams, forwards; MacDonald, center; Weinstein, Ruggles, guards.

HAFF STARS

Dan Haff tallied 20 points as the Old Colony DeMolay basketball team ran up a 22-4 lead at the end of the first period and then coasted to a 60-30 victory over the Newton DeMolay team.

The Quincy lineup included: Kershaw, Houlihan, Smith, forwards; Haff, DeWolfe, centers; Vaughn, Miller, Parry, guards.

NORTH TOPS POINT

Doug Grutchfield tossed in 17 points and Herb Wood added 15 more to lead the North basketball team to a 45-26 victory over Point in a Junior High School League contest.

North's lineup was made up of Gill, McGee, Wood, Cook, forwards; Grutchfield, center; Scanlan, Deane, Welsh, guards.

MARCELL, WONG SCORE

Tom Marcell and Dave Wong scored the goals as the Quincy High School hockey team pulled an upset by tying Christopher Columbus, 2-2, in a South Shore League game at Boston Arena.

The Quincy team was composed of Chiavaroli, Wong, Younie, forwards; Muir, Marcell, defense; LaPierre, goal; Zanardelli, Bonafini, Lyons, spares.

ALUMNI SWAMPED

John Wagner, Tom Christensen and Dick Heinlein scored 55 points among them to lead the Eastern Nazarene College basketball team to a 94-56 rout of the ENC Alumni.

The Eastern Nazarene lineup included: Wagner, Christensen, McSavany, forwards; Heinlein, center; Brooks, Parson, Quansstrom, guards.

SPORTS BITS '54

Eddie Meleedy of North Quincy faced his first cousins, Billy and Jimmy Doyle, when the Raider hockey team played Hingham in Boston Arena... For the second time in three years, relief pitcher Ellis Kinder was hailed as the Boston Red Sox' most valuable player at the Boston Baseball Writers' dinner... The Quincy High School basketball team survived a poor shooting night to beat Chelsea, 43-39, with Marv Weinstein getting 18 points... The Boston Bruins sent defenseman Ray Garipey to the Hershey farm team, cutting their roster to the 17-player legal limit... Courtney Muller had 33 points in a losing cause as the Quincy Clippers bowed to the Winslow Chips of Salem, 103-97... Ken Lamphere's free throw gave South its first lead in the third period and the team went on to a 31-29 Junior High School League victory over Central... Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin testified at the State House on a bill to repeal the Sunday blue law that forbade the team from turning on the lights at Fenway Park after 6:30 p.m.... Ed Macauley and Bill Sharman chipped in 16 points apiece but their Boston Celtics lost, 80-68, to the Fort Wayne Pistons...

Quincy Upsets Brookline

The Quincy hockey team's luck finally changed last Saturday and the Presidents upset Brookline, 4-1, for its second win of the season.

Bob Sylvia's Presidents (2-7-3) will host Waltham Friday at 6:40 p.m. at the Youth Arena and next Wednesday will also be at home to Newton North at the same time and place.

Goalie Bill Cahill, who has had a fine season despite the goals scored against him, was outstanding against Brookline.

Tim Hall, John O'Connor, Bill Ward and Scott McGahey scored the goals.

"I feel Cahill is very underrated because we have had a number of goals scored against us," said Sylvia. "However, he is a real battler and I feel he is one of the best goalies I've had."

"It has been tough on him because we haven't scored many goals and he knows he is..."

other teams to two or three goals if we hope to win. Many of the goals scored against him haven't been his fault."

Earlier last week Quincy and Cambridge Rindge and Latin played to a wild 7-7 tie.

North Freshman Girls Rack Up 7th, 8th Wins

By PETE ZOIA

The future looks good for girls' basketball at North Quincy with Dave Bregoli's freshman team winning two more games last week to improve its record to 8-2.

North first rolled over Bob Quist's Quincy team, 37-9, and the young Raiders' followed up with a 43-26 decision over Brain-tree.

North's defense held Quincy scoreless in the first and third quarters as it raced out to a 14-0 lead after a quarter and held a 24-7 advantage at halftime. Quincy's Janet Morrell had three points and Sue Cullen and Tricia Shaughnessy a basket each to stop the drought.

Meanwhile, the Raiders' hit with regularity as Beth Bunker scored six points and Stacy Welch and Jill Caldwell five each.

Quincy was again blanked in the third quarter as North added nine points to its lead through the efforts of Melissa Miles, Pattie Feeney, Karrie Pistorino and Caldwell.

In the final quarter Rita Rooney scored North's only two baskets and Wendy Sterling had Quincy's lone basket.

For North Rooney had eight points, Caldwell seven, Bunker six, Welch five, Feeney four, Pistorino four and Miles three. For Quincy Morrell had three, Cullen, Shaughnessy and Sterling two apiece.

Against Braintree nine North players scored with Bunker having 10, Caldwell seven, Welch six, Feeney, Rooney and Miles four apiece. Pistorino and Kerry McDonald three each and Jennifer Probert two. Bunker and Pistorino dominated the boards and Pistorino turned in an aggressive performance.

"Our guards did some excellent ballhandling," said Bregoli. "We had very balanced scoring and that shows teamwork and accurate shooting. I was pleased with our performance in both games."

Quincy Parents Club Football Banquet Sunday

The Quincy High School football Parents Club, organized last fall after the Quincy Fathers Club disbanded after many years, will hold its first football banquet Sunday night at 7 p.m. at the Quincy Sons of Italy Hall.

For many years the Fathers Club honored the football squads, ran the concession stand at the Quincy home games at Veterans Memorial Stadium and performed other duties in support of the football program.

The new Parents Club will follow in the same tradition and handle the various duties the Fathers Club performed.

Former New England Patriot Ray Hamilton will be the speaker at Sunday night's banquet.

A number of awards will be made to the Quincy football players.

Among the invited guests will be Quincy Principal Lloyd Hill and North Quincy coach Ken McPhee.

Jerry Perfetuo is club president, Dan Mantani is vice president, Joan Conti treasurer and Marjorie Perfetuo secretary.

Runge Sparks Bridgewater

women's basketball team to an easy 84-46 victory over North Adams State.

Runge, averaging 10 points and six assists a game, paced the Lady Bears with 25 points and added eight assists.

The Bridgewater women are 11-1 on the season, 5-0 in the Mass. State College Athletic Association and have won 21 straight home games.

Enrollment Good Reason For Quincy, North To Leave Suburban League

The Massachusetts Basketball Coaches winter newsletter gives further evidence of why Quincy and North Quincy shouldn't be in the Suburban League.

The Presidents and Raiders, in most sports, are unable to compete with such schools as Cambridge Rindge and Latin, Brockton, Waltham, Brookline and others and a look at the schools' enrollments show why.

Quincy and North are the smallest schools in the league and smaller than a number of Bay State League and Old Colony League schools.

Two years ago Weymouth North and Weymouth South moved from the Suburban League to the Old Colony League and now win their share of games.

There are only 548 boys in the upper three classes at North Quincy and 767 at Quincy. However, the Quincy figure is misleading as it includes the Vo-Tech School and rarely do Vo-Tech students play on the high school teams.

Brockton is in a class by itself with 1,528 boys. Cambridge has 987, Newton North 961, Waltham 914 and Brookline 830.

"A look at these figures show why we definitely should be in a different league," said North Quincy basketball coach Ed Miller. "I think it is time Quincy officials took us out of the Suburban League so we can win with some games."

In the Old Colony League Plymouth-Carver has 829 boys, Silver Lake 767, Weymouth North 698, Marshfield 579, Randolph 541 and Hingham 509.

"This shows that we would be playing schools in our own class if we could play in the Old Colony League," said Miller.

In the Bay State League Natick has 619 boys, Braintree 585, Needham 561 and Norwood 507.

From the figures shown, the Old Colony League or Bay State League would be far better for Quincy and North Quincy to be competing in than the Suburban.

The figures are almost the same for the girls.

Quincy has 653 girls and North Quincy has 596. In comparison, Brockton has 1,633, Cambridge 1,003, Newton North 964, Waltham 842, and Brookline 753.

In the Bay State and Old Colony Leagues, the girls' enrollments are similar to the boys, with several schools in both leagues having slightly larger enrollments than Quincy and North.

The Quincy and North Quincy girls also would be far better off if playing in either of these two leagues.

• Executive League Boyles' 5 Goals Paces Budget, 10-1

The Boyle father-son combination teamed up to spark Budget Rent-A-Car to an easy 10-1 victory over South Shore Bearing in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Son Artie, playing wing instead of his regular spot in goal, scored four goals and dad Art scored a goal and assisted on three others. Bob Fowkes added four goals and Steve Marini had the other. Charlie Watts, Marini and Mike Stoller had two assists apiece and Fowkes, Mike Smith and Fred Cashman one each. Jack Hurley had South Shore's only goal with Steve Dymant assisting.

Grogan Business Machines, trailing by three goals in the first four minutes of the game, came back to tie Luke's Lounge, 5-5. Jack Crowley scored with 14 seconds remaining to tie the game. Jay Powers had two goals and Lee Slasky-wicz and John Emmott one each. Crowley had two assists and Dick McCabe, Rick Patten, Paul Vanezzio and Kevin Grogan one each. For Luke's Ed Lenihan and Al McKay each scored twice and Bob Martell once. Jim Conso, Martell, Chet Brunstrom, Lenihan and Mark Matanes had assists.

Adams Sports edged Bob White's Lounge, 2-1, on goals by Tom Roberts and Paul O'Brien. Fred Ahearn had an assist. Dave Mullen scored unassisted for White's.

North Girls Defeat Brookline

The North Quincy girls' track team easily defeated Brookline, 59-27, last week, improving its record to 3-1.

Georgia Travancate equaled the Cambridge fieldhouse record of 5-4 in winning the high jump and she also won the 600 in 1:38.7.

Other winners for the Raiderettes were Lisa Fitzgerald, 300 (41.3);

Maryann Kelleher, mile (5:48.2); Noreen Connolly, shot put (33-11 3/4); and the relay team of Kelleher, Theresa Collings, Tricia Leary and Fitzgerald (4:33).

Taking second places were Cheryl McCarthy, 600; Tricia Leary, 1000; Ann Toland, mile; Sharon Barrett, two-mile; Jennifer Rafferty, hurdles; Missy Silkwood, shot put, and Theresa Collings, high jump.

Placing third were Donna Glynn, 50; Maureen Furey, 300; Caryn Collings, 1000; Stacey Cochran, mile; Colleen Toland, two-mile, and Stacey Carvalho, hurdles and shot put.

In last Saturday's State Coaches meet at Harvard, the North girls' two-mile relay turned in the second best time the meet has seen as Kelleher, Leanne Fitzgerald, Tricia Barrett and Meg Leary won in 9:44.2. The Raiderettes hold the meet record of 9:41 set two years ago.

"All the girls ran well but we got especially good first and fourth legs from Kelleher and Fitzgerald," said Coach Lou Iozzi.

Lisa Fitzgerald placed sixth in the 600 in 1:29.6.

• Senior Hockey

Hofbrau Holds Onto Slim Lead

Hofbrau held on to its one-point lead in the Quincy Youth Arena's Senior Hockey League with a 4-0 victory over Kelly's Pub.

Tom Brennan had two goals and Lou Mathews and Jack Powers one each. Bob Brennan had two assists and Tom Brennan, George Mackey and Brett Loud one each. Goalie Jimmy Campbell earned the shutout.

Kane's Place kept pace by edging Joe's Pub, 6-5. Glenn Ferguson had two goals and Andy St. Pierre, Mark Paolucci, John Andrews and John Mitchell one each. Jim Fitzpatrick, Dave Peters and Andrews had two assists apiece and Ed Kane, Paul Kasianowicz and Paolucci one each. Greg Dwyer had two goals for Joe's and Dan Cronin, Jeff McCune and Jack Cronin one each. Brian Cox had three assists, Jack Cronin two and Mike Doyle one.

Waterfront Lounge outscored Fowler House, 9-5, as Dan Ryan exploded for five goals. Tom Findley had two and Paul McDermott and Peter Daley one each. Bob McHugh had four assists, Daley and Bob Hayes three apiece and Brian McCarthy, Dan Ryan, John Findley and Tom Findley one each. For Fowler House Dan Gorman had a hat trick and Bruce Cornell and Paul McDonald a goal each. Peter Janis and McDonald had two assists apiece and Paul Connolly, Chip Colletta, Steve Blazer and Gorman one each.

High Rise edged China Star, 4-3 for its first win of the year. Dave Hasenfuss had two goals and Dan Kelly and Ed Curley one each. Steve Randall, Mike Tabak, Mark Kelly, Dan Kelly and Frank Keough had assists. George Lavoy scored twice and Ed Campbell once for China Star. Jack Tobin and John Picard had assists.

The standings: Hofbrau, 10-1-0; Kane's, 8-1-3; Kelly's, 7-5-0; Waterfront, 6-5-1; Joe's, 5-3-3; Fowler House, 4-7-1; China Star, 1-10-1; High Rise, 1-10-1.

At North Boosters Banquet

DiBella Presented Jack Donahue Memorial Award

Al DiBella, who was named to several all-scholastic teams last fall, received the prestigious Jack Donahue Memorial Award for being selected the best North Quincy player in the Quincy game.

The presentation was made by Pete Zoia, one of the late coach's closest friends for many years, at the 27th annual North Football Boosters Club banquet at the Sons of Italy Hall.

DiBella was named to the Patriot Ledger, Boston Herald and Globe all-scholastic teams and was a first team Suburban League all-star selection.

The Donahue Award (Donahue had made the presentation himself for 26 years) was one of several awards given at the banquet.

Fr. Cornelius Heery, the team chaplain and one of the Raiders' biggest boosters, presented his award for sportsmanship to Joe Bangs.

Head Coach Ken McPhee presented the William J. Schaezel Award for unselfish play to John Reaney, Assistant Coach Ted Sadowski was scheduled to make the presentation but is recuperating from a recent hip operation and was unable to attend.

Dan Polvere, a former North player, presented the Firefighters' Union Award for the 12th Player to Gerry Coughlin.

The Robert F. X. Schaezel Award to the player giving 100 per cent and more with little notice was presented by Schaezel's brother Richard to Jim Sullivan.

Assistant Coach Kevin Cobban presented the Best Offensive Player Award to Steve Kelly and Mike Barry.

Assistant Coach Mark Mulvaney presented the Best Defensive Player Award to Dave Cooke.

McPhee presented the Coaches' Award for Most Valuable Player to Dave Zuroms and Jack Hannan.

Club president John Ellis was toastmaster and introduced the head table guests. Principal Peter Chrisom and assistant principal Eileen Feeney, Fr. Heery, Quincy coach Jack Raymer, a North assistant for seven years; the North coaches and their wives and the featured speaker, Dr.

Allan H. Yacubian.

Dr. Yacubian, a former North player and now a prominent dentist in Wollaston, spoke of his "illustrious" football career and paid tribute to his immigrant parents. He spoke of the "great North Quincy spirit" and thanked Mr. and Mrs. Pete Zoia for taking care of the late Jack Donahue during his declining years. He presented them with hats and also gave hats to the members of the banquet committee.

He also presented the club with a large banner to be put up in the concession stand at the team's home games.

"The Quincy Fathers Club has a large banner when it takes care of the concessions at the Quincy games and I think we should also have one publicizing this fine club," he said.

Dr. Yacubian played a prominent role in the development of the North Quincy mascot, "Yakoo", the Indian. A friend of his was a member of the Sons of Italy Council and had an assignment to come up with a picture of an Indian. He asked Dr. Yacubian to take off his glasses and pose, which he did. Yakoo was the result and has remained a symbol of North Quincy High School.

Ellis presented plaques to Dr. Yacubian, Fr. Heery, cheerleader advisor Nancy Peduzzi and Chrisom for the school's trophy case and also presented a gift to the Sons of Italy for the lodge's support.

The coaches were presented gifts and their wives received flowers and the cheerleaders presented a gift to Ms. Peduzzi. Mrs. Janet Coughlin, chairperson of the banquet and her assistants received gifts. The club also presented a gift to Ellis.

McPhee presented Suburban League first team all-star certificates to DiBella, Hannan (Ledge all-scholastic), Kelly (Ledge all-scholastic), Cooke (Herald all-scholastic), Barry and Bangs, and second team all-star certificates to Zuroms, Larry Nalezt, Coughlin, Reaney, Bill Doherty and Rich Brooks.

Ken Runge, a camera buff, presented McPhee with a collage which included pictures of the coaches and players and action shots.

Asst. Coach Kevin Cobban and his brother Dick presented a film depicting North football from the 1930s to the present day, including shots of all 1984 games. Assistant coach Pete Zoia was prominent in the production.

A gift was presented to the football queen, Ann Duggan.

The 1984 captains, DiBella, Kelly and Hannan, introduced next year's captains, Bob Bradley and Steve Miller.

Senior awards went to Bangs, Barry, Brooks, Jim Cataldo, Cooke, Chris Costello, Goughlin, Steve Dever, DiBella, Doherty,

ASTHMA AND EXERCISE

According to a Denver medical research center which specializes in the treatment of lung diseases, chronic asthma patients do not have to be treated like invalids. Doctors there have found that controlled exercise programs work better than prolonged rest in rehabilitating their patients.

Thirty nine patients with the allergic type of asthma were divided into two groups. For three months, one group participated only in routine hospital activity and was not allowed any physical exertion. The other group had daily exercise, including one hour of sports such as basketball. At the end of the three month period, the groups exchanged, the exercisers becoming non-exercisers and vice versa.

None of the patients was made worse by the increased physical activity and no increase in asthma medication was necessary. But 40 percent of the exercisers showed measurable improvement in their breathing.

Raiderettes Snap Losing Streak, Win Pair

The North Quincy girls' basketball team ended a five-game losing streak when it won two games last week to improve its record to 6-5.

The Raiderettes last Friday defeated Quincy, 46-28, for their first Suburban League win after edging Marshfield, 42-40, in a non-league game.

Paul Bregoli's North girls faced Waltham Tuesday, will host Brookline Friday at 5 o'clock and will play at Brockton Tuesday at 5 o'clock. The Quincy girls played Newton North Tuesday, will meet the Alumni on Parents Night Friday at 6 p.m. and will host Waltham Tuesday at 5.

North fell behind at the start against Quincy on a basket by the First Ladies' Marybeth Marsters who, with Linda Mahoney, had been out the entire season.

North's Karen Runge answered with three long jump shots and the Raiderettes led, 6-3. North held a 14-11 lead after a quarter.

North maintained its lead throughout the second quarter thanks to the excellent play of Anne Marie Hughes, who hit for six first half points and made several key steals. Steph- anie Petrakas also added a hoop off an offensive rebound. However, Quincy's Colleen Phillips hit three 18-foot set shots to allow her team to remain close, 21-17, at halftime.

North received offensive help from everyone in the third quarter as Jean Welby, Eileen Warren, Proude and Sandra Proude had baskets and freshman guard Nancy Flukes, playing her finest game of the year, added three. North took a 33-24 lead into the final quarter.

The Raiderettes continued to stretch their lead as, again, everyone contributed. Hughes, Flukes and Geraldine Murphy all had baskets. Runge added three and Proude four.

North's defense, limiting Quincy to just 11 second half points, was particularly effective. Hughes, Welby and Flukes excelled while Runge had 14 rebounds, Murphy seven, Warren six and Petrakas five as North dominated the boards.

Runge led all scorers with 11 points. Proude had 10, Hughes nine and Flukes eight.

For Quincy Phillips had 10 points and Marsters added nine.

Earlier in the week North ran out to an early lead against Marshfield as Proude poured in eight first quarter points on a series of drives and short jump shots. North took a 13-4 lead as the defense, led by Welby, forced numerous Marshfield turnovers.

North's offense sputtered a bit in the second quarter as Marshfield cut the Raiderettes lead to 21-14 at the half. Warren was hampered by three first half fouls but Murphy and Petrakas turned in solid efforts spelling her.

Marshfield, behind senior captain Terry Shea, whittled North's lead to 29-28 after three quarters. Only Warren's six points enabled North to hold its lead.

Warren, Proude and Runge scored four points each in the final quarter. Marshfield put the lead to a point with six seconds left and Welby was intentionally fouled. She made one shot to give the Raiderettes their final margin.

Proude had 16 points, six rebounds, three assists and 10 steals. Warren had 12 points and 13 rebounds. Capt. Ann Duggan was out of action with the flu.

"Both wins were real team efforts," said Bregoli. "Everyone who played in both games made vital contributions. I was especially happy with the way our bench players performed. Murphy and Petrakas played excellent defense in both games while Hughes asserted herself both offensively and defensively against Quincy."

"I thought Welby and Flukes controlled the tempo in both games. Proude, who played both games with a painful Achilles tendon, also was great."

"I hope we have turned the corner. Reaching the tournament is still an attainable goal, especially in light of our two efforts this week."

• Mite-Squirt

Balducci's, Harold In Scoreless Tie

Balducci's held on to its one-point lead in the Mite Squirt House League by playing to a scoreless tie with runnerup Paul Harold Club.

The rival goalies, Mark Gilmore and Tim Wassiege, turned in outstanding performances and dominated the game.

• Bowling

Martinelli Fires 403 In Koch Men's League

Mike Martinelli bowled a 403 in the Koch Club Men's Bowling League to capture the high individual three string total from Steve Mancuso who held the previous high with 382.

Martinelli had strings of 109, 147 and 147. It was only the 15th time in the 35 years of the league that 400 or better had been reached although the mark had been approached a number of times.

Dave Salvati still holds the high individual single string of 155.

The performance by

Bo Car Printing and Rogan Hennessy also tied, 3-3. Brian Bartkus, Michelle Melone and Timmy Kunz scored for Bo Car and Mike Grant, Kristin Beaton, Kunz and Leo Hughes had assists. Mike Flaherty, David Pacino and Rob Flannery scored for Rogan and Flannery, Eric Zimmerman, Doug Johnson and Paul Rogan had assists. Lydon Russell blanked UCT, 3-0, on goals by Chris, Connor, Steve Miller and Mark Walsh. Connor and Miller had assists.

The standings: Balducci's, 8-3-1; Harold, 7-3-2; Lydon Russell, 6-5-1; Rogan Hennessy, 5-4-3; Bo Car, 4-6-2; UCT, 1-10-1.

Martinelli also squeezed him into first place in the average column with 111.6 while Joe Keenan dropped to 111.5. Others in the top 10 include Jim Broadbent, 109.7; Mario Scorza, 103.7; Steve Mancuso, 103.5; Mike Doyle, 103.4; Russ Melanson, 102.8; Tony Monti, 102.8; Dave Salvati, 102, and Al Mancuso, 101.2.

With two weeks remaining in first half competition, Martinelli moved his team into top spot with 64 wins and 40 losses and is followed by Tony Monti and Steve Mancuso, deadlocked with

Martinelli's 403 was tops in the weekly "320 Club" followed by Joe Keenan and Tony Monti, 345; Bob Douquette, 342; Dave Roy, 338; Steve O'Rourke, 336; Steve Mancuso, 325, and Mario Scorza, 323.

Tony Monti and his teammates hold the best team three string total of 1584 while Jim Broadbent's combo has the best team single string with 567.

Quincy Electric Leads Olindy's Second Half

The second half of Olindy's Junior All-Star Bowling League is under way and Quincy Electric has taken the lead with a 14-2 record.

The rest of the standings: Tony's, 11-5; Marchionnes Ins., 8-8; Olindy's, 7-9; Kane's Place, 4-12;

Goodhue's, 2-14.

Quincy Electric took six points from Kane's with Dana Christian rolling 240 and Todd Glennon 270.

Steve DiCenso was the Bowler of the Week with a 292, 34 pins over his average.

Bob Laracy leads the boys with a 95 average, followed by Mike Christian, 93; Chris Beatrice, 92; Brian Ward, 90, and Mike Sheehan, 89.

Leading the girls is Dawn Mezzetti at 92, followed by Maryann O'Donnell, 82; Lisa Black, 78; Dana Christian, 76, and Amy DiRocco.

Panarelli Team Takes St. John's Second Half Lead

St. John's Holy Name Bowling League began the second half last week with Mike Panarelli's team taking the lead with a 6-0 record and total pinfall of 1442.

The rest of the standings: Bob Saluti, 4-2 (1412); Jim Mastrantonio, 4-2 (1396); Tom Darcy, 2-4 (1433);

Lou Faiella, 2-4 (1388); Dick Guerriero, 0-6 (1371).

Darcy rolled the weekly high single of 135. Joe Marini had 134 and Carlo Maligno 127. Saluti had the high three of 360 and Panarelli rolled 325.

Darcy's team had the high team single of 539 and Guerriero's team had 492. Panarelli's team had the high three of 1442 and Darcy had 1433.

Police, Firefighters Square Off Feb. 3

The Quincy Police Dept. basketball team will face the Quincy firefighters Sunday, Feb. 3, at 9 a.m. at Central Middle School.

Since December Charlie Santoro of the police department has implemented a winter basketball program for police officers.

Every Sunday the police officers rent Central Middle school gym for two hours.

"Due to the unique basketball abilities demonstrated by the officers, I found it necessary to seek an opponent. We challenged the firefighters and they accepted," said Santoro.

Bantam B's Win Pair

Quincy's Bantam B team, sponsored by the Rotary Club, won two games and tied one last week to remain undefeated.

Quincy defeated Medfield, 3-1, on goals by Bob Thomas, Brian Taylor and Bob Kane. Kane, Mike McClory, Sean Cappelis, Rob

Carroll and Jon Brosnan had assists.

The team also edged South Boston, 6-5, with Brosnan scoring two goals and Thomas, Hank Miller, Chuck Quigley and Wayne Chambers one each. Taylor had two assists and Kane, Tom Walsh, McClory and Ralph Richardson one each.

Brosnan had two goals and Taylor one in a 3-3 tie with Westwood. Cappelis, Carroll and Brian Kelly had assists. Scott Cunningham was outstanding in goal and Mark Rudinsky played strong defense.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

BUY OR SELL FIRST

QUESTION: Should I sell my present home first and then look for a new one or buy a new one first and then sell my present one?

ANSWER: It makes sense to sell your present home first. The secret, however, is to sell the house under the conditions that the papers will pass and title will be conveyed in, say 90 or 120 days. This way, you avoid the possibility of owning two homes at the same time.

True, it puts you in a position of being forced to buy another home, but this was your intention anyway. With a concerted effort, you should be able to buy the right property in the 90 to 120 days allotted. Plus you'll know exactly how much money will be available for a down payment on a new house.

IF YOU'RE LOOKING to buy a new home, it makes sense to sell your old home first... but build in some protection.

Broadway Director For St. John's Parish Show

St. John's Parish annual musical variety show will be directed by Neil Jones, Broadway director, choreographer, and performer.

The show, which benefits the parish building maintenance and charitable funds will be held April 19 and 20 at Archbishop Williams High School. Parishioners who will be participating in the show are rehearsing Sunday afternoons in St. John's School.

The list of credits of the show's director are many.

Jones has appeared on television as a performer on the Perry Como show, Pincocchio, the lead dancer on Liza with a Z, and a starring role in the First Look.

He has also appeared in educational films for McGraw Hill and as a consultant for Pinewood studios with Peter Sellers. He has also performed in commercials for Arid, Ender and Burger King.

Jones has been artistic director for the M. Harriet McCormack Center for the Arts at the Strand theater in Boston, and director for the off-Broadway revue Four Do Two, the music company of Montreal, and the Neponset Repertory Company's productions, A View From The Bridge and The Rainmaker.

Jones was also the understudy dancer and singer for Barnaby in the hit Broadway show Hello Dolly with Carol Channing. He also had lead singing and dancing parts in other Broadway shows including George, and Promises, Promises. He was assistant stage manager for Henry Sweet Henry and played lead roles in several other hits.

He was assistant director and choreographer for the International Touring Company and its productions of Liza With A Z, Cryano, Manhattan Follies, the First Look which was an N.B.C. series, and Dax Zanos which was featured at the Waldorf Hotel in New York.

Parishioners and interested business firms who may wish to become sponsors of the St. John's show are invited to contact Lola Randall or call the rectory at 773-1021.

Jones said that the show this year will be quite different from past shows and that there will be a number of surprises for the audiences.

'Mother Teresa' Film At St. Joseph's

"The World of Mother Teresa," will be presented at St. Joseph Church, Quincy Point, Monday, Jan. 28, at 7:45 p.m. by the Spiritual Development Committee.

Mother Teresa's "pro-life" philosophy inspired the founding of the congregation of the Missionaries of Charity in Calcutta in 1948. Today, her missionary sisters and brothers continue to endorse the sacredness of human life by opening new houses in slums in more than 25 countries worldwide.

'Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds' To Be Presented At ENC

The Communication Arts Department of Eastern Nazarene College will present "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds" by Paul Zindel tonight (Thursday) through Saturday in the $1.5 million dollar performance center.

"Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds" is directed by senior communication student Joy Oliver, and stars Catherine Ingleland, Bernadine Johnson, and Joanna Rapalje.

Oliver and the cast members have appeared in many of the Communication Arts theatre productions.

The award-winning production is the story of Beatrice Hundsdorfer and her two daughters.

Ruth, the elder daughter, is an epileptic with emotional problems. Tillie, the younger daughter, is an introverted yet gifted child whose interest in Science, Atoms, and the Effects of Gamma Rays on Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds leads her to a deeper understanding of both the world around her, and ultimately, of herself.

Show time will be 7 p.m. in the O'Connell Theatre at the Cove Fine Arts Center, Quincy.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Rual Julia Guest On WJDA's Musical

Rual Julia will be the special guest star on WJDA's Musical Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m.

Julia starred in many movies and won critical acclaim in the Tony winning musical "Nine."

This week's spotlight show stars Doris Day in "Jumbo". The musical also features Jimmy Durante, and a score by Rodgers and Hart.

The show will also highlight the career of composer Johnny Mercer, look at marriage Broadway style and test listeners' musical knowledge with a trivia quiz.

Cerebral Palsy To Hold Las Vegas Night

Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore area will sponsor a Las Vegas night.

Friday Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the Morrisette Post, West Quincy.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: JANUARY 24, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Avoid making snap decisions, especially in matters involving finance and property. Idealistic friend may help you modify your philosophy. Volunteer assignment brings unexpected reward.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Higherups are impressed with the combination of honesty and tact that you offer. In romance, spontaneity is the all-important word. Around the house, avoid cutting corners.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

New strategies require refinement. Neighbors may be unusually curious. You can help a friend overcome a dip in her confidence. If traveling, plan for possible detours.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Workmaking plan is bright but benefits from polish. Romance accents the sentimental side. Changes in routine lead to expanded productivity. Decorating ideas may be too bold.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Diplomacy is current reward. Travel prospects brighten. Changes in immediate environment can provide the inspiration you've been seeking. Career may offer chance for diversification.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Romantic differences are handled on a level that mixes intellect with emotion. Avoid tendency to tackle several major chores simultaneously. Creative writing is a present strength.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Watch tendency to place a friend on too high a pedestal. Research and study - including self-study - are accentuated now. Arts and sports are positively spotlighted.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Thursday Saturday is a lively social time. Starting Sunday, family pressures demand time and perhaps finances. Conflict with partner is resolved when you take the initiative.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Short-range career goals appear in view but this is not the week for impatience. Public speaking is a present strength. Don't underestimate the value of your own advice.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Modest romantic triumph is achieved by the weekend. Financial surprises are of various kinds, but you come out on the credit side of the ledger. Long-distance news requires follow-up.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Conflict at work peaks before the situation improves. Good week for persuading loved one to share travel ideas. Be prepared to bend a few rules. Self-improvement is accentuated.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

A good week for making purchases of a practical nature. New but shaky relationship is stabilizing. Be cautious when making promises. Partnership matters are favorably spotlighted.

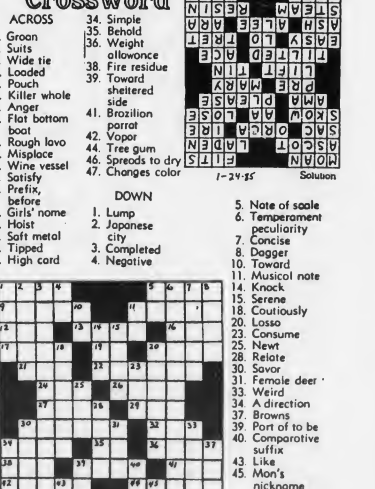

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Independent, idealistic, and an original thinker. On the flip side, you can be rebellious and stubborn. Year ahead features travel, perhaps linked with romance. Domestic obligations are shared, and family ties are strengthened by late '85.

BORN THIS WEEK

January 24th, singer Neil Diamond; 25th, actor Dean Jones; 26th, singer Eartha Kitt; 27th, actress Donna Reed; 28th, actor Paul Newman; 29th, actor John Forsythe; 30th, actress Tammy Grimes.

3 Injured In Quarry St. Accidents

A South Boston woman was injured and a West Quincy man was arrested in a two-car collision at Quarry and Robertson Sts., West Quincy, early Sunday morning.

The traffic signal at 20 Robertson St. was knocked down in the accident and the lack of signal was at least partially responsible for a second accident in which a Hull woman was injured.

In the first accident, Marianne Murphy, 19, of South Boston was taken to Quincy City Hospital where she was held overnight for treatment and released.

Police said Murphy was a passenger in a van driven by John A. Pantano, 27, of 19 Hynes Ave., West Quincy, which was in collision with a car operated by Stephen J. Hawko, 33, of 17 White St., West Quincy.

Pantano was cited for operating under the influence and operating so as to endanger.

Murphy's sister, Donna 21, also of South Boston, was treated and released from the Hospital.

After the two cars collided, police said, one of them ran into a tow truck driven by David F. Kelley, 18, of South Boston, which was towing a car owned by Tracy H. Donovan of 26 Winthrop St., Houghs Neck.

Jolinda Rockett, 37, of Hull was treated and released from Quincy City Hospital after suffering injuries in the second accident about 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Police said her car was in collision with one driven by Earl S. Gingras, 29, of Milton. A chainlink fence at 126 Robertson St. also was damaged.

Ward Team Takes Koch Women Second Half Lead

Mary Ward and her teammates have jumped into an early lead in the Koch Club Women's Bowling League second half season opening with an 8-0 mark.

Barbara Murphy, Debra Koch, Carol Johnson and Debbie Davis follow with 6-2, June Hillier and Maryellen Walsh are 4-4, Debbie Maher and Charlene Josephs are 2-6 and Pat Lawlor is 0-8.

The Debra Koch combine won the first half with 83 wins and 29 losses.

Maryellen Walsh with 103.6, Behind them are Debra Koch, 102.2, June Hillier, 102.0; Debbie Davis, 100.1; Edie Maher, 97.4; Linda Bowes, 97.4; Pat Lawlor, 96.4; Jean Burgess, 95.9, and Nan Fenniman 95.4 round out the top ten.

June Hillier has the best individual three string total of 377, high solo single string of 154 and most strikes with 16. Barbara Murphy leads in spares with 108.

Debra Koch's team holds the high team three string total of 1499 while the Barbara Murphy team has the best team single string of 535.

The Koch Club Women's Bowling League, defending champions of the South Shore Women's Bowling Tourney, will participate in the event again this year.

No. CA 84-2854
EAST WEYMOUTH SAVINGS BANK, Plaintiff v. DAVID J. CLARK and MARGARET A. CLARK, Defendants, Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by David J. Clark and Margaret A. Clark to East Weymouth Savings Bank, a Massachusetts banking corporation, dated May 4, 1984 and recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds in Book 6392, Page 358, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at Public Auction at Eleven O'clock in the Forenoon (11:00 A.M.) on Thursday, January 31, 1985, on the premises before described, being known as 34 Avon Way, Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, and being described as follows, to wit:

The land with the buildings thereon in said Quincy shown as Lots 20 and 20½ on a plan by H. T. Whitman, Surveyor, dated December 1887, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds in Book 804, Page 343, bounded and described as follows:

Southeasterly by Dixwell Avenue in two lines, twenty-seven and 5/10 (77.5) feet and fifteen and 17/100 (15.17) feet;

Westerly by the curve at the junction of Dixwell Avenue and Avon Way, forty-five and 86/100 (45.86) feet;

Northeasterly by Avon Way, twenty-nine and 37/100 (29.37) feet;

Northeasterly by Lot 21, two hundred eighteen and 74/100 (218.74) feet; and Southeasterly by land of J. Brooks Keyes, one hundred thirty-seven and 65/100 (137.65) feet;

Containing together 15,589 square feet.

For prior title see deed of Howard J. Clark et ux. to the within mortgagors, dated March 10, 1980, recorded with Norfolk County Registry of Deeds, Book 5714, Page 20.

The within premises are known as and numbered 34 Avon Way, Quincy, Massachusetts.

The above premises will be sold subject as above and to all outstanding tax titles, municipal or other public taxes, assessments or liens, if any.

THREE THOUSAND and no/100 DOLLARS ($3,000.00) will be required to be paid in cash or by certified check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, as earnest money. The balance is to be paid in cash or by certified check within twenty (20) days thereafter, to be deposited in escrow with KEVIN W. GAUGHEN, ESQUIRE, at 528 Broad Street, East Weymouth, Massachusetts 02189, pending approval of said sale by the Court. Deed is to be taken within ten (10) days from the date of approval of said sale by the Court. Other terms, if any, are to be announced at the sale.

Mayor, Koch Move Against Adult Books, Movies

The Mayor and the City Council took out after dirty books and movies Monday night.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Councilor Richard J. Koch Jr. filed a zoning ordinance change that would ban so-called adult bookstores and motion picture theaters from residential, business and open space areas. They would be permitted in industrial zoned districts by special permit only.

"We have no ordinances governing this right now," said Koch.

"We suggest that the City Council start this on its way to passage right away," said Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie, speaking for Mayor McCauley.

Koch said he knows of no proposal to open an adult bookstore or movie theatre in Quincy at the present time.

The order was sent to the Ordinance Committee, which scheduled a joint hearing with the Planning Board Tuesday, Feb. 19 at 6:30 p.m.

Federal City Aid Cuts Concern Mayors Conference

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says the overriding concern at the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington last week was for possible cuts in Federal aid to the cities.

"The chief concern is where the cuts might be and the magnitude," he said. "It's particularly important to Quincy where we have community development block grant (CDBG) and urban development action grant (UDAG) money."

McCauley said he feels that the thrust of the Reagan Administration is not to cut out programs but to use better business methods and charge more user fees.

"That's what the government should look at instead of cutting programs, especially in Massachusetts where we are restricted by Proposition 2 and one half," he said.

"I feel the voices of the mayors will be heard. The Conference of Mayors plans to hold a continuing dialog with the President and Congress on it."

$35,000 In Jewelry Taken

Adelaide Caristo, 69, of Centre St., South Quincy, reported to police Monday that jewelry valued at $35,000 was stolen from her home while she was attending a wake.

A pocketbook and contents valued at $310 also was taken.

Police said the thief broke the deadlock on a rear door and went straight to an upstairs bedroom where the jewelry was kept. A pillow case was taken, too, apparently to carry the loot.

Tracks in the snow led from the door of the house to McDonald St., police said.

It's Official

Condon In Mayor's Race

By TOM HENSHAW
City Councillor Joanne Condon is running for mayor.

A source close to the campaign told The Quincy Sun that the four-term councillor from Ward 6 definitely would make it official Wednesday night at a party for her supporters at Morrisette Legion Posts.

Condon also has had bumper stickers printed proclaiming her "The People's Mayor," and on Monday she appeared in the Election Office at City Hall to change officially the name of her campaign committee. It was "the Committee to Elect Joanne Condon." It is now "the Committee to Elect Joanne Condon

JOANNE CONDON

Mayor."

The Sun was told that Condon plans to campaign basically on a platform that Mayor Francis X. McCauley is trying to balance the city's budget at the expense of services and the quality of life in the city.

"Joanne believes that there is more to running a city than just balancing the books," said the Sun's campaign source. "The leader of a city like Quincy needs a heart."

She has been one of the leaders in the Council in the thus far unsuccessful struggle with the Mayor to strengthen the Police and Fire Departments and upgrade public safety services in the city.

"Joanne feels that public safety is jeopardized by cutbacks in fire and police personnel and that the McCauley Administration is not giving enough attention to parks, streets, lights and other services," said the source.

"She is also concerned about arbitrary property values that are not fair to seniors and others on fixed incomes. Also the continuing contract disputes with the teachers are having an adverse affect on the youngsters of the city."

"The feedback that we are getting from the people," said the source, "is that McCauley is all right but if

Condon Has $2,811

McCauley Has $32,159.17 War Chest

Mayor Francis X. McCauley starts the campaign year 1985 with a total of $32,159.17 in his war chest—to help finance his bid for a third two-year term in the front office.

His prospective opponent, City Councillor Joanne Condon, has a mere $2,811.37 in the bank.

The figures were filed by the McCauley for Mayor Committee and the Committee to Elect Joanne Condon with the city election office in their reports of financial activities during 1984.

The report is required by law to be filed by Jan. 10.

McCauley's figures show that he started the year with $16,705.71, raised $27,528 and spent $12,234.06 during the 12 months, leaving a balance of $32,159.17.

Condon had $22.78 in campaign funds available as 1984 started; she raised $4,595, spent $1,806.41 and has $2,811.37 left.

It has been estimated that it takes some $75,000 to conduct a successful mayoral campaign in Quincy if the race is strongly contested.

City Councillor James A. Sheets, who has been mentioned as a possible longshot candidate for mayor, reported only $640.37 left in his campaign chest as the year started.

Others who filed, along with their figures, included:

Committee to Elect Stephen J. Durkin, nothing.

Kevin B. Davis, who ran for the City Council from Ward 1 in a special election, $485.75.

Committee to Reelect Richard J. Koch Jr., $1,968.46.

Stephen McGrath Committee, $995.44.

Joseph J. LaRaia Committee, $97.82.

Committee to Elect Theodore P. DeCristofaro, $1,917.70.

Committee to Elect Frank Santoro, nothing.

Frank Anselmo, nothing. Christopher Kennedy, nothing.

Committee to Elect Robert Johnston, $213.11.

Smith Personnel Director Hansen Named Asst. Solicitor

City Personnel Director Donald W. Hansen has been named assistant city solicitor, succeeding Lawrence Cowley, who has not been reappointed.

Hansen's appointment for a one-year term is effective Monday Feb. 4.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley also announced the appointment of David Smith, son of former school committeeman and city auditor Alexander Smith, as personnel director.

McCauley said his failure to reappoint Cowley had nothing to do with his performance on the job.

"Don Hansen is now a lawyer," he said. "He applied for the job of town counsel in Weymouth, I felt that unless I got him into a legal position I'd lose him to someone else."

Cowley, a holdover from the administration of Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, was reappointed three times by McCauley.

Smith, a science teacher in the Quincy school system for the past 14 years who lives at 25 Murihead St., Wollaston, is also secretary of the Quincy Education Association.

The QEA is currently at odds with McCauley over a new teachers' contract. The old one expired Aug. 31.

Smith is a graduate of Eastern Nazarene College with a masters in urban education from Boston State and the University of Massachusetts.

He is married to the former Doreen Hassell and they have three children.

Smith's late father served on the School Committee and as city auditor from 1950 to 1975.

Hansen, who lives in Weymouth, will continue as the city's equal opportunity officer, said McCauley, although Smith will eventually take over that sensitive job.

Hansen was appointed personnel director in July, 1982, and expanded the functions of the office, which has authority for personnel in over 35 departments and 1,100 city employees.

He was graduated from Suffolk University Law School in 1983 and is a member of the Massachusetts and Federal bars.

Refurbishing Planned For Liberty Park

City Councillor James A. Sheets says he hopes to settle a neighborhood dispute in time to refurbish Liberty Park in South Quincy and rededicate it sometime in the late spring or early summer.

The park, between Liberty and Trafford Sts., contains a granite memorial to South Quincy men who died in the service of their country in World War II.

"The monument will be cleaned and repaired," said Sheets. "We hope to restore it to a nice appearance and restore some of the meaning of it."

The dispute that has been holding things up centers around the monument, or more specifically around the shrubbery that has grown up around it.

"When the park was refurbished eight years ago," said Sheets, "they planted new shrubbery around it. Now some of it has grown so tall that it hides the monument."

WAS MEMORIAL in Liberty Park, South Quincy, is viewed by City Councillor James A. Sheets, who hopes to have the park refurbished in time for a spring dedication. (Quincy Sun photo by Charles Flagg)

One group of neighbors wants to cut the shrubbery; another group wants it left up.

"I intend to have one or two neighborhood meetings in the next four or five weeks to resolve some discrepancies in what the people want to do with it."

Sheets said it will cost some $15,000 to $20,000 to refurbish the park and the money has already been set aside in Community Development Block Grant funds because the park is a target area.

"I hope all the work will be done in time for a dedication in late spring or early summer," said Sheets.

It is planned to hold a South Quincy Day in conjunction with the dedication, during which the area will be closed off to traffic for what Sheets called "an old fashioned neighborhood day."

Sheets said he plans to inform the people of "what direction we are going" at the seventh annual South Quincy Reunion dinner dance at the Bryan VFW Post on March 9.

The monument replaced the old glass and wood World War II Memorial honor roll containing the names of more than 900 men and women from South Quincy who served their country in that war.

McCauley To Review 1986 Budget Requests

Mayor Francis X. McCauley plans to start reviewing the fiscal 1986 budget requests of his department heads starting tomorrow (Friday).

The requests of 13 department will be heard tomorrow from 9:15 a.m. to 12 noon and another 13 will be taken up Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

"I asked them to come in with level-funded budgets," said the Mayor. "Some of the areas are not level-funded. Those department heads will be asked to justify their requests."

After Saturday, said McCauley, the only departments remaining to be reviewed will be Public Works, Police, Fire, Retirement and Data Processing.

The Mayor said he had not yet looked at the Police and Fire budgets but he expected Fire Chief Edward Barry would put in for the amount of personnel he wanted, and Police Chief Francis Finn would level-fund the budget and add a letter asking for more people.

"They did that last year and I cut out those beyond what I had requested," he said. He did not say what he would do this year if either public safety head asked for more men.

Cheney Opposes Revived MDC Sewer Pipe Line Plan

The MDC will conduct a public meeting Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 7:30 p.m. in St. Boniface Church Hall, Germantown, to present a proposal to construct a new 62-inch sewer pipe line across Germantown.

The proposed pipe line will connect with the Braintree-Weymouth Pumping Station in Adams Shore and is similar to a proposal that was shot down by Germantown residents two years ago.

"Once again they wish to press forward with this project," said City Councillor Michael Cheney. "Any of the proposed options would have an irreversible and detrimental impact on not only the Germantown-Houghs Neck communities but on the entire bay area."

The range of options include tearing up nearly the full length of Palmer St. or digging a 16-foot wide trench through the marshland between Germantown, Houghs Neck and Adams Shore.

"Once again we must turn out in numbers to demonstrate to the MDC that we will not tolerate any further adverse disruption in the quality of life in our community for the sake of accommodating additional sewerage of the other 20 communities in the Southern Sewer District," said Cheney.

Cheney said the proposed new sewer pipe will ultimately add an additional 13.2 million gallons a day to the already overburdened Nut Island Treatment Plant.

Board Continues Handshakes Request

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board would like to give them a fair shake, but the owners of Handshakes Cafe won't be able to start supplying Nu-Wave Aerobics with juices and other items until at least next week.

The board voted Tuesday to continue, to Feb. 5, the request from the restaurant at 1354 Hancock St. for a common victualer license for Nu-Wave Aerobics & Fitness, 1569 Hancock St., both in Quincy Sq.

The board requested that Handshakes owner Timothy Cahill return next week with Kenneth Fallon Jr., executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, and a representative of the fitness center for more discussion.

Cahill explained to the board that Handshakes was approached by the fitness center to take over the juice bar and sell items such as shakes, fruit juices, salads, quiche and muffins.

The items would be made at Handshakes Cafe and transported to the fitness center, said Cahill, who added that hours would be 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

He said that since Handshakes currently delivers food to parts of Quincy Sq., he would like to be able to sell to the public at the fitness center.

Board members such as Allan MacDonald objected to that part of the request, saying the board granted Nu Wave permission to serve to its members only.

"Another restaurant shouldn't go there," said MacDonald, who pointed out that there is limited parking in the area.

Cahill indicated he would consider amending his request to so that only members of the fitness center could be served.

City Clerk John Gillis, who is board chairman, pointed out that Handshakes, which recently moved from 8 Granite St. has a good track record and is owned by three young Quincy men.

"They've done a good job," said Gillis. "If we can give them a chance, we should."

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at its meeting Tuesday at City Hall:

- Denied a request from Joannis Koutsis and Valentina Koutsis of Norwood for a common victualer license for Valentine's, 150 Parking-way.

AIR CONDITIONER PARTS

AAA Appliance Parts Co.
288-2928

UPS 1 DAY DELIVERY

City Clerk John Gillis said the request was denied because the applicants failed three times to appear at hearings.

- Continued to Feb. 5 a hearing regarding a motorist (used car) license at Karl's Auto Body, Inc., 65 Holbrook Rd., Wollaston.

The board's joint inspection team was to investigate conditions at the business.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Woodward School to be used conjunction with a Las Vegas Night Saturday, March 2, 7 p.m. to midnight at the school, Quincy Center.

- Continued for three months a hearing regarding a lodging house at 25 Shaw St., Quincy Point.

Police Chief Francis Finn told owner Robert McManus that he will not have to appear before the board after three months if there have been no problems at the lodging house.

- Agreed to request that Piccarini Auto Sales, 24 Raymond St., appear at the Feb. 26 meeting regarding conditions at the premises.

Unions To Confer With Sheets Over 'Parity Agreements'

Representatives of city employee unions, deadlocked with the McCauley administration over new contracts, plan to meet with Council President James A. Sheets tomorrow (Friday) to discuss the legality of "parity agreements."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley told The Quincy Sun a few weeks ago that he might reopen the contracts of two unions that settled for 3 and 4 per cent raises and give them the same raises that may be won by other unions.

That, says John Keefe, president of the Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union, is a "parity agreement," which has been ruled illegal by the State Labor Commission.

"It is illegal to tear up a signed contract and give more money if the unions who settle later get more," he said. "It is clearly unfair to the unions that are out there fighting for more money."

The settled contracts have already been funded by the City Council and the union heads want to convince Sheets that the Council should not approve supplemental funding if the contracts are reopened.

Sheets said he plans to meet with the union people "and get a definition of what they are saying. I don't know if the Council is in any position to do anything. The Mayor's office negotiates contracts."

McCauley disputed Keefe's contention that his informal promise to reopen the contract is a "parity agreement."

"Parity bargaining is illegal," he said. "But pattern bargaining, which we have been doing, is not. We are trying to set a pattern for the individual unions by offering the same amount of money."

McCauley noted that one of the city unions did have a parity clause in an earlier contract, negotiated before the mayor, "but it was negotiated out last year because it was illegal."

Six union leaders appeared at the Mayor's office Monday afternoon to present, said Mary Curtin, president of the Quincy Education Association, letters from members indicating the wage offer is unacceptable.

They failed in their attempt to see the Mayor.

"They had not asked for an appointment and I was tied up," said McCauley. "I reviewed the letters and I understand that the individuals are not happy. I have no other comment."

The union leaders presented the letters to the mayor's secretary, Nancy Pistorino. There were, said Curtin, between 600 and 800 of them.

They waited in the Mayor's outer office for 25 minutes before administrative assistant Arthur Foley came out to tell them that the Mayor does not negotiate directly with unions.

Union leaders present at the confrontation were Curtin, Keefe, Amy D'Olimpio of the teachers' aides, Donald King of the School Custodians, Donald Austin of the School maintenance people, and Kathleen McCormick of the librarians.

William Barron of the Fire fighters union did not appear and it was reported that David Doherty of the police union had resigned as president "for personal reasons." Doherty was not available for comment.

Plan For New Hospital Draws City Council Ire

The Board of Managers and angry neighbors of Quincy City Hospital appeared to make some progress Monday night in their effort to iron out difference over a proposed new hospital.

But the plans also appeared to have run into a snag in the form of several city councilors who indicated they would not approve the financing of construction unless there is some community input.

"It occurs to me that there has been an abuse of the public," said Councilor John J. Lydon, whose Ward 3 includes the hospital, the most militant of the councilors.

"Clearly, a process that excludes public comment prior to an arrival at a final design is abusive," he said in a prepared statement read to the Board of Managers.

"Clearly, a public process that results in an inflexible design is abusive. Clearly a process and a design which does not take into account the environment is abusive.

"For a public board to be inflexible is unforgivable."

Lydon said he had no desire to block the eventual construction of a new hospital.

"I believe a new facility is needed," he said. "But only a facility that can be accomplished in cooperation and sensitivity to both the community and the due process required of all public construction projects."

Lydon told the Board of Managers that he plans to use his position as a councilor "to block all activity required until such a time that the design concerns of the neighborhood are realized."

Meanwhile, the Board agreed to delete one floor from a planned seven-story patient tower and move a proposed 20-bed psychiatric unit to a section of the hospital complex away from residential areas.

Councilors - James A. Sheets, Joanne Condon and Stephen J. McGrath indicated that they agreed with Lydon.

The changes were asked by the Colonial Heritage Neighborhood Association, which represents residents of the area.

Lydon Asks Environmental Report On New Hospital Plan

City Councilor John J. Lydon Jr. has asked the State Executive Office of Environmental Affairs to require an environmental impact report before a new Quincy City Hospital is built.

"My concerns relate to the massing of the main tower next to a residential area and its ability to block sunlight and disturb wind patterns," said Lydon in a letter to Samuel Myagatt, executive director of the EOE.

"In previous plans, the structure had been more remotely located on the site. I also have concerns for drainage, as this area contains much ledge and traditionally had significant problems."

He said that the only way these and other environmental issues can be addressed is through an environmental impact report.

"I support the upgrading of the hospital," he said.

"However, I believe that neither the representatives of the hospital nor the design have displayed sensitivity to the neighborhood which is imperative in this public process."

Reader's Forum Seeks Info On Glenn Miller At Quincy Armory

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am respectfully requesting your readers to help me with regards to some research I am at work on. Please allow me to explain.

This past December the entertainment world remembered and paid tribute to the 40th anniversary of the disappearance of band-leader Glenn Miller.

Although I am not of the era, I am a great admirer of this American musician. My interest is not of recent origin having heard his recordings as a boy in our home.

Currently I am compiling, in book form, an appreciation of the Miller saga. A copy of my publisher's letter is enclosed for your inspection. In wanting to make the book as personal as possible, I would like to invite reader response from those who saw the Miller Orchestra at the following:

May 21, 1940, Quincy Armory and/or other New England locations.

Miller's was essentially a New England band as he operated out of the Boston area until he became nationally popular. Personal insights, reminiscences and facets would be greatly appreciated. Credit will be given to those individuals.

"Those Good Ole Days"

Editor, The Quincy Sun: Remember the good ole days when people were more congenial; neighbors more pleasing. Remember when everyone would be helping each other when the need existed. Well where did it all go? What's happened to America's backyard neighbors, and those over the fence conversations.

Has the sophistication of Society changed those good ole days? What happened to the idea of borrowing a cup of sugar from your neighbor? Why is it everytime we cut another car off in traffic we scream and make facial and other gestures at the other driver, when in actuality it was our fault and not theirs? Where has all the courtesy gone?

What has happened to the American people. Has the economy tightened up on both our wallets and our laughter at the same time? Does money actually bring happiness or is happiness created and maintained from within the individual? Think about it. "Those Good Ole Days."

Quinn Third Mayoral Candidate?

Incumbent Francis McCauley and Joanne Condon are definitely in this year's mayoral race.

City Council President James Sheets and City Clerk John Gillis are out.

But there is still a possibility that it could turn into a three-way battle.

The third candidate? John J. Quinn. Maybe.

The former councillor at-large has been approached by a number of people urging him to run.

"I'm flattered," he says.

And, at this point, that's all.

But he admits he is "doing a little thinking about it."

"Oh, I'm looking at the positives and the negatives of it," he adds.

"You might say, I'm exploring it."

Quinn, who is a Blue Cross Blue Shield executive, holds the city's political longevity record.

He served 24 consecutive years in the City Council from 1957 to 1981 when he lost his final re-election bid.

No one else has served as long in any elective office in Quincy's history.

The fact that the mayor's job is now full-time is no obstacle to Quinn if he should decide to run. He is eligible for retirement this year when he reaches 62.

Quinn has always pulled a good vote even with an easy going campaign style.

There were times he may have coasted a little too much along the campaign trail when he should have been, say, a little more vigorous. He seldom campaigned during the preliminary election, then would pick up steam for the final election.

It may have cost him that final re-election bid. But if he went into a mayor's race at open throttle he would be a candidate to contend with.

QUINN

If he decided not to enter the mayoral ring, would he consider another run for councillor at-large?

"I don't know," he says.

"Probably not but then...."

JOHN WALSH of Surfside Lane, Squantum will definitely seek the Ward 6 City Council seat being vacated by Joanne Condon to run for mayor.

Friends say he is holding off on an official announcement until after Condon officially announces she is running for mayor.

Walsh, a partner in a small consulting firm is also a law student at the New England School of Law.

And, he has been around the political circuit serving as manager of Ron Iacobucci's council at-large campaign two years ago.

OUR PET PEEVE here last week about people who steal parking spaces marked for the handicapped came up for discussion at a recent meeting of the Quincy Council on Aging.

We criticized those people who sneak into marked spaces (like those at supermarkets)—backing in so their non HP license plates can't be easily seen.

Council on Aging members agreed with us on that and also cited motorist who parked along sidewalk curb cut-outs reserved for the handicapped who use wheelchairs.

The City Council, incidentally, has under consideration a proposed ordinance that would hike the penalty for such violations from $10 to $50.

The Council on Aging and the Mayor's Commission on the Handicapped favor that tougher ordinance. To which we'll add our vote.

Self Defense For Elderly Program To Be Held Feb. 7

The Mayor's commission on the status of women will sponsor a free discussion and demonstration of self defense for the elderly

Thursday, Feb. 7.

The program will be held in the auditorium of 1000 Southern Artery, at 7 p.m. The program will be presented by Kathy Hoffman of the Sunchin Women's Karate School, Cambridge.

Miss Hoffman has been teaching karate to women for five years.

Her program will cover

many basic ways of defending one's self by attitude, common sense and action.

Purpose of the program will be to encourage confidence and self assurance when faced with a hostile situation.

College Assn Commends Harold Scholarship Efforts

The Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts (AICUM) has commended State Senator Paul D. Harold for his part in "the dramatic increase in state scholarships for Massachusetts students who need help."

John Duff, chancellor of the state Board of Regents and Frank Tredinnick, Jr.,

president of AICUM, said that thanks to the efforts of legislators like Harold, the state is now providing $50 million in financial aid to students.

According to an analysis by the State Scholarship Service, 906 students in Senator Harold's district received scholarships totaling $812,185 in 1983.

Commission's Corner

The Commission on the Status of Women will host a program, "Self-defense for the Elderly" Thursday, Feb. 7, at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of 1000 Southern Artery.

This is a timely subject and one not often addressed. Kathy Hoffman of the Sunchin Woman's Karate School will do the presentation. She has been teaching karate for five years. Everyone is welcome to attend.

On March 4, at the Quincy Historical Society there will be a program on Women in History.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Mgr.

COMPARABLE PRICING

QUESTION: How important is the relative value of other homes in the same neighborhood to the future value of a home?

ANSWER: Very! It is generally best - in terms of long-term values - if all homes in given neighborhood are in the same price range. Professional real estate appraisers have this theory on the neighborhood's influence on home prices: A home will tend to go up in value if other homes around it are more expensive. It will tend to go down in market value if other homes in the area are in lower price range. I should also note that this is a good selling point if your home is for sale and is priced below the average for your neighborhood.

A HOME WILL TEND TO GO UP IN VALUE IF MOST OF THE HOMES AROUND IT ARE MORE EXPENSIVE.

there is a choice they will want to make it. We don't find many McCauley fans out there."

McCauley, who was first elected Mayor in 1981 and was reelected unopposed in 1983, has not yet announced for a third term but such an announcement is expected within a short time.

Condon, who describes himself as "a conservative Democrat," will be the third woman to run for Mayor in Quincy. None of the previous candidates were successful.

Grace Saphir challenged Mayor Walter J. Hannan in 1973 and lost by 5,000 votes in 25,000 cast. She tried again in 1975 and failed to survive the preliminary election.

Earlier, Mrs. Rita Anderson ran in 1971 and managed to attract only 737 votes out of nearly 23,000 cast in the preliminary election.

Condon, a Democrat and a woman, presents a stark contrast to McCauley, who is a Republican and a man, in a city where Democrats outnumber Republicans, 30,802 to 6,191, and women voters outnumber men, 26,387 to 19,913.

However, city elections are conducted on a non-partisan basis and some of McCauley's strongest supporters, notably Sen. Paul, D. Harold, are Democrats.

Condon, who is 44 years old and lives at 175 Quincy Shore Drive, North Quincy, first came to public attention as founder and president of the "Atlantic Neighborhood Association." She was an administrative assistant in the Quincy Community Action Program when she first ran for the City Council in 1977, seeking the Ward 6 seat being vacated by Dennis E. Harrington.

She defeated four other candidates in the preliminary balloting and then whipped Walter J. Hickey, 2,809 to 2,329, in the general election.

She was reelected in 1979 over Michael J. Kelly by 2,187 to 1,651, had a free ride with no opposition in 1981, and turned back Mary Collins, 2,241 to 860, in 1983. Collins quit the race before the final election.

A graduate of North Quincy High School in 1957, she attended Quincy Junior College.

She is past president of the Catholic Women's Club of North Quincy, a member of the South Shore Women's Political Caucus and a former member of the Boston College High School Mothers' Guild, the Fontbonne Mothers' Guild and the Sacred Heart PTA.

She has three children, Christopher, Susan and Michael.

Quincy's Yesterdays

By Tom Henshaw

Ross Blames Burgin For Snow Removal Foulup

Mayor Charles A. Ross blamed the traffic jams that tied up Quincy's transportation system during the late January snow storms on two years of shortsightedness on the part of the outgoing administration of former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin.

He also pointed out that Burgin appointees, including Public Works Commissioner Ezekiel C. Sargent, had been in office at the time of the storms.

Ross was particularly critical of the covered Sanitary Department trucks that had been purchased two years before at a cost of some $45,000.

"These so-called 'white trucks' should be called white elephants," he said. "They are virtually useless during a snow storm for snow plows cannot be attached to them and they are inefficient for snow removal."

"Not only are they useless for snow work but they are inefficient for sanitary work and they are always in need of repair."

SQUARE NAMES

Past Commander John B. Powers, speaking for the Quincy Veterans Council, asked the City Council to discontinue the practice of naming street intersections in the city after Quincy men who have died in the service of their country.

"We are confronted with a serious situation," he said. "We are engaged in the largest war in the history of wars. Before it is over more Quincy youths will be killed than in all the other wars combined."

Powers pointed out that most of the important squares in the city have already been named for men killed in action and, after the present war is over, there will not be enough squares left to name in honor of Quincy's dead.

BLACK MARKET IN MEAT

Clarence L. Darrow, the city food inspector, charged that a black market in meat, "where you can get choice cuts of beef if you pay a little more and know the right person" in defiance of OPA rules, was flourishing in Quincy.

The cost of beef on the black market, he said, is as much as 10 cents a pound extra.

FIRST CASUALTY

The Navy confirmed the death in action on Dec. 10, 1941, of Ralph J. Gioncardi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gioncardi of 85 Franklin St., South Quincy, who was previously reported missing. He became the first Quincy boy to die in the war.

ABSENTEEISM HURTS

Kimball Sturtevant of the Independent Union of Fore River Workers reported that absenteeism among Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway bus drivers was causing hundreds of defense workers to either miss or be late for work.

Secretary's Aid Sought For Shipyard Tanker Contract

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly has written to Navy Secretary John Lehman asking his "personal consideration" in obtaining at least one $174.2 million contract for General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard to build fleet oil tankers for the Navy.

Congress has appropriated $522 million to build three of the tankers and award of contracts are expected to be announced soon. Four are already under construction at the Avondale Shipyard in Louisiana.

"Award of the program to the Quincy Shipbuilding Division will sustain a large skilled workforce at the yard," said Donnelly, "and insure Quincy's capability to compete for future Navy auxiliary amphibious ship construction programs."

Donnelly said he was impressed by the success of the maritime prepositioning ship (MPS) construction program at Fore River and he noted that the company has invested substantial resources in modernizing its facilities.

"But the most highly prized asset of the Quincy Shipbuilding Division is its dedicated, experience workforce," he said. "They are professionals who take great pride in a job well done."

"The skills they have refined while building the MPSs will be put to work immediately on turning out T-AO fleet oilers for the Navy."

McCauley Says Nursing Home Fire 'Properly Handled'

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, after conferring with city official involved, has come to the conclusion that the fire at the Merrymount Manor Nursing home "was properly handled by those who participated."

"The incident was not a disaster but an emergency situation," the Mayor told news conference. "Fire Chief Edward Barry was the senior city official in charge of the fire scene."

"Contrary to newspaper reports, there is no written evacuation plan to cover this type of situation. The Fire Chief had to take action as he saw fit. Chief Barry exercised good judgement in taking the course of action that he did."

McCauley said, however, he was concerned that he was not personally notified of the fire until after he saw it on the 10 p.m. news on television.

"I am also concerned that quicker action was not taken to relocate the five patients that were kept at the Civil Defense headquarters for approximately 14 hours," he said.

The Mayor said Quincy City Hospital fulfilled its part in the response to the fire incident by sending a team of doctors and nurses to the scene to evaluate the patients medically. Only four were admitted to the hospital.

"All branches of city government worked well," he said.

McCauley said he plans to send deputy Civil Defense Director Anthony Siciliano to visit nursing homes and senior citizen complexes in the city to inspect their written plans for evacuation in an emergency.

He defined a disaster as "an occurrence inflicting widespread destruction and distress," and an emergency as "a situation or occurrence of a serious nature, developing suddenly and unexpectedly and demanding immediate action."

The fire at Merrymount Manor on Jan. 16, in which 24 patients were evacuated, was an emergency situation, he said.

Age On Children's Photos Extended To 5

Our Sun-shine kids are a hit.

Last week. The Sun began publishing photos of youngsters up to three years of age. The edition had hardly reached the street when we started getting calls from readers asking: "Why limit the age to only up to three? Why not extend the age limit?"

So, we are -- up to age 5.

If you are the proud parents of a new baby or a youngster up to five years old, share him or her with fellow Quincy Sun readers.

Both professional and amateur photos--posed and candid--are eligible. Black and white photos are preferred but color photos will be accepted depending on whether the color can be properly adapted to black and white.

Those submitting photos should give the name and age of the child and the name and address of the parents, and grandparents. (Exact addresses will be withheld if you prefer.)

Please type or print the names.

The photos may be picked up at The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., after they appear in print.

Your family, neighbors and friends will get a kick out of seeing your pride and joy in The Sun.

So will all our readers.

Toodie's jewelry Concepts
by Howard Jacobson

REMODELING
Have you ever looked into your jewelry box and wondered what to do with odd pieces? Perhaps it would make sense to consider "remodeling." For instance, have you lost one precious earring but still have the other? Ask a jeweler to make it into a stick pin, a tie tack or a ring. This way, old pearl, diamond and gold pieces can be rescued and worn every day. Is there an antique watch or buckle that is never used? Ask your jeweler about attaching a fastener to its back. The resulting piece will be a handsome brooch that will be particularly smart looking for business wear.

You know you don't need a special occasion or a reason (a quarrel, etc.) to buy a special gift for your loved one. You just have to have confidence in your jeweler to show you the kind of pieces you want and within your price range. Even though Valentine's Day is close by TOODIE'S FINE JEWELRY specializes in offering "love-ly" pieces at all times. An especially popular item is a 14k gold heart engraved with a "meaningful message. We do it all for you at 1163 Hancock St., and offer you prices the Jewelers' Building in Boston can't beat. Obituaries

Veronica Nagle, 92, Mother Of City Councillor

A funeral Mass for Veronica (Downey) Nagle, 92, of Quincy, mother of Quincy City Councillor Patricia M. Toland, was held Monday in St. Gregory's Church, Dorchester.

Mrs. Nagle died Jan. 24 in Carney Hospital, Dorchester, after a short illness.

She had lived in Quincy for two years.

Born in Boston, she was former commissioner of child welfare for that city.

She worked in the office of the mayor for 30 years and was commissioner of child welfare in the administration of former Boston Mayor John B. Hynes.

Mrs. Nagle also served under Maurice Tobin when he was mayor and governor. She retired from the mayor's office in 1972.

Wife of the late Patrick F.X. Nagle, she is also survived by another daughter, Marie Egan of Dorchester; a sister, Margaret M. O'Connor of Quincy; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

She was also the mother of the late Paul Nagle.

Funeral arrangements were by John Molloy Funeral Home, 1126 Hancock St., Dorchester.

Burial was in Old Calvary Cemetery, Boston.

Alice C. Morrissey, 89

A funeral Mass for Alice C. (Collins) Morrissey, 89, of North Quincy, was held Monday in Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. Morrissey died at home Jan. 24.

Born in Boston, she had lived in Quincy since 1920.

Wife of the late Patrick F. Morrissey, she is survived by three sons, Richard F. Morrissey of Quincy, Paul J. Morrissey of Holbrook and Arthur H. Morrissey of Andover; 15 grandchildren; eight great grandchildren and a niece, Helen Tobin of Squantum.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Donations may be made to the Sacred Heart Church Building Fund, 386 Hancock St., North Quincy, 02171.

Richard M. Morrissey, 65, Dee Dee's Restaurant Owner

A funeral Mass for Richard M. "Dee Dee" Morrissey, 65, of Quincy, owner of Dee Dee's Restaurant on Newport Ave., will be held Friday at 10:30 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Morrissey died Monday at Mt. Auburn Hospital, Cambridge, after a long illness.

He was one of the first members appointed to the Quincy Park and Recreation Board when it was reorganized in 1962.

Mr. Morrissey held that post until 1968 and served as chairman part of that time.

Former Mayor Arthur Tobin appointed Morrissey as his representative on the board when it expanded seven to nine members in the mid 1970s.

He was also a former member of the Conservation Commission.

During World War II, he served as a sergeant with the Marine Corps, and was a member of Carlson's Raiders.

Mr. Morrissey formerly owned the Morrissey Club, a semi-professional football team in Quincy.

He saved a 12-year-old South Boston boy from drowning in Houghton's Pond, Milton, in 1958.

The Wollaston Business and Professional Association, of which he was a member, presented a citation to him.

He is survived by his wife, Lucinda (Costa) Morrissey; two sons, Richard Morrissey of Braintree and Brian Morrissey of Hingham; two daughters, Cindy Morrissey of Tahoe City, Calif., and Diane Morrissey of Braintree; two brothers, John Morrissey of Quincy and Walter Morrissey of Newport, R.I.

He was also the brother of the late Frank Morrissey.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. yesterday (Wednesday) and 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. today (Thursday) at Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Burial will be in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Donations may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Amory Waite, 82, Antarctic Explorer

A memorial service will be held Saturday, Feb. 2, at 11 a.m. in the Robert Brown Funeral Home, Eatontown, N.J., for Amory H. (Bud) Waite, the former Wollaston man who accompanied Admiral Richard E. Byrd to the Antarctic in the 1930s.

Waite, an explorer, scientist and inventor in his own right, died Jan. 15 in Venice, Fla., at the age of 82.

Waite was one of the three men who rescued Byrd when the admiral disappeared while on a one-man trip across the Antarctic to establish a weather station. He was chief electrician of the expedition.

He was in charge of four Signal Corps Arctic Study programs and he was awarded the Byrd Congressional Medal and the Exceptional Meritorious Award for Civilian Service. A section of Burke Island in the Antarctica was named Cape Waite in his honor.

He was credited with inventing a radio technique for measuring deep ice by relaying a radiowave picture of snow, ice and land to a depth of 10,000 feet.

Waite leaves his wife, Elizabeth Waite; three daughters, Patricia Malone of Georgia, Susan Richards of New Jersey and Jacqueline Bigelow of Westwood; two sisters, including Alice Pederson of Wollaston and two brothers.

Michael Golub, 57, Vo-Tech Assistant Director

Funeral services for Michael Golub, 57, assistant director of Quincy Vocational School, were held Sunday at Schlossberg-Goldman-Solomon Memorial Chapel.

Mr. Golub died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital.

Josephine M. Zottoli, 95, Garden Club Member

A funeral Mass for Josephine M. (Spera) Zottoli, 95, of Quincy, a member of the Germantown Garden Club, was held Monday in St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mrs. Zottoli died Jan. 25, in Quincy City Hospital after a short illness.

She had lived in Quincy for 70 years.

Born in New Haven, Conn., she had also lived in Braintree for 17 years.

Wife of the late Anthony M. Zottoli, she is survived by two daughters, Clara Constanza and Kay Hansen, both of Quincy; three sisters, Palma Spera and Caroline Altobelli, both of Braintree, and Rose Cerasulo of Saugus; 12 grandchildren; 25 great grandchildren and five great-great grandchildren.

She was also the mother of the late Arthur A. Zottoli and Robert A. Zottoli.

Funeral arrangements were by Leo J. McMaster and Son Funeral Home, 86 Franklin St., Braintree. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Donations in her memory may be made to St. John's Building Fund, 21 Gay St., Quincy, MA 02169.

Jennie Maggiani, 96

A funeral Mass for Jennie (Solar) Maggiani, 96, of Quincy, was held Monday in St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mrs. Maggiani died Saturday at her home. She was a life long Quincy resident.

Wife of the late Kino J. Maggiani, retired owner of the former Superior Oil Co., she also leaves a son, Alfred Maggiani of Quincy; three daughters, Leonora Sisti of Florida, Cara Benedini of Milford and Priscilla "Pat" Maggiani of Quincy; nine grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Boela-Buonfiglio Funeral Home, 116 Franklin St.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WIFE

One of the most precious of human faculties is memory. In a sense we are all ruled by our memories. It is also true that we can choose which of our memories are to rule us.

These memories can be painful or they can bring joy. Some people have long memories. They cherish grudges for a whole lifetime. They remember unpleasant things inflicted by others. They remember unwise and hateful words spoken in anger to someone loved, or thoughtless acts which hurt unnecessarily. . . . Others, too, have long memories. But these memories are joyful and pleasant. They remember with gratitude a favor done in an hour of need. They look back with fond memory upon the support given when the burden of life seemed almost unbearable. They remember with joy the happy events that have happened in their lives.

Memory is given to us for a purpose. It involves the accumulation of experience and therefore enables us to approach the problems of life with an assurance that would be impossible if we could not call to our aid the resources of memory.

Let us remember that memory is a God-given gift. The capacity to forget is also a gift when the things that need to be forgotten are bitter to the taste and incapable of being remedied. . . . Let us make remembrances a blessing instead of a burden. . .

'Explosions Of Light' Sermon At Bethany

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, Feb. 3, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and the 10 a.m. sanctuary service.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon entitled "Explosions of Light" based on a portion of Jesus' sermon on the mount, Matthew 5:10-16.

Reading the scriptures at the chapel service will be Marion Lockwood and at the sanctuary service, Sandra Jones. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will assist in leading the liturgy and celebrating the Communion.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist will sing the offertory anthem, "Praise We God, The Father's Name," composed by Ieland Sateren.

The service will also be broadcast over South Shore radio station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape. Reading the communion commentary during the broadcast will be Russell D. Hodgkins, Sr.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The Senior High Class, ninth through 12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples, Jr.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m., there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor with coffee and light refreshments.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

The annual auction will take place at Bethany in the downstairs social hall Friday, Feb. 1. Viewing of items will begin at 6 p.m.; the auction will begin at 7 p.m. The auction is open to the public.

For the information about Bethany's ministry and programs, contact the church office, 479-7300.

Fr. William Walsh To Be Pastor At Lowell Church

The Rev. William D. Walsh, chaplain at Quincy City Hospital and assistant at St. John's Church, Quincy Center, will be transferred Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Fr. Walsh will become pastor of St. Peter's Parish, Lowell.

He served as chaplain at the hospital and at five nursing homes, as well as at St. John's for almost seven years.

Upon his assignment in Quincy, Fr. Walsh said he aimed to "help patients feel valued, important and loved...in a situation where it is easy to feel less than a person in an illness that strips him of strength, body control, privacy, and places him in a dependent situation.

He said he thought of himself as "being a sign of God's caring concern to help a patient retain pride, hope and self-respect."

Fr. Walsh was previously assigned to St. Margaret's Parish, Dorchester, as an associate pastor, and to St. John's Bridgewater.

He was ordained in 1966 after finishing his studies at John's Seminary.

St. John's weekly bulletin stated this week, "We are saddened at the departure of Fr. Walsh from St. John's."

"We know he will be a great asset to St. Peter's in Lowell because of his priestly character and vast experience."

"We wish Fr. Walsh well, and many more fruitful years in the priesthood. St. John's loss is St. Peter's gain."

Sermon In The Play At Squantum Church

The sermon came in the form of a play Sunday morning during the guitar service at the First Church of Squantum.

The play, which was part of a sermon entitled "Peer Pressure, You and God," was performed by Susan Scott, Robert Dixey and church pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott provided the music for the service with their guitars. Melissa Stanos and Kim Olsen were ushers. Lori Ogilvie was in charge of refreshments.

The sermon during the second service was called, "Vision on the Mountain." Hymns sung were "Ancient Days, Who Sitest Throned in Glory," "Fairest Lord Jesus," "All Hail The Power of Jesus' Name" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

The Chancel Choir sang "Praise to the Lord" as arranged by Herbert Sanders.

This Sunday, there will be only one service for everyone in the congregation.

The morning will begin with an all-church breakfast served by the young people of the church at 9:15 a.m. The Lord's Supper will be observed at the service which will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Persons who would like to attend the breakfast are urged to make reservations by calling Hazel Wayne at 328-4367.

Mass, Speaker Feb. 6 At St. Mary's Church

The parents of Catholic elementary school students in Quincy are invited to participate in a special event Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

According to Mrs. Irene M. Marcoux, principal of St. Mary's School, the evening will begin with a covelebrated Mass. Pastors of the city's Catholic churches are invited.

Mass will be followed by a guest speaker, Sr. Margaret Gorman, R.S.C.J., an adjunct professor of theology from B.C. and an advisor to the Army and Air Force.

Her topic will be "Helping Children to Grow Morally." A question and answer period will follow.

Refreshments will be served in Mullarkey Hall.

The event will take place during Catholic School Week, Feb. 3 to 9, which has as its theme, "Sharing Visions and Teaching Values."

St. Joseph School To Celebrate Catholic Schools Week

Along with the three other Catholic Schools in Quincy, St. Joseph School will celebrate Catholic Schools Week during the week of Feb. 3-10.

Some of the high points of the week will be:

An open house day for parents, registration for next year's first grade, teacher appreciation day, a luncheon for teachers and clergy including those clergy form parishes other than St. Joseph's who have students attending the school.

St. Joseph School has a history of some 57 years of service to the people of Quincy and especially people in the Quincy Point areas.

Video tape rental costs can be pretty scary.

Renting video tapes can be like eating peanuts.

Rent one, and when you bring it back, you figure "what the heck, I'm here, might as well rent another." Return that one and it's another. And so it goes.

Next thing you know you've spent $30 just for rentals. Pity your poor wallet if you decide to buy your tapes.

That's why Cable is such a wonderful addition to your VCR. Taping off Cable channels for personal use is legal, free and most times you'll end up with movies and concerts that will never see the inside of a video store.

If you have a VCR and Cable and are having trouble getting them together, call us at 471-9143 and we'll help. If you don't have Cable, why not look into it? It's the best friend any VCR ever had.

North Outskates Brockton, Needs One Win For Playoffs

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's red-hot hockey team can qualify for the State tournament for the second year in a row by defeating Quincy Saturday night at 7:50 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Kevin Jago's Raiders topped Brockton for the second time last Saturday, 5-4, in one of the year's best games and need only one win in six remaining games to make the tournament. North had little trouble beating Quincy in two previous meetings this season.

North will play Cambridge Rindge and Latin Monday night at 7:30 at Boston University and will face Newton North next Wednesday at 6 o'clock at the Watertown rink.

North has a 10-2 record and has lost only to Suburban League-leading Waltham (11-1) twice. The Raiders will get another crack at Waltham Feb. 13 at Watertown. Brockton is 9-3, losing to North Quincy twice and Waltham once.

"This was a big win for us," Jago said after last Saturday's win over Brockton. "It was a great game with a lot of action up and down the ice. Matt Higgins was again tremendous in goal for us and the defense was outstanding, especially when we were short-handed. Once Brockton had a three-minute power play and a two-man advantage on another occasion but could get only two shots on Higgins."

North's line of Dave Tapper, Rob Reidy and Rich Horrigan, one of the highest scoring lines in the league, again paced the Raider attack, scoring four of the goals, two by Horrigan.

Brockton scored first at 8:03 of the opening period on George Bagas' goal, but Reidy tied it two minutes later. The Raiders regained the lead three minutes later on the first of Bill King's two goals.

North Quincy took a 3-2 lead in the second period on goals by Horrigan and Tapper. It was in this period that the defense did such an outstanding job in short-handed situations.

Mike Morrissey tied it up for Brockton early in the final period but Mike Haynes broke the deadlock with 4:25 remaining and Horrigan scored what proved to be the clincher with 1:06 left.

Horrigan's goal became vital when King scored his second goal for Brockton with 20 seconds left.

Earlier in the week North Quincy edged Brookline, 3-2.

Tapper and Reidy gave North a two-goal lead in the first period and the Raiders held on to pull it out.

Dave Cooke scored the clinching goal in the third period.

Horrigan had two assists and Matt Higgins had another big night with 27 saves. He is the top goalie in the league with a goals-against average of just over one.

If the Raiders continue to win, they will be seeded much higher than they were a year ago when they made the tournament for the first time in 23 years.

Last season they defeated Saugus in the opening round, then were walloped by St. John's Prep.

Quincy Hopes To Detour North

Things didn't get any better for the Quincy hockey team last week as the Presidents lost two games, one a non-leaguer, to drop its overall record to 2-8-4 (2-7-3 in the Suburban League).

Bob Sylvia's Presidents played Newton North last night (Wednesday) and Saturday will have a chance to delay North Quincy's state tournament qualification when the rivals clash for the third time at 7:50 at the Youth Arena. Quincy will host Brockton next Wednesday at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

Last Friday Quincy dropped a 7-2 decision to Waltham, the Suburban League leader, which improved its record to 11-1.

Earlier in the week Quincy continued its non-league series with Hanover of the South Shore League, coached by Sylvia's younger brother, Jim.

Hanover, which earlier had come from three goals behind to tie Quincy, 7-7, edged the Presidents, 4-3, last week.

John O'Connor scored twice for Quincy and Mike Hays had the other goal.

Hanover's Jeff Ray, Mike Gillis, Tom Kmilo and Steve Noonan scored with Noonan having the winning goal. Hanover improved its record to 6-4-1.

The rival goalies, Quincy's Bill Cahill and Hanover's Brian DeActis, were outstanding. Cahill having 35 saves and DeActis, 31.

"We have played home and home games for about eight years since Jimmy became Hanover's coach," Sylvia said. "We have had some exciting games and I think we have a slight edge over them. Jim has done a fine job at Hanover. He doesn't have our facilities and can't practice as often as we do. And like the rest of us, he loses a lot of boys to the parochial schools."

"I really enjoy coaching against him because I see in him a carbon copy of myself."

North Quincy needs just one win to qualify for the tournament for the second year in a row and Quincy hopes to delay that Saturday night.

"They beat us rather handily in our first two games, but we are not going to lie down and play dead. We will be going all out to beat them and let them beat someone else to qualify for the tournament," Sylvia said. "But it is going to be tough. They have an outstanding team."

Sun Sports North Swimmers Defeat Waltham

The North Quincy swim team's depth paid off last week when the Raiders defeated Waltham, 93-79, despite the fact Waltham took seven first places.

Bill Walker's Raiders met Dedham yesterday (Wednesday), will face Quincy Friday at 6 o'clock at the Djerf Pool at the Lincoln-Hancock School and will be at Westwood Monday at 3:30.

In improving their record to 5-3, the Raiders had only two individual winners and the winning 400 freestyle relay team.

Tom Farmer won the 100 butterfly in 1:07.4, Dan Moriarty won the 100 breaststroke in 1:12.5 and the 400 freestyle relay team of Brendan Walsh, Steve Mackey, Mike Melanson and John Bangs won in 3:48.1.

Taking second places for North were Dave Stockless, 200 freestyle; Melanson, 200 individual medley and 500 freestyle; Mackey, 100 butterfly; Bangs, 100 freestyle; Dan O'Sullivan, 100 backstroke; and Eric Giordano, diving.

Third places were taken by Mackey, 200 freestyle; Walsh, 100 freestyle; Stockless, 500 freestyle; and Greg Toland, diving.

The Quincy Bay Power Squadron will conduct a free public boating course as a service to the community.

The course will be open to everyone and is recommended for all boating enthusiasts regardless of experience.

Controversial Ruling Hurts North Girls Track Team

A controversial ruling by the officials may have prevented the North Quincy girls' track team from capturing a much-needed victory over undefeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin last week as the Raiderettes fell 49-37 to drop their record to 4-2.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes met Quincy Tuesday, will compete in the coaches meet relays Saturday at Boston University and will face Waltham next Wednesday at 3:30 at Newton North.

North's Georgia Trafficante, competing in both the 600 and high jump, won the 600 in 1:36.2, then became ill.

She came back to leap 5 feet to apparently win the high jump, but the meet officials ruled that the competition had ended after all Cambridge jumpers had gone out at 4:10, thereby giving Cambridge a sweep.

"I was very upset and protested, because Georgia was still in the competition," said Tozzi. "Not only did it probably cost us the meet, but I felt sorry for Georgia, who did such a fine job despite her illness."

"I think we could have won the meet if she had been declared the winner of the high jump, because we would have been behind by only 41-40 going into the final event, the relay, and I think we could have won the relay and the meet."

"Georgia would have been our anchor runner, but, when Cambridge swept the high jump, we didn't have a chance to win so I substituted freshman Caryn Collings for Georgia and she did an excellent job. She ran a fine anchor leg and stayed close all the way and we lost a very close race."

Collings joined Mary Ann Kelleher, Lisa Fitzgerald and Leanne Fitzgerald on the relay team.

"We needed this win to have a chance of at least tying for first place," said a disappointed Tozzi.

North's Kelleher won the 1000 in 2:53.2. Tricia Barrett won the two-mile in 11:56.5 and Noreen Connolly won the shot put with her best toss of 34-4½, the best distance in the league this year.

Placing second were Lisa Fitzgerald, 50; Leanne Fitzgerald, 1000; Tricia Leary, mile, and Meg Leary, two-mile.

Finishing third were Theresa Collings, 300; Caryn Collings, 600; Jennifer Rafferty, hurdles, and Missy Silkwood, shot put.

Fourteen of the North girls turned in their best times and distances.

Ross, Nichols Spur Effort To Return Sports

Mayor Charles A. Ross, chairman, and Mrs. Beatrice Nichols, vice chairman of the School Committee, said they favored the return of interscholastic sports, which, with the exception of football, had been suspended at Quincy and North Quincy High Schools due to the war.

Mrs. Nichols said she was arranging a meeting of the School Committee with James J. Carter, director of health education, on whose recommendation the athletic program had been suspended.

"I am decidedly in favor of bringing back high school sports," said Mayor Ross. "It was a mistake in the first place that they were done away with."

"If transportation problems can be worked out it will have a great influence on my vote," said Mrs. Nichols. "When Mr. Carter recommended that sports be eliminated it was stressed that there would be difficulties in arranging transportation for the teams."

"Apparently other schools have solved the transportation problem."

SACRED HEART WINS CROWN

Phil Conroy led the way with 17 points as the Sacred Heart basketball team from North Quincy came up with its best performance of the season to take a 35-30 overtime victory from St. Johns and win its third YMCA Church League title in five years.

With his team trailing 30-24 in the dying minutes, Conroy hit on three straight baskets to knot the count. In the overtime, Pete Cooke put Sacred Heart ahead with a basket. Brian Sullivan sank a free throw and Conroy clinched it with his eighth basket of the game.

The Sacred Heart lineup included: Sullivan, Conroy, Williams, forwards; Gallagher, center; Mathieson, Cooke, guards.

The St. Johns lineup included: Vergobbi, Salvati, forwards; DiTullio, center; DeAndrea, Dodd, Sandanato, guards.

RAIDERS WIN

Buster Seager led the attack with nine points and Eddie Humphrey and Bussy Reid added eight apiece as Johnny Williams Red Raiders from North Quincy, made up of high school players, defeated the U.S. Coast Guard team from Cohasset, 33-26, in the Hingham High School gym.

11TH STRAIGHT WIN

Vinnie MacDonald and Jim Papile matched 13-point outputs as the Quincy Independents, the orphans of the city's interscholastic sports ban, rolled to their 11th straight victory with a 54-43 victory over the U.S. Coast Guard team from Hull.

The Quincy lineup included: Pena, MacDonald, Josephine, forwards; Papile, center; Pettinelli, Mathieson, guards.

INTERCEPTORS PREVAIL

Budsey Pettinelli, Cookie Pena and Ossie Honkeleto tallied 33 points among them to give the Marine Interceptors a 50-16, victory over the PBYS in an intramural basketball game at the Quincy High School gym.

3 Quincy Players Selected For Soccer Tour

Keith Burke, Michael Cocce and Eric Roukey of Quincy have been named Suburban League all-stars and have been invited to go on a European tour next summer as part of the American Soccer Ambassadors.

The three have been active in the Quincy Youth Soccer League. Burke and Cocce were co-captains of last fall's North Quincy High team and Roukey is one of next fall's North captains.

In order for the boys to participate, they will have to get sponsorship from a number of organizations to help defray the cost of $1875 per person. This money must be paid in installments of $500 by this Friday, $600 by April 1 and the final payment of $580 by June 1. Also, $185 per person was due immediately upon acceptance.

For donations, an account has been set up at the Quincy Savings Bank, 1200 Hancock Street, c/o

Donald R. Johnson. Checks should be made payable to American Soccer Ambassadors of Quincy.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Savings Bank (471-3500), Madeline Burke (328-8751), Joyce Cocce (328-9130) or Ellie Roukey (328-6219).

Quincy Wrestlers Continue Domination Over Raiders

This looked like the year the North Quincy wrestling team might defeat Quincy for the first time since the sport was revived 10 years ago.

The closest Raiders had come to defeating the Presidents was in 1977 when they went down to the wire with the heavyweight bout deciding the meet. Quincy's first-year coach, Rich Schiarizzi, was a member of the North team.

Steve Joyce's North team has had a fine season and took a 7-5 record into last Saturday night's meet. Quincy, after a slow start, had come along fast and was 7-2-1 going into the meet.

Despite the fact that Quincy doesn't have a heavyweight, this season and forfeits six points to the opposition, the Presidents cleaned up in the middle-weight classes to defeat the Raiders, 37-21, and continue their domination in the cross-town rivalry.

Quincy has been one of the dominant teams in the state since Carmen Mariano revived the sport in 1975. Mariano's teams compiled an amazing 144-29-1 record and were 129-10-1 since 1976.

During his regime Quincy won five Suburban League championships and five south sectional titles in six years.

Mariano stepped down last year and was succeeded by Tim Cahill, who wrestled on Mariano's first team and was his assistant coach for four years.

The Presidents continued their remarkable success under Cahill and last year were 15-1.

Now Quincy, under Schiarizzi, is coming along fast with its 8-2-1 mark and could do well once again in the sectional meet.

"We are used to competing with only 11 wrestlers," said the first-year coach. "It hurts to give away six points in every meet, but our kids have become used to it. Our middle weights are so strong we can make up the points."

"Quincy has had the better wrestlers through the years but our kids have always been up for this meet," said Joyce before last week's meet. "This is our best shot at beating them. It should be close. Some matches in the middle area will be close and that could determine things."

He proved correct on that point.

Quincy began with 100-pounder Mike Bogan, nearly pinned twice in the first period, finally pinning North's Gary Silverman.

North won at 107 pounds with Dan Ward decisioning Jay Colleton, 7-5.

In the 114-pound division the Raiders' Paul Tobin defeated Chris Mackey, 7-1, and at 121 pounds North's Pat Marcham decisioned Dennis DeCoste, 14-10.

Quincy won the rest of the bouts until North's Al DiBella won by forfeit in the heavyweight class.

Rob Cabeza outpointed North's Scott Fitzgerald, 16-3, at 128 pounds.

Earlier in the week Quincy defeated Braintree, 37-29, with Mackey winning, 4-2, at 114. DeCoste winning by pin at 121. Cabezas winning by pin at 128. Tony Souza winning, 17-5, at 134; Mahon winning on pin at 140. Murphy winning by pin at 147, and Cahill winning, 32-5, at 157.

Presidents Vetoed By Newton

Things continued to be rough for the Quincy boys' basketball team and the Presidents lost to Newton North, 57-44, last week, their seventh loss in a row.

Quincy (3-9) played Waltham Tuesday, will host Brookline Friday night at 7:30 and will be at Brockton Tuesday at 7 o'clock.

The Presidents, winless since winning the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament and still without a Suburban League win, led at the half against Newton just as they had in many other games.

But they fell victim to foul trouble in the second half and Newton's Andy Lockwood sank all eight of his foul shots in the third quarter as Newton outscored Quincy, 15-6, for a 36-28 lead.

As usual, Billy Shaughnessy, the league's leading scorer, paced the Presidents with 17 points, while Don Parry had 15, 10 in the first quarter, and Bob McCarron took down eight rebounds.

Raiders Bow Twice

It was a bad week for the North Quincy boys' basketball team, which lost two games after winning two the previous week and squeaked by Quincy for its only Suburban League victory.

Ed Miller's Raiders (3-10) played Brockton Tuesday, will play at Newton North Friday at 7:30 and will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin's powerhouse Tuesday at 3:30.

North bowed to Brookline, 60-48, last Friday, trailing, 27-21, at halftime.

Ken Runge and Mark Scanlon paced the Raiders with 11 points each and Brian Morris and Jim Martin chipped in with nine apiece.

Earlier in the week North Quincy had lost to Waltham 53-44.

• Senior Basketball

Beechwood, Montclair Point Win

The Quincy Recreation Department Senior High School Basketball league is underway with three exciting games played at the Atlantic Middle School.

In the season opener Beechwood Knoll Center, coached by Recreation Veteran Jack Kelly, defeated a strong Squantum team, coached by Gerry Coughlin, 71-54.

Mike Murphy of Beechwood led all scorers with 26 points, teammate Mike Sullivan had 20, while Steve Murad had 10. John Panaro had 14 followed closely by John Reinhardt's 13 and Dave Zurows nine in a balanced Squantum attack. Jim Cataldo and Steve Dever were singled out for Squantum's rebounding efforts. On the Squantum side, Joe Nelson, Mick McDonald, and John Maloney all played hustling defense.

A rugged Atherton Hough team forced Montclair into overtime before falling in its first game, 45-40. Jeff Morris (14) and Angelo Kapzankus (13) led Dean Zoia's Montclair attack with strong passing from Ted Stevenson. Larry Brennan had 12 points, Rich Callahan nine and Steve Gardner eight for Atherton. Coach Fran Donovan also praised Tom Elsmore for his hustling defense.

Point and Merrymount proved that the seven team league is going to be well balanced when they followed with a 49-46 barn-burner as Point coach Mark Paul brought his team out on top.

Merrymount's Mike Haynes with 23 matched

Point's Brian Snow as both scored early and often. Mark Cronin had 17 for Point and Bill Ryan chipped in two. Billy Roach and Dave Mamiaron each had six points in Merrymount's behalf. Merrymount is coached by Curry College standout Paul Gill.

The Senior Basketball League is made up of participants in the Quincy Recreation Department's Winter Program. There are seven teams which play on Saturday mornings at Atlantic Middle School. Varsity Basketball players are not eligible to compete. Playoffs will be held at the conclusion of the season play to determine a city champion.

Squirt C's Defeat Westwood

Quincy's Squirt C team, sponsored by Granite City Electric Supply, defeated the Westwood B team, 11-1.

Joe Carinci had a hat trick. Jim Cipriano and Steve DesRoches two goals apiece and John Lewis, Steve Miller, Brian Connolly and Robby Guarnieri one each. Miller had two assists and Steve DesRoches, Matt O'Toole, David Edwards, Guarnieri, David Manning, Mike DesRoches, Carinci, Cipriano, Paul Rogan and Connolly one each. Mark Gilmore was outstanding in goal and Peter Nee and John Gladu turned in fine two-way efforts.

The Squirt C's also upset Braintree B team, 8-1, with Cipriano having five goals. Carinci, Nee and Connolly had a goal each. Lewis had three assists, Guarnieri two and Miller, Edwards, Rogan and Carinci one each. Goalie Steve DesRoches had several spectacular saves.

Raiderettes Edge Waltham, Bow To Tough Brookline

The North Quincy girls' basketball team faced the number three and nine-ranked teams in Eastern Mass. last week and came up with a split.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes faced sixth-ranked Brockton Tuesday, will be home to Newton North Friday at 5 p.m. and will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Tuesday at 5.

Last Friday North lost to third-ranked Brookline, 45-31.

The Raiderettes looked primed for an upset win as they got out to a 4-0 lead and led, 9-6, after a quarter. Eileen Warren, who is more than holding her own against the best centers in the Suburban League, scored five points in the quarter, while Brookline's outstanding center, Ruth Lamprey, had four.

North turned ice cold in the second quarter, managing only a basket by freshman Nancy Flukes and a free throw by Capt. Ann Duggan.

Meanwhile, Brookline scored 13 points to take a 19-12 halftime advantage.

Warren came back to life again in the third quarter with four points and Lamprey, an all-scholastic, went to the bench with four fouls.

Sandra Proude added six points and North cut the Warriors' lead to 27-22 going into the final quarter.

Despite Lamprey being on the bench, the Raiderettes could not capitalize despite outscoring Brookline, 8-4, from the floor. Brookline scored 12 points in a row from the foul line and opened up a 39-28 lead.

Proude led the way with 13 points and 11 rebounds. Warren had nine points and nine rebounds. For Brookline Lamprey, who needed 20 points to reach 1000, led all scorers with 15.

Earlier in the week North had edged ninth-ranked Waltham, 58-56, in one of the best games of the year.

North held Waltham to two field goals while building an 18-7 first quarter lead. Hughes and Proude each had four first quarter points. Several Raiderettes scored. Geraldine Murphy replaced Warren midway through the quarter and contributed, immediately, grabbing an offensive rebound and laying it in.

North spluttered in the second quarter, scoring nine points, while Waltham, led by high scorer Meg O'Brien, closed the gap to 27-20 at the half.

The Raiderettes maintained their seven-point edge entering the final quarter as Karen Ronge and Duggan had four points each.

Waltham cut the lead to three beginning the fourth quarter, but North ran off eight straight points to go up by 11. Warren hit for eight of her game-high 16 points. Proude added four and Duggan and Hughes three each.

North led by eight with 2:11 to play but Waltham cut the gap to 57-56 with six seconds left. On the inbound play Flukes was fouled and made one of the shots for the final margin.

Warren also had 14 rebounds, while Proude had 11 points, five assists and four steals. Hughes and Duggan had nine points each and Duggan had seven rebounds. Jean Welby played a fine floor game and chipped in with six assists and five steals.

"Our victory over Waltham was a sweet one," said Bregoli. "The best part was everyone contributed. The play of Hughes and Duggan made the difference with their great defense and hustle."

"One quarter killed us against Brookline. They are undefeated but we had a real shot until the parade to the foul line started. Overall our defense was great, holding them to 45 points, their lowest output of the season. Our kids' attitude is excellent. They know their capabilities and feel each game is a challenge. Don't be surprised if we don't lose a game the rest of the way."

Quincy Jayvees Topple Raiders, Newton N.

The Quincy boys' junior varsity basketball team continued to show improvement last week, bringing its league record to 3-3 with wins over North Quincy and Waltham North.

The young Presidents now stand at 4-6 overall.

"We are very pleased with the progress of our entire program in general, and of the junior varsity in particular," said Quincy Head Coach Rick DeCristofaro. "We feel that it is a credit to the program that every member of last year's freshmen team, and all but one of our underclassmen on the varsity and junior varsity teams came out again this year."

The junior varsity team is coached by DeCristofaro's assistant, Mitch Finnegan, who handled the freshman team last year. "We are proud of the progress of so many of our players," said Finnegan. "Many of them went to camp or played summer-league ball, and that shows their dedication to the team. Our progress this season is indicative of that as well."

The Jayvees got off to a rough start, losing their opening game to Walpole, 67-43. Despite a much improved performance in their next outing against Arlington, the Presidents dropped that game, 58-48.

"We did not play as well as we should have in our first two games," said Finnegan. "But we came in and worked harder after the Arlington game, and the results showed in our second game with Walpole."

In that second Walpole contest, less than two weeks after their 34-point drubbing, the Presidents took revenge with a 47-41 victory.

Quincy then dropped two tight games, losing to Stoughton 47-41, and to Waltham 54-45. "We were very disappointed with our loss to Waltham, having led through the entire first half," said Finnegan. "But once again the boys came in ready to work ever harder."

The Presidents came back with a 39-34 league win over Brookline. Following losses to league-powerhouses Brockton and Cambridge, Quincy pulled out a 46-44, come-from-behind victory over cross-town rival North Quincy.

After being shut out in the first quarter, 12-0, the Presidents closed the gap to 21-16 at the half, and tied the score at 31-31 at the end of the third period. The two teams battled it out for the last eight minutes, with sophomore Steve Austin connecting on eight of his fifteen points in the final frame. Sophomore guard Billy Palmer also added two clutch free throws in the fourth period.

Quincy's next win came over Newton North, a 42-39 squeaker. After trailing 28-26 at the end of three quarters, the Presidents came back and finally clinched the game with free throws by Austin and by sophomore co-captain Tom Logan. Finnegan had high praise for Logan, and fellow co-captain Kevin Jolley.

"Tom has been a real key to our success this year. He's averaging seven points per game, and leads the team in rebounds, both offensively and defensively. Kevin came out for the team for the first time this year as a junior, and has given us some important floor leadership. Most importantly, both Tom and Kevin have given us strong leadership on and off the floor. Neither one is the cheerleader type, but each one always gives one hundred per cent. Tom is also an outstanding baseball player; Kevin has just been elected as one of the co-captains for next year's football team, and both are advanced placement students. Each one is a great example to the other members of the team, and we are very proud to have such fine young men as part of our program."

Forward Austin leads the team with a 14-point average, including a 25-point outing in the second Walpole game. Palmer has been gradually seeing more and more playing time. Sophomore guards Mark Cronin and Joe Inello have provided strong defense when called upon to do so.

and Finnegan expects much more from them offensively in the future.

"In addition to Kevin, we were happy to have several other juniors come out for the first time this year," said Finnegan.

"Fran Garvey showed us a great deal against Newton North, including the tying hoop at the end of the third period. He will see more playing time each game, as will Jayson Block and Joe Polliucci, who have shown great effort and diligence in practice."

One very important part in the Presidents' play has been junior center Sam Connolly. "Sam has progressed tremendously this season," Finnegan said. "He has become a key to our team defensively and on the boards."

Connolly is backed up by Steve Davis, one of several members of last year's inaugural freshman team. Said Finnegan, "along with Mike Snow and Keith McCray, Steve has been progressing very well this year. We expect a great deal from the three of them in the coming years. They have the potential to be important members of this program, as does Dan Overby, a sophomore guard who is out for the team for the first time this year."

The Jayvees have been helped by the play of three junior members of the varsity club, guard Robert Connolly, and forwards Bobby Pitts and Frank Freedman. "These three boys have a very tough job," said Finnegan. "We bring them down from the varsity to give them a little playing time each game, and they perform very well with teammates other than those with whom they practice. We hope that they will benefit from the game time, and that they will also help us in motivating our younger players to play up to their level."

The Presidents played at Waltham on Tuesday, and will play at home against Brookline on Friday. The JV game begins at 6 p.m., followed by the Varsity contest at 7:30 p.m.

Quincy was down by two goals going into the third period but Danny Savage scored 29 seconds into the period on a pass from Duane Keegan. Norwood regained its two-goal lead 33 seconds later but Quincy tightened up its defense and with seven minutes left, Richie Brooks passed to Sal Manganaro, who scored the first of his two goals. With three minutes remaining David Mellyn's shot was diverted by Jeff Freeman to Manganaro, who whipped it by Norwood's fine goalie to earn the tie.

Quincy defeated Westwood, 6-2, with Freeman having a hat trick. Savage scored twice and Manganaro once. Billy Lydon and Manganaro had two assists each and Freeman and Jimmy McCarthy one apiece.

Bantam B's Winning

Quincy's Bantam B team, sponsored by the Rotary Club, moved into a stronger division, playing A teams, and is in first place with a 2-0-1 record.

Quincy defeated Allston-Brighton, 10-3, with Mike Toland, Jon Brosnan and Rich Golden having two goals apiece and Tom Walsh, Brian Taylor, Bob Thomas and Sean Cappel one each. Mark Rudnisky and Bob Kane had three assists apiece, Golden two and Ralph Richardson, Hank Miller, Toland and Brosnan one each.

Scott Cunningham continued to sparkle in goal.

Stay Alive!
By John Valante
PICKWICK SYNDROME
There is a new malady in medical annals whose name is attributed to Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" in which a very extraordinary boy could go on errands fast asleep and even wait on tables while he was sleeping.
It is called the Pickwickian Syndrome. It usually, but not always, affects obese persons. Sufferers from it live in an overpoweringly drowsy state and sometimes literally fall asleep standing up. For reasons as yet unknown, although it possibly involves a brain malfunction governing respiratory rates and depth of respiration, such patients are unable to exhale efficiently. They retain carbon dioxide in their lungs and circulatory systems, crowding out oxygen and creating a condition close to sleep or drowsiness. They are accident prone, since they may fall asleep while driving.
With a sound diet and more exercise, patients lose weight and increase oxygen intake thus finding it easier to stay awake.

'The Smiling Beethoven' At Point Congregational

Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., will be the site of a concert "The Smiling Beethoven" Sunday, Feb. 3, at 4 p.m.

It will be performed by Boston Academy of Music under the Artistic Direction of Richard Conrad.

The concert will feature the lighter side of Beethoven with his arrangements of Scottish folk songs and works for mandolin and piano.

The concert's artists are Norma Giusti, soprano; Richard Conrad, tenor; Bryan McNeil, baritone; Mark Beaulieu, violin; Michael Curry, cello; David Hahn, mandolin; and William Merrill, piano.

Tickets for the Beethoven concert will be available at the door the day of the performance. For more information call 773-6424.

"The Smiling Beethoven" is a concert which offers its audiences and performers the opportunity to enjoy music by the great composer that is more playful and fun than his more often performed works.

Ice Skating Classes At Quincy, Milton MDC Rinks

The winter term of ice skating lessons are beginning at the Quincy-Shea and Milton-Ulin MDC rinks for both children and adults.

Beginner, advanced beginner and intermediate skills are taught and students can wear either figure or hockey skates. All children age 6 and under are required to wear helmets.

Tuesday afternoon classes at 3:30 and 4 p.m. are held at Quincy-Shea MDC for children ages 4 through 12. Wednesday afternoon classes at 3:30 and 4 meet at the Milton-Ulin MDC for children. All classes are taught by professional instructors of the Bay State Ice Skating School. The fee is $35 for the (7)-week series and there are approximately 8 students or less per teacher.

On Wednesday evenings at 7 there are classes for teenagers and adults. You can join in the lessons by calling the skating registrar at: 527-1936. Glide into 1985 on your ice skates.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Timing may be a current problem. Guests show up ahead of schedule, checks may be slow in arriving, and everyone demands your attention. Status within community may increase this week.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Week sees you signing papers or making verbal agreements. In either case, seek a professional opinion. Romantic mysteries are solved after the weekend. Platonic friendship is spotlighted.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Despite some recent tensions on the homefront, on balance the morale is good and getting better. Honest dialogue allows you and loved one to express mutual hopes, expectations, concerns.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Travel plans and schedules may be shuffled this week. Financial gains alternate with some upsets. On the homefront, the trend this week is making order out of chaos.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
You respond to a n.w. challenge by raising your own standards. Humanitarian project is spotlighted now. Mechanical chores require prompt attention. Property matters demand more thought.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
A promising relationship succeeds best when you allow it to take its own course. By being observant you can discover unusual career opportunity. Older family member enjoys your optimism.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Week accents budget review and shaping of financial objectives. Scientific activities are spotlighted - you may be making a minor discovery. Watch tendency to make excuses.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Creative projects require additional time for completion, but are worth the effort. A recent romantic alliance is strengthening. Guests surprise and delight you with their frankness.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
You're subjected to moods of friends and coworkers. Financial or other rewards come by Monday. Family tensions should be nipped in the bud, especially if a trip is planned.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
A week for building relationships and developing ideas. Out of town relatives may contact you for a favor. Involvement in neighborhood project introduces you to an offbeat new friend.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Support for your plans comes from unexpected sources. You excel in the role consultant, on a professional as well as a personal level. Shared financial arrangement requires review.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Watch tendency to overextend yourself, especially in financial areas. If seeking an advisor, objectivity is all-important. Changes in scene are accentuated on the weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're something of a contradiction: kind and friendly, yet distant, unconventional, but fitted in your opinions. Always, however, you're ready to help others. Career path may take a series of gradual turns this year. Friendships exist on a higher plane.

BORN THIS WEEK
January 31st, actress Suzanne Pleshette; February 1st, actor Sherman Hemsley; 2nd, actress Farrah Fawcett; 3rd, comedian Joey Bishop; 4th, actor Conrad Bain; 5th, actor Red Buttons; 6th, actor Rip Torn.

Cindy Minton Advances To State Free Throw

A Quincy girl representing the Quincy Lodge of Elks has advanced in the Elks National Free Throw Contest State championship by capturing the Circle District Championships held recently at Bentley College.

Cindy Minton of Arlington St. won the girls 10 and 11 year old category.

Filene McDonough of Conant Rd. was a second place finisher in the girls age 8 and 9 division.

The youngsters were part of six local winners who were eligible to compete against 10 other communities in the circle district after winning two local competitions.

Chris McPartlin of Stoughton St., Liam Higgins of Wilson Av., Kim Robertson of Winthrop St. and Tim Roche of Butler Rd. were the other representatives of the Quincy lodge.

The Elks National Free Throw Contest is an elimination competition that concludes with the naming of a national champion in 6 categories. The local competition is coordinated by Ed Miller of the Quincy Lodge who is also the head basketball coach at North Quincy High School. Tom Walsh, Exalted Ruler of the Quincy Lodge accompanied the youngsters to Bentley College.

Over 300 youngsters competed in the first round in Quincy, which was sponsored in cooperation with the Quincy Recreation Department.

Trophies were presented to Minton and McDonough, while certificates were awarded to McPartlin, Higgins, Robertson, and Roche.

The next stop for the winners is Holy Cross College in Worcester Saturday, March 2, where the competition for the Massachusetts State Championship will be held.

The Little Loop will again participate in a bowlathon to combat muscular dystrophy and related muscle diseases, beginning this Saturday, Feb. 2. In nine years the league has raised $15,150.

Introductory Scuba Course Starts Feb. 12

The Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy Underwater Recovery Dive Team will co-sponsor an introductory scuba course as part of its swimming program at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, said:

"This course has been designed to give the average family access to the sport of Scuba with no cost to the participant. The dive team provides the necessary equipment and instructors for the six week course, and it enables residents of Quincy an opportunity to become knowledgeable about the sport, equipment, and safety in a controlled and orderly fashion. Although the course does not lead to certification, at its conclusion, participants may elect to enroll in a certification program. It is our hope that a program of this type will prevent persons from "borrowing gear to give it a try" - a dangerous practice which often ends up with injury or death."

There are three weeks of classroom programs and three weeks of pool experience. The classroom lessons are held Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. and in the pool experience is Mondays at 7 p.m. The course will begin Feb. 12. The program is open to all ages from children to adults and family groups are especially encouraged to enroll.

Registration is limited and will take place during recreation swimming programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School beginning Friday. Additional information can be obtained by calling 773-1380, ext. 204.

Embers Transfer

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Feb. 5 a request from The Embers Restaurant to transfer its common victualler-all alcoholic licenses from 1466 to 1464-1466 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said he would like to see the architectural plans for the restaurant at the new location.

Fire Chief Edward Barry

requested plans for the fryolator duets.

Embers manager Apostolos Zarkadas said he would like to relocate the restaurant to the current site of Jewelry Factory Outlet and Capri Handbags in a building which he owns.

Zarkadas said his lease at the current location, where the restaurant has been located for 13 years, will expire Jan. 31.

Registration For Pool Swim Program

The Quincy Recreation Department announces registration for several special programs as part of its swimming activities at the Lincoln Hancock Community School.

Registration can be made beginning immediately at the pool from 5 to 8 p.m. weeknights. Some classes have entrance requirements and limited enrollment.

Adult Non-Swimmer Instruction: Small Group instruction for the adult who has no swimming skills. Five week course on Sunday afternoons at 3 p.m. Starts Sunday, Feb. 3.

CITY OF QUINCY
IN COUNCIL.

ORDER NO. 433A
ORDERED:

December 3, 1984

Be it ordained by the City Council of Quincy that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, be amended in accordance with M.G.L., Chapter 40A, Section 21, Subsections (23) and (24), by adding after Chapter 12, Article IV, Section 69, the following Sections 69A and 69B; after striking the existing Section 69A:

SECTION 69A. Requiring designated parking spaces for disabled veterans and handicapped persons.

Any person or body that has lawful control of a public or private way or of improved or enclosed property used as off-street parking areas for businesses, shopping malls, theaters, auditoriums, sporting or recreational facilities, cultural centers, residential dwellings, or for any other place where the public has a right of access as invitees or licensees, is hereby required to reserve parking spaces in said off-street parking areas, for any vehicle owned and operated by a disabled veteran or handicapped person whose vehicle bears the distinguishing license plate authorized by section two of chapter ninety of the Massachusetts General Laws, according to the following formula:

If the number of parking spaces in any such area is more than fifteen but not more than twenty-five, one parking space; more than twenty-five but not more than forty, five per cent of such spaces but not less than two; more than forty but not more than one hundred, four per cent of such spaces but not less than three; more than one hundred but not more than two hundred, three per cent of such spaces but not less than four; more than two hundred but not more than five hundred, two per cent of such spaces but not less than six; more than five hundred but not more than one thousand, one and one-half per cent of such spaces but not less than ten; more than one thousand but not more than two thousand, one per cent of such spaces but not less than fifteen; more than two thousand but less than five thousand, three-fourths of one per cent of such spaces but not less than twenty; and more than five thousand, one-half of one per cent of such spaces but not less than thirty.

Parking spaces designated as reserved under the provisions of paragraph (a) shall be identified by the use of above grade signs with white lettering against a blue background and shall bear the words "Handicapped Parking: Special Plate Required. Unauthorized Vehicles May be Removed at Owner's Expense"; shall be as near as possible to a building entrance or walkway; shall be adjacent to curb ramps or other unobstructed methods permitting sidewalk access to a handicapped person; and shall be twelve feet wide or two eight-foot wide areas with four feet of cross hatch between them.

SECTION 69B. Parking in designated space prohibited.

No person other than a disabled veteran or a handicapped person may leave a vehicle unattended within a parking space designated for use by disabled veterans or handicapped persons as authorized by Section 69A.

No person may leave a vehicle unattended in such a manner as to obstruct a curb ramp designated for use by handicapped persons as a means of egress to a street or public way.

The penalty for violation of this ordinance shall be as follows:

For the first offense, fifteen dollars; for the second offense, twenty-five dollars; and for each subsequent offense, the vehicle may be removed according to the provisions of section one hundred and twenty D of chapter two hundred and sixty-six of Massachusetts General Laws.

Wahlberg Vice-President Marquis QCH Board President

At the recent reorganizational meeting of the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers, Gerald Marquis was elected chairman for 1985.
 Marquis had served as vice chairman of the board and chairman of the Building and Grounds and the Long Range Planning Committees.

 He was appointed to the board by Mayor Francis X. McCauley in January, 1982.

Planner with the City of Quincy, Marquis is Director of Planning and Community Development for the City of Watertown.

A graduate of the University of Massachusetts he received a Masters degree in Urban Affairs and Planning from Boston University. Marquis is past vice president of the Squantum Community Association and a member of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Rosemary Wahlberg, a member of the Board of Managers and Chairman of the Personnel Committee, was elected vice chairman of the board.

Wahlberg is executive director of Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc., and is a member of the board of the Quincy Housing Authority.

Lawrence F. O'Donnell, a former chairman of the Board of Managers was re-elected secretary to the board. An attorney, O'Donnell is senior partner of a Quincy law firm.

First item on Chairman Marquis' agenda at the reorganizational meeting was to thank outgoing Chairman, John W. Kane for his dedicated leadership to the board.

Kane has accepted the appointment of chairman of the hospital's Capital Campaign which plans to raise $1.6 million for the new Hospital replacement project.

MBTA, State Agree To Fix Quincy Bridges

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey announces that the MBTA and the State Department of Public Works have reached agreement on the maintenance of bridges over the MBTA tracks in Quincy.

The agreement is that the final responsibility belongs to the DPW.

"This resolution should improve the driving conditions at these busy intersections and the surrounding areas," said Morrissey.

The issue arose when expansion joints on bridges over Beale St., West Squantum St., Dimmock St. and Adams St. became driving hazards. The city did the initial repair work on them.

Tax Assistance For Elderly At Health Center

The Quincy Council on Aging will start Tax Assistance to the elderly Monday, Feb. 4, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Kennedy Health Center Auditorium.

It will continue Monday through Friday.

Elderly residents must call 773-1380, ext. 243 and make an appointment so that there will be no long waits.

Both federal and state taxes will be processed. It is necessary elderly residents to bring last year's tax returns and all supporting data for their 1984 tax returns and all supporting data for their 1984 income. Such as W2s, 1099s.

Despite Heavy Fire Loss

Developer Still Interested In Pollard Condos

By TOM HENSHAW

Burkhardt Corp. of Milton is still interested in developing the fire-ravaged Pollard School but it is not clear whether the city will get the $252,000 it expects for the building.

Meanwhile, City Councilor Joseph J. LaRaia has asked for an investigation into the fire that all but destroyed the school because "in the past the city has another building fire and the price was reduced by the damage."

Mayor Francis McCauley said he and other city officials met Monday with Jack Wise, head of Burkhardt Corp., and the company promised a revised plan of its development proposal before the end of the week.

Burkhardt agreed to purchase the building from the city for $252,000 and convert it into 30 condominium units. But the four-alarm fire Saturday morning left little more than the brick walls standing.

Deputy Fire Chief Thomas Gorman said the fire was of suspicious origin.

LaRaia noted that three months had passed since the Council acted on the sale of the school and the papers had not yet been passed when the fire broke out.

"I am suspicious," he said. "They blame it on vandals. On a cold winter night it's not the small kids. It's the big guys who start fires, too."

LaRaia noted that the developers originally planned for 23 condo units, then moved up in number.

"The result of this fire could be a lower sale price and a higher density in the building," he said.

Council President James A. Sheets cautioned LaRaia and all the councilors that they should speak with "some discretion."

"I'm going to watch this closely," said LaRaia. "I want to be involved in any meeting that takes place on this. I want the mayor's office to know that."

McCauley said there was now discussion at Monday's meeting about a lowering of the sale price. If it were lowered, he said, the issue possibly would have to go to the City Council for approval.

"The tragedy in this is that we were as little as two weeks away from passing papers," said Planning Director James Lydon. "The final permit for sewer connections had just been approved."

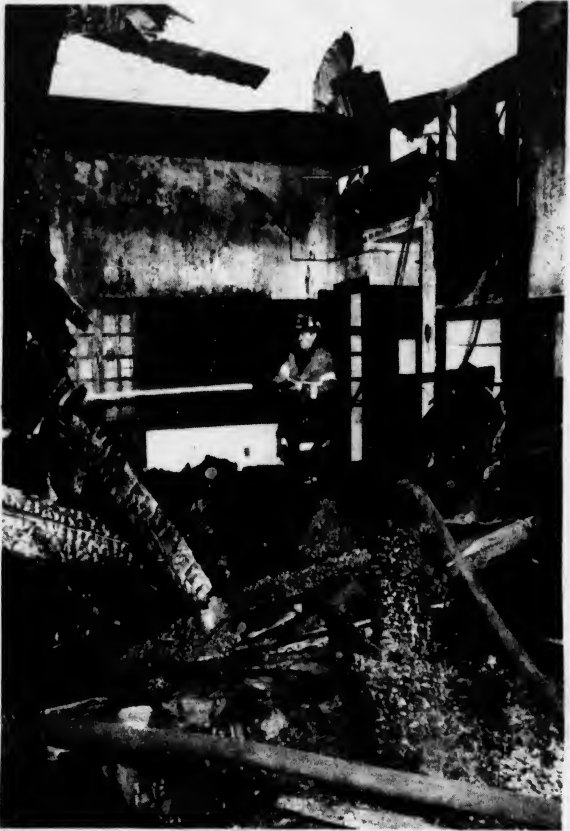

Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald said it is too early to make a decision on how much of the building structure can be preserved. But, as far as development goes, he said, "it's a different ball game."

"The original development plan called for the use of all the walls, the roof, the steel beams and the floors," he said.

"The interior walls, the roof and the steel beams are all gone. There is so much debris in there that we don't know the extent of the floor damage."

"We will need to test the masonry of the outer walls, too. It was exposed to very intense heat during the fire. There is going to have to be a lot of analyzing done."

Roberts First Woman On Planning Board

Kathryn Roberts of 37 Estabrook Rd., Wollaston, has been named to a five-year term on the Planning Board, the first woman to serve on that city agency.

She succeeds John Barron, whose term expired.

Mrs. Roberts, long prominent in Republican city politics, is manager of the M and M Plumbing Heating Service of Quincy.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley also made these appointments to unpaid board, effective Feb. 4:

William Nugent, 42 Turner St., Houghs Neck, to a three-year term on the Conservation Commission.

He succeeds David Tilley.

Judith Dacey, 37 Bower Rd., Quincy Point, to a three-year term on the Mayor's Commission for Handicapped Affairs. She succeeds Anthony Attardo.

Howard Crowley, 139 Highland Ave., Wollaston, to a one-year term on the Park and Recreation Board. He fills out the term of Timothy Cahill, who resigned when he moved out of Ward 3.

Construction Member Sought For Hospital Board

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has hung the "help wanted" sign out for a new member of the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers.

McCauley said Tuesday he is seeking resumes from people with construction backgrounds to fill the unexpired term of developer Stephen Ricciardi who resigned.

The term expires Jan. 1, 1988.

Ricciardi resigned due to a state law which prohibits members of unpaid city boards from doing business with the city lest they be in conflict of interest.

McCauley said a construction background is necessary since the hospital is involved in a rebuilding program.

Resumes should be sent to the office of the Mayor, City Hall, 1305 Hancock St., Quincy, 02169.

will announce he is not a candidate for mayor in 1985 but is leaving his 1987 options open.

Koch, Fagerlund Clash Over Assessors Work Day

A request by the assessors for $5,000 to pay an outside firm for collecting field data erupted Monday night into a skirmish between City Councilor Richard J. Koch, Jr. and Chief Assessor Elmer Fagerlund.

"We seem to be going to outside contractors for a number of things," said Koch. "What are the assessors doing?"

Fagerlund pointed out that the work of collecting field data for some 800 building permits would take 40 days.

"Forty days out of the office for two of our assessors would mean that something else did not get done," he said.

"What is it that would not get done?" Koch persisted. "What do assessors do during the day?"

Fagerlund had no ready answer and the appropriation was sent to the Finance Committee where Fagerlund promised to tell councilors what an assessor does between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said it was he, not the assessors, who decided to hire the outside contractor.

"It was my idea to send the order down to speed up the process of valuing new buildings," he said.

"There is a lot of work to be done down there in the assessors' office, particularly on the heels of revaluation. There are a lot of appeals from the new values."

"The assessors have to keep updating the values every two years now, not every 10 years like it used to be."

Nut Island Urged As State Park

The City Council Monday night passed a resolution urging that, when and if the MDC's sewage treatment plant is eliminated, Nut Island at the tip of Houghs Neck be made a state park.

Councilor Michael Cheney called the resolution "extremely important. This would let the EPA know that there are further considerations for Nut Island when they consider it as a site for a treatment plant."

The Federal Environmental Protection Agency is currently conducting a site option study for a new treatment facility to be located somewhere on Boston Harbor and Nut Island is one consideration.

Copies of the resolution were sent to the EPA, the state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering, the MDC commission, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson and Leo Kelly, chairman of the city's environmental study group.

Board Deadlocked On Handshakes Request

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The question of whether or not to allow Handshakes to sell to the public from a juice bar at Nu Wave Aerobics deadlocked the License Board Tuesday.

The four-member board, minus a fifth member since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey last month, voted instead to continue the matter to Feb. 12.

Timothy Cahill, one of three owners of Handshakes Cafe, 1354 Hancock St., explained to the board that the restaurant was approached by Nu Wave Aerobics, 1569 Hancock St., to take over the juice bar.

Cahill said he would like to sell items such as shakes, fruit juice, salads, quiche and muffins to members of the fitness center, and to the public for take-out only.

He said the items would be made at Handshakes and transported to the fitness center where they would cost about 20% more than at the restaurant.

Cahill added that he already delivers food to customers in that section of Quincy Sq.

Steve Gillig, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, said that members of the organization in that area were polled and only two, Taso's Pizza and the Colonial 1600 Restaurant, were opposed to the request.

Both Tasos Kapsakis of Taso's and Constantine Kechris of Colonial 1600 said they were concerned that Handshakes would take away part of their business.

Cahill said he would not serve pizza, sub sandwiches or full dinners.

"I don't think Handshakes will be competition," said City Clerk John Gillis, "they're a different thing altogether."

"Here are three Quincy boys looking for an opportunity and I see nothing wrong with it."

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald pointed out that there are seven eating establishments in the area.

"I have no objection to Handshakes serving members only. There's no parking in the area."

Fire Chief Edward Barry

suggested that Handshakes be granted permission to serve fitness members only, with the possibility that it could re-apply later to serve the public.

Ward Councillor Ted DiCristofaro praised Handshake owners and suggested that their request be granted for a probationary period.

Ward Councillor Michael Cheney also praised the men and noted that "a little competition is only fair."

Police Chief Francis Finn said that he could see the investment on both sides.

A motion by MacDonald to grant the request for three months and for members only died when the vote was deadlocked 2-2. MacDonald and Barry were in favor, Gillis and Finn were opposed.

Finn's motion to grant the request with the stipulations that no pizza, subs or full meals be sold, died for lack of a second.

After making a motion that the matter be continued for two weeks, Finn amended it to one week, noting that the two sides had discussed the issue after the hearing and were near agreement.

McCauley Protests Reagan Budget Cuts

Mayor Francis N. McCauley, a fellow Republican, has written to President Reagan protesting local aid cuts in the fiscal 1986 federal budget.

"As the mayor of a city that has been straining to keep its vital programs intact, I am disturbed by the possibility of having cutbacks in federal funding," he said.

The city receives some $1.8 million in revenue sharing funds annually from the federal government and it is used to fund police and fire salaries.

Reagan has proposed the elimination of revenue sharing altogether.

"In a state that has had its ability to raise revenues sharply curtailed (due to proposition 2 1/2) the elimination of revenue sharing will prove disastrous to city budgets," wrote McCauley.

"This will have a serious negative impact on the city budget," the mayor told The Quincy Sun.

"If we lose revenue sharing we will have to raise the money somewhere else or reduce expenditures. We can't raise the tax levy because of Proposition 2 1/2."

"I'm confident the Congress will look at all these things before they pass the budget."

In his letter to Reagan, McCauley said:

"I am also very concerned about cutbacks in funding for new sewer construction and rehabilitation.

"The long overdue cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy... will cost approximately $1.5 billion and there is no way that this amount of money can be funded from state and local revenues."

He recommended to the President that the national budget deficit could better be cut by heeding the advice of the Grace Commission Report which urged efficiency in government instead of cuts in programs.

"This approach to a more efficient and less costly government would effect a cut in the deficit by improving efficiency rather than cutting out programs that are vital to the cities and towns."

Board Continues Dairy Mart Request

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Feb. 26, a request from Dairy Mart Corp. for licenses for four former Dacey Brothers Stores.

The stores are located at 213 Samoset Ave., 130 West Elm Ave., 263 Beale St., and 330 Washington St.

The continuance was granted at the request of Atty. Robert J. Fleming

Buildings Inspector Allan

Mart.

Fleming stated, "the reason for this continuance is because we have not had an opportunity to meet with the various neighbors in reference to their concerns, with the exception of the Merrymount Association where a meeting was held with a representative of Dairy Mart Jan. 28."

The request had been continued from the Jan. 8 meeting to allow area residents to meet with representatives of Dairy Mart.

The vice president of the company is also to appear before the board.

Dairy Mart is requesting common victualer licenses for automatic coffee machines.

Embers Granted Request For License Transfer

The License Board voted Tuesday to grant a request from Apostolos Zarkadas of the Embers Restaurant for transfer of the common victualer-all alcoholic license from 1446-1466 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Buildings Inspector Allan

MacDonald said that architect Don Aikens, who will design the new restaurant, "has real talent."

Zarkadas said there is a possibility that the name of the restaurant will be changed.

City Clerk John Gillies said Zarkadas must appear before the board before such a change is made.

The restaurant will be located at the sites of the Jewelry Factory Outlet and Capri Handbags, according to Zarkadas.

Five Cited For Aid In Nursing Home Fire

Five citations were presented by the City Council Monday night to individuals and groups who played roles in the evacuation of 24 elderly patients during a fire at the Merrymount Manor Nursing home on Jan. 16.

One citation went to Mr. and Mrs. John Forbes, who gave shelter to many patients in their home across the street at 37 Edgemere Rd. until they could be taken in by other nursing homes.

Also cited were:

- The employees of the nursing home whose actions in evacuating the elderly and watching over them for 24 hours went above and beyond the duties of the usual employee. The citation was accepted by Denise Mehegan.

- Tony Siciliano and all members of the Civil Defense corps for helping police and firefighters at the fire and providing food and shelter for six elderly patients at CD headquarters.

- Members of the Police and Fire Departments for actions above and beyond the call of duty during the fire. The citations were accepted by Chiefs Edward Barry and Francis Finn.

Cigarettes Taken

Five cartons of cigarettes and $250 in cash were reported stolen by Charles Saluti from his room at 144 Phillips St., Wollaston. Police said there was no sign of forced entry.

Coins Stolen

"We service what we sell"

Condon Assails Mayor On GD Settlement

By TOM HENSHAW
City Councillor Joanne Condon fired what appeared to be the first salvo of the 1985 mayoral campaign Monday night when she criticized Mayor Francis X. McCauley for his settlement of the General Dynamics tax case that will cost the city $28 million over a 10 year period.

"I did not vote for the original bond and I would not vote for it today," she told fellow councillors. "I don't believe that the case was settled as it should."

Condon's comments came as the Council was considering a home rule petition that would permit the city to pay off an overlay deficit created by the General Dynamics case in 1994, the year after the last payment is made on the $28 million bond.

"I can't vote for this or any other legislation that takes money away from the city," said Condon. "This will mean fewer city services for the people of Quincy."

She suggested that perhaps the city should go to the state for a grant to pay the $2.5 million overlay. "Boston, Lynn and New Bedford were bailed out by the state legislature," she said. "Quincy has not been helped. I don't think we have done enough homework on this."

She noted that all three Quincy members of the State House are in leadership positions and able to get more for the city.

The deficit came about in the late 1970s when the city increased the valuation of the shipyard. General Dynamics protested and, by law, was permitted to withhold two-thirds of the first year's tax hike and one-third of the second year's.

The city treated the withheld payment as a receipt, programmed it into the tax rate, borrowed against it, and, when it went uncollected, filed a lien against the shipyard property.

When the city lost the General Dynamics tax case in court, part of the decision was that the city would issue to the company a certificate of abatement so it could write the debt off its books and clear the lien against its property.

But the city could not do that until the overlay deficit is settled.

Council President James A. Sheets warned Monday night that General Dynamics could come in and demand the certificate of abatement and the city would have to issue it and deduct the $2.5 million from the budget for the next fiscal year.

The home rule petition would permit the city to issue the certificate and pay off the deficit in 1994.

"General Dynamics has the power to force us to issue the certificate," said Sheets. "They may demand it next week. We must weigh carefully what we do."

What the Council eventually did was this:

The home rule petition was amended to give the Council some say in how the deficit was to be paid. Condon voted against the amendment. Then the matter was put back to the Finance Committee for further discussion.

Tough Safety Rules For Swimming Pools

The City Council finally got around to placing stiff safety restrictions on the city's privately owned swimming pools Monday night.

The ordinance was originally filed by Councillor Patricia Toland last July but went through numerous amendments before reaching a final acceptable form.

The ordinance requires that any swimming pool with 24 inches or more of water be surrounded by a fence "sufficient to make such water inaccessible to small children."

The chain link or stockade-type fence must be six feet high and firmly secured at ground level.

The gate must be self-latching with the latch at least four feet above the ground level and operable from the outside only by key. Above ground pools must have retractable ladders.

Each pool must have a life saver with 20 feet of rope or a hook 16 feet long.

A pool with a five-foot fence erected prior to Jan. 1, 1985, is deemed to meet the height requirements.

The penalty for violation is $100 for each day in which the violation continues.

Council Reconsiders Vote On Personal Property Reval

It seems that Mayor Francis X. McCauley's plan to update personal property values in the city is not dead after all.

The same City Council that killed the proposal by a 5-4 vote and also interred it by a 5-4 vote Jan. 21 brought it back to life Monday, again by a 5-4 vote.

McCauley proposed that the Council appropriate $50,000 for the assessors to revalue personal property, most of it upward, and pick up some $8 million in valuation for the city.

The Council voted it down Jan. 21 with Councillors Michael Cheney, Joanne Condon, Theodore DeCristofaro, Joseph J. LaRaia and John J. Lydon Jr., voting against it.

Later that evening, LaRaia, who was a member of the prevailing group, moved to reconsider it and again it lost, 5-4, with La-Raia voting for it and Councillor Stephen J. McGrath against.

Monday night McGrath, a member of the winning side on the vote to reconsider, moved that the council reconsider its vote for reconsideration.

This time both LaRaia and McGrath voted for reconsideration and the appropriation was revived and sent to the Finance Committee, presumably for more study.

$2,500 Break In N.Q. Home

Thomas gibbons of Windsor Rd., North Quincy, reported to police Sunday that jewelry and other items valued at nearly $2,500 were stolen from his home.

Among the items taken were a gold watch and a gold claddagh ring valued at $800 a stereo at $600, two star sapphire rings at $500 and a camera at $450.

Entry was gained through a front window.

Anderson Named To Water Board

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson has been named to the 11-member Board of Directors of the newly created Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

The appointment was made by Gov. Michael Dukakis from a list of three recommendations submitted by Mayor Francis X. McCauley. Anderson was McCauley's first choice.

The unpaid board will supervise the Water Resources Authority, which will initiate a cleanup of

Reader's Forum Takes Issue With Rent Grievance Board Meeting Statements

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Because of a news
broadcast on WJDA, Monday, Jan. 29, announcing a special meeting of the Rent Grievance Board on Tuesday evening, and having a hearing problem, I took my tape recorder along and attended the meeting.

I now plead with those tenants who were ill-advised that they didn't have to pay the rent increase. This advice should not be taken until they consult their lawyer, as the law is very specific as to the details and they could find themselves facing eviction. This is not Russia.

The result of the meeting was that over two hours were spent, talking to the landlord and his four tenants, intimidating the landlord who had just purchased the building. He was credited by a board member who agreed his new rents were reasonable for the size and conditions of his apartment, was praised by another for maintaining his buildings in good condition.
But as hard as the Board tried, he would not accept their society's demands by lowering his rents.

There was no evidence or testimony of any rent increases over $100 and up to $150 as charged, or as being exorbitant, by the Board. Neither was there any testimony which would substantiate the repeated charge of greedy landlords, by the Committee, if they would compare Quincy's rents with surrounding cities and towns.

The Committee didn't offer any reduced taxes to the landlord if he would reduce his rents for these single parents and subsidized tenants for taking over society's obligation. He didn't create their problem.

What has happened to the good old U.S.A.?

It was equally disgusting that the other landlord was tried in absentia, both on the radio and newspaper before and after the hearing. What a gross injustice!

The Board would be better off if they took affirmative action measures on welfare and other types of assistance to increase these peoples' rent assistance so that they could afford this decent housing instead of berating the landlords who have all the overhead bills to pay along with their other responsibilities.

This not being the first time inaccurate public statements have been made,
I call upon the Mayor to investigate this injustice against the Housing Industry.

ANSWER: To the contrary, the busy, out-of-town prospect is your best prospect. Never get annoyed by a last-minute appointment. These out-of-town transferees don't have the luxury of time on their side. They need a house now - not in a year from now. They're more apt to make a bonafide, immediate offer than one who has all the time in the world. Don't treat it as an inconvenience, but rather as an opportunity to accomplish what you wanted in the first place - sell your home!

OUT-OF-TOWN TRANSFER-
REES are excellent prospects.
They are anxious to move and more apt to make an immediate offer.

McCauley Welcomes Condon, Council 'Brother Act'?

After a free ride to re-election two years ago, how does Mayor Francis McCauley feel about being challenged this year by Councillor Joanne Condon?

"I welcome the opposition," he says. "It's good for the city. And it's good for me."

He says it will give him the opportunity to take his record of service to the people.

"Once they have had the chance to review it, I'm sure I will be re-elected to a third term in November," he says.
He expects to spend $50,000 in his re-election bid.
The money will go to the traditional advertising vehicles—newspapers, radio, direct mailing and other literature.

But this year, he plans also on using television.

"I guess I'm Quincy's first television mayor," he says.
"It came in when I came into the mayor's office." (1982).

He has been seen frequently on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 newscasts—the first mayor to hold press conference on TV, the first to deliver his inaugural and mid-term address and the first to comment on any news events affecting the city on TV.

He projects well on TV and now wants to capitalize on that ability with paid political announcements on TV.

THERE MAY BE a "brother act" in this year's city elections.

Tom Koch, younger brother of Councillor at-large Richard Koch, Sr., is reportedly seriously considering making a run for the Ward 6 council seat being vacated by Joanne Condon to challenge Mayor McCauley.

Earlier it appeared that their sister, Linda Bowes, might be the next member of the family to get into the political ring.

That speculation started when she resigned as the treasurer of her brother Richard's campaign committee.

But, as it turns out, she stepped down from that post for a personal reason: she wants to devote full time to her two young children, a son who has just entered the first grade and a three and a half year old daughter.

And, she is putting her own political ambitions on the back burner for the same reason.

She has had the political bug since—as a youngster—
she presented flowers to then Congressman John F.
Kennedy who was running for the U.S. Senate.

That was in 1958 at Cavanaugh Field North Quincy when her dad, Richard Koch, Sr., made Kennedy an honorary member of the Koch Club—an honor bestowed on no other person.

But Linda prefers to be a full-time Mom and get back to politics sometime in the future.

And, as she steps out of the Ward 6 picture, brother Tom reportedly is giving "very serious" thought to stepping in.

He is a student at Quincy Junior College and has a landscape business.

He knows his way around the political circuit having directed his brother's three campaigns (one loss, two wins) for councillor at-large.

He's also got the political bug. At North Quincy High School he was president of his senior class.

McCAULEY

If he does run and were elected and his brother was re-elected would that be a political first for Quincy?

A quick check failed to find two brothers in the City Council at the same time.

But, there was a father-son team back in 1892.
Herbert Federhen, Sr. and Herbert Federhen, Jr.
both represented Ward 2 and were living in the same house at the time.

In those days, it was a 23-member City Council with five at-large and three from each of the six wards.

IT'S FAREWELL TO Quincy this

Sunday for Rev. William Walsh who has been Catholic chaplain at Quincy City Hospital and assistant at St.
John's Church for nearly seven years.

Fr. Walsh, who will be assuming his new duties as pastor of St. Peter's Church in Lowell, will say a Mass of Thanksgiving at 12:30 p.m. at St.
John's.

A reception for him will be held in the church hall from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

We wish him well in his new assignment. It's a big gain for Lowell and a big loss for Quincy.

It was typical of him when, a fellow priest confides, he asked for a poor parish.

Good luck and best wishes, Father.

WALSH

A LOCAL FIRST—a reunion of past and present elected Quincy officials—will be held Feb. 14 from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club.

There will be no charge but donations will be accepted to establish a scholarship for a student attending Quincy Junior College who wants to pursue a career in government.

The reunion committee comprises School
Committeewoman Mary Collins, Senator Paul Harold,
Rep. Michael Morrissey and Councillor Patricia Toland.

HAROLD

SENATOR Paul Harold will be honored Feb. 12 as "Man of The Year" by St. Coletta's School in Braintree.

Harold is the 16th person to be honored by the school for service to the mentally and physically handicapped.

The award will be presented at a 6 to 8 p.m. fundraising reception at the school. Tickets ($50 per person) are available by contacting the school.

Proceeds will benefit St. Coletta's.

SMALL WORLD DEPT.: Mayor Francis
McCauley, who lives in Houghs Neck, is often out

3-4 Years Left

Dump Life Problem Aired At Committee Meeting

The City Council's Finance Committee took a quick look at the perennial problem of the city dump Monday night and decided to take a longer look later on.

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson said the city landfill in West Quincy has about three to four more years of life.

"The single largest problem the DPW has is the city landfill and how it fits in with what is a problem for the entire state," said Anderson.

Anderson said there is no specific plan as to what the city will do with its solid waste once the landfill is no longer usable.

"If there are only three or four years left then we have a very severe problem," said Council President James A. Sheets.

"There is a good possibility that we will have to truck our solid wastes substantial distances at a cost of $2 million or more for disposal.

"We are well past the fail-safe point.

"There are no solid waste facilities being constructed in the Boston area ready in the next four years. It would take five or six years to build."

Anderson told the City Council that the only recent specific plan for a solid waste plant in the area was Rochester, Mass.

"It would have cost the city $12 a ton for disposal over the next 27 years," said Anderson. "The mayor decided against it. Now the figure has been raised to $19 or $20 a ton."

Anderson said the major change in the city dump during his three years in office has been that the dump is now in compliance with state and federal environmental regulations.

Neponset Youth Held In N.Q.

Murder

A Neponset youth was ordered held without bail in Quincy District Court after Judge Albert E. Avery found probable cause to believe him guilty of slaying Harry (Pop) Riddell, whose body was found in his bakery on Sagamore St., North Quincy, Nov. 1, 1932.

The most damaging testimony was given by Police Lt. George W. Fallon, who told of the youth's alleged confession made in Dedham jail in which he admitted entering the bakery with another man to "stick up old Pop" and killed him when he resisted.

Dr. Fred E. Jones, the county medical examiner, testified that Riddell died of "manual strangulation," apparently caused by finger pressure around the neck and chin. Four lacerations on the lips and 10 under the chin were ascribed to the assailant's fingernails.

The prosecution was led by Asst. Dist. Atty. George Arbuckle while Atty. Jeremiah J. McAnaney, former Quincy city solicitor, represented the defendant.

DANCE MARATHON PLANNED

Douglas Yule, the Wollaston automobile man and motor boat racer, and Leonard Brand, manager of the Lincoln Theater in Quincy Point, said they planned to reapply to the License Board for a permit to hold a dance marathon in Quincy. The Board had previously turned down the application.

Yule said the dance marathon would fight unemployment in Quincy by hiring 12 musicians, six cashiers, six doormen, eight ushers, four matrons, three attendants, two doctors, three cleaners, two managers, two advertising men and one utility man.

The City Council went on record endorsing the License Board's stand on the motion of Councillor Laurence J. Curtin, who claimed the dance would attract "undesirables."

STEDMAN TO BE HONORED

The city was planning a gigantic reception for its newest hero, Capt. Giles Chester Stedman, commander of the S.S. American Merchant, who saved the lives of 22 members of the crew of the S.S. Exeter City when the British freighter sank in a North Atlantic storm.

There was talk of changing the name of the Quincy High School auditorium to Stedman Hall.

HEAVIEST SNOWFALL

The heaviest snowfall of the year buried Quincy under 15 inches of the white stuff, giving employment to some 400 shovelers and topping the ski jump at the St. Moritz winter sports area in West Quincy with damage estimated at $3,000.

Morrissey Urges Support For New Red Line Station

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey has urged Quincy residents who use the MBTA's Red Line to commute to Boston to voice their support of the proposed second platform at Columbia station in Dorchester to serve UMass-Boston and the Kennedy Library.

The MBTA is currently reviewing two plans to alter the Red Line to permit such a stop. The issue, said Morrissey, is whether to include the Savin Hill station as another stop on the South Shore extension.

"The two proposals differ in terms of location, commuting time, construction time and cost," said Morrissey.

"The first alternative, Columbia only, would require little alteration of current tracks; just new platform space adjacent to the old platform.

"The second alternative requires merging the two sets of tracks and construction of a flyover prior to Savin Hill station as well as extensive alterations.

"The first alternative will offer South Shore residents a faster commute to Boston. It will take less time to complete and is two and a half times less expensive than the second alternative.

"The project is being delayed because residents of Savin Hill are pushing for the flyover alternative. Estimates for flyover costs are about $20 million.

"The Savin Hill station is the least used as far as ridership on the entire Red Line. It will add additional commuting time to our South Shore riders."

The Quincy City Council recently passed a resolution supporting the first alternative.

School Committee Agenda

1. Approval of Minutes- Regular Session-Jan. 16.
2. Superintendent's Report:

A. Mental Health Services- The South Shore Mental Health Center works in close cooperation with the school system in providing a broad array of mental health services to students and their families. Staff consultation is also provided. Carol Lee Griffin and Pamela Maltz, Director of the Child and Adolescent Clinic, will present an overview of these services.

B. Child Assault Prevention- Dr. Richard Chrystal and Dr. Luleen Anderson will provide a report on the progress and efforts currently underway concerning the Child Assault Prevention Program.

3. Reports of Special Committees

A. Negotiations- Executive Session.

B. Ratification of Contract with Quincy Public Schools Security Force-For the period July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1985.

4. Hearings

A. Request from the Professional Conditions Committee-To appear before the School Committee for the purpose of preventing PCC's representation relative to an outreach program and two alternative learning programs.

5. Old Business

A. Construction Review North Quincy High School-A letter has been received from the Assistant City Solicitor relative to the NQHS roof construction.

B. High School Prerequisites-This item remains on the table at the request of Mr. Verenis.

C. Quincy Junior College Listing of Courses and Students-At the School Committee meeting of Dec. 5, Mrs. Picard requested that the Committee be provided with a list of courses and the number of students currently in them at the College.

D. Middle School Enrollments-Mrs. Collins requested that this item be placed on the agenda.

6. New Business

A. Substance Use and Abuse Programs-John Mahoney, Quincy Public Schools Social Health Coordinator, will discuss Quincy's programs. A meeting was held Jan. 22 for the establishment of a school community advisory council consistent with the recommendations set forth by Governor Dukakis in his campaign against drug and alcohol abuse.

B. Results of California Test of Basic Skills for 1984-Miss Janet DiTullio, Language Arts Coordinator, has been assigned the responsibility for managing the testing program. She will present the results of the California Test of Basic Skills for grades 4, 6, 8, and 10.

C. Funding from the Commonwealth Inservice Institute

1. A proposal entitled "Classroom Language Analysis for Student Success" written by Charles Weiler and Constance Graham, both of Pupil Personnel Services staff, has been funded in the amount of $770. Inservice sessions will be set up to train special education teachers and speech and language therapists to develop strategies for analyzing and modifying instructional language for language disabled students. Miss Graham will present to discuss the proposal.

2. The Quincy Public Schools has been awarded a grant from the Commonwealth Inservice Institute of the Massachusetts Department of Education to conduct equity training.

Alicia Coletti will discuss this proposal.

D. Sale of Surplus Equipment-A member of the custodial staff has purchased a surplus balance beam from the school system. The City Solicitor's office indicates that the availability of such an item should be advertised to all staff members prior to any sale.

E. Gifts

1. Nine Copies of the Book, Lupus: Hope Through Understanding, has been donated to the Quincy schools by the South Shore Lupus Group through the auspices of Mrs. Helen Dooner of the Daniel Webster School.

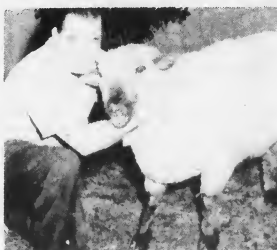

2. The Squantum School PTO has donated two computers to the school. The School Committee is asked to accept this gift.

For Your Special Valentine Quality.

It's as important in diamonds as in anything else you own.

And quality shows—in a fine diamond, a home, or an automobile. Quality in diamonds is determined by the 4Cs: Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat weight. Cut is the precise formula for cutting a diamond to allow the maximum amount of light in. Color refers to the different gradations from exceptional white to yellowish. Quality is also determined by Clarity, the degree to which a diamond is free of interior and exterior inclusions. Finally, there is Carat weight, the size of the diamond.

'Girls' Day Out' During Voc-Ed Week

In recognition of National Vocational Education Week, Feb. 10-16, Quincy Vocational-Technical School will host the female eighth grade students for a "Girls' Day Out" during that week.

Joseph Mazzarella, Vocational School Director, met recently with middle school counselors to plan the week. The counselors were Mary Catherine Iannoni and Joseph Ryan of Central, Frank Mullen of Sterling, Stephen DeRosso of Atlantic, Cornelius Sheehan of Broad Meadows

Mario Casali of Quincy Point and Carter Caudle and Marie Hurley of Voc-Tech. Title IX 622 Coordinator, Alicia Coletti also attended.

Students will visit the electronics, metals and machines, auto repair, electrical, plumbing and carpentry shops and meet with the instructors to investigate the opportunities for women in non-traditional jobs.

They will receive an orientation which will include information about pay scales in these jobs and a demonstration of robots in the electronics shop and a film on welding.

Female students presently enrolled in non-traditional shops at the vocational school will serve as tour guides for the visitors.

Marie Hurley, special needs teacher at Quincy Voc-Tech commented, "The purpose of this tour is to open the eyes of girls in the middle schools to the possibilities open to them in all kinds of careers, including those which have in the past been considered 'men's jobs.'"

$2.5M Fundraising Drive For Patriots Trail Girl Scouts

Patriots' Trail Girl Scout Council is conducting a $2.5 million Capital Campaign.

Proceeds from the fundraising drive will be used to restore and renovate six camps in Massachusetts, two camps in New Hampshire and seven Scout Houses on the South Shore. These sites are used by more than 20,000 girls annually. In Quincy, Patriots' Trail Council serves more than 600 girls and adult volunteers. Quincy Capital Campaign volunteers are raising funds to renovate Cedar Hill Outdoor Center, a site often used by Quincy Girl Scouts for weekend and summer camping.

Officially launched in March 1984, the Campaign has been supported by corporations, foundations, civic organizations and individuals. To date, more than $1,994,000 has been raised.

Patriots' Trail Girl Scout Council is the largest council in New England and the sixth largest council in the nation. The Capital Campaign—the first major fundraiser of its kind in the 70 year history of Girl Scouting in Massachusetts—has received the endorsement of the Mass Bay United Way.

Shotgun Robbers Hit Store

Three men, one of them wielding a sawed off shotgun, held up the Presidential Liquor store, 21 Scammell St., Quincy Point, Saturday night and escaped with between $500 and $600.

Clerk Fred Brandolini, 23, of Quincy, said he was outside the store starting his car when one of the men pushed him back into the store and demanded money.

Owner Charles O'Leary, 44, of Dedham told police he was in the office when a second man approached and held a shotgun on him while he too demanded money.

The third man escorted Brandolini and O'Leary into the beer chest where they remained for several minutes before emerging to call police.

The three robbers were described as black, in their 20s and wearing black coats and scarfs.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

TO OUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

We at the Deware Funeral Home consider the people in our community to be our friends as well as our neighbors. . . For more than 45 years we have been privileged to serve this community.

Through the years it has been our policy to offer sincere professional service. We are available for counsel at anytime. . . day or night. Your questions are always welcome. Your questions will always be answered frankly, completely and sincerely.

We realize that so many aspects of the relationship between a funeral director and those he is serving is of a highly confidential nature and that is why we value most, both personally and professionally, the trust so many families in our community have reposed in us over the years.

If you wish to discuss pre-planning or pre-financing, we are available at anytime to help you. This, of course, is without cost or obligation. . . As your friend and your neighbor, we consider this a privilege. . .

'Thirsty For Life' Sermon At Bethany Church

There will be two worship services Sunday, Feb. 10, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services on the theme "Thirsty for Life," based on the scriptural passage from the Gospel of John 4:1-30, 39-42.

Lay scripture readers will be Robert L. Lockwood for the early service and Kenneth F. Fernald for the late service. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington will assist in leading the worship at both services.

At the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter F.

Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory "Come Down, O Spirit, Love Divine" composed by R. Vaughan Williams, and as the second anthem, "Cherubim Song" by Boriniarsky-Ishakowsky. The sacrament of adult Christian Baptism will be administered to Samuel H. Howard during the sanctuary service.

The worship service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, (1300) at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The Senior High Class, ninth to 12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples, Jr.

Nursery care for babies and toddlers is provided during the 10 a.m. worship

SERVICE

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

Sunday, Feb. 10, there will be an open discussion on the Billy Graham film, "The Prodigal," in the Allen Parlor. Persons are encouraged to see this film which is currently showing in area theaters. The discussion is open to the public and will be led by Rev. Huntington and Rev. Arnold, beginning at 7 p.m. Light refreshments will be served and adjournment will be by 8:45 p.m.

For information about Bethany's ministries and programs, contact the church office at 479-7300.

'Taking Time To Listen' Squantum Church Topic

In a candlelight setting in Fellowship Hall, around an extended Communion table over 20 feet long, members of the First Church of Squantum gathered Sunday morning to observe the Lord's Supper and to renew their commitment to Jesus Christ.

The mood of the service was deeper than usual because most of the worshippers had learned only moments before the service that a well-loved church member, Robert Hansen, had died a few hours before.

By the end of the service, during which there had been special prayers for all of the members of the Hansen household, including Robert, there was mingled with the sadness at Robert's passing, a general sense of the nearness of God and a spirit of thanksgiving for God's faithfulness even at a time such as this.

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "Taking Time to Listen." His sermon was based on two texts: "Wait on the Lord, he of good courage, and He shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say on the Lord." (Psalm 27:14) and "He who has ears to hear, let him hear." (Matthew 11:15) Dr. Langevin spoke of his personal experience of the presence of God.

For the offertory anthem the Chancel Choir sang an arrangement of "My Jesus, I Love Thee," a traditional Protestant hymn. During the Lord's Supper, guitarists Andrew Ogilvie, Mary Ruth Scott and Steve Williams sang "Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God."

The congregation sang "Crown Him with Many Crowns," "Lord, speak to Me, That I May Speak," "Glory, Glory," and "Now, O Lord, Go with Us." The last two hymns were also sung to guitar accompaniment.

The communion elements of bread and wine were distributed by Deacons Gretchen Bumpus, Hazel Mayne, Carl Anderson, Evelyn Ahearn, Steve Williams and Stewart Scott, to members of the congregation who, because the table had been extended, were able to stand as one family all the way around the communion table.

The morning had begun with an all-church breakfast sponsored by young people in the church. Greeters were Pat and Dana Olson with their daughters Kimberly and Kristen. Ushers were Lore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Eva Martin.

The memorial service for Robert Hansen will be held Saturday, Feb. 9, at 10 a.m. at the church.

There will be two services this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are always welcome.

Sacred Heart Sodality To See Passion Play Slides

The Feb. 13 meeting of the Sacred Heart Parish Sodality (North Quincy) will feature slides of the special anniversary performance of the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany which took place last summer.

The program, beginning at 8 p.m. in Sacred Heart School hall, will be presented by Jane O'Brien of North Quincy.

Kindergarten, Grade One Registration At St. Mary's

Registration for kindergarten and grade one at St. Mary's School, Crescent St., West Quincy, will take place Tuesday, Feb. 12, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the School Library.

Screening for grade one students will take place

April 9 in the School Library.

There are limited openings in other grades throughout the school. Anyone wishing to register their child for grades other than kindergarten and first grade should contact the school office 773-5251 at his or her earliest convenience.

Parents must bring the child who is applying with them to registration.

Birth certificates, baptismal records, and medical reports must also be brought at this time.

Faith Lutheran Youth Plan Ski Trip

The LYFE group from Faith Lutheran Church will sponsor a ski trip to Rutland, Vt., Feb. 13-18.

Pastor James L. Kimmel and group advisors will be in charge of the trip.

Other February vacation activities for the youth include painting the Church Center at 65 Roberts St., and remodeling a basement room at the church. The room will be used for various LYFE group activities.

Aquinas Hall

'Hearts, Flowers Dance' At St. Aquinas Hall

A Covered Dish Supper and "Hearts and Flowers Dance" will be held Saturday, Feb. 16, at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, sponsored by the Houghs Neck Community Council. Supper will be at 7:30 p.m. followed by dancing from 8 p.m. to midnight with Dennis Kelley, disc jockey.

Tickets may be obtained in advance from Mrs. Daniel Bythrow, chairman, or any member of the executive board and will also be sold at the door.

Income Tax Help At Fenno House

James Casey will assist senior citizens with their income tax forms starting Feb. 5 at Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Casey will offer assistance Tuesdays 9 a.m. to noon through February and March.

Senior citizens who are not residents of Fenno House but who live in Quincy are welcome to come to Fenno House for income tax assistance.

Medical Malpractice Topic For Bar Association

Atty. James P. McCarthy will speak on the various aspects of medical malpractice at a dinner of the Quincy Bar Association Monday, Feb. 11, at the Cathay Pacific Restaurant in North Quincy. Dinner will be served shortly after 7 p.m.

HOW U.S. RANKS IN MATERNAL DEATH RATES

The United States is the safest country in the Western Hemisphere in which to have a baby, but half a dozen European nations have even lower maternal mortality rates.

The World Health Organization recently compiled figures from 36 nations on deaths related to pregnancy, childbirth, and confinement after labor. The U.S. maternal mortality rate of 29.1 per 100,000 live births showed a 57 per cent decrease in deaths in the last 15 years.

Sweden ranked safest, with 11.3 per 100,000, an 84 per cent decrease in the same 15 year period. Four other European countries - Denmark, Belgium, Ireland and the Netherlands - showed better rates than the U.S.

The worst record was in Chile, with 272 deaths per 100,000 live births. Columbia and Ceylon had maternal mortality rates almost as poor.

O'Connell Outlines Chamber's Transportation Goals

Peter F. O'Connell, president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, spoke at a recent Legislative Buttonhole Session of the Chamber, and outlined several transportation goals.

"In the past, we have gone to our government officials, hat in hand, and hoped for the best," said O'Connell. "The South Shore must now demand a transportation system worthy of this area."

Squantum to Boston and Logan Airport.

O'Connell voiced the Chamber's concerns to over 200 Chamber members and area legislators, including House Speaker George Keever, State Transportation Secretary Fred Salvucci, DPW Commissioner Robert Tierney, MBTA General Manager James O'Leary, and State Revenue Commissioner Ira Jackson.

Also attending the Chamber Buttonhole Session were Atty. Gen. Francis Belforti, State Republican Party Executive Director Gene Hartigan, State Senators Edward Kirby, William Golden, Anna Buckley and William

Keating, and State Representatives John Flood of Canton, Chairman of the House Taxation Committee; Robert Cerasoli of Quincy, Chairman of the House Post Audit and Oversight Committee; Michael Morrissey of Quincy, Chairman of the House Committee on Counties; Thomas Brownell of Quincy, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee; Robert Emmett Hayes of Whitman, Suzanne Bump of Braintree; Fran Mara of Brockton; M. Joseph Manning of Milton; and Peter Forman of Plymouth. Also attending were representatives of several state agencies and the governor's office.

Alcohol Treatment Costs Explained To Lions Club

Dr. Ronald C. Hersch, director of the Delphi Center in Quincy, told a Quincy Lions Club meeting recently that heavy drinking alone accounts for $38 million of the $355 billion spent on health care annually in the United States.

Too much money is being wasted on alcohol inpatient treatment, he said.

The only reimbursable way for treatment of alcoholism is inpatient care, he said, usually in the form of a 28-day program which provides 10.5 hours of treatment per day costing close to $10,000.

But, he said, insurance companies refuse to cover outpatient treatment, which offers the same 10.5 hours of treatment at 25 percent of the cost in only 14 days.

North Blanks Quincy For Tourney Berth

By TOMSULLIVAN

It took North Quincy's hockey teams 23 years before they returned to the state tournament last year, but last Saturday night the Raiders qualified for the post-season event for the second year in a row with a 7-0 victory over Quincy.

North qualified with five games still to play and the Raiders should be seeded much higher this season than last when they defeated Saugus but were walloped by St. John's Prep in their second tournament game.

Kevin Jago's North team Monday night defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 9-1, to improve its record to 12-2. The Raiders are tied for first place in the Suburban League with Waltham with 24 points, but Waltham has a game in hand. Waltham handed North both its defeats and the Raiders get another crack at the Hawks next Wednesday at 6 o'clock at the Watertown Rink. North played Newton North last night (Wednesday).

North had things its own way against Quincy this season, winning all three games by an aggregate score of 20-1.

Rob Reidy scored two goals against Quincy, which fell to 2-9-3 in the league and 2-10-4 overall.

Rich Horrigan also scored a goal as the Reidy-Horrigan-Dave Tapper line continues to be one of the highest scoring in the league. Dave Fasano, Tom McGrath, Greg McGlame and Mike Haynes had the other goals and Horrigan added two assists.

Matt Higgins, the league's top goalie, had 18 saves, including some spectacular ones.

"The boys did a fine job and came out flying, wanting to clinch a tournament berth," said Jago. "Last year we didn't qualify until the final week and if we keep on winning, we should get a better break in the seedings this season."

Things didn't get any better for Quincy earlier last week as it lost to Newton North, 6-2.

The Presidents faced Brockton last night (Wednesday), will play Cambridge Rindge and Latin Saturday night at 7:30 at Boston University and will host Brookline next Wednesday at 6:30 at the Youth Arena.

Raiders Bow In Double Overtime

It has been a long, hard season for Ed Miller and his North Quincy basketball team.

The Raiders have been able to capture just one Suburban League win, a one-pointer over Quincy, and they suffered one of their toughest losses last Friday when they forced Newton North to two overtimes before losing, 74-72. North Quincy (3-12) faced Cambridge Rindge and Latin Tuesday, will be idle Friday and will play at Quincy next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

North and Newton were tied, 66-66, at the end of regulation time last Friday, after the Raiders had stormed back from a 42-30 halftime deficit.

Freshman Dave Lawless sent the game into the second overtime with two free throws with seven seconds left in the first extra session.

North had a chance to send the game into a third overtime but Ken Runge, who had a big night with 26 points, missed a shot at the buzzer.

Mark Scanlon had 18 points and had six steals in the third quarter when North tied the game at 54.

"This was a great effort by the kids and it was a really tough one for them to lose," said Miller. "It has been a frustrating year, but I am very proud of the way the kids came back tonight."

Earlier in the week the Raiders had been bombed for the second time by undefeated Brockton, 69-36, as the Boxers raced out to a 17-0 lead.

Lawless had 12 points for North and Runge added 11.

Presidents Lose Lead, Fall To Brookline

Quincy's embattled boys' basketball team appeared to be on its way to its first Suburban League win last Friday but the Presidents lost a good lead, as they have so many times this season, and dropped a 61-58 decision to Brookline. Quincy's record dropped to 3-12.

Rick DeCristofaro's Presidents played at Brookline

Tuesday, will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday night at 7:30 and will be home to North Quincy next Tuesday night at 7. This is a tough stretch for Quincy as unbeaten Brockton and once-beaten Cambridge are 1-2 in the league.

Quincy had a 48-36 lead going into the fourth quarter last Friday but Brookline came back, with a pressure man-to-man defense, to overcome the lead and pull out its seventh win. It scored on several layups and hit its foul shots.

Bill Shaughnessy, the league's top scorer, had another great night with 23 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists, while Pat Faherty had 10 points and seven rebounds and Max Johnson scored 10 points and pulled down 13 rebounds.

Earlier in the week Quincy dropped a 63-49 decision to Waltham despite 27 points by Shaughnessy. The Presidents trailed, 23-7, after a quarter, cut the lead to 35-21 at the half and came as close as 43-36.

Tozzi Director First Auerbach Track Meet

Lou Tozzi, highly successful North Quincy girls' track coach, is the director of the first Red Auerbach development track meet Saturday, Feb. 9, at MIT.

This meet for high school boys and girls is sanctioned by the MIAA and directed by the Mass. State Track Coaches Association.

The Red Auerbach Foundation, created to guarantee that Auerbach's name will live on and that interscholastic and youth sports will benefit from funds raised by the foundation, is sponsoring the Feb. 9 meet. It will also financially support the boys and girls' state track meet which had been eliminated when the old BAA and K of C meets left Boston Garden.

There will be freshman-sophomore sections and junior-senior sections for large and small schools. The large schools will start competition at 9:30 a.m. and the small schools at 1:30 p.m.

There is no entry fee as the Auerbach Foundation is financially sponsoring the meet, including medals.

There will be no team award and Red Auerbach medals will be awarded to six place winners in the four sections of each division, except two-mile (two sections) and relay (three places only).

Entries must be postmarked by this Saturday, Feb. 2, and should be mailed to Lou Tozzi, 26 Hayes Way, Marshfield 02050.

Craig, Nousio Pace Quincy Over Norwood

Lloyd Craig was the high scorer with seven points and Toivo Nousio was right behind with six as the Quincy High School basketball team avenged an early season setback with a 20-18 victory over Norwood.

Norwood managed to come from behind to tie the game 16-16 with two and a half minutes to play but Bruce MacMulklin hit from the floor with two minutes left and Nousio clinched it with a basket with only 50 seconds remaining.

The Quincy lineup included: Craig, Broderick, Nousio, forwards; Kangas, Pearson, center; Pendergast, Nomington, Bowman, MacMulklin, guards.

NORTH LOSES

A late rally by the North Quincy High School basketball team, led by Te Mitchell, fell just short and the Raiders bowed to Milton, 28-25, in a rough game that saw North outscore Milton from the floor, 11-10, only to lose at the foul line.

Mitchell, the lanky Raider center, scored 12 points, high for both teams, and Walter (Cap) Bryan added nine.

The North Quincy lineup included: Cooke, Bryan, Reilly, forwards; Mitchell, center; Joly, Nelson, guards.

QUINCY SIX BOWS

Framingham's Taylor put the puck past Quincy goalie King in the first three minutes for the only goal of the game as the Presidents hockey team went down to defeat, 1-0, to fall into a first place tie with Framingham in the Bay State League.

The Quincy lineup included: King, goal; Ordway, Johnson, MacLachlan, defense; Cahoon, Shearer, Cleary, Bullock, Bayfield, forwards.

TRADE VICTORIOUS

Smith scored 10 points and Nigro added nine more and that was most of the offensive show as the Quincy Trade School basketball team downed Somerville Trade, 23-16, with a big second half effort. Somerville led 13-6 at the half.

The Quincy lineup included: Smith, Nigro, Gerry, forwards; Holster, center; Galvin, Quinn, Sullivan, guards.

NEILL STARS

Capt. Ben Neill won firsts in the 30-yard dash and the 35-yard low hurdles and had points in the 300-yard run but the Quincy High School indoor track team was soundly beaten by Brockton, 53 1/2 to 23 1/2 in the Brockton Army.

Other Quincy points were recorded by George Reardon, first in the shotput; Marsden Harding, second in the shotput; Reardon, third in the running high jump; Robert Harper, second in the standing broad jump.

HAYNES TOP SCORER

Frannie Haynes threw in an amazing 31 points to lead the Quincy Point Boys Club to a 58-47 decision over the Clapp Memorial basketball team in the East Weymouth gym.

The Boys Club lineup included: Thurber, Jensen, McIntyre, forwards; Odom, center; Hackett, Sullivan, Haynes, Savage, guards.

POINT DROPS SOUTH

Zarelli of Point and Reggiano of South tied for high scoring honors with six apiece but the powerful Point basketball team prevailed over South, 22-16, in a Junior High School League game.

The Point lineup included: Stevens, Zarelli, Pompeo, forwards; Buckley, center; Franchuk, Koski, DiTullio, Giachetti, guards.

SPORTS BITS '33

Manager Bob Greer announced that Eddie McManus, former American Soccer League player, would be in the lineup for his Clan MacGregor team against the Dorchester Waverly... Crawford Balch and Big Bill O'Connell scored 22 points between them as the Quincy YMCA basketball team powered its way past Attleboro, 46-30... Coach Gordon Hathaway was holding once a week boxing classes at Quincy High School... Guarcello felled his opponent in the 98-pound class with a half nelson and an arm bar in 40 seconds to lead the Quincy High School wrestling team to a 35-5 decision over Needham... Teddy Gladwin more than doubled the scoring of his team's opponents with 13 points as the Central team coasted to a 27-6 victory over North in a Junior High School Basketball League game... A. Pant paced the Quincy YMCA wrestling team with five points in the AAU tournament at the Woburn YMCA...

Quincy Parents Club Honors Shaughnessy Most Valuable Player, Cullen Wins Grandville Award

Fullback Joe Cullen received the annual Jack Granville Award for being named the best Quincy player in the North Quincy football game.

The presentation was made at the first banquet sponsored by the Quincy Football Parents Club at the Sons of Italy Hall.

The Parents Club took over last fall when the Quincy Fathers Club ended operations after more than 300 years of supporting the Quincy football teams.

The Grandville Award was presented by Frank Osborne and Buddy Page, two long-time members of the Fathers Club.

Quarterback Bill Shaughnessy, who has received a four-year scholarship to the University of Mass. in Amherst, received the Most Valuable Player Award.

Other special award winners included Daron Tucker, best offensive back; Joe Conti, best defensive back; Steve Perfetto, best offensive lineman; John O'Callahan and Kevin Burke, best defensive lineman; P. J. Duggan, most versatile player; his two brothers, Jim and Fran, had previously won special awards; Mark Callahan, special teams award; Pat Calabro, best linebacker, and Peter Gangi, most improved player.

The Paul V. Grasso Memorial Award, donated by Bill Osborne in memory of a former Quincy player killed in Vietnam, was presented to Gerry Frazier by Grasso's brother for being named the unsung hero.

The 12th player award given by the Firefighters Association was presented to John Wholey by Noel Balducci. Rich Pettinelli won the coaches award and the Queen's trophy was presented to Ruth Simon.

Club president Jerry Perfetto was toastmaster and introduced the head table guests, Principal Lloyd Hill, director of personnel Carmen Mariano, representing Sup. John Osterman; head coach Jack Raymer, assistant coaches Mark and Jeff Giordani and Peter Cassidy, freshman coaches Mith Finnegan and Bob Quist and North Quincy coach Ken McPhee.

The featured speaker was Ray "Sugar Bear" Hamilton, who played for the New England Patriots for nine years before retiring in 1982.

Raymer presented Suburban League first team all-star certificates to Conti, Tucker, Cullen and Shaughnessy and second team certificates to Calabro, O'Callahan, Perfetto, Duggan and Pettinelli.

The 1984 captains, Calabro, Shaughnessy, Cullen, Conti and Tucker introduced next year's captains, Mark Parrio, Kevin Jolley, Ron Luisi and Don Parry.

Jerry Perfetto presented plaques of appreciation to the Sons of Italy, which donated the hall, and the Bay State Ambulance Service, which donated an ambulance and attendants for every Quincy and North Quincy home game.

The Parents Club gave a new trophy, the Thanksgiving Day Trophy, to Hill for the Quincy trophy case.

The trophy will be held by Quincy until next Thanksgiving when it will be brought to Veterans Memorial Stadium and presented to the 1985 winner. The winning school will hold it for a year until the following Thanksgiving.

A film showing highlights of the 1984 season was shown.

Senior awards went to Shaughnessy, Conti, Tucker, Cullen, John Wholey, Frazier, Ted McCall, George Patriaca, Calabro, Ed Wholey, Mark Walsh, Gangi, Steve McNamara, Perfetto, O'Callahan, Pettinelli, Duggan, Burke and Callahan.

North Girls Lose To Brockton, Newton

The North Quincy girls' basketball team continued to have trouble in the Suburban League last week as it lost to Brockton, 69-31, and to Newton North, 50-47.

The losses dropped the Raiderettes' record to 7-8 and they had to win all five remaining games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

They played Cambridge Rindge and Latin Tuesday, will host East Boston today (Thursday) at 4:30 in a non-league game and will be home to Quincy next Tuesday at 5 o'clock.

North started well against Newton last Friday, leading, 8-6, after the first quarter. The Raiderettes increased their lead to 14-10 before turning ice cold and Newton turned hot. North missed eight straight baskets in the second half, while Eileen Warren had seven of her 13. Jean Welby, in her best performance of the season, added eight. Proude also had six steals and Warren took down 11 rebounds.

Karen Runge had six points, eight rebounds and three blocked shots. Earlier in the week Brockton's powerhouse scored the first 17 points of the game. Freshman Nancy Flukes scored two free throws as did Capt. Ann Duggan and the Raiderettes trailed, 17-4, at the quarter's end.

North fell even further behind and found itself behind, 38-11, at halftime. Only Flukes and Warren had field goals in the entire half.

North had six points from Flukes and four from Proude as Brockton stayed well in the lead. In the final quarter Flukes added seven points, and Stephanie Petrakas, who fouled out for Warren, who fouled out, was impressive as she grabbed seven rebounds.

Flukes had a season-high 17 points, including nine for 12 from the foul line. Duggan had four steals and Proude had six. Welby continued her fine all-around play.

DiBella Upset But North Wrestlers Win

North Quincy heavyweight Al DiBella was upset by Brett Chieko, 8-4, but the Raiders' wrestling team defeated Norwell, 41-23, last week to improve its record to 8-7.

North will wind up its regular season Friday night when it hosts Hingham at 7 o'clock, then will take part in the South Sectional tournament Feb. 15 and 16.

North's winners were Paul Tobin by pin at 114 pounds. Pat Marcham by pin at 121. Scott Fitzgerald by pin at 128. Don Greenwood, 3-2, at 134; Pat Bull by pin at 140. John MacDonald by pin at 147 and Kevin McCarthy by forfeit at 169. Gary Silverman tied in the 100-pound class.

Senior Hockey

Hofbrau Takes Top Spot As Fowler Blanks Kane's

Hofbrau returned to first place in the Quincy Youth Arena's Senior Hockey League with a 7-2 win over China Star.

Bob Molloy, Brett Loud and Lou Mathews had two goals each and Tom Brennan one. Loud, Dennis Doherty, Jack Powers, Steve Murphy and Mark Giordani had two assists apiece and Mathews, George Mackey, Molloy and Brennan one each. Kevin Mellyn and Ed Campbell scored for China Star and John Peadar, Bernie Van Tassel, Mike Van Tassel and George Lavoy had assists.

Fowler House knocked Kane's Place off the top, 5-0, the first time Kane's has been blanked. Goalie Arty Boyle was brilliant in the Fowler House goal. Chip Colletta, who was outstanding both on offense and defense, had two goals and Dave Cornell, Chris Gorman and Paul Connolly one each. John Morris and Scott Richardson had two assists apiece and Peter Janis, Cornell and Gorman one each.

Waterfront Lounge outlasted High Rise, 12-7, in a wild-scoring game. Tom Findley had four goals, Peter Daley three, John Findley two and Tom O'Hare, Steve Rice and Bob Wilkerson one each. O'Hare had four assists, John Findley three, Tom Findley, Rice and Wilkerson two apiece and Bob Hayes, Daley and John Linsky one each. Raiderettes Defeat First Ladies

North Quincy girls' track coach Lou Tozzi gave several of his top athletes the day off last week to allow a number of younger girls who hadn't seen much action a chance as the Raiderettes defeated Quincy, 55-28, to improve its record to 4-2.

The North girls finished their regular season yesterday (Wednesday) against Waltham, while Quincy finished up against Cambridge Rindge and Latin, both meets at Newton North.

Next Thursday both teams will compete in the all-league meet.

Quincy (1-3) had two individual winners, Mary Lou Wirtz in the 50-yard dash (6.8) and Kris Mullaney in the mile (5:55.8) and the First Ladies' relay team of Mullaney, Sharon Steen, Denise DeCoste and Wirtz won in 4:43.2.

North's Lisa Fitzgerald ran the Suburban League's best time (1:34) in winning the 600.

The Raiderettes' other winners were Jennifer Rafferty, hurdles (9.6); Theresa Collings, 300 (43.4); Caryn Collings, 1000 (3:17); Ann Toland, two-mile (13:10.6); Missy Silkwood, shot put (28-3/4), and Georgia Traficante, high jump (5-2).

Taking seconds for North were Kerry Hatfield, 50; Sharon Barrett, mile; Stacey Carvalho, shot put; Stacey Cochran, two-mile, and Theresa Collings, high jump.

Third places went to Joanne Zdankowski, hurdles; Donna Glynn, 50; Colleen Toland, mile; Cheryl McCarthy, 1000, and Maureen Furey, 600.

Placing second for Quincy were Sara Lemos, hurdles; Steen, 1000; Laurie Pitts, 600 and DeCoste, 300.

Finishing third were Jennifer Golden, 300, and Mullaney, high jump.

Last Saturday the North girls, who had won last year and four of the last five years, finished second to their nemesis, Falmouth, in the annual State Coaches Relays at Boston University.

Falmouth finished first among the 41 Class B schools with 39 points to 34 for North Quincy.

"We have always had some great meetings with Falmouth," Tozzi said. "They have outstanding teams every year and usually finished second the four years we won."

North won the 4x800 relay in 10:01.0 with Tricia Leary, Tricia Barrett, Meg Leary and Leanne Fitzgerald, who ran the anchor leg in 2:26, coming from behind to pull out the win.

The Raiderettes were third in the shot put with Carvalho, Silkwood and Noreen Connolly. Connolly had her best throw of 33.5.

North was second in the sprint medley with Mary Ann Kelleher running 800 meters in 2:21, Theresa Collings and Traficante running 200 meters and Lisa Fitzgerald running 400 meters in 59.8, barely losing out.

North also finished second in the 4x400 relay with Traficante, Lisa and Leanne Fitzgerald and Kelleher.

"All the girls did very well and Falmouth just had a little too much for us," said Tozzi. "I'm proud of the way they performed."

Quincy Pins Cambridge

Quincy's wrestling team, which has come along fast after a slow start, had little trouble defeating Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 50-18, last week to improve its record to 9-2, despite having to forfeit in the heavyweight class every meet.

The Presidents will visit

Brocton Saturday night for an 8 o'clock meet, then will take part in the South Sectional tournament Feb. 15 and 16.

Brian Mahon remained undefeated in the 140-pound class for Quincy, winning his match, 15-0.

Also winning for the Presidents were Mike

Bogan, 7-2, at 100 pounds; Jay Colleton, pin, at 107; Jay Lespasio for forfeit at 114; Dennis DeCoste, pin, at 121; Robert Cabezas for forfeit at 128; Ron Luisi, pin, at 134; Dave Murphy, pin, at 147, and Sean Cahill, pin, at 157. John Heath lost at 169 and Norm Hassan lost at 187.

Outmanned Quincy Loses To North Again

Unless more interest can be generated in the swim program at Quincy High, the boys' and girls' teams probably never will defeat North Quincy.

The Presidents and First Ladies are always greatly out-manned by the Raiders and Raiderettes and it was the same story last Friday when the North boys rolled past Quincy, 105-38.

No North Quincy boys' or girls' team has lost to Quincy since the sport was instituted 10 years ago.

The Raiders, who improved their record to 7-3, faced Westwood Monday in their final regular season meet, and will compete in the Suburban League championships Friday at Brookline.

The Presidents, who finished 0-10, also will compete in the league championship meet.

Quincy did not have an individual winner against North and its only win came in the 200 medley relay team of Tom Savioe, Steve Schow, Bill Milne and Adam Divine, who finished in 2:09.5.

North's winners were Rob Weikel in the 50 freestyle (26.7); Brandon Walsh, 100 freestyle (56.1); Steve Mackey, 200 freestyle (2:09.4); Sean Geary, 500 freestyle (6:53.7); Dan O'Sullivan, 100 backstroke (1:10.11); Mike Melanson, 100 butterfly (1:06); Dan Moriarty, 100 breaststroke (1:10.8) and 200 individual medley (2:36.3), and Greg Toland, diving (158.6 points).

North's 400 freestyle relay team of Toland, Ralph Willard, O'Sullivan and Dave Stockless also won in 4:29.1.

Taking second places for North were John Bangs, 100 freestyle; Stockless, 200 freestyle; Fred Cawthorne, 500 freestyle; Mackey, 100 butterfly; Tom Farmer, 200 individual medley, and Eric Giordano, diving.

Placing third were Rick Stanton, 100 freestyle; Geary, 200 freestyle; Paul Nitschke, 500 freestyle; Farmer, 100 butterfly; Weikel, 100 backstroke; Jason Moriarty, 100 breaststroke, and Matt McCusker, diving.

Quincy's second place finishers were Milne, 50 freestyle; Savioe, 100 backstroke, and Schow, 100 breaststroke.

Placing third were Divine, 50 freestyle, and Savioe, 200 individual medley.

South Shore At Quincy Antiques Show Set

The 30th edition of the South Shore at Quincy Antique Show will be held Feb. 16-18, at the Masonic Temple, 1170 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

It will be open to the public 6-10 p.m. Saturday as well as 12-8 p.m. Sunday and Monday.

According to the organizers this is the oldest show in continuous operation in Northern New England and its popularity reflects an increased interest in antique furniture, accessories, and art.

In addition, several new dealers have been added to the group of exhibitors, and they will display some $350,000 worth of antique furniture, china, accessories, dolls and jewelry.

Sponsor for the show is the Wollaston Chapter #156, Order of The Eastern Star.

The snackbar, with home-cooked offerings by the Ladies of the Star, will open one hour before the show each day.

The South Shore at Quincy Antiques Show is managed by Compass Antiques Show, Philip R. Balcom of Weymouth, Coordinator.

Special Valentine Edition Of Musical On WJDA

WJDA's Musical will present a special Valentine's edition featuring 50 years of the greatest love songs from Broadway and Hollywood, Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m. on 1300 a.m.

Toothbrush Swap At Library, Saturday

Members of the South Shore Dental Hygienists Association which sponsors the program will acquaint children and parents with good dental care techniques.

Hygienists will not only answer questions about tooth care but will also lead youngsters in games and demonstrate dental techniques. Parents will be interested in pamphlets on such topics as nursing bottle syndrome and nutrition for dental health. A visit from the Tooth Fairy is also anticipated.

Bring your old toothbrush to the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Sq., Saturday afternoon, Feb. ninth, and swap it for a new brush and some tips on taking care of your teeth.

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 7.

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Small gestures of loved one show depth of feelings. Sense of humor gets you out of a sticky situation. News of a celebration comes your way by the weekend.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Exchanging items and revising agendas keep you occupied right now. New interest may be short-lived. An important platonic friendship is evolving through the week.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Plans are rearranged or cancelled, but generally these are blessings in disguise. You can learn much about your own relationships by being an astute and objective observer.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Invention and discovery are themes of the week. Your creativity shines, and there may be a profit making angle. Romance accents the sentimental side.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Someone may be out there testing your patience; try not to fall into the trap. Independent streak surfaces; be your own person, but don't scare off your favorite friend.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

New friend of the opposite sex leans on you for advice. Try not to let him/her become dependent. Week has a musical flavor and love keeps you humming.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Decorating and designing are current strengths, and bold touches reflect your positive mood. Friend is upbeat but has much trouble getting right to the point.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

A week of surprises, rearranged plans, and brand-new commitments. Relatives may rely on you for a commonsense approach to health, financial, and emotional matters.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Getting attention is not easy, but it's worth the effort if trying to promote ideas. Friend does an about-face on a plan that involves the both of you.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

Romantic picture brightens once you opt for a more realistic approach. Speaking engagements are accented. A witty and warm Scorpio wins supporters from diverse corners.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Long-term goal can be shaped now, but short-term goals benefit from refinement. Casual friendship is accented. Shared finances require prompt, in-depth review.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Stay informed of community happenings but avoid being caught in a neighborhood feud. Economical ideas may be impractical. Romance-wise, spontaneity is the keyword.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Independence, generosity and an ability to understand others — these are some of your positive qualities. But you tend to be impractical — and this trait can get in the way of the financial success that is potentially yours this year.

BORN THIS WEEK

February 7th, actor Buster Crabbe; 8th, actor Gary Coleman; 9th, singer Carole King; 10th, singer Leo: one Price; 11th, actor Burt Reynolds; 12th, actor Lorne Green; 20th, actor George Segal.

• Senior Basketball

Beechwood, Squantum Win

Action continues in the Quincy Recreation Department Senior High School Basketball League.

In games played Saturday, there was as much action off the court as on. Brian Buckley, head coach of Curry College, and long-time leader of Central's Middle School team, was matched against his brother-in-law, Rick Radzik, coach of the Beechwood Center, in a long awaited family duel. In this case the mentor came up short as the younger Radzik turned Mike Sullivan (16 points) and Mike Murphy (14 points) loose and earned a 46-41 win for Beechwood.

Radzik praised Dave Duffy's ballhandling and Steve Morad's clutch baskets at key points in the game. Joe Nelson also had 6 points. For Buckley's Central team, Donald Green played outstanding defense while Billy Palmer handled the ball well. High scorers were Ted McCarthy 11 points, Larry Taglieri 10 points. Although disappointed at the loss, Buckley hopes to bounce back for a playoff rematch.

In the second game Mark Cronin had 19 points to lead all scorers. However, he received little support as Squantum captured its first win 40-23. Gerard Coughlin's Squantum team was paced by John Panaro 14, as well as Dave Zuroms and John Reinhardt with 9 apiece.

Ted Shionis played outstanding defense. The standings are as follows:

Beechwood, 2-0; Montclair, 1-0; Point, 1-1; Squantum, 1-1; Central, 0-1; Merrymount, 0-1; Atherton Hough, 0-1.

Monti Team Wins Koch Men's First Half

After a close four-team race for the first half championship of the Koch Club Men's bowling league, Tony Monti's team won with 74 wins and 46 losses.

Sharing the win with Monti were teammates Don Brennan, Dave Salvati, Gordie Johnson and George Woodman.

Finishing in second spot was Mike Martinelli, 72-48, followed by Larry McGue, 67-53; Jim Broadbent, 66-54; Steve Mancuso, 62-58; Joe Keenan, 59-61; Mike Doyle, 55-65 and Dave Prescott, 25-95.

Joe Keenan has moved back into top place in the average department with 111.4 and is joined in the top 10 by Mike Martinelli, 111.0; Jim Broadbent, 109.7; Mike Scorza, 104.5; Mike Doyle, 103.7; Steve Mancuso, 103.6; Tony Monti, 103.7; Russ Melanson, 102.5; Dave Salvati, 102.3, and Bob Douquette, 101.6.

Mike Martinelli still holds the high individual three string total of 403 while Dave Salvati has the best solo single string of 155.

Toni Monti's unit has the top team three string total of 1584 and the Dave Prescott quintet retain the team single string of 583.

Mario Scorza led the weekly "320 Club" firing a 365 and was joined by Tom Koch, 358; Mike Martinelli, 340; Russ Melanson, 335; Jim Broadbent, 329; Jim Moody, 326; Dave Salvati, 322, and Dave Roy, 321.

Harold Holds Little Loop Lead

The Sen. Paul Harold Club holds a three-point lead in the Quincy Bowling Little Loop over the James R. McIntyre Club.

The standings: Harold, 78-42 (total pinfall of 15,354); McIntyre, 75-45 (15,808); Wollaston Bowldrome, 69-51 (15,506); Montclair Men's Club, 68-52 (15,249); Atty. George Burke Club, 64-56 (15,344); Quincy Elks, 63-57 (15,455); Joseph Brett Club, 62-58 (15,260); Bryan Post VFW, 60-60 (15,359); Quincy Sun, 60-60 (15,168); Atlantic Fuel Oil, 50-70 (14,902); Dick Morrissey Club, 39-81 (14,501); Local 1451, 32-88 (14,873).

Last week's scores: McIntyre 8, Bowldrome 0; Elks 8, Morrissey 0; Harold 8, Burke 0; Montclair 8, Atlantic 0; Brett 8, Local 1451 0; Sun 6, Bryan Post 2. Neil Hatfield rolled the weekly high single of 132 and the high three of 320.

The Quincy Sun had the high team single of 132 and the Elks rolled the high three of 1121.

The 300 Club: Hatfield, 320; Bobby Weikel, 318; Marc Smith, 312; Dan DeVasto, 300.

The Top Ten: Hatfield, 106.8; Mike Grimaldi, 101.0; Brian Flanagan, 100.9; Weikel, 99.2; Dave Dionne, 98.2; Mike Dwyer, 98.0; Stan Kovalski, 94.4; Sean Foley, 94.2; Smith, 93.7; Bill Wysoczi, 92.7.

The 10th annual David Brodie Memorial Bowltown, named in honor of the late Little Loop director, is now underway and first pledge returns are due Saturday. The bowltown helps the fight against muscular dystrophy and related diseases. All 48 boys in the league are participating.

All Councillors Included In New Hospital Committee

The City Council voted Monday night to amend its rules and enlarge the Public Health and Hospital

Committee to include all nine members of the Council.

Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. noted that Quincy City Hospital is planning major expansion and "it is imperative that representation and input be all inclusive of the Council."

The committee, chaired by Councillor Patricia Toland, had only five members.

Toland called the enlargement of her committee "a good idea that is appropriate at this time. I will call a meeting soon because we have much to talk about."

5 Players Injured In Accident

ENC Basketball Co-Captain To Be Released Soon From Hospital

The co-captain of Eastern Nazarene College's basketball team is expected to be released from the hospital soon, after a van accident

Friday which also injured four other players.

Dan McManus, 23, was hospitalized at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Utica with a compression fracture of the first lumbar vertebrae with no neurological deficit, spinal cord, or nerve root injury, according to ENC president Dr. Stephen W. Nease.

McManus will likely wear a brace or bodycast for a few weeks to avoid further complications, said Nease.

and the doctor expects a complete recovery.

Four other members of the team were treated and released.

The accident occurred when the van, which carried eight members of the team, swerved off the snow-covered New York State Thruway while on the way to a game in Rochester, N.Y.

State police have blamed poor visibility and slippery roads for the accident.

Sawyer's To Close

Sawyer's Campus Shop at 1508 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., is scheduled to close its doors Saturday after 22 years in business.

Owner Jerry Hurwitz cited competition from the South Shore Plaza, Braintree, as among the reasons for closing the store which employs 15 people.

Hurwitz said it has been difficult to stay profitable with the business climate in the area.

In order to clear out the merchandise by Saturday, items are marked at a reduced price and customers can buy a second such item for a penny.

Hurwitz said he plans to take a vacation and then "start something else in the Quincy area."

Despite his store's closing, Hurwitz is not pessimistic about the future of Quincy's downtown businesses.

He notes new construction and improved roads downtown as evidence.

Council Opposes New MDC Sewer Line

The City Council went on record Monday night in opposition to a proposed MDC sewer pipeline from Weymouth through the Germantown section of Quincy.

Construction of the pipeline would disrupt the Germantown community, said Councillor Michael Cheney and bring in additional sewage to pollute Quincy Bay.

"It would require tearing up a large portion of Palmer St., causing considerable hardship, public safety hazards and longtime disruption," he said.

"Other alternatives would bring the pipeline through the Germantown marshland, digging 16-foot wide trenches and causing irreversible damage to our marshes."

The pipeline, he said, would add up to 13.2 million gallons of sewage to the already overburdened Nut Island treatment plant.

Ring, Cash Stolen

Sheila Coyne of Farrington St., Wollaston, reported to police Monday that a green jade gold ring, a Swiss clock, a telephone answering machine and $1,000 in cash were stolen from her home. Entry was gained by kicking in a bulkhead door.

McCauley, Geary To Meet On MDC Takeovers

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he plans to meet soon with MDC Commissioner William Geary to discuss a possible MDC takeover of Willard St. and two other pieces of land in the city.

The mayor said he also would like to see the agency assume jurisdiction over a horse barn on Willard St., West Quincy, and the Quincy Lumber Yard in Quincy Point, site of a recent fire.

McCauley said he will seek to expedite the MDC's acquisition of Willard St. as advocated at a meeting of residents and business interests last year.

The horse barn, said McCauley, has been the source of a sanitation problem for a number of years. Recently, the Zoning Board of Appeals denied a request for a variance for construction of a multi-unit condo development.

The mayor is advocating an MDC takeover, saying that "a public agency such as the MDC would be a good neighbor and more responsive to the residents' needs."

Under MDC supervision, said McCauley, the facility would be rehabilitated and continue as a horse rental recreational facility.

The mayor noted that the lumber yard area of Southern Artery has been a center for intense commercial activity but recently has taken on the character of a residential neighborhood.

McCauley is advocating an MDC takeover and future use as a public open space recreational facility, preserving the public's access to the Town River waterway.

To Introduce Home Rule Petition

Condon To Seek State Aid In GD Payback

By TOM HENSHAW

City Councillor Joanne Condon plans to introduce a home rule petition at the next Council meeting asking state assistance in paying the city's $28 million tax rebate debt to General Dynamics.

Other communities in the state have received similar assistance in the past, said Condon, adding that she could not see why the state could not help Quincy.

Specifically, she cited "An Act Authorizing and Directing the State Treasurer to Pay a Certain Sum of Money to the City of Medford to Enable said City to Satisfy an Outstanding Judgement."

It was adopted by the Legislature and signed by the governor in 1983.

Quincy was ordered by the court to repay General Dynamics the money for property tax overassessments dating back to 1977. With negotiated settlements for other years and interest on bonds, the total comes to $28 million.

The city is paying it back at a rate of $2.8 million a year.

Condon said she conferred with state and local officials over the past week because she said she feels the city cannot afford any further cutbacks in its budget and still provide essential services.

She said she will introduce the home rule petition at the Tuesday, Feb. 19, Council meeting.

Condon spoke on the issue at the last Council meeting, saying that she did not vote for the $28 million bond "and I would not vote for it today. I don't believe the case was settled as it should."

Snow Storm Costs City $60,000

The city spent some $60,000 on snow removal during last week's storm, bringing the total for the winter to nearly $220,000, according to Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

McCauley said the city spent $218,902 on snow cleanup and related activities through Jan. 31. The city budgets $127,461 annually for snow removal.

"That's 172 per cent of the budget," said the Mayor. "But that's not unusual."

The $127,461 is a token appropriation and the difference between that figure and the money actually spent is made up in the budget for the next fiscal year.

McCauley said he plans to raise the token figure to $300,000 in the budget for fiscal 1986.

"It will put us on a more pay-as-you-go basis," he said.

PARKED CAR is buried in snow on Huntley Rd. during last week's storm.

Marina Task Force Set To Meet Feb. 21

The Land Use Task Force for the Boston Harbor Marina will hold its first meeting Thursday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. in the conference room at the City Council offices.

A chairman will be elected and a schedule drawn up for future meetings.

Members of the task force include Fire Chief Francis X. Finn, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson, Planning Director

James E. Lydon, Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

Also James Eddy of 123 Elm St., Quincy Center; Mrs. Alicia Gardner of 41 Deerfield St., Squantum; and Mrs. Mary Gougian of 13 Hillcrest Rd., Squantum, who were selected by the Council.

The task force is mandated to report back to the Council by June 30 with recommendations relative to future Marina development and what impact future development will have on each of the five city departments.

Developers William and Peter O'Connell have announced plans to develop the old Squantum Naval Air Station property into 986 condominium units, a 300-room hotel and 850,000 square feet of commercial space.

The entire project would cost $250 million.

Handshakes To Serve At Fitness Center

By NANCY LAUGHLIN

Members of Nu Wave Aerobics as well as the public will be able to purchase items from a juice bar to be operated by Handshakes Cafe at the fitness center.

The License Board voted 3 to 1 Tuesday to grant a common victualer license to Handshakes, 1354 Hancock St., for the fitness center, 1569 Hancock St., both in Quincy Sq.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald voted against the request.

MacDonald, who last week pointed out the number of eating establishments already in the area, said he was not opposed to Handshakes serving fitness center members only.

The request was granted with the stipulations that Handshakes serve no pizza, sub sandwiches or full meals.

The matter had been continued from last week's meeting when the four member board was deadlocked on whether or not to allow Handshakes to sell to the public as well as to fitness club members.

Tasos Kapsaskis of Taso's Pizza and Constantine Kechris of Colonial 1600, both eating establishments located near the fitness center, said they were concerned that Handshakes would take away part of their business.

At this week's meeting, both men said they weren't crazy about the request, but that they could live with it.

Police Chief Francis Finn conceded that it was a complicated issue and that each side had valid points.

But Finn also said the board wasn't trying to stop competition. "That's not the board's function at all," said Finn. "That's against the American system."

"Competition is healthy."

agreed City Clerk John Gillis, who is also board chairman. "It's the American way. It's not up to us to stop competition."

Fire Chief Edward Barry pointed out that Nu Wave already has a common victualer license to serve members, and that if Handshakes were granted its request, members would probably remain the bulk of the business.

MacDonald's motion to grant the request for member's only died for lack of a second.

After a motion by Finn, the request was granted with the stipulation that the license will be lost if Nu Wave is sold.

The juice bar will serve items such as shakes, fruit juice, salads, quiches, and muffins made at Handshakes main location and transported to the fitness center where items will be slightly higher in price.

Dog Tag Sales Net City $1,200

Norfolk County Treasurer James M. Collins reports that Quincy will receive $1,201.87 as its share of the annual refund from the sale of dog tags in 1984.

By law, the money must be used to assist the local library.

The city collected $6,648 from the dog tag sale, which was turned over to the county and returned after expenses were deducted.

Sheets Eyes Mayor's Job—But Not Now

By TOM HENSHAW
"I would like to be mayor," said City Council President James A. Sheets. "I believe I am qualified. My years in the Legislature and the City Council have prepared me to be mayor. I would see being mayor as enjoyable."

But not right now. "I will not be a candidate for mayor in 1985," Sheets told a news conference Tuesday morning. "I will seek re-election to the City Council from Ward 4."

Sheets' announcement did not really come as a surprise since Councillor Joanne Condon had already staked out the high ground among possible challengers to Mayor Francis X. McCauley's bid for a third term.

Sheets said Condon's early entrance into the race made no difference.

"If I felt that this was the year for me to run for mayor I'd be running regardless of who was in the race," he said.

"My decision is predicated on my own priorities. I feel for at least the next couple of years that obligations to family rank above my desire to run for mayor at this point in time."

Sheets has four children, Kim, 21, a junior at Eastern Nazarene College; James, 17, and Tad, 16, senior and junior at North Quincy High School respectively; and Luke, 9, in the fourth grade at Furnace Brook School.

"Two years from now," said Sheets, "three of them will have graduated or will be in college and only Luke will be home. Then my priorities may change. I don't know."

"There is no question that I am thinking of running for mayor in the future. I'll have to consider it in 1987."

Sheets said he discussed his decision with his family.

"The next two years are critical times for Jim and Tad as they move from high school to college," he said. "I want to spend as much time as I can with them."

Sheets said he is planning to take young Tad on a canoe trip down the Allagash Wilderness Waterway in northern Maine, probably during the first two weeks in August with Dr. Cecil Paul, director of the Beechwood Knoll Community Life Center, and his son, Jonathan.

Sheets said that his experience in 1978 running for the U.S. Congressional seat "made me very sensitive to the tremendous amount of pressure that the race put on me and my wife and my entire family."

"I rarely saw my family in the year I spent campaigning," he said. "That experience made me re-think totally my priorities. I always wanted to be in Congress. From the time I was in college, that was my goal. I finished third in that race. Right now, I have no particular goal in mind."

Sheets said he does not plan to support either McCauley or Condon for mayor.

"I don't think it is practical for a ward councillor to support other candidates for mayor," he said. "I need the support of my colleagues and the mayor to get things done in Ward 4. It would be counter-productive for me to support either candidate."

POLLARD SCHOOL, ravaged by fire last week, lies peaceful in a blanket of snow. (Quincy Sun Photo by Charles Flagg)

To Be Demolished

Pollard School Sale Still On

Burkhardt Corp. of Milton has agreed to purchase the Pollard School site for $252,000, demolish the fire-ravaged building at its own expense and construct a 34-unit condominium at the location on Southern Artery.

City officials met with Jack Wyse, head of Burkhardt Corp., last Friday and worked out the new agreement.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said the building was so badly damaged in the Feb. 2 fire that it was decided to tear it down and start over in constructing the condos.

"The developer wanted to cut the price to $222,000 to reflect the cost of demolition," said the mayor, "but we objected. If the price were reduced, we'd have to go through the City Council again. We felt the $252,000 was reasonable."

In return, the city agreed to permit Burkhardt to increase the number of units in the plan from 30 to 34. The building will be same height as the old school.

"One good point in the new plan," said McCauley, "is that the back end will be set back farther from Germain Ave. and create more open space."

The school building was about 15 feet from the houses on Germain Ave.

The mayor said Burkhardt also agreed to retain a part of the original agreement that called for the company to pay $14,000 to refurbish the city-owned playground at the school.

And the city in turn agreed to fence in the land that is not fenced now in order to keep neighborhood youngsters out of the area during demolition and construction.

"We hope to be able to pass papers by the end of this week," said McCauley, "then go on site to do the demolition and move on the construction as soon as possible."

400 Blue Cross Workers To Move Here

Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Massachusetts is moving some 400 of its workers from downtown Boston into four leased floors in the new Harbor South Tower office building at 100 Hancock St.,

North Quincy.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield spokesman Paul DiNatale said the move will be made later this year but no decision has been reached on what departments will be moved.

The 10-story, $18 million building was completed 18 months ago but has not been tenanted.

DiNatale said that some 125 additional Blue Shield employees will move into 100 Newport Ave., North Quincy, in the late spring or summer. About 20 workers are in there now.

Gas Storage Permit Granted For Condos

The License Board voted 3 to 1 Tuesday to grant a permit to H.A. Fafard & Sons Construction, Inc., for storage of gasoline in tanks of cars garaged at 147 Rawson Road, North Quincy.

Police Chief Francis Finn voted against the request because of increased traffic in the area.

Architect Otis Hathon of Weymouth said that a 28 unit condominium is planned for the site of the former Mass. Fields School.

Commemorative Services Feb. 19 On Iwo Jima Anniversary

Local veterans of the battle of Iwo Jima are invited to attend commemorative services on the 40th anniversary of the invasion Tuesday, Feb. 19, at 11 a.m. in the State House Hall of Flags, Boston.

A brief reception will follow in Doric Hall.

"The 40th anniversary will be the largest and most prestigious in the nation," said Richard M. McGrath, permanent chairman of the Iwo Jima Day Committee.

Senior officers, active and retired, Congressional Medal of Honor recipients, other dignitaries, and Marine Bill Ross, author of "Iwo Jima: Legacy of Valor", are among those expected to attend.

Iwo Jima veterans who planned to attend were asked to call McGrath at 746-0443 to make seating and other arrangements.

All other active, reserve and retired military personnel are welcome to attend. The public is also invited.

Copies of "Iwo Jima: Legacy of Valor" can be obtained before Feb. 19, by contacting McGrath or the Marine Corps League office, Room 549-2, State House, Boston, Ma. 02133.

Reader's Forum The Pollard School... A Way Of Life

Editor, The Quincy Sun: It was a building made of bricks and mortar. It was called an institution of learning. It was, but it was much more than that to me. It was a way of life, a landmark to mark where I lived, a measure of time for the seasons and years. It was the "Pollard."

And it came to pass that the Pollard was to close because of the "times," because of the figures, statistics, money, and what they call "progress." I tried to save it from the humiliation of broken windows, graffiti, dirt and debris scattered inside and out, but it seemed like a losing battle and to no avail.

Then came hope, and I thought the Pollard would live again in another concept, but the Pollard died in violence, flames consuming the building where many generations of children learned.

It was like a "wake" the next day. Many people, young, old, alone or with groups came to make a last visit and to say good-bye to a way of life, rapidly disappearing, and is it better?—this progress?—this keeping up with the times? The general acceptance of things that should not be?—I wonder.

At Least 2 Good Council Races

Joanne Condon's challenge of incumbent Francis McCauley assures Quincy of its first mayoral race in four years.

And that, in turn, should set the stage for a scramble for the Ward 6 City Council seat she is vacating.

There doesn't seem to be much movement in the other wards with no names being mentioned as potential challengers at this time.

But, there will be some action in the City Council at-large department.

All three incumbents—Richard Koch, Jr., Joseph LaRaia and Patricia Toland—are expected to make bids for re-election.

If you think Koch might be taking a police appointment instead—he's not. He will definitely seek a third term.

A campaign fundraiser for him is already set for May 8 at Walsh's Restaurant.

KOCH

The trio of incumbents can be sure of opposition—at least some familiar opposition: Ron Iacobucci.

Iacobucci who ran two years ago has never stopped running.

The lone challenger in the at-large race in 1983 he finished a respectable fourth—1039 votes behind Toland.

IACOBUCCI

Iacobucci has been running since. Wherever there's an issue or a crowd, he's there.

He hasn't officially announced yet but he is a definite candidate. And one to be reckoned with.

Will anyone else be getting into the race?

There's a little speculation that Quincy businessman Bernie Reisberg who ran for the Ward 1 seat in last year's special election, might give the at-large race a whirl.

Reisberg finished third in a five-candidate field in the Ward 1 preliminary election.

REISBERG

He's somewhat surprised though, that he is being mentioned as a potential council at-large candidate.

"I really haven't thought about it," he says. "But I might give it some thought. I might consider it."

Regardless of who else runs or doesn't run for what this year, there will at least be three good races to keep voters from dozing off: mayor, council at-large and Ward 6.

And, there could be another one or two ward fights. It's still cold and a little early but the political front should be heating up shortly.

WILSON

FORMER QUINCY HIGH School Principal George Wilson must have the Fountain of Youth bubbling in his back yard. At 87 he looks a good 20 years younger and is as active as anyone 30 years younger. He's still busy with his hobbies painting and collecting minerals. And, he goes bowling three days a week, rolling three or four strings each day.

Maybe collecting minerals is the secret. He probably found his fountain of youth in a mineral spring. Come on, George, tell the rest of us where it is.

JEAN POSSATI WOOD, former fifth grade teacher at the Hunting School in Adams Shore, now a resident of Capitola, Calif. returned to Quincy for a visit the other day.

And while here dropped into City Hall to check up on the career progress of two of her former students: State Senator Paul Harold and Peter Keeney, Mayor Francis McCauley's executive secretary.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: Executives are people who have their names printed on company letterheads because no one can read their signatures.

Tips For The Old To Beat The Cold

City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr., chairman of the Senior Citizens Activities Committee, has passed along some tips for the elderly to help them endure sub-freezing temperatures: Dress warmly in several layers of clothing so that warm air will collect between the layers. Wear a hat. The largest share of body heat escapes from the head and neck.

Eat well and get plenty of sleep. Low temperatures increase the body's need for energy while fatigue makes the body more vulnerable to cold.

Do not drink alcohol before going outside. Alcohol dilates surface blood vessels, allowing heat to escape more quickly from the body.

Exercise regularly to increase circulation and generate body heat. But people who are not used to vigorous exercise may risk a heart attack if shoveling snow too enthusiastically.

Brownell Calls MDC Sewer Line 'Absurd And Unacceptable'

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has termed "absurd and unacceptable" an MDC plan to construct a sewer interceptor line through Germantown, Adams Shore and Houghs Neck.

The interceptor would serve the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham, Holbrook and Randolph and add 13.2 million gallons of wastewater per day to the Nut Island Treatment Plant.

The plan was roundly denounced by local officials and area residents at a public hearing Tuesday, Feb. 5.

Brownell, in a letter to MDC Commissioner William Geary, said that he is opposed to the construction of the interceptor for three basic reasons.

"By now," he said, "all of us should understand that the Nut Island Treatment Plant is incapable of adequately treating the present flows from the southern system.

"It is undoubtedly the single, largest source of water pollution in Quincy Bay.

"Even with the immediate upgrade, the plant does not now and will never have the capacity and reliability needed to treat the magnitude of wastewater you scheduled for it.

"Adding 13.2 million gallons per day simply does not make sense.

"Although we have the greatest empathy for the towns that would benefit by this project, we cannot accept or understand the reasoning behind forcing Quincy to bear the social, economic and ecological burdens of their problems.

"The new authority should grant Braintree, Weymouth, Holbrook, Randolph and Hingham the financial means for addressing their sewage backups and overflows.

"However, the technical answer to their predicament should come in the form of I/I (inflow and infiltration) reduction, satellite plants, holding tanks or whatever is necessary to free Quincy residents from the role of wastewater scapegoat.

"If this proposal was the first to have a potential impact on Quincy, one could almost consider it a reasonable example of regional cooperation.

"But for the past 30 years, Quincy has had a plant on Nut Island. The other towns have not. Our beaches are first to close and last to reopen. We have borne the costs of MDC's exercise in futility.

"Now is the time to share the costs by implementing new and innovative solutions.

Council Exerts Influence On Hospital Hiring

Dr. Joseph P. Leone, director of Quincy City Hospital, charged that members of the City Council "have exerted undue influence in the hiring of marginal employees and as a result we are saddled with these individuals on a permanent basis."

Council President Charles L. Shea immediately denied the charge, saying that in only two instances had he insisted that Dr. Leone hire two employees, both of them physically handicapped.

In one case, said Shea, the hospital director "wanted to flaunt the Civil Service laws and the established policy of Mayor Della Chiesa" by skipping over the top man on the Civil Service list for a job in the housekeeping department.

"I insisted that Dr. Leone take this man," said Shea. He was the first on the list. In addition, the mayor, ever since he has been in office, has held to the policy that the first man is to be named to a vacancy in a Civil Service job."

KOCH STEP CLOSER

Richard J. Koch, the North Quincy civic leader long active in recreational activities, was a step closer to a post in the Quincy Park Department as a bill moved through the legislature to merge the Park and Recreation Departments.

The new job would be that of executive secretary of the combined board and would be filled by appointment of the mayor outside of Civil Service.

City Councillor James S. McCormack, chairman of the Committee on Parks and Recreation, said he would recommend that Koch be named to the post while William Ryan, the professionally trained director of recreation, remained in that job.

DELAY COSTS LIVES

Police Capt. Joseph Flaherty, opposing all night parking on city streets, said that during the Dec. 12 snow storm parked cars so impeded snow removal that two ambulances were delayed en route to Quincy City Hospital and it may have cost two lives.

One ambulance took two hours to reach the hospital and the patient was dead on arrival, said Flaherty. The second ambulance took four hours to make the trip and the patient died shortly after arrival.

Past, Present Officials Get Together Thursday

Elected officials who are serving or who have served the City of Quincy will have a get-together to socialize and exchange information and past experiences tonight (Thursday) 5 to 8 p.m. at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Leaders in other communities hold a similar annual event.

There will be a brief speaking program, less than 10 minutes, followed by general mingling and conversation.

There is no charge for the event. However, donations will be accepted to establish a scholarship for a student attending Quincy Junior College who wants to pursue a career in government. There will be hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar.

If the gathering proves successful, the organizers hope to hold it on an annual basis.

Those who plan to attend are asked to RSVP to the City Council office at City Hall, 773-1380.

Reunion Committee members are School Committeewoman Mary Collins, Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Michael Morrissey and City Councillor Patricia Toland.

Delahunt Distributes Miranda Warning Cards In Spanish

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt has begun distribution throughout the county of the so-called "Miranda warning" cards printed in Spanish.

Miranda cards are those read or given to persons under arrest reminding them of their legal rights to remain silent, have a lawyer, etc.

Delahunt noted that there is now a reasonable possibility that any police officer in any city or town in Norfolk County will confront a situation in which the defendant is fluent only in Spanish.

The cards were distributed to the 28 police departments in the county, plus MDC and State Police offices, by David J. Hayes, director of the newly formed Civil Rights Bureau.

AQUA FOR THE MARINER
If you know a lover of the sea, a sea blue aquamarine, an aqua will help may just be the perfect gift. The gemstone derives its name from the Greek word for seawater. Thus, it is said to aid travelers who take to the seas. It makes a perfect "bon voyage" gift for someone about to embark on an ocean cruise. Closer to home, aquamarines are said to help establish happy marriages. Should harmony flee, an aqua will help reconcile the partner's differences. For someone who loves a large, durable stone, this intense, deep blue stone is available in large sizes. Be advised, however, that aquamarine is becoming rarer as Brazilian mines are being taken over by coffee planters.

You know you don't need a special occasion or a reason (a quarrel, etc.) to buy a special gift for your loved one. You just have to have confidence in your jeweler to show you the kind of pieces you want and within your price range. Even though Valentine's Day is close by, TOODIE'S FINE JEWELRY specializes in offering "love-ly" pieces at all times. An especially popular item is a 14k gold heart engraved with a meaningful message. We do it all for you at 1163 Hancock St., and offer you prices the Jewelers' Building in Boston can't beat. Mon. - Fri. 10-6, Sat. till 4 Tele. 479-9464.

Evidence of green in aquamarine makes the gem less valuable.

Koch Scholarship Fund At $15,790

The Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund totals $15,790.60 as of Dec. 31, announces Richard J. Koch, Sr., executive director of the Koch Club.

The Scholarship Fund was established in trust with the City of Quincy in 1973, the 25th anniversary of the organization when $5,000. was raised on anniversary events. The donations and interest accumulated since 1973 have resulted in the total of to date.

On the 50th anniversary of the Koch Club in 1998, the Permanent Scholarship Fund will provide scholarships each year from the interest accrued annually from the preceding year.

The Koch Club established its active Scholarship Fund in 1959 and each year provides a $100. scholarship to a boy and girl at each of the three high schools.

In May of 1985, the six $100 scholarships will reflect a total of $11,800. in scholarship assistance for high school students since the initial program when a boy and girl were recognized in 1959 with a scholarship at North Quincy High School.

The program was enlarged to include a boy and girl of Quincy High in 1964 and eventually the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

The Permanent Scholarship Fund will assume the responsibilities of the active scholarship committee in 1998.

The Koch Club has committed a total of $27,500. for scholarships in the past 27 years.

Contributions as memorials or gifts in the name of the Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund may be forwarded to the City Treasurer, City Hall, 1305 Hancock St., Quincy. MA 02169.

THE ALCOHOLISM PROBLEM

According to the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, chronic alcoholism is now our fourth most serious public health problem. It is outranked by diseases of the heart and blood vessels, cancer, and mental illness.

It is estimated that there are 6,500,000 alcoholics in the United States. Business and industry lose around two billion dollars a year because of absenteeism, lowered productivity, and accidents attributed to alcoholism.

In California, a study found that premature death comes to alcoholics about two and a half times as often as to the general population. A number of investigators have concluded that at least half of all fatal automobile accidents are caused by drunk drivers. This would come to a figure of about 25,000 people killed annually on the highways from alcohol.

Lloyd V. Carroll, 57, Banker, Football Star

A funeral Mass was to be celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at Sacred Heart Church for Lloyd V. Carroll, a banker and former high school and semi-pro football star in Quincy.

He died Saturday in Deaconess Hospital, Boston, at the age of 57 after a long illness.

Mr. Carroll was graduated in 1947 from North Quincy High School, where he excelled in track and football. Later he played for the Varsity Club and was one of the founders of Little League football in Quincy.

A native of New-Haven, Conn., he lived in Quincy for 50 years. He was in the banking business from 1957 to 1983 and a member of the North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

He leaves his wife, Helen T. (O'Neil) Carroll; three sons, Edward W. Carroll of Quincy, Joseph A. Carroll of Boston and Richard L. Carroll of Shelburne Falls; three daughters, Ann T. Carroll, Barbara L. Carroll and Martha M. Carroll, all of Quincy.

Also four sisters, Elaine Meade of Milton, Rita Presente of Jamaica Plain, Sister Mildred Joseph of Kentucky and Patricia Deagle of California, and a cousin, Marjorie E. Saunders of Quincy, who raised him.

He was the father of the late William E. Carroll.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Donations may be made to the St. Vincent dePaul Society of Sacred Heart Church.

Pearl Chapman, 81, Widow Of Baseball Star

Funeral services were held Thursday, Feb. 7, at the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Wollaston, for Pearl (Bonner) Chapman, widow of the late baseball star, Harold (Boots) Chapman.

She died Feb. 4 at Quincy City Hospital at the age of 81.

Mrs. Chapman was a member of the Wollaston Congregational Church, the Wollaston Legion Auxiliary and the Wollaston Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. A native of Haverhill, she lived in Quincy for 60 years.

She leaves two daughters, Ruth Bohannon of Florida and Jean Fogarty of Rochester, N.H.; a sister, Rosa Kirchthurn of Roxbury, nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Melvin G. Wesley, 81, Grange Past Master

Funeral services for Melvin G. Wesley, 81, of Quincy, past master of the Granite City Grange, AF & AM, were held Monday at Christ Church, Quincy.

Mr. Wesley died Feb. 7 at Norwood Hospital after a brief illness.

He had lived in Quincy for 33 years.

Born in Boston, he was educated in Boston schools.

Mr. Wesley was a custodian with the state armories for 35 years before he retired in 1973.

Prior to that, he was a career veteran with the U.S. Army for over 20 years.

Mr. Wesley was past master of the Blue Hills Pomona, and a member of the South Shore Shriners, Aleppo Temple and Norumburg Lodge AF and AM, Newton.

A 32nd degree Mason, he was also a member of Christ Church.

He is survived by his wife, Sadie (Graham) Wesley; a son, William Wesley of Palm Beach, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. Edith E. Gagnon of Quincy and Mrs. Marilyn Mulvaney of Hudson; 11 grandchildren and numerous great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Donations may be made in Mr. Wesley's memory to the Shriner's Burn Institute, 51 Blossom St., Boston.

Russell I. Raynor, 75, Retired Physics Teacher

A memorial service will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at St. Barnabas Memorial Church in Falmouth for Russell I. Raynor, a physics teacher at Quincy High School and Quincy Junior College for 43 years until his retirement in 1979.

He died Saturday, Feb. 9, at Falmouth Hospital at the age of 75 following a brief illness.

A native of Quincy, he lived in the city until moving to East Falmouth three years ago. He was a graduate of Quincy High School and attended Thayer Academy.

Mr. Raynor was graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Middlebury College in 1932 and obtained a master's degree in physics from Brown University in 1934.

While living in Quincy, he attended St. Christosom's Church in Wollaston.

He leaves his wife, Helena (Dundas) Raynor of Falmouth, for many years a science teacher in Quincy Point; two sons, Robert A. Raynor of Canton and David C. Raynor of Augusta, Maine.

Also a brother, Frederick E. Raynor of Orland, Maine, and a sister, Shirley R. Wolf of Wollaston.

Julio J. Cardarelli, 81, Retired Shipyard Supervisor

A funeral Mass for Julio J. "Cooney" Cardarelli, 81, of Quincy, a retired supervisor for Bethlehem Steel and General Dynamics, will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mr. Cardarelli died Feb. 12 at Boston City Hospital after a long illness.

He was a lifelong Quincy resident.

Mr. Cardarelli was a supervisor in the burner department of Bethlehem Steel Shipyard and General Dynamics, Quincy, until his retirement in 1971.

In the early 1930s, he worked as a foreman in the park department for the city of Quincy under Mayor Thomas McGrath.

He saved the city a good deal of money when he helped build five baseball fields without the use of a contractor.

In the 1920s, he worked as a boxer in Boston in the welter-weight division.

Mr. Cardarelli was a member of St. John's Church.

Husband of the late Helen (Fraser) Cardarelli, he is survived by a son, Leo P. Cardarelli of Quincy, director of sales at Blue Hill Cemetery; three sisters, Mrs. Marguerite Avahian of New Hampshire, Mrs. Caroline Russo of Quincy and Mrs. C. Molly Ciardi of Quincy; 11 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Son of the late Peter and Johanna (Celluci) Cardarelli, he was also the brother of the late Anthony, Joseph, Louie and Albert Cardarelli.

Visiting hours were 7 to 9 p.m. yesterday (Wednesday) and 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. today (Thursday) at Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy Center.

Burial will be in Blue Hill Cemetery.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"Some people are like tea bags; they don't know their actual strength until they get into hot water." This is a quotation from the second most famous letter President Lincoln ever wrote. It was to Major General Hooker when he assumed command of the Army of the Potomac. This letter was sold in a public auction in 1926 for twelve thousand dollars! This letter is an inspiration and shows the real genius of the man, but it was written during the darkest hours of his life. Defeat followed defeat. Soldiers were deserting by the thousands, and even the Republican members of the Senate wanted to force Lincoln out of the White House. He said, "We are at the brink of destruction. It appears to me that even the Almighty is against us. I can hardly see a ray of hope." Such was the period of dark sorrow that produced this famous letter written to encourage General Hooker.

Dark, doubtful days come to all of us at some time or other. The Almighty, it seems, is testing us... no matter who we are. But if we look to Him, we will find our strength - the strength we need to pull us through.

Abraham Lincoln was a religious man, as we know. Many times in dark moments he found the strength he needed - by looking to the Almighty...

In Loving Memory of Patrick J. Stanton
1901 - FEBRUARY 15TH - 1985

Fond and loving memories of a wonderful husband, father and grandfather.

Lord, make us an instrument of Your Peace.

Where there is hatred, let us sow love
Where there is sadness, joy.
Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him. May his soul and the souls of all our dear relatives and friends and all the souls of the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. Amen.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife, daughter, sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is to be offered for him at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy on Friday, February 15th at 9 a.m.

'Slaves Of Freedom' Bethany Sermon

There will be two worship services Sunday, Feb. 17, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Ctr. at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon at both services on the subject, "Slaves of Freedom", based on scriptural texts from Job 7:1-6, 1 Corinthians 9:16-19, and the Gospel of Mark 1:32-39.

Lay scripture readers will be Calvin Young for the early service and Marsha Archer for the late service. The senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will assist in leading the worship at both hours.

During the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present as the offertory, "O Gracious Light, Lord Jesus Christ" by Tallis, and as the anthem "O Savior, Hear Me" composed by Von Gluck.

The service will also be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m., with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class will meet at 9 a.m. with Robert R. Peoples, Jr., as the teacher.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers at the 10 a.m. hour.

At 11 a.m., there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

On Saturday, Feb. 16, the Confirmation Class will leave from the church at 10 a.m. to go to the Bible exhibit at the Christian Science Center, Boston.

The Youth Fellowship, 7th through 11th grades, will meet at the church Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

The Bible study class on "The Kingdom of God" meets Wednesday, Feb. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Rev. Huntington, 109 Waterston Ave., Wollaston.

For information about Bethany Church and its ministries and programs, contact either of the ministers or the church office at 479-7300.

'The Prodigal' Sermon At Squantum Church

"Who was the Prodigal?" was the title of the sermon preached at the guitar service of the First Church of Squantum Sunday morning.

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin based his sermon on the newest Billy Graham film, "The Prodigal", which will be showing at the Wollaston Theater through today (Thursday).

At that service, Bonnie MacRitchie and Sarah Mil-dram served as ushers. The youth choir, accompanied by Steven Williams on the guitar and Mary Ruth Scott on the piano, sang "Praise the Lord" by Natalie Sleeth, for the anthem at both the first and second services.

At the second service, Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "Driven by Circumstances", taking as his text the verse, "...and they went and woke him, saying, 'Save, Lord; we are perishing.'" (Matthew 8:25).

The Chancel Choir sang "Where'er I Go, Whate'er

My Task" by Bach. Hymns were "Crown Him with Many Crowns", "Jesus Calls Us, O'er the Tumult", "Give to the Winds Thy Fears" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Greeters for the second service were Marjorie and Warren Miller. Stewart Scott and Leon MacIntyre were ushers. Jeanette Crosby and Patti Hurd were in charge of the refreshments at the Fellowship Hour after the service.

This Saturday, Feb. 16, the Music Committee of the church will sponsor a Pot Roast Dinner at 8:30 p.m. it will be followed at 7:30 p.m. by slides of "Atlantic Canada" narrated by Bob Gorrill. Call Genevieve Todd at 328-7124 to make reservations.

There will be two services Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. This will be the last Sunday before the beginning of Lent.

Lenten Breakfast Services Wednesdays At Bethany Church

Morning devotional services will be held every Wednesday morning during Lent at 7 a.m. beginning Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20, in the chapel of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Lenten series this year will be entitled "Places of the Passion", based on the Biblical accounts of the events surrounding the suffering and crucifixion of Jesus.

The scripture readings and meditations will focus on the various locations in and around Jerusalem where these events occurred.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will give the meditation on Feb. 20, on the subject, "Mega Anagnin", Greek for a large upper room.

Lena Foster will assist in leading the worship by reading the scripture lesson from Mark 14:12-26 and offering the prayer. Peter E. Krasinski will be the organist.

The Lenten service begins promptly at 7 a.m. and lasts approximately 25 minutes. Afterwards a light continental breakfast is served around tables in the Parish House.

Clara MacLean and Jean Ann MacLean are handling arrangements for the breakfasts, which do not require reservations. A free will donation toward the expenses is requested.

The services and breakfast are open to the community. Persons are able to leave for school, work or home by 7:45 a.m.

Faith Lutheran Helping Inner City Churches

"Inner-city churches," notes Pastor James Kimmel of Faith, "are known for both their general financial poverty and yet the richness of their diversity and the range of needs in the community surrounding them."

So, Faith is mobilizing in two ways.

First, they have pledged monthly financial support for a Lutheran parish in Roxbury and another in East Boston, hoping to alleviate some of the money burdens there.

Secondly, Pastor Kimmel hopes to establish an ongoing relationship between the churches, through mutual projects, adult forums, youth group get-togethers, and pulpit exchanges.

In so doing, each church can be both giving and receiving in the relationship, he says.

For, as Pastor Kimmel states, "the more we remain isolated in our own religious community -- be that white or black, poor or the more God becomes a projection of ourselves."

"But as we come together with faith communities that are vastly different from our own, we move increasingly away from a God made in our image, and toward one in whose image we all are made."

A Cappella Choir At First Presbyterian

The 40-voice A Cappella Choir of Eastern Nazarene College will perform a full length concert at First Presbyterian Church, Quincy, Sunday, Feb. 17 at 6 p.m.

DON'T BUY PROPERTY— SIGHT UNSEEN

QUESTION: I just received a mail-order offer to buy vacation property. The photos look great and the price seems attractive. The developer wants me to purchase by mail because it is limited. They offer to refund my money within six months if I am not satisfied. What do you think?

ANSWER: Don't buy by mail, sight unseen. It exposes you to every possible abuse and mistake. What if you are unable to visit within six months? If you do, and are dissatisfied, will the developer still be in business? If he is, what assurance do you have that he will return your money? If you think the purchase is worthwhile - take the trip and look at the property. But don't make any advance commitment to buy.

BUYING PROPERTY SIGHT UNSEEN, long distance, exposes you to every possible abuse and mistake.

Koch, 22 years, a graduate of North Quincy High School in 1981, was President of the Senior Class and is an aide to Congressman Brian Donnelly of the 11th Congressional District. He attends Quincy Junior College as a government major.

Koch has been a volunteer in the Quincy Cancer Society, Heart Fund and Muscular Dystrophy Telephone for a number of years.

The Cancer Society Campaign will be held during the month of April, climaxing Tuesday, April 30

THOMAS P. KOCH

when 1200 volunteers in Quincy under the direction of Koch will visit neighbors with life saving information and seek contributions on behalf of the research, education and patient service programs of the American Cancer Society. The American Cancer Society's Crusade is held each April, the month designated Cancer Control Month by an Act of Congress and by Proclamation of the President of the United States. The Crusade raises funds for cancer research and related programs, and wages an intensive public education campaign focusing on the importance of early detection and treatment of cancer.

The 1985 Crusade Theme is "We Are Winning."

Massachusetts is considered one of the nation's leading cancer research and treatment centers. In 1984, the American Cancer Society's investment in the Bay State was more than $14 million.

Aging Council Backs Goals Of Handicap Commission

The Quincy Council on Aging has passed a resolution supporting the aims and objectives of the Mayor's Commission on the Handicapped particularly as those goals apply to Quincy senior citizens with various handicaps.

Atty. Robert Quinn, a member of the Commission on the Handicapped, was a guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Council on Aging (COA) and outlined some of the steps the Commission is taking to insure greater access to public buildings for the handicapped individual.

Efforts are also being made to impose tougher sanctions on motorists who park their vehicles in parking places specifically reserved for persons with handicaps. There is an ordinance change before the city council increasing the fine from $10 to $50 for motorists found illegally parked in areas reserved for the handicapped.

Quinn reported that the Commission is studying the possibility of issuing temporary identification stickers for parking purposes to those individuals whose disability or handicaps may not necessarily be of a permanent nature but are sufficiently prolonged to warrant some consideration. The exact details have not been worked out as yet, Quinn stated.

The Handicapped Commission is checking into the possibility of towing illegally parked vehicles in areas specifically reserved for handicapped persons.

Both the Commission and COA members voiced concerns with private and commercial vehicles which block access to curb cuts in the downtown Quincy business district and in the vicinity of churches, schools, libraries, nursing homes, and senior citizen public housing.

John Noonan, Chairman of the Quincy Council on Aging, said that handicapped persons and senior citizens with handicaps should be given special consideration in providing access to public buildings and when parking their vehicles for business purposes.

Noonan points out that the senior population of Quincy, many with handicaps of varying degrees, is the fastest growing age group in the city.

"These seniors have paid their dues, they have worked hard all their lives, and at a time when they should be enjoying their golden years they are faced quite often with painful and debilitating disabilities and handicaps," Noonan said.

Pediatric Dentist To Welcome Local Children

Dr. Eugene B. Myerov, a pediatric dentist in Quincy, is welcoming to his new office and the children and teachers from several local nursery schools and kindergartens.

Visitors include Barnette's, Merry-Deb, Jack'n'Jill, and Let's Have Fun nursery schools and kindergartens.

The visits are taking place during February, National Children's Dental Health Month.

Dr. Myerov will speak to the children about how to take proper care of their teeth and what foods they should be eating for good dental health.

They will be given a guided tour of an office where the decor and design were planned to take the fear out of dentistry.

Upon leaving the office, each child will receive a toothbrush, poster, and a dental coloring sheet.

Annual Auction At H.N. Congregational

The annual auction at Houghs Neck Congregational Church will be held Monday, Feb. 18, at 7 p.m. in the church's Fellowship Hall.

Viewing will be from 6 to 7 p.m. There will be old and new items.

Refreshments will be served.

The auction is sponsored by the Mothers' and Others Club and Boy Scout Troop 6.

Robert Klein On WJDA's Musical

Robert Klein will be the special guest star Sunday, Feb. 17, 1 to 4 p.m., on WJDA's Musical 1300 a.m.

Klein starred in "They're Playing Our Song" and is considered one of America's most gifted comics, says WJDA. He has made numerous appearances on "The Tonight Show."

This week's spotlight show is Meredith Wilson's "The Music Man" starring Robert Preston and Barbara

Cook. The show opened Dec. 19, 1957 and ran for 1375 performances.

WJDA will also highlight the career of Irving Berlin and remember Tony nominees for best musical in 1957, 1962 and 1963.

Quincy's Shaughnessy Sets Hot League Scoring Pace

The Quincy boys' basketball team (3-13), still has not won a Suburban League game and has lost 11 straight games, but the Presidents have the league's number one scorer in Bill Shaughnessy, who is running away with the league's scoring race.

Last Friday the Presidents were bombed by Cambridge Rindge and Latin for the second time, 95-49, despite another outstanding game by Shaughnessy, who had 27 points. He is leading the league with an average of 27.5 points a game.

Earlier in the week Quincy was walloped for the second time by undefeated Brockton, 76-55.

The Presidents hoped to avenge an earlier loss to North Quincy and capture their first league win last Tuesday night, and Friday night will play at Newton North at 7:30 p.m.

"That was a tough week for the kids, having to play the league's two top teams, Brockton (16-0) and Cambridge (16-1) in successive games," said Quincy coach Rick DeCristofaro. "You can't expect us to compete with powerhouses like that. We are just out of our class playing schools, with so many more boys."

Quincy didn't have a chance against Cambridge as it fell behind, 37-17, at the half.

Dan Parry had 10 points for Quincy and Pat Faherty added eight points and took down 14 rebounds.

It was the same story against Brockton as the undefeated Boxers took a 21-12 lead in the opening quarter and, after the Presidents cut the gap to 27-22, ran off 15 straight points for a 42-24 halftime advantage.

Shaughnessy had another big night with 22 points, including eight of his team's 12 points in the second quarter.

Parry helped out with 10 points and nine rebounds.

Shaughnessy is having just as good a basketball season as he did a football season. He was a near-unanimous choice as the league's all-star quarterback and received a four-year football scholarship to the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

In football he was a two-year starter at quarterback and last fall he threw for nine touchdowns and completed better than 60 percent of his passes.

A three-year starter in basketball, the six-foot senior averaged 10 points a game as a sophomore and 12 last season.

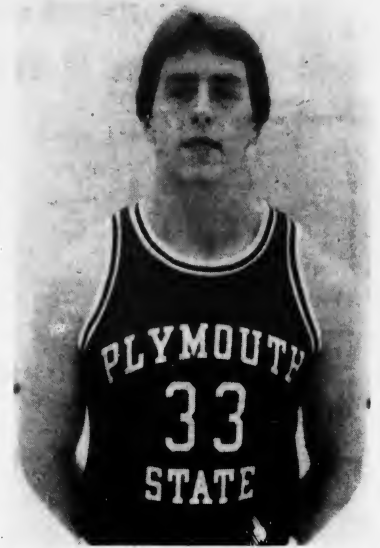

"I did a lot of shooting in between seasons and played a lot of pickup games," he said. "This year I'm shooting the ball a lot more and that's really why my scoring picked up."

He has improved his shooting but he really moves well without the ball," DeCristofaro said. "His man will be covering him tightly from the start but he'll still score his 25 of 26 points. We look to him as our leader. Also, he is one of the most aggressive rebounders for his size I've ever seen. He's smart and knows how to get position and he'll get 10 or 11 rebounds a game against some much taller guys."

North Quincy coach Ed Miller is one of Shaughnessy's biggest boosters.

"You can't give him an inch to get off his shot," he said. "So you just have to try to deny him position and keep the ball out of his hands. He's a great all-around athlete and does a lot on the floor. We did a great job on him defensively, despite his 23 points, and that's the reason we beat them."

-- TOM SULLIVAN

ED CARROLL of North Quincy is a 6-4, 205-pound power forward on the Plymouth State College basketball team, seeing duty as both a starter and a top reserve. Last season he broke the team record for most rebounds in a game, 24, and this year he is averaging six points and four rebounds a game after recovering from a broken wrist. Carroll, a former North Quincy star, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carroll.

North Still Has Its Problems

Things don't get any better for the North Quincy boys' basketball team and two losses last week dropped the Raiders' record to 3-14.

North sought its second win over Quincy Tuesday night, will host Waltham Friday night at 7:30 and will finish up its season next Tuesday at Marshfield at 8 p.m. North's 43-42 win over Quincy is its only Suburban League victory.

Last Friday the Raiders dropped their second overtime decision in two weeks, bowing to Cathedral, 67-65, in a non-league game.

Mark Scanlon sent the game into overtime with a basket with 15 seconds left in regulation, tying the game at 63-63.

North had a chance to send the game into double overtime but misses a shot at the buzzer.

Brian Morris scored 21 points, Scanlon had 16 and freshman Dave Lawless added nine.

Earlier in the week North, as expected, was walloped for the second time by Cambridge Rindge and Latin (16-1), 72-42.

Cambridge is right behind unbeaten Brockton (16-0) in the Suburban League.

Chris Rossi paced North Quincy with eight points as the Raiders trailed all the way and were behind, 33-16, at the half.

"Unless they get us out of this league, we'll have a lot of trouble trying to get a winning season," said North coach Ed Miller. "It is ridiculous for North and Quincy to be playing these schools with twice as many boys as we have. It is not fair to our kids, who give me 100 percent and move every game, but a look at the enrollment figures show that we shouldn't be playing in the Suburban League."

North Wrestlers Defeat Hingham

The North Quincy and Hingham wrestling teams each won six bouts in last week's meet, but the Raiders had six pins, which gave them a 34-21 win over the Harbormen, their ninth victory of the season.

North will compete in the South Sectional championships Friday and Saturday.

Gary Silverman (100 pounds), Pat Marcham (121), Pat Bull (140), John MacDonald (147), and Al DiBella (heavyweight), won their bouts by pin, thereby giving North the edge.

North's other winner was Dan Ward, who won by a 12-3 decision at 107 pounds.

Kiwanis Tourney Opens Monday

The Quincy Kiwanis Club's 12th annual International Youth Hockey Tournament gets underway next Monday, Washington's Birthday, at the Quincy Youth Hockey rink. The tournament will continue throughout the week ending with the finals in all four divisions on Sunday, Feb. 24.

The Class A. AHA-sanctioned event will feature teams from four divisions: Bantams, Pee Wees, Mites and Squirts.

Already registered are teams from Sackville, Nova Scotia; and Halifax, Nova Scotia; Suffolk and Troy, N.Y.; Enfield, Conn.; New Jersey Rockets; Greater Providence, R.I.; Yarmouth-Dennis; Plymouth, Hanover, Arlington, West Roxbury, Canton, Milton, Neponset, Brookline, Melrose, Natick, Newton, Cape Cod Canal, Charlestown, Chelsea and Quincy.

A week-long pass good for admission throughout the tournament is available for $5. Single admission for adults is $2. Tickets for students 12 to 18 years of age are $1. Children under 12 years are admitted free of charge.

The proceeds are to support the many charitable endeavors of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy.

Past President Robert Abraham is the chairman of this year's event.

North Girls Finish Season With 5-2 Record

The North Quincy girls' track team, perennial Suburban League champions, defeated Waltham, 55-31, last week to finish its season with a 5-2 record.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes, who hadn't lost since 1981 and took a 43-1-1 record into this season, had a 20-meet win streak halted in their opening meet this year, losing to Newton

North. The North girls were missing two of their most consistent winners in that meet.

Two weeks ago North dropped a controversial decision to Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

The Raiderettes are taking part today (Thursday) in the Suburban League meet at Cambridge.

Georgia Traficante won both the high jump (5-2) and the 300 (42.3) to spark North's victory over Waltham.

Other North winners were Leanne Fitzgerald, 600 (1:41.2); Mary Ann Kelleher, 1000 (2:52.6); Tricia Barrett, mile (5:33); Noreen Connolly, shot put (35-0), and the relay team of Tricia Collings, Meg Leary, Tricia Leary and Lisa Fitzgerald (4:31.5).

Second place finishers were Jennifer Raftery, hurdles; Lisa Fitzgerald, 50; Tricia Leary, 1000; Ann Toland, mile, and Sharon Barrett, two-mile.

Placing third were Caryn Collings, 300; Cheryl McCarthy, 600; Stacey Cochran, mile; Colleen Toland, two-mile; and Tricia Collings, high jump.

• Senior Basketball Merrymount, Squantum Rack Up Wins

Merrymount Center jumped from the ranks of the winless in action Saturday in the Quincy Recreation Department Senior Boys Hoop League. The Pudge Gill-coached team defeated a scrappy Atherton Hough unit, 43-36.

Mark Molloy was the high scorer for Merrymount with 12, while Steve Austin was high scorer with 18 for Atherton. Three other had nine points in the game - Billy Roche and Mike Hayes for the winners, and Jack Joyce for Atherton. Atherton is coached by Fran Donovan, who saw his team drop to 0-2 in the league. Gill praised Brian Campbell and Matt Gorman for their rebounding and P. J. Hussey and Bobby Roche for their defensive play. Merrymount is 1-1.

In other action, Squantum exploded in the first quarter and never looked back for a 62-34 victory over Central. Dave Zurons was the top scorer with 15 while Steve Dever had 15 and Pete Beauchamp 13 in Squantum's second wing against one loss. Dan Coughlin, veteran Central leader, praised Scott Saccetti, for ballhandling and Ed Cally's defensive play. Don Green had 10, Ted McCarthy seven and Larry Taglieri, five. Squantum coach Gerard Coughlin singled out Joe Callahan for his outstanding rebounding.

Jaehnig Takes League Lead

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club is all alone in first place in the South Shore Sports Center Basketball League with a 4-0 record, thanks to two exciting wins last week.

The Jaehnig Club edged the Wilson Club, 69-68, after trailing by three points with 12 seconds left. After two free throws cut the lead to one, Chuck Jaehnig scored the winning basket on a base line drive set up by Steve Jaehnig's key steal.

Chuck Jaehnig had 18 points, John Timmons 15, Mark Jaehnig 14 and Billy Murphy 13. Ken Wilson was outstanding for the Wilson Club.

Jaehnig trailed by six at halftime but came back to defeat the Balls, 52-43. Mark Jaehnig scored 17 of his 23 points in the second half. Jeff Dillon added eight and Mike Granahan six points and many assists.

The standings: Jaehnig, 4-0; Quincy Nets, 3-1; Wilson Club, 2-2; AARS, 2-2; Balls, 1-3; Rolling Thunder, 0-4.

Indoor Soccer Clinic Registration Starts

The Quincy Recreation Department announces registration for a second session of indoor soccer clinics to be conducted for boys and girls age eight through the fifth grade.

The program will be held Tuesday afternoons and will utilize the staff and facilities of the South Shore Sports Center, the area's only indoor soccer facility.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, said:

"We have developed a program with the South Shore Sports Center which will provide individual and group instruction in the fundamentals of soccer as well as practice in actual game conditions that will emphasize the skills and the strategy and not the score."

All of the instructors have high school and college soccer experience and excellent reputations as instructors of youth. The head instructor will be George Montoya, a former standout at Boston College.

The program will cost $20 for four weeks and include bus transportation from the Recreation Department to Hingham and return which will be supervised by a member of the recreation staff, and one and a half hours of clinic and play. The bus will leave Quincy at 12:15 p.m. and return by 3 p.m. The program will start Feb. 26, and will run for the next four Tuesdays. Registration will be taken beginning Friday, Feb. 15, at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Registration will be on a first-come, first-served basis and is limited. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Bill Nolan's 21 Keys Quincy To Tech Berth

Capt. Bill Nolan scored 21 points as the Quincy High School basketball team spurred out to a 22 point lead at half time and coasted to an 84-53 victory over Revere to qualify for the Tech Tournament with a record of 12-4.

Coach Marty Finnegan used 17 players in the rout with the Junior Varsity five playing the entire fourth period. Peter Mariano had the unusual distinction of scoring eight points for the varsity and 11 in the jayvee game.

STIMBERIS GOAL WINS

John Stimberis fired the winning goal at 2:21 of the third period and goalie John Forristall turned in some key saves in the Raider net as the North Quincy High School hockey team upset Christopher Columbus, 2-1, in Boston Arena.

Stimberis also fed Ralph Anderson for the first North Quincy goal in the first period.

The North Quincy lineup included: Forristall, goal; Callahan, Anderson, defense; Campbell, Erickson, McManus, forwards; Chambers, Stimberis, Chase Gardner, spares.

NORTH LOSES

Steven Olson scored 23 points with a 60 per cent shooting average from the floor and Dave Cahill added 19 but the North Quincy High School basketball team lost 90-76 when Chelsea came up with a near record 36-point final period.

The North Quincy lineup included: Ericson, Bryan, Cahill, Wani, forwards; Gullickson, Zoia, centers; S. Olson, Dworkin, DeBeer, D. Olson, guards.

QUINCY SIX TRAILS

Bill Hutchinson's Quincy High School hockey team ran up a 2-1 lead at the end of two periods but failed to stand off a furious Malden offense in the finale and lost 3-2 in a Metropolitan League game at Boston Arena.

The Quincy lineup included: Mattie, goal; Carroll, Valle, defense; Marini, Ahola, Sheffer, forwards; Troup, Landry, Casagrande, Pulsifer, Burrell, spares.

QUINCY JUNIOR ON TOP

Paul Bersani, with 21 points, and Harry Straughn, with 19, showed the way as the Quincy Junior College basketball team bombed in Cambridge School of Business and TV, 86-67. Bob Fallon chipped in 18 points to the QJC cause.

The Quincy lineup included: Bersani, Woodman, Hannigan, Christiano, Jenkins, Baker, forwards; Fallon, R. McNeil, Hanson, centers; Swan, Lynch, S. McNeil, Straughn, Abramson, Monahan, guards.

TRACKSTERS BOW

Jim Sumner triumphed in the 50-yard dash and Bob Frechette and Bud Mocha tied for first in the mile run but their North Quincy High School track team lost to Weymouth, 49-28, at Weymouth.

13-2 FINISH FOR ENC

Ray Baltz had 17 points, Jim Barefoot 16, and Don Wilhoite 15 as the Eastern Nazarene College basketball team overwhelmed Eastern Baptist College of St. Davids, Pa., 85-63, to end its regular season with a 13-2 record.

SPORTS BITS '62

Phil Doherty and Richie Goldberg showed the way with 16 points between them as Central's ninth grade team upset Point, 32-30, in Junior High School Basketball League action. . . Jack Garrity scored three goals, including the winner in the third period, as the Koch Club hockey team edged Melrose, 5-4, to qualify for the Old Colony League playoffs at Weymouth Skating Club. . . The Boston Red Sox announced the signing of pitcher Gene Conley and outfielder Gary Ceiger. . . Jack Tocchio of Quincy knocked out Stan Choate of Lowell with a left-right combination at 1:56 of the first round to win their 147-pound semi-final bout in the Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament. . . Raiders Eye First

By TOM SULLIVAN
The North Quincy hockey team, snowed out of its scheduled game with Newton North last week and idle last Saturday, had its chance to move into first place in the Suburban League last night (Wednesday) when it met Waltham, hoping to avenge its only two losses.

Kevin Jago's Raiders received their chance to take over the top spot in the league when Brockton upset Waltham last Saturday, 6-4. Waltham and North Quincy have each lost two games and Brockton is right behind with three.

North's game with Newton has been rescheduled for next Tuesday morning at 11:30 at Boston College. The Raiders will play Brookline Saturday at 5:30 at the Watertown Rink and will wind up the regular season next Wednesday at 6 p.m. against Brockton at the Asiat Rink in Brockton.

"I just hope the long layoff won't hurt us," said Jago. "But, I don't think it will. The kids know what they have to do and they feel they can beat Waltham. With a break here and there we could have beaten them before."

North Quincy (12-2), which was an early qualifier for the state tournament, has one of the league's highest scoring lines in Rich Horrigan, Rob Reidy and Dave Tapper, two other excellent lines, an outstanding defense and the league's top goalie, Matt Higgins, last year's league all-star goalie, who has a goals-against average of 1.5.

"If we go out there and play our game, I think we can beat Waltham," said Jago. "Although that will put us in first place, we still have to beat Brockton again in our last game. We beat them twice in hard-fought games, but they had an outstanding team and we'll have our hands full with them."

In a 9-1 romp over Cambridge Rindge and Latin last week, Horrigan had a hat trick and added two assists. Reidy had two goals and two assists and Greg McGlame, Tapper, Mike Haynes and Dave Cooke each scored a goal.

Higgins had another good night with 17 saves, including some more spectacular ones.

North Swimmers Wind Up With Westwood Win

The North Quincy swim team completed its ninth straight winning season last week with an 89-80 victory over Westwood.

Bill Walker's Raiders, who finished 8-3, qualified 10 members for the South Sectionals Friday and Saturday at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

North's Brendon Walsh won the 50-yard freestyle by just a 10th of a second over teammate John Bangs in one of the closest races of the day.

North had only three individual winners plus the 400 freestyle relay team, but its depth paid off with valuable second and third places.

Greg Toland won the diving with 175.20 points. Steve MacKay won the 100 butterfly in 1:07.9 and the 400 freestyle relay team of Walsh, MacKay, Mike Melanson and Bangs won in 3:44.8.

North's second place finishers were MacKay, 200 freestyle; Melanson, 200 individual medley and 500 freestyle; Bangs, 50 freestyle; Eric Giordano, diving; Tom Farmer, 100 butterfly; Walsh, 100 freestyle; Dan O'Sullivan, 100 backstroke, and Dan Moriarty, 100 breaststroke.

Placing third were Dave Stockless, 200 freestyle; Matt McCusker, diving, and Bangs, 100 freestyle.

"The team peaked at just the right time," said Walker, whose team won its last three meets. "In the Dedham and Quincy meets (prior to Westwood) we were able to swim a lot of people in different events and we found out some things about our team that we were not sure about."

"We found that we have a much deeper team at freestyle than we ever imagined and we found that the freshman class may well be the best group of athletes that we have ever had come into the program."

North finished fourth in last Friday's Suburban League championships at Brookline. North scored 168 points to finish behind Brookline, Newton North and Brockton.

The 200 medley relay team of O'Sullivan, Moriarty, Farmer and Rob Weikel finished fifth.

In the 200 freestyle Stockless was 10th, MacKay 11th and Farmer 12th.

In the 200 individual medley Melanson finished seventh and Moriarty ninth.

In the 50 freestyle Bangs was sixth and Walsh eighth.

In diving Giordano placed sixth, Toland seventh and Matt McCusker 12th.

In the 100 butterfly Farmer was sixth and MacKay seventh.

In the 100 freestyle Walsh was seventh, Bangs ninth and Weikel 12th.

In the 500 freestyle Melanson took fifth and Stockless seventh.

In the 100 backstroke it was O'Sullivan sixth, in the 100 breaststroke it was Moriarty third and in the 400 freestyle relay Walsh, MacKay, Melanson and Bangs took third.

Raiderettes Defeat Cambridge, E. Boston

The North Quincy girls' basketball team had to win its last five games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament and started off on the right foot last week with two victories.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes faced Quincy Tuesday, will play at Waltham Friday at 5 o'clock and will wind up next Tuesday against New Bedford at 2:30 at home.

Last Thursday the North girls had a difficult time shaking East Boston before running away to a 68-40 non-league victory.

East Boston took an early six-point lead but North went to a half-court traplate in the opening quarter and went ahead, 15-12, at the end of the quarter. Karen Runge and freshman Nancy Flukes each had four points.

North continued to press in the second quarter and opened up a 34-19 lead at halftime. Eileen Warren took charge of the offensive board and scored seven points while Sandra Proude had five and Runge four.

The Raiderettes increased their lead to 52-25 after three quarters as Runge and Warren scored six points each. Bregoli used his bench most of the last quarter with excellent results.

Mary Alice Sullivan was particularly impressive with five points and six rebounds. Also playing well were Geraldine Murphy with six points and Maureen Donovan with four. Proude passed off to teammates for several baskets.

Runge finished with 14 points, eight rebounds and four assists. Warren had 13 points and Anne Marie Hughes seven. Jean Welch had four points and added six assists to her team-leading total.

Earlier in the week North avenged an earlier defeat with a big 52-51 Suburban League win over Cambridge Ringe and Latin at Cambridge as Hughes stole the ball with 20 seconds left in the game and Runge scored on an eight-footer for the winning basket.

North led, 10-8, after a quarter as Runge and Warren each had four points. The Raiderettes also put the Warrior's 6-1 center, Tanya McCrae, on the bench with two quick fouls.

North failed to take advantage of McCrae's absence and trailed, 22-21, at the half. Only some clutch foul shooting by Hughes, Welch and Runge kept North within striking distance. Capt. Ann Duggan, who alternated with Hughes covering Cambridge's top scorer, Rhonda Greene, added a basket off an offensive rebound and a free throw.

North was able to get its fast break going in the third quarter and scored 21 points. Warren scoring seven and also getting McCrae back on the bench with four fouls. Proude had four points as did Runge. The key sequence was when Flukes was sent to the line after being fouled in the act of shooting. The Cambridge coach argued the call too strongly and picked up a technical foul. Flukes sank all three shots to give North a 42-37 edge.

North maintained its lead until the final two minutes. Cambridge went up, 49-47 and Hughes drove the baseline and tied the score.

Flukes stole the ball and the fed Welby, who was fouled and sank one shot to put her team up, 50-49. Hughes stole the ball with 20 seconds left and Runge scored her winning basket. McCrae hit for Cambridge at the buzzer for the final 52-51 score.

Runge had 14 points, including six of seven from the line, and Warren had 11 points and 12 rebounds. Hughes had nine points, seven rebounds, two vital steals and two assists, while Proude had six points.

"Those were two very big wins for us," said Bregoli. "We felt we should have beaten Cambridge in our first meeting. We prepared well for them and got solid efforts from all our kids. I was concerned about a letdown against East Boston, but, after a sluggish first quarter, we played well."

Vacation Gym Program Next Week

The Quincy Recreation Department will sponsor a special vacation gym program at 10 locations during the February school vacation period next week.

The programs are supervised by Recreation Department Staff and are open to girls and boys age eight through high school. Programs offered include relays, floor hockey, basketball, and other gym related activities. The programs are free of charge and participants may attend the center of their choice.

The locations are:

Merrymount, Atherton Hough, Beechwood Knoll, Montclair, Squantum, Snug Harbor, Point, Atlantic, Central and Lincoln Hancock.

The exact time and day for each location is available at the local center or by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

North Frosh Girls Lose To Brockton, Down Newton

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy freshman girls' basketball team improved its record to 10-3 last week, losing a 42-36 decision over Brockton in an extremely rough game, but defeating Newton North, 36-24.

"It is not my style to complain about the officiating," said coach Dave Bregoli. "But the Brockton game certainly got out of hand. My girls could have used football equipment and still felt the effects of grabbing, elbowing and charging."

At one time in the second quarter North led by three points but Brockton then went ahead for good.

Jill Caldwell had 19 points for the young Raiderettes, nine from the foul line, and Stacey Welch had 10 points.

Bregoli had praise for Jennifer Probert, who did a fine job coming off the bench, and Eileen Campbell, who turned in an aggressive performance.

Tri-Capt. Patty Feeny sparked the win over Newton, playing an excellent all-around game and scoring eight points.

Tri-Capt. Beth Bunker played her usual steady game and contributed four points and Rita Rooney played well and added seven points.

"Probert, Kerry McDonald, Melissa Miles, Tri-Capt. Karrie Pistorino and Liz Harrington all played well," Bregoli said. "Liz returned after being injured in the second game of the season."

Runge Sparks Bridgewater Women

The Bridgewater State College women's basketball team is 19-1 overall and 9-0 in the Mass. State College Athletic Conference and one of the big reasons for the Lady Bears' success is sophomore JoAnn Runge of North Quincy.

Last Saturday night Bridgewater took a two-game lead in the conference with a 51-48 decision over second place Salem State College (9-2 in the conference and 19-4 overall), and it was Runge who clinched the win with two free throws with nine seconds left in the game.

Runge, last year's ECAC Rookie of the year, is averaging 12 points and 7.6 assists a game and last week broke the school assist record. In an earlier game last week she had 15 assists in a 75-68 win over Clark University, giving her 148, and her six against Salem gives her 154 for the season. The previous record was 137 held by present assistant coach Dede Enabenter.

Bridgewater is the top-ranked Div. 3 team in New England and is fourth in the nation. It has won 18 games in a row after a loss to Rhode Island College and has won 25 successive games at home.

"She is just outstanding," said head coach Bo Ruggiero of North Quincy. "She is one of the best guards in New England. She runs the offense and calls the defense. She's always a leader on the floor."

"She is our main ball-handler and does a great job," said Cathy Baker, Bridgewater's top scorer.

Ruggiero went on to say, "JoAnn is an outstanding all-around player. Besides winning the game, she's an outstanding person. I call her Miss High Energy-you can always count on her to help lead."

Squirt A's Tie For Top

Quincy's Squirt A team, sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank, climbed back into a top tie with Norwood in the Greater Boston League after defeating Norwood, 3-1, and Norwood, 5-3.

In the Brookline game Joe Zona had two goals and Dan Morrell the other. Jamie Schatzl and Scott McClory had assists.

Against Norwood, which had been leading the league since an earlier win over Quincy, Zona had two goals and Karen McCabe, Bob Fitzpatrick and Morrell one each. Brian Wood and Matthew Riley had assists.

North Girls Fare Well In Auerbach Meet

The first Red Auerbach Development Track Meet last Saturday at MIT proved a tremendous success with more than 1100 entered in the freshman-sophomore, junior-senior meets, which had large and small school divisions.

The Red Auerbach Foundation, created to keep Auerbach's name alive and to guarantee that interscholastic and youth sports will benefit from funds raised by the foundation, sponsored last week's meet. It completely financed the meet, including medals.

The North Quincy girls' team did well, winning two events, finishing second in two, third in one and fourth in another.

Mary Ann Kelleher won the junior-senior mile in 5:19.5, and Georgia Traficante won the junior-senior high jump at 5 feet, 4 inches.

Lisa Fitzgerald finished second in the junior-senior 600 in 1:28.9 and Leann Fitzgerald placed second in the freshman-sophomore 600 in 1:31.2.

The junior-senior mile relay team of Lisa and Leann Fitzgerald, Traficante and Kelleher finished third and Norreen Connolly finished fourth in the junior-senior shot put with a toss of 33 feet, 4 inches.

"This was a tremendous turnout and it was just a great meet," said North Quincy girls' coach Lou Tozzi, who directed the meet, sanctioned by the MIAA and directed by the Mass. State Track Coaches Association.

"Not too many freshmen and sophomores have a chance to compete on a college track. This is a big addition to our schedule because it gives kids a chance in a quality meet."

"At the other leading meets, such as the state coaches' meet and the class meets, there would be little opportunity for these kids to get medals, and now they have that chance. It's a great confidence booster."

For Traficante, a North Quincy senior, the meet was a barometer for future events.

"This was an opportunity to check out the competition," she said.

Craig Gives Plymouth State Scoring Punch

Freshman forward Kevin Craig of Quincy has given a big boost to the Plymouth State College hockey team during the past two weeks.

The 5-9, 160-pound former Quincy High star led the Panthers to three straight wins over Skidmore (13-3); St. Michael's (6-3) and New Hampshire College (5-4) with seven goals and two assists.

He scored two goals against St. Michael's, then added two goals and an assist against NHC.

For his outstanding performance Craig was selected Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Div. 3 Rookie of the Week.

"Kevin has given our offense a real boost," said head coach Dave Webster.

"During the first part of the season our number one line carried our offense, but now we're getting more balance from our second and third lines and this adds up to winning hockey."

Through last week Craig, son of Robert and Pam Craig, had eight goals and five assists and was the top scorer the past two weeks.

Pee Wee B's Win Pair

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, improved its Greater Boston League record to 14-0-1 with wins over Wellesley, 4-1, and Norwood, 3-1.

Against Wellesley, Greg Hohmann scored the game winner. Jeff Freeman had two goals and John Witham one. Sal Manganaro, Richie Brooks, Jeremy Burm, Jimmy McCarthy, Billy Lydon and Hohmann had assists.

Lydon's first of two goals was the eventual winner against Norwood. Burm had the other goal. Freeman had two assists and Mark Kelleher, Hohmann and Manganaro one each. In both games John Bertrand and Pat O'Donoghue were outstanding in goal.

In non-league state playdown games, the Pee Wee B's defeated Dedham, 9-1, and Tri-Valley, 3-1.

Against Dedham Burm and Lydon had two goals apiece and Kelly Morris, Bobby Scott, Hohmann, Witham and Kelleher one each. Scott, Hohmann and Manganaro each had two assists and Danny Savage, McCarthy, Kelleher and Burn one each.

Against Tri-Valley, Savage's second of two goals was the winner. Manganaro scored the third goal. Brooks had two assists and Burm, Freeman and Lydon one each.

Coach Ralph Freeman had praise for defensemen David Mellyn, Duane Kegan, Matt Swerk, McCarthy, Brooks and Scott.

Firefighters Accept Challenge, Down Police

The Quincy police officers recently challenged the Quincy firefighters to a basketball game.

Before a packed house at Central Middle School, the police did everything possible in trying to suppress a very talented firefighters' team but the firefighters proved superior and rolled to a 76-42 victory.

Squirt C's Edge Hingham

Quincy's Squirt C team, sponsored by Granite City Electric Supply, edged the Hingham B team, 2-1.

Brian Connolly and Peter Nee had the goals, while Steve Miller had two assists and Joe Carinci and Matt O'Toole one each. Hingham's lone goal was on a penalty shot.

John Giadu, Paul Rogan, Danny Grant and O'Toole played strong defense and Steve DesRoche sparked in goal.

Squantum Artist Exhibit At JFK Library

"Journey Through Boston," the first public showing of paintings by Squantum resident Stanley Mikal M.D. is being held at the Gallery of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library, Columbia Point, Dorchester, through Sunday, March 3.

Dr. Mikal, surgeon, has been painting since the age of 13, when he won a scholarship to the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

However, since his time is mostly taken up with his surgical career, he has become a "weekend painter."

A graduate of Tufts University and Tufts University School of Medicine, he has done a number of portraits.

He has had a one-man show at the Carney Hospital and has shown yearly at the Massachusetts Physician's Art Association exhibitions and at the annual South Shore Art Association festivals.

Dr. Mikal is art director of the editorial staff of the Tufts University Medical Alumni Bulletin which has on occasion used his paintings for the cover illustrations.

He is Chief of Vascular Surgery at Carney Hospital, Senior Visiting Surgeon at Boston City Hospital and the New England Baptist Hospital and Associate Clinical Professor of Surgery at Tufts University School of Medicine.

He served as a lieutenant aboard an LST in the Medical Corps of the U.S. Navy during World War II and saw action in Korea with the First Marine Division.

Dr. Mikal has his Medical Office in Milton.

'Charisma' Singing Trio At Glad Tidings

Charisma, a singing trio comprised of teenaged sisters, will perform Sunday, Feb. 17, at 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. at Glad Tidings Church, 158 Washington St., Quincy.

The sisters, formerly known as Sonbeams, have won many vocal and group awards. Kathleen, 15, Patsy and Angela 19, have traveled hundreds of thousands of miles with their parents spreading the gospel throughout word and song.

The performance is free and open to the public.

Spring Enrollment For Children's Theatre

The Children's Theatre Workshop will enroll students for its spring semester Saturday, Feb. 16, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Woodward School, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

There will be four shows to choose from and each show has its own rehearsal day.

The days are: Wednesday, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.; Friday, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; Saturday, 1 to 3.

The spring semester will run from Feb. 27 through June 30. Two shows each will be presented on June 22 and 23 and June 29 and 30.

Following registration, at 1 p.m., there will be a free performance for the general public of one of Diane Purdy's original melodramas, "The Plight of Bonnie Belle's Pitiful Plantation."

The production will have a hero and heroine to cheer for and a villain to hiss and boo at. Seating is limited.

For more information or a descriptive brochure, call Diane Purdy at 331-4941, Marianne McCormack at 472-7867 or Tom "Zeke" Gorham at 696-0879.

Diane Purdy, founder and director of the Children's Theatre Workshop, announces that two more of her students have made the "big time" during the past winter semester.

"TJ", McCormack of Quincy has been cast in the role of "Thomas" in the Charles Playhouse hit "Sister Mary Ignatius Explains It All To You."

Kelli Beatrice of Weymouth is doing commercials for a large grocery chain in the Providence, R.I. area and can be seen on Providence TV Channels 10 and 12.

Pool Trip

The Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., is planning a bus trip to the Lincoln Hancock Pool during school vacation Friday, Feb. 22 at 5:30 p.m. for a 6 p.m. - 7 p.m. swim.

Are last minute trips to the video store driving you wild?

Face it, renting tapes has its disadvantages. After you've finished you've got to race them back to the video store or face a fine. Just thinking about those hairy last minute trips is enough to take the fun out of any movie.

That's why Cable is such a wonderful addition to your VCR. Taping off Cable channels for personal use is legal, free and most times you'll end up with movies and concerts that will never see the inside of a video store.

If you have a VCR and Cable and are having trouble getting them together, call us at 471-9143 and we'll help. If you don't have Cable, why not look into it? It's the best friend any VCR ever had.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 14.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
First impressions, and even second ones, may be incorrect. Don't make choices too quickly. Small windfall may arrive by the weekend. Writing and painting are accented.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Watch tendency to overdo things; a low key approach is a generally wise idea. String of good luck continues; you tend to be at the right place at the right time.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Healthwise, avoid excesses. Romancewise, act as much from the mind as you do from the heart. And financewise, don't make announcements till the money's in the bank.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Missing pieces of a puzzle are found this week, and you excel in the role of detective. Physical programs should be taken on with moderation. Elections are favored.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
You can achieve the recognition you deserve, and this is not the time for modesty. Financial planning is required before Wednesday. Critical acquaintance is generous and supportive.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Tempting offers come your way; the key is to be both discriminating and realistic. New faces brighten social scene. Allow extra time for correspondence to arrive.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Communications snags end, and you're able to get your points across with ease. Week has a nostalgic quality; you may find a friend from the past.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Step into the future by learning new skills and updating your wardrobe. Family obligations should be shared; speak up if you see a need here.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Confirm all plans and double check that your instructions are understood. Good week for making key decisions on community and social matters.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Self-indulgent streak surfaces, and temptations abound. Willpower strengthens during the weekend, and Monday is right for launching a diet. Romantic hurdle can be sidestepped.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
This is a positive period for trading goods and ridding yourself of poor habits. Searches pay off. Healthwise, prepare for changing conditions and avoid excesses.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
You can learn more about others when you appreciate their differences. Don't hesitate to air your beefs, ask for refunds, etc. Reunions have their light, bright moments.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You are a humanitarian who manages to obtain, and enjoy, the comfort of life. Your independent streak can be both an asset and a liability. Financial expansion is a theme of the coming year — but it happens through hard work, not luck.

BORN THIS WEEK
February 14, actress Florence Henderson; 15th, actor Harvey Korman; 16th, singer Sonny Bono; 17th, actor Alan Bates; 18th, actress Kim Novak; 19th, actor Lee Marvin; 20th, actor Sidney Poitier.

Boston Gear, 107 years old, has 1,000 employees in its Quincy headquarters.

If you think tampering with a cable converter box means free entertainment, think again. Soon illegal viewers will pay for prying, because cable theft is a crime punishable by a stiff fine, imprisonment, or both.

And cable thieves can get caught, because improved technology makes it easier to identify homes that are illegally receiving basic and premium services.

by 6 months in jail and a $1000 fine.

QJC Starts Credit Course On Cable TV

American Cablesystems and Quincy Junior College have pooled resources to offer cable subscribers in Quincy, Milton and Randolph a chance to earn college credits at home.

Only subscribers who pay a $100-tuition fee or $21 audit fee are able to view the 10-week series of lectures and each class in the Quincy course will be shown several times a week.

During the semester, live call-in shows will be broadcast with the instructor answering student questions.

The first "Pay Per View" course, which is entitled, "The Computer Program" and which was produced by the British Broadcasting Company, began Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Starting that day 35 subscribers, who paid tuition or an audit fee, began receiving the classes over a channel that is scrambled for everyone else.

In addition to paying $100, those viewers wishing to earn three college credits in computer science must attend and pass midterm and final examinations, that will be given at Quincy Junior College.

Enrollment and billing for the class are arranged through the Quincy Cablesystems office. Tuition is added to the subscribers monthly cable bill and payments can be spread out over a three-month period.

Dr. Clayton Johnson, president of QJC, expressed enthusiastic support for the innovative program.

"We believe the television screen is changing the face of educational technology," said Dr. Johnson, "and the institutions that will grow and prosper in the future are the ones that are adapting now to change."

"We are enormously pleased to participate with American Cablesystems in this project."

The cablecast course gives Quincy Junior College the ability to reach a larger audience than its current student body.

"We expect to attract people who are not geared for the traditional college setting," explains Leslie Sandler, cable television specialist at QJC.

"We have identified three groups that might be especially interested in this type of education: people whose work schedule makes it difficult to attend classes on campus, young mothers with small children at home; and people who are homebound or otherwise unable to leave home."

Each program in the series is broadcast five times during the week at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, and at 10 a.m. on Saturday. It is seen on Channel 9 in Quincy.

Students who enroll in the course on a credit basis are able to use the computer laboratory facilities at Quincy Junior to gain hands-on experience and those with their own personal computers at home can get instructional materials to do work assignments on them.

Before proposing the idea of cablecasting courses to Quincy Junior College officials, American Cablesystems conducted market research by polling randomly selected subscribers, said Steve Marx, head of programming for Quincy Cablesystems.

"We found a good percentage of subscribers said they would pay for college courses if we offered them on a pay per view basis over cable."

He added that if this first course is successful, the company will consider joining Quincy Junior College in offering additional pay per view credit courses in the Quincy regional system.

CITY OF QUINCY IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 166A
ORDERED:

July 19, 1984

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy, that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended are further amended by deleting in Chapter 13 Miscellaneous Offenses, Article IV-In General, Section 49 Swimming Pools and add in its place the following section:

Section 49 Swimming Pools

Every person owning land on which there is situated a swimming pool, and contains twenty-four (24) inches or more of water in depth at any point, shall erect and maintain in good condition, a fence surrounding the property or pool area, sufficient to make such water inaccessible to small children. Such fence shall be either a chain link or a stockade type fence at least six feet high and firmly secured at ground level. Any gate shall be self-latching with latches placed at least four feet above ground. It shall be inaccessible from the outside except by a key. Ladders on above ground pools shall be retractable. (A life saver with twenty feet of rope or a pole with a hook at least sixteen feet long must be provided.)

Any chain link stockade or masonry type fence not less than five feet high, firmly secured at ground level and erected prior to January 1, 1985 shall be deemed to meet the height requirements provided all other requirements of this ordinance are met.

The penalty for violations of this section shall be not more than $100. Each day a violation continues shall be considered a separate offense.

HELP WANTED

ASSISTANT CLERK-MAGISTRATE

Immediate opening at Norfolk Division of the Superior Court Department of the Massachusetts Trial Court.

POSITION SUMMARY

This position involves responsible legal work of moderately complex difficulty and some supervisory responsibilities. The employees in this position assist the Clerk-Magistrate in performing the legal and administrative duties as set forth in state statutes and court rules. Responsibilities include the preparation and maintenance of all court papers and records and the performance of administrative tasks to ensure that cases move rapidly and smoothly to a determination by the court. Work is performed under the direction of the Clerk-Magistrate or First Assistant Clerk-Magistrate. Supervision is exercised over support personnel within the Clerk-Magistrate's Office.

POSITION REQUIREMENTS

Knowledge, skills and abilities acquired through four years of professional legal experience in an office of a Clerk-Magistrate or Register of Probate or a college degree from an accredited college or university.

All applicants must file resume plus standard Trial Court application form which is available at any courthouse.

SALARY: $28,645.28/yr.

Respond on or before February 22, 1985 to: Office of Clerk-Magistrate, Superior Court Dept. of the Trial Court, Norfolk Division, 650 High St., P.O. Box 229, Dedham, Ma 02026. Attention: Mildred C. Linehan.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from Lubo Marnikovis for transfer of the common victualer-wine and malt license for South Shore Sub and Pizza Shop, Inc. 686 Southern Artery.

Atty. Richard Barry, who represented Marnikovis, said the license is being transferred because the owner, Charles Droushiotis, is not in good health.

- Granted a request from the Houghs Neck Community Council, Inc., for a one day alcoholic license, for a Hearts and Flowers Supper Dance Saturday, Feb. 16, 7:30 p.m. to midnight at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

- Granted a request from Quincy Foreign Car Center, 642 Washington St., for an auto body shop license.

- Granted a request from the American Fund for Czechoslovak Refugees, Inc., for a one day beer license for a Vietnam New Year celebration Sunday, Feb. 17, 7 p.m. to midnight at the Fore River Club-house.

- Voted to review a lodging house license for 24 Saville Ave., after the recent death of owner Henrietta Jackson.

- Voted to hand deliver a letter to Webster's, Scammell St., informing the owner to cease and desist operating until the board considers whether or not to license the new manager.

- A request from Thomas Knightly of Scituate for a one day alcoholic license for a dance April 27 at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus hall was cancelled.

Cherry Towne
... a very special bedroom

Cherry Towne is one of the finest expressions today of a time when furniture was crafted in perfection.
Just as then, Colonial ancestors had done 200 years before, craftsmen use only the finest solid hardwoods — no veneers — and apply a rich Cherry finish that's hand rubbed to a special glow.
But the quality doesn't stop with all the beauty and elegance. It extends deep — to every concrete. Or drawer bottom, dust proofing and bolts that are made from genuine wood.
There's so much more, but you'll see the interest from first glance. For this is Cherry Towne — the finest!

ICU Patients Evacuated In Hospital Bomb Scare

Twenty patients were evacuated from the intensive and progressive care units at Quincy City Hospital early Tuesday after a telephone call was received saying that a bomb was set to go off there at 5 a.m.

Hospital spokesman William Henderson said the call was received at 3:45 a.m., police and firefighters searched the ICU room, found nothing and the patients were returned at 7:30 a.m.

The bomb scare came less than 24 hours after the hospital was picketed by some 60 sign-carrying anti-abortion marchers, who claimed that abortions on demand were given at the hospital.

"We have no idea who initiated the call," said Henderson. "A man just called and said that a bomb was going to go off in the ICU at 5 a.m. and then he hung up."

Assault, Rob Store Owner

Two youths assaulted Steven Lester, 71, owner of Lester's Variety, 231 Palmer St., Germantown, Sunday and fled with the contents of the cash register.

Lester said he was alone in the store shortly before 6 a.m. when the youths came in. One of them grabbed his glasses, punched him in the eye, knocking him down.

Then the youth opened the cash register, grabbed a handful of bills and both of them ran out of the store.

They were described as about 17 or 18 years old, 5-foot-10 and 150 pounds. One had light red hair and the other black hair.

Gillis: 'We'll Have To Redistrict' Census May Cut Precincts To 30

By TOM HENSHAW

Quincy may have 30 instead of 39 precincts after the results are in from the state census, which is now nearly completed in the city.

"We will have to redistrict based on the new state figures," said City Clerk John Gillis.

"We have been talking about decreasing the number of precincts to 30, five in each of the six wards, as a matter of economics.

"If we have fewer voting places we will need fewer voting machines and fewer personnel to man the voting places."

The last time the city was redistricted was in 1972 when the federal government mandated precincts and wards of the same size under the one-man, one-vote court edict.

Gillis said the new wards are expected to be between 14,082 and 15,248, in population and the precinct lines will be drawn by dividing the figure by five.

"The state census is now 80 per cent complete," he said. "The results should be in within three weeks.

"Once we get the figures we'll draw the new ward lines first and then the precinct lines. Then it's up to the City Council to approve it."

Voting Machines Go Out To Bid

The city is advertising this week for bids to purchase 500 punch card voting machines to be used for the first time in the preliminary municipal election in September.

City Clerk John Gillis said he anticipates that the bids will come in between $160,000 and $185,000 but that the machines will pay for themselves in savings over the years.

Robert D. Brennan, director of data purchasing, who drew up the specifications for the machines, said bids will be opened on or about Thursday, March 21.

"They will definitely be ready for the next election," said Gillis. "I can't tell how much the election will cost but it will certainly be cheaper than the paper ballots."

Gillis said the last election in November, 1984, cost the city $17,629 in police overtime alone. That figure should be trimmed by about $6,000, he said.

The September election should be wrapped up by 10 p.m., said Gillis, which will trim the expense of election workers, who are paid by the hour. Some recent elections have gone to 3 and 4 a.m.

An appropriation order for $200,000 to purchase the machines has been in the City Council's Finance

Tools, Cigarettes Taken

Cigarettes and tools valued at $1,675 were reported stolen early Friday from the Sunoco station at 59 School St. by thieves who removed a door window panel and smashed the locks Committee since Sept. 4, awaiting a firm figure from the bids.

Once the machines are on hand, said Gillis, the Board of Registrars of Voters will embark on an educational campaign to teach voters, particularly the elderly, how to use them.

"I don't think anyone will have trouble with them," he said. "Eighty communities in the state use punch cards and the senior citizens of Quincy are much brighter than those in other cities."

To gain entry,

Taken were 330 packages of cigarettes, a battery charger, 80 wrenches, an air gun, an engine analyzer machine, six power tools, and cases of anti-freeze

Toland Seeks To Locate City's Bank Accounts

City Councillor Patricia Toland planned to introduce a resolution at Tuesday's Council meeting asking the identity of the banks in which the city's money is kept.

The resolution comes in the wake of the city of Boston's withdrawal of money from the Bank of Boston, which was fined $500,000 for illegal practices in foreign exchange.

"I'm not going to say that we should pull the city's money out of the Bank of Boston," said Toland, "but I'm concerned now about where our money is spread out.

"I'd like to know where all the city's money is and the amounts and the purpose of it."

Meanwhile, Ronald Iacobucci, a likely opponent of Toland in the fall election, asked for a Council resolution instructing the mayor to withdraw all city funds from the bank.

Said Iacobucci in a letter to Richard J. Koch Jr., chairman of the Council's Finance Committee:

"In view of the Bank of Boston's flagrant violation of federal currency laws designated to crack down on drug dealers and organized crime, I find it unconsiderable to continue a business relationship with this bank.

"We cannot condone white collar crime and so neither should we support a financial institution that through its blatant violation of federal law lends support to criminal elements. It is time to fight back."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said last week that he has no intention of withdrawing Quincy money from the Bank of Boston. The city has some $3 million there.

"That does not mean we condone their actions," he said.

Resolution Urges No Federal Local Aid Cuts

The City Council Tuesday night entertained a resolution urging the President and the Congress "not to adopt proposals in the fiscal year 1986 budget that would mean drastic losses in federal aid to the city of Quincy."

"General revenue sharing, the Urban Development Action Grant program, discretionary mass transit capital grants and federal transit operating assistance are of vital concern to the city," said the resolution, filed by Councillor Joanne Condon.

"State and local governments have been in the front lines in the effort to fight inflation, recession and record federal deficits.

"We have made the sacrifices, have absorbed severe cuts and have shored up our own finances to maintain essential services.

"The loss of general revenue sharing, job training, transit housing and economic development assistance cannot be made up from local revenue sources that are already stretching their limits.

"We are prepared to do our share but we cannot and will not accept the administration's budget proposal."

Station Robbed

John Polici of 734 Furnace Brook Parkway reported to police Sunday that $400 in cash was stolen from his Texaco station at 671 Washington St., Quincy Point.

A CAKE by Montillo's Bakery and Ice Cream Shop depicted the battle of Iwo Jima for 40th anniversary commemorative services in Boston. George Montillo put the finishing touches on the cake.

No Quorum - No Action At License Board Meeting

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board met Tuesday but all of the agenda items were postponed until next week because the board was one member short of quorum.

City Clerk John Gillis and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald attended the meeting, but Police Chief Francis Finn and Fire Chief Edward Barry were out sick.

The board has lacked a fifth member since the death of Health Commr. Dr. M. Grace Hussey last month.

Gillis, board member and chairman since 1959, said he can't remember any other time when a meeting was cancelled because of lack of a quorum.

A request for transfer of the common victualer-all alcoholic license for the Liberty Lounge, 73-75 Liberty St., was briefly heard by the board because it had been legally advertised.

William F. MacDougall of Randolph is proposed manager of the lounge.

The license is currently held by Michael McEvoy and Wayne Milford.

The matter was continued to last week, as were the following items:

- Hearing regarding a gas-repair shop license issued June 26, 1984 to Frank Carchedi-Nicola Maffeo, 365 Washington St.

- Continued hearing regarding a motor II (used car) license for Karl's Auto Body, 65 Holbrook Rd.

- Hearing regarding conditions at Piccarini Auto Sales, 24 Raymond St.

- Request from California, 79 Parkway, for change of name to Chevy's Belair Cafe.

Demolition Starts On Pollard School

Demolition of the old Pollard School in Quincy Point began Tuesday shortly after it was sold by the City for $252,000 to make way for 39 condominium units.

Papers were passed at 11 a.m. Tuesday transferring the fire-scorched building on Southern Artery to the developer, Burkhardt Corp. of Milton.

The developer had planned to convert the existing building into 30 condo units but it was so badly damaged by a fire

Feb. 2 that it was decided to tear it down and begin again.

As part of an agreement that kept the price for the building at $252,000, the city agreed to let Burkhardt develop 39 units, instead of 30.

Hearing March 7 On 7 Plans For Boston Harbor Cleanup

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is preparing to hold a public hearing in March on seven alternative plans for sewage and wastewater disposal that would clean up and preserve the waters of Boston Harbor.

The EPA's public hearing will be held Thursday, March 7, at 7 p.m. at Quincy Vocational Technical School gym, Coddington St., Quincy Center.

Councillor Michael Cheney reminded residents that this will be the last public opportunity to voice their opinions.

Five of the plans would reduce the status of the Nut Island Treatment Facility to a small headworks and cut its size from 12 acres to two.

Two plans would make Nut Island a primary treatment facility and expand its area from 12 acres to 18.

The seven alternatives are contained in a Supplemental Draft Environmental Impact Statement, a 1,500-page document that is now available for inspection at the Thomas Crane Public Library in Quincy Center.

Three of the plans involve primary treatment plants coupled with a nine-mile deepwater outfall and four are concerned with secondary treatment facilities with a shorter outfall just outside the inner harbor.

Primary treatment is defined as a physical process that removes about half the organic materials from the wastewater and secondary treatment as a biochemical and physical process that removes as much as 90 per cent of the organic substances.

The three primary treatment alternatives are these:

- Expand the existing facility at Deer Island. Reduce Nut Island to a headworks for screening and chlorination. Construct two pipelines from Nut Island to Deer Island. Cost: $752 million. No significant impact on Nut Island.

- Expand existing facilities on both Deer Island and Nut Island. Construct new outfall pipelines from Nut Island to Deer Island. Cost: $810 million. Significant impact on Nut Island either by filling in three acres of Hingham Bay or taking a small number of homes near the site.

- Expand the existing facility at Deer Island. Reduce Nut Island to a headworks. Construct a new facility on Long Island to replace Nut Island. Connect Nut Island to Long Island by pipelines. Cost: $816 million. No significant impact on Nut Island.

The four secondary treatment alternatives are these:

- Expand the existing primary treatment facility on Deer Island to a secondary treatment plant. Reduce Nut Island to a headworks. Construct a new pipeline from Nut Island to Deer Island. Cost: $595 million. No significant adverse impact on Nut Island.

- Expand the existing plant at Deer Island to provide secondary treatment for all flows. Expand the Nut Island facility to provide primary treatment. Construct a new pipeline from Nut Island to Deer Island. Cost: $650 million.

Significant impact on Nut Island either by filling in three acres of Hingham Bay or taking homes near the site.

- Construct a new secondary treatment plant on Long Island. Reduce Deer Island and Nut Island to headworks. Construct new pipelines from Deer and Nut Islands to Long Island. Cost: $705 million. Severe impact on Long Island, requiring removal of chronic disease hospital. No significant adverse impact on Nut Island.

- Expand existing Deer Island facility for primary treatment only. Construct a secondary treatment plant on Long Island. Reduce Nut Island to a headworks. Construct new pipelines from Deer and Nut Islands to Long Island. Cost: $738 million. No significant adverse impact on Nut Island.

The decision on the level of treatment, whether primary or secondary, will be made by the EPA and state environmental agencies through technical evaluation of the effects on water quality.

The siting of the plants will be made by the EPA and the state based in part on an evaluation of the impact on the environment in surrounding communities and future optimum use of the harbor as a whole.

Reader's Forum Abuse Of Handicapped Parking Spaces A Critical Concern

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

It was with great interest that I read your pet peeve in the Quincy Sun of Jan. 24. The abuse of reserved handicapped parking spaces by persons who are not eligible for those spaces is of critical concern to the citizens of Quincy who have a mobility disability.

The Quincy Commission on Handicapped Affairs has been diligently working to minimize the abuse of these spaces. First, through the efforts of Police Chief Finn and the Quincy Police Department, enforcement of present ordinances through the issuance of parking tickets for violations has been increased.

Second, the Quincy Commission on Handicapped Affairs sponsored a city ordinance which will increase the penalty for violations of handicapped parking spaces and ramps on public streets from $10 to $50.

Third, a city ordinance was also sponsored providing for the towing of vehicles which violate the reserved parking spots or ramps. Fourth, a city ordinance requiring reserved parking spots on all private parking lots utilized by the public has been sponsored by the Commission. This ordinance also provided that the police department can enforce the ordinance by the issuance of parking tickets.

All of these measures have been passed by the City Council and are awaiting approval at the State House. Councillors Theodore DeCristofaro and Patricia Toland in particular, were most helpful in obtaining the passage of these ordinances.

It is anticipated that through the increased awareness and education of the public and through the continued vigilance of the police department, that the public will respond by maintaining the parking spots for those who need them. To the general public the reservation of these parking spots represents a minor inconvenience. To those who have a mobility disability the reservation of these parking spots represents the difference between carrying out their daily activities and being shut out from society.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante.

THE EMPHYSEMA VICTIM

Emphysema is a disease of the lungs in which the microscopic air sac ruptures into one another, gradually causing the lungs to lose their elasticity. The victim of the disease has difficulty in breathing. After he inhales, he finds it difficult to get the inhaled air out.

The victim of the disease is more likely to be a man (6 to 1); a cigarette smoker; to live in the city, have frequent chest colds; and be short of breath. Sometimes he wheezes when he breathes rapidly and has probably had a cough more or less continually for a number of years. He is probably underweight and tends to tire easily.

Experts do not know any cure for emphysema as of this writing, but the patient who cooperates with his doctor can live with the disease because, if caught in time, physicians can go a long way toward at least arresting the progress of the disease in damaging the lungs.

Mayoral Primary?

Quincy has its first mayoral race in four years but one question remains:

Will there be a primary election?

It takes only two to tango in the November final election but three are necessary for a September preliminary election.

Former City Councillor John Quinn has been mentioned as a possible third candidate but those close to him don't think he will get into the race. Not this year, anyway.

Meanwhile, Hank Pasquerella, former president of the Quincy Education Association has sounded much like a potential candidate.

Pasquerella, a member of the teachers' negotiating team, isn't too happy about progress in those talks. And, if he doesn't get happy soon, he may run for mayor.

He threatened to do so in a recent letter to the QEA membership. Wrote he:

"If the mayor and the school committee persist in their rude and parsimonious manner, then I shall exercise my right as a citizen, taxpayer, and resident of this city and become a candidate for the office of mayor for the city of Quincy."

Latest report is that he is "seriously considering" it and will make up his mind within a couple of weeks.

"I have a strong inclination I'm going to run," he says. "Professional politicians shouldn't monopolize the mayor's race. There are non-politicians who could run this city and do a good job of it."

"In fact, the more people running for mayor, the better off the city would be."

He still has allowed himself a little more time for a final decision.

But, he says:
"I'm going to do something!"
Like what?
He isn't saying.

IF PASQUERELLA should decide not to go, it looks pretty doubtful there will be a preliminary run-off for mayor.

No other names are being mentioned now that City Council President James Sheets has officially removed himself from this year's race.

City Clerk John Gillis positively will not run this year.

March Of Dimes Honors Volunteers

The March of Dimes held an appreciation party recently for 10 volunteers who raised more than $300 during the Quincy Mothers March on Birth Defects last month.

Honored were Mrs. Margaret Madden, Mrs. A. Flanders, Mrs. Horace Young, Mrs. Carole Rosenschein, Mrs. John Fredrickson, Ms. Janice Marr, Mrs. Jeanine Heath, Ms. C. Flanagan, Mrs. John Gorham and Mrs. Ruth Aaron.

The volunteers turned in their collection kits during the festivities at the Sons of Italy Hall on Quarry St.

Refreshments were furnished by O'Brien's Bakery and Dunkin' Donuts of Quincy. The door prize was given by Bentley's Steak House.

IS THERE A rematch shaping up for the Ward 1 City Council seat?

There's speculation that Robert Johnson, who bowed to Michael Cheney, in last year's special election to succeed Leo Kelly, may give it another try this year.

JOHNSTON

Johnson, who has remained quite visible since attending meetings affecting the area was asked if there is anything to the speculation he might run.

"It's not a rumor," he says. "It is an open possibility." But he'll do some more thinking about it before making a final decision.

Cheney and Johnston hooked up in a humdinger duel last year.

Johnson edged Cheney by eight votes in the five-candidate field in the preliminary election. And Cheney came back to defeat Johnston by 79 votes in the final.

THERE MAY BE something brewing in Ward 3. James French, who is close to Gov. Michael Dukakis reportedly is considering challenging Councillor John Lydon.

FRENCH

FORMER Mayor Thomas Burgin was unable to attend the former-present Quincy elected officials, get-together the other day and felt bad he could not.

Burgin especially wanted to see an old friend, Angelo Bizzozero who was on the 1925 City Council the first council on which Burgin served.

Bizzozero at 92 is Quincy's oldest living former elected official. Former City Councillor Carl Anderson at 90 (and also did not attend) is second oldest and Burgin, who will be 83 in April is third in seniority.

Burgin who was a recent hospital patient says he is "doing fine" and was able to get out of the house for awhile the other day. But, unfortunately, it was a couple days after the reunion.

CITY Councillor Ted DeCristofaro who was among those attending the present-past officials' reunion, wound up losing his coat. He thinks someone took it by mistake. It's a tan raincoat with fur lining. If you were at the reunion he'd like to check the coat you wore home.

Adams Historic Site Seeks Summer Workers

The Adams National Historic Site is accepting applications for full-time seasonal employment for the period between April 19 to Nov. 10.

Park aides and park technicians will be hired to greet the public, conduct guided tours and protect the park resources at the Adams Mansion on Adams St. and the Adams Birthplaces on Franklin St.

To be eligible, applicants must be at least 18 years of age and submit their applications to the Adams National Historic Site, Box 531, 125 Adams St., Quincy, 02269 no later than March 15.

Applications may be obtained by contacting the administrative office at 773-1177.

Women Delegates

The names of the women delegates chosen by the Ward 6 Democratic Committee for the state party issues convention were inadvertently left out of last week's Quincy Sun.

They are: Joanne Condon, Mary Ginnety, Mary Collins, Pat Yovino, Pauline Stanton and Carol Shea, alternate.

ELECTED OFFICIALS, old and new, gathered at the Neighborhood Club for their first annual reunion. Left to right, standing, Thomas Gilmartin, Michael Morrissey, Clifford Marshall, Frank Bellotti, Theodore DeCristofaro, Patricia Toland, James McCormack, Paul Harold, Francis McCauley, Edward Graham, George McDonald; seated, Louise Marshall, Joan Picard, Mary Collins, Angelo Bizzzero, Joseph Brett.

Old Time Politicians Reminisce At Reunion

By TOM HENSHAW

"We sat for five or six hours," Angelo Bizzzero was saying, "considering whether or not to increase the pay of the chief clerks in the different departments $50 a year."

"At that time it was more or less a get-together of friends. There were differences of opinion on some things but there was no animosity."

Bizzzero was speaking of the City Council of his day which was 1921 or 64 years ago.

The 92-year-old Bizzzero, who served on the City Council for nine years from 1921 through 1930 and now lives in retirement in Plymouth, was the oldest office-holder to attend the first annual reunion of Quincy's elected officials last week at the Neighborhood Club.

The affair, organized by Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, City Councillor Patricia Toland and School Committee-woman Mary Collins, drew 18 office holders, six of them no longer in office.

The half dozen were former City Councillors Thomas Gilmartin, Edward Graham, James McCormack, Joseph E. Brett, George Burke and Bizzzero, who was given a citation by Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

Gilmartin, who was on the Council from 1946 through 1949, recalled that the city built the Health Center in his time with Quincy spending only $10,000 and the federal government picking up the rest of the tab.

"We never spent too much money in those days," he said. "When people wanted raises it was $2 a week. It wasn't big money like it is today. People seemed more satisfied in those days."

McCauley, a councillor from 1960 through 1963 and later a state senator, called himself "one of the old warriors of the 60s." He was the first Democratic senator from the district and the only candidate ever to defeat Thomas S. Burgin in an election.

"The issues are pretty much the same then as now," said McCormack, who is now a mortgage banker living in Weston. "Taxes, sewer and transportation. It was no better 20 years ago than it is today."

Brett, who was better known as a state representative for 18 years until he was defeated for a 10th term in 1978, said the loss left him "disappointed for a while. I had served 18 years in the House and planned to retire after 20 years."

Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti, who first ran for public office in 1958 and lost for district attorney, compared what he called the "dramatic changes in campaigning since I came into the business."

"It used to be a more personal thing," he said. "You'd go out and talk to people. It was more of a two-way thing. Now it's more and more of a media thing, a one-way communication. People go on television and radio. You don't have the give and take that you used to have in the old days."

OLDEST CITY Councillors in terms of service at the reunion of elected officials were Angelo Bizzzero (left), who served on the Council from 1921 to 1930, and Thomas Gilmartin, who was a councillor from 1946 to 1949.

Other current holders in attendance included:

Councillors Toland, Theodore DeCristofaro,

Stephen McGrath, and Joseph LaRaja; Sen. Harold, Rep. Morrissey, School Committee women Collins and Joan Picard; County Commissioner George McDonald; Sheriff Clifford Marshall.

"I think we'll try again next year," said Morrissey.

Street Cars Out, Buses In On Quincy Sts.

John F. Gallagher, transportation manager of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., told a hearing before a City Council committee that his company was planning to replace street cars with buses on Washington and Hancock Sts.

"I should say this year and possible sooner than that," he said.

One of the considerations holding up the conversion, said Gallagher, was the construction of a fire wall at the Quincy car barns so that gasoline-burning vehicles could be stored there safely.

Councillor Thomas J. Gilmartin, chairman of the Public Utilities Committee, presided at the hearing which was also attended by Councillors David J. Crowley, Clifton H. Baker, William J. Papile, Amelio Della Chiesa and Edna B. Austin.

SERIOUS PROBLEM

Alexander Purdon, secretary of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, said the city was confronted by one of the most serious economic and social problems ever as a result of the proposed discontinuance of Old Colony Railroad passenger service.

"Without a doubt," said Purdon, "rapid transit, even if it did afford a solution to the commuter problem, would result in a disastrous dislocation of industry in this area."

"Companies located here for many years might, in the long run, find it necessary to move to locations where rail transportation by side tracks would be available."

SCHOOL CONVERSION

Mayor Charles A. Ross said he had given the Mayor's Emergency Housing Committee the green light to go ahead with plans to convert the Washington School in Quincy Point into a veterans apartment building at a cost in excess of $100,000.

Cancer Crusade Seeking Volunteers

Thomas P. Koch, chairman of the Quincy House-To-House Cancer Crusade, is seeking volunteers to assist as precinct chairmen and workers in the April 30, Cancer Crusade.

Some 1200 crusaders will visit their neighbors with life-saving cancer education information and seek donations to assist in the Research and Patient Services of the American Cancer Society in Massachusetts.

Colorectal cancer will strike more than 4,200 adults in Massachusetts this year. But because of advances in treatment, three out of four will be cured. When an American Cancer Society volunteer knocks on your door on April 30 to ask for your support, ask about the Colorectal Health Check.

2 Quincy Women In Miss Mass Pageant

Two Quincy women, Amelia Picardi and Sharon Koury, have been selected as entrants in the 1985 Miss Massachusetts-USA Pageant March 1-3, at the Sheraton Lincoln Grand Ballroom, Worcester.

The state pageant will select the Massachusetts representative to the Miss USA Pageant to be nationally televised by CBS-TV in May.

Both women were selected as entrants at large.

Miss Picardi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Picardi, is a graduate of Quincy High School.

She attends Quincy Junior College and plans to become a nurse.

Her other activities include cooking and aerobics, and she works in the job placement center at Quincy Junior College.

One of the requirements of the pageant is that each entrant wear a costume descriptive of the town or area that she represents.

Miss Picardi plans to wear a colonial gown representative of Abigail Adams, wife and mother of two presidents.

Miss Koury is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Koury.

A graduate of Thayer

AMELIA PICARDI

Academy, she is a dining room supervisor at Garnishes Restaurant.

Her activities include photography, exercising and travel.

She plans to wear a flounder fisherman outfit, representative of Houghs Neck as the flounder capital of the world, in the pageant.

Leisure Service Directory For Youths In Works

Recognizing that lack of information and knowledge of programs is one of the most often cited reasons that Quincy residents do not enroll and participate in leisure service programs, the Quincy Recreation Department is initiating a leisure service directory project for youth activities.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, said, "There are many fine organizations in the private, voluntary, and municipal sectors that provide countless hours of services to residents of Quincy. Some of these agencies are city wide, others confine themselves to smaller geographical area, some provide co-ed activities, others to boys and others to only girls. The programs run from passive and educational to physical and social. These combined resources constitute a system by which our community pursues recreation in its leisure time."

"Currently, no network exists to deal with the persons who need information about these activities in this system. Over half of the calls to our office are from residents of the city who are seeking program information in general, not specific inquiries about our departmental offerings.

Program offerings have expanded at a rapid rate, and many parents are not aware of activities, or how to join them. Working parents and single family households also contribute to the need for a central location for this information. New residents to the city are often overwhelmed with the overall activities and the logistics of trying to locate who sponsors them.

"Working with the City's Data Processing Department Director Bob Brennan, we plan to establish a computerized listing of community resources for leisure services. This listing can be accessed in a variety of categories such as activity, age, season, or location. The computerization of this listing will allow for easy periodic updates of this constantly changing information and is the key to the success of the project. The project will be coordinated by Christine Rusconi, a senior at Northeastern University, majoring in recreation and leisure studies. Miss Rusconi is a Quincy Resident on a 3 month work study assignment in the Quincy Recreation Department.

"Miss Rusconi will be contacting existing leisure service agencies via telephone to obtain information in general form and contact numbers for each agency. This information will provide an overall guide to the user and give specific location for details. The initial efforts of the project will be on youth activities, however, once fully operational the directory will be expanded to include recreation programs for all residents regardless of age."

Welch said it is important for the agencies and groups to understand that the City Recreation Department does not in any way wish to direct or control any of these existing programs.

"Existing agencies all contribute to the community by their services," he noted. Many do so with volunteer teachers, coaches, and administrators. It is our sincere hope that this directory will be beneficial to these agencies by assisting the user in gaining access to each program.

Miss Rusconi will be contacting agencies by telephone in the next few weeks. Agencies that have questions or information may contact the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Of all the fine things which have been said about George Washington perhaps best remembered are the words of Henry Lee: "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

As we pause to pay homage to the first and perhaps the greatest of all our Presidents, what can we learn from him to help us meet the grave challenges of today? What beliefs and principles did he embrace which are relevant to our problems today?

First, he was a man of character, integrity, honor and truth. To him truth was honor, and honor was paramount. He had a passion for land all his life, yet he neglected his beloved Mount Vernon for years to bring a scruffy army of farmer soldiers to incredible victory. He was a patriot... A positive patriot. He was offered America as his kingdom, but he chose to become its servant.

He was a positive, purposeful patriot who built a great country and established a great nation by positive action. He was too busy leading the brave to berate those without courage, and too busy building a government which would inspire loyalty and patriotism to spend his time berating those with lesser devotion. He fought despotic government with liberty and vanquished tyranny with freedom. He inspired patriotism by example. He was a positive patriot, a good American.

'At Cross Purposes' Sermon At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

On this first Sunday in Lent, the senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will preach the sermon titled, "At Cross Purposes" based on spiritual texts from Romans 7:15-25 and the Gospel of Matthew 16:21-25.

Scripture readers will be William F. Greene in the chapel and Wendell C. Cosgrove in the sanctuary. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist at both services. During the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present two anthems, "Behold Now, Praise the Lord" by Titcomb, and "When in the Hour of Utmost Need" composed by Burgois.

The worship service will be broadcast over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class, 9th through 12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. with Bob Peoples as the teacher.

Nursery care is provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

On Wednesday, Feb. 27, at 7 a.m., there will be a Lenten devotional service held in Bethany Chapel. The theme is "Places of the Passion," and Rev. Huntington will give the meditation.

Following the 25-minute service, a light breakfast will be served in the parish house, both the devotional service and breakfast are open to the public, and people can leave for work or school by 7:45 a.m.

For information on any of Bethany's ministries or programs contact the Church Office at 479-7300.

Lenten Service Feb. 26 At H.N. Congregational

"The Local Church, the Body of Christ, the Hope of the World," will be the theme at Lenten services which begin Tuesday, Feb. 26, at Houghs Neck Congregational Church.

Services will start at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary.

Refreshments will be served in Fellowship Hall following each service by the Diaconate and Mothers and Others Club.

Special speakers will be the Rev. Maureen Young, Director of Pastoral Care at Quincy City Hospital, Feb. 26; the Rev. Susan Remick, Old South Union Congregational Church, Weymouth, March 5; and the Rev. Robert J. Ripley of First Congregational Church, Brantree, March 19.

Special music will be presented by the John Neilson family March 12, and the Houghs Neck Congregational Church Choir, under the direction of Arden Schofield, March 26.

There will be a Maundy Thursday service of worship, church, membership and Holy Communion April 4.

Oversized Cartoon Strip Illustrates Squantum Sermon

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin of the First Church of Squantum used an oversized cartoon strip Sunday at the early service to illustrate his sermon entitled "New Insights into an Old Story," a sermon on Jesus' parable of the Good Samaritan.

The cartoon strip was done by young people being held at the Brockton Diagnostic Assessment Unit and the Brockton Shelter Care Unit.

Dr. Langevin provides chaplaincy services there in connection with his work as director of "The Way Up," a Quincy-based specialized ministry to teens in need.

At those two institutions, which are related to the Department of Youth Services, Dr. Langevin leads four worship services and several Bible study groups each week as well as counseling young people individually.

Guitarists Steve Williams, Andy Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott provided the music. Reese Thornton and Chris Dixey were ushers. Susan Scott was in charge of refreshments.

At the second service, Dr. Langevin preached on the topic "The Stubbornness of God," taking as his text, "Then Jesus answered her, 'O woman, great is your faith! Be it done for you as you desire.'" (Matthew 15:28a)

Hymns at that service included "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," "Breathe on Me, Breath of God," "How Firm a Foundation" and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." The Chancel Choir sang Thomas Attwood's "Teach Me, O Lord" as the offertory.

Richard and June Hendry were greeters, Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were ushers, and the Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Hazel Mayne and Patti Hurd.

There will be two services Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Yesterday (Wednesday, Feb. 20) members of the church observed Ash Wednesday with a church fellowship supper and an Ash Wednesday program entitled "Your Faith Journey" that included both worship and learning.

This session was the first in the Lenten series, the theme of which is "Getting Serious about Being a Disciple."

'The Church And I' St. Joseph's Topic

"The Church and I - The Theology of Service" will be the topic Wednesday, Feb. 27, at 7:45 p.m. at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy.

City Club Memorial Mass, Meeting Sunday

Sister Deborah Clauss, C.S.J., Director of Volunteers at the Long Island Shelter and June A. Sutcliffe, Supervisor of Therapeutic Activities at the Point.

Speaker will be Sr. Theresa O'Leary of the Quincy office of the Catholic Charities.

Long Island Hospital will address the Quincy City Club at the quarterly breakfast meeting Sunday, Feb. 24, at 10 a.m. in the Venetian Room of the Sons of Italy Social Center, 120 Quarry St.

Preceding the meeting, a Memorial Mass for the late

Sr. O'Leary, a Good Shepherd nun, is in charge of the Parish Social Ministry of the Catholic Charities office.

Richard M. (Dee-Dee) Morrissey and members and relatives of the Quincy City Club will be held at 7:45 a.m. at the Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Council On Aging Organizational Meeting Feb. 28

Quincy Council on Aging will hold its annual organizational meeting Feb. 28 at 2 p.m. in the second floor conference room of the City Hall Annex.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley recently re-appointed three members of the Council to another three-year term. They are: Maida Moulkey, Bella Krovitz and Sabina Kavanaugh.

The Council, on Aging supports the continuation of the R.S.V.P. program through county funding.

Brian Buckley, coordinator of the Council, wrote Mayor McCauley asking him to advocate continuation of the program.

R.S.V.P. provides meaningful volunteer positions for many of Quincy's elderly. R.S.V.P. provides a valuable resource to agencies seeking talented and experienced older citizens who can improve and supplement existing programs.

The Council also is very supportive of the job information and referral program for all individuals over fifty years of age which is now available at the Quincy office of the State Division of Employment Security.

MEDICAL IMPROVEMENT DEDUCTIBLE

QUESTION: Is an improvement made to the home for medical reasons deductible from your income tax?

ANSWER: Yes - if it's a medical necessity. For example, a swimming pool to provide treatment for a polio victim or a chair-seat elevator for a heart patient.

How much of the expense is deductible? The amount over which it increases the property value. If there's no increase in property value, it's all deductible. But you'll need two documents to support this claim. A letter from a doctor stating that it is a medical necessity, and a written opinion from an appraiser stating the amount (if any) the improvement adds to the value of your property.

A MEDICAL IMPROVEMENT to the home can be deductible in some cases.

'Jazz Meditations' Concert At Bethany Church

The Bob Lepley Trio will present a concert, to include "Jazz Meditations," Sunday, at 7 p.m. at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

Bob Lepley is an ordained minister in the United Methodist Church and is a nationally-known jazz musician. In his career he has performed with the Jimmy Dorsey orchestra and has given a private concert for Prince Ranier and the late Princess Grace in their residence at Monaco.

Rev. Lepley is a graduate of Ohio State University and the Methodist Theological School in Ohio. He holds a Master of Sacred Music degree with a major in composition. A composer of works for soloist, choir, and instruments, Rev. Lepley has published several works in a wide variety of styles and genres.

For the past five years, he has served as Minister of Music for the Washington Square United Methodist Church in Greenwich Village, New York City, where he developed a music ministry in jazz to local "street people" and jazz musicians in the Village.

Currently he is on the staff of the Riverside Church in New York City in the ministry of the arts.

Six Quincy Students In Abp Williams Key Club

Six students from Quincy recently were inducted into the Key Club at Archbishop Williams High School in Braintree.

They were David Fahey, a senior; Suzanne Fareri,

Rev. Lepley created a liturgical form called "Jazz Meditations," a combination of liturgy of the reformed church and jazz, which will form the basis of the program at Bethany this Sunday evening.

The concert will be held in the informal atmosphere of the Allen Parlor and the public is welcome to attend. A free-will offering will be received. For additional information, contact the Bethany Church Office at 479-7300.

Sheila McGrath, Jill Roncarati, all juniors; and Susan Liuzza, Marcia Zanardelli, both freshmen.

Paul Fraser of Quincy is vice president of the club.

Quincy, North Finish With 1 League Win Each

The Quincy and North Quincy basketball teams finished up with one Suburban League win apiece against each other.

Earlier this season North had edged Quincy, 43-42, for its lone league victory.

Last week the Presidents avenged that defeat, 50-47, for their only decision in the league.

Quincy (4-13) finished up today (Thursday) and Friday in a tournament at Milton, while North (3-14) wound up its season Tuesday night with a non-league game at Marshfield.

Rick DeCristofaro's

Presidents fought from behind to edge the Raiders last week, as North, following a 14-14 first quarter, forged ahead, 24-18, at halftime as it held Quincy to four points in the second session.

Quincy fell behind by 11 in the third quarter but rebounded from a 34-23 deficit to move to within two, 36-34, entering the fourth quarter.

"After losing to the league's two top teams, Brockton and Cambridge, the kids showed a lot of pride in staying in there and coming from behind the way they did," said DeCristofaro. "It just got away from us in the third quarter." North coach Ed Miller said "The tempo seemed to change and their man-to-man defense hurt us, even though we were prepared for it in the second half."

Bill Shaughnessy, who ran away with the league scoring title, was off in the first half but came back with 19 points in the second half to finish with 25.

For North freshman Dave Lawless and Ken Runge had 15 points apiece.

"Lots of times we've been up and haven't been able to hold the lead," said DeCristofaro. "Tonight it was a different story as we came back and did a super job."

Later in the week Quincy lost a close 56-52 decision to Newton North.

Shaughnessy had 29 points and nine rebounds, Don Parry had 12 points, five rebounds and 10 assists and Pat Laherty took down 12 rebounds before fouling out in the final quarter.

North lost to Waltham, 77-55, despite 16 points by young Lawless, Mark Scanlon had 11 and Brian Morris nine.

'Skyscrapers' Lead Quincy Over Revere

The skyscraping combination of Ralph Beaton, Don Lundin, Jack Spanks and Charley Murphy controlled both backboards and Bob Keefe threw in a game-high nine points as the Quincy High School basketball team walloped Revere, 47-27.

The victory gave the Presidents a record of seven wins and seven losses in their first season in the Greater Boston League.

The Quincy lineup included: Pasquale, Spanks, Pappas, Pettinelli, DiNardo, Gambino, forwards; Beaton, Lundin, centers; Granville, Murphy, Lura, Keefe, guards.

NORTH TOPS BRAINTREE

Little Al Strecker scored 15 points and Sid Cedrone added 12 as the North Quincy High School basketball team solved Braintree's zone defense by following up on its own rebounds and recorded a 53-36 victory over the Wamps.

The North Quincy lineup included: Strecker, Hines, Nelson, Morton, forwards; Finnegan, Brigham, centers; Cedrone, Reilly, Sullivan, Johnson, guards.

COLUMBIANS BOW

Tom Meade was high scorer with 10 points and his North Quincy Columbus Club led throughout the first half only to falter in the third period and bow to the Pere Marquettes from South Boston, 46-32, in a South Shore Amateur League game.

The Columbus Club lineup included: Conroy, McCauley, J. White, Humphrey, forwards; Gallagher, Meade, centers; Creedon, J. Mathieson, Reid, J. Mathieson, guards.

WOLLASTON LOSES

Mario Casali and Dick Wheeler scored goals but their Wollaston Hockey Club was foiled by the Hingham Cove Legion team, 5-2, and eliminated from the Old Colony Hockey League playoffs in the semifinal round.

The Wollaston lineup included: Rich, goal; Regan, Cobban, defense; Casali, Cronin, Pendergast, forwards; Wheeler, Swanson, Gallagher, spares.

FREE THROW CHAMP

William McKenzie, wearing the colors of Old South Union Church of South Weymouth, sank 19 free throws in 25 tries to win the Junior Class in the annual Quincy Y-Quincy Ledger foul shooting contest on the YMCA courts.

DEMOLAY CLINCHES

Morrie Hibbard, Chan Cushman, Gus Lawrence and Jim Hamilton paced the Old Colony DeMolay basketball team to a 62-28 rout of the Watertown DeMolay to clinch the South Shore DeMolay title. Hibbard scored 14 points.

NORTH SIX LOSES

Bart Nogler and Fordie Pitts scored early goals to give the North Quincy High School hockey team a 2-0 lead but Brockton roared back for a 3-2 victory, the Red Raiders' first defeat of the season. Jim McNeice assisted on both goals.

YMCA Strippers Ready For District Championships

The South Shore YMCA Strippers swim team is gearing up for the Eastern Mass. YMCA district championships this Saturday and Sunday at Brockton for the girls and March 2 and 3 for boys.

Having successfully completed the dual meet season with only one loss, the team has qualified many swimmers for the district championships.

Pacing the girls E team (8 and under), are Amanda Foley in the 25-yard breaststroke and 25 backstroke and Justine Fagerlund, 25 freestyle and 25 breaststroke.

The D team (10 and under) qualified Joanna Dyer in the 50 and 100 freestyle and Amy Galman in the 50 breaststroke.

The C team (11 and 12) which, after a three-point loss in its opener, went on undefeated and has qualified 11 for the districts.

They are Loretta Orlando, 200 and 100 freestyle; Kim Bray, 200 freestyle and 50 backstroke; Karen MacDonald, 50 freestyle and 50 butterfly; Nancy Daily, 50 butterfly; Jennifer Henehan, 50 backstroke; Daryl Smith, 50 backstroke; Cindy Galman, 50 breaststroke; Tim Bailey, 50 breaststroke; Eric Fagerlund, 50 breaststroke; Jonathan Dyer, 200 individual medley and 50 breaststroke, and Richard Griffin, 50 freestyle.

The B team (13 and 14) has qualified Karen Walsh, Kathy Shaw and Melanie Fitzpatrick in the 50 freestyle, Meg Given in the 100 backstroke, Bob Crowley in the 50 freestyle and Brian Kowalski in the 50 and 100 freestyle.

In addition to these individual qualifiers, the Strippers will also be sending their 200 medley and 200 freestyle relay teams in the C and B classes.

Since the beginning of the season last October, the Strippers have improved rapidly under first year coach Janet Keyes.

"These kids have really worked hard the last couple of months just to make it this far and I know they are just beginning to show what they can really do," she said.

Raiders Have Good Chance To Share Title

The North Quincy hockey team's chances of winning the Suburban League title outright hit a snag last week when it tied Waltham, 2-2, but the Raiders have an excellent chance of tying for the crown.

Waltham had handed Kevin Jago's North team (13-2-1) its only losses and a victory last week would have put the Raiders in the driver's seat. The best they can hope for is a tie for first place and Waltham had far easier sailing in their final two games than North had in its last three.

Last Saturday North defeated Brookline, 5-3, while Waltham topped Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 9-1.

While Waltham had only Quincy to play last night (Wednesday), North had tough Newton North to play Tuesday and third place Brockton last night. The Newton game was previously snowed out.

Both North and Waltham should be among the top seeds in the state tournament.

Last week's game with Waltham was one of the best of the season. "This was a real tournament-type game," said Jago. "The officials were consistent and let the boys play and it was just an outstanding game."

Waltham opened the scoring at 9:31 of the opening period when Steve St. Cyr scored with his brother, Bob, assisting.

North tied it up a minute later on Rich Horrigan's goal, on which Glenn McGlance assisted.

Waltham took the lead with 50 seconds left in the period when Bob St. Cyr passed to Pat Kevey, who beat Matt Higgins.

North tied it again at 3:50 of the middle period on Horrigan's second goal with Rob Reidy and McGlance scoring.

That ended the scoring as Higgins and Waltham goalie Don Archibald were brilliant. The Raiders swarmed all over Archibald in the third period but couldn't beat him. He finished with 26 saves while Higgins, the league's top goalie, had 28.

Jago wasn't worried about any letdowns after that game. "We'll have no problem," he said. "Waltham probably will win its last two games and we have two toughies (Newton surprised by tying Brockton last Saturday), so we can't take a break. I can't remember the last time North Quincy won a Suburban League title and this year I'd like to own it by ourselves. I hope we can at least tie for the championship."

Last Saturday night North's line of Horrigan, Reidy and Dave Tapper, one of the highest scoring in the league, accounted for two goals and three assists in the win over Brookline.

Reidy had a goal and three assists and Tapper added a goal. Defenseman Dave Cooke, who had another outstanding game, had two goals and Dave Fasano the other.

The Horrigan-Reidy-Tapper line has scored 97 points, Reidy 33 and Tapper 29.

North Girls Shine At Cambridge Meet

The North Quincy girls' track team, which had its sting of Suburban League championships snapped this season (the Raiderettes finished 5-2, 4-2 in the league), did well in last week's league meet at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

The North girls had four winners in the competition as well as taking three second places, one third, a fifth and two sixths.

Lisa Fitzgerald won the 600 with her best time 1:30.9, and also ran on the relay team, which finished second.

Fricia Barrett won the two-mile in 11:31.6. Norcen

Connolly took the shot put with a throw of 35-2 3/4 on her final try, and Georgia Traficante won the high jump at 5-3.

Leanne Fitzgerald, no relation to Lisa, was second to Lisa in the 500. Maryanne Kelcher took second in the 1000 with her best time of 2:48.1, and Lisa Fitzgerald was joined by Leanne, Kelcher and Traficante on the relay team.

McG Leary placed third in the two-mile, Fricia Leary was fifth in the mile, Caryn Collings was sixth in the 600 and Miss Silkwood sixth in the shot put.

Mary Lou Wirtz of Quincy placed sixth in the 50-yard dash in 6.8.

In the boys' competition North's Colin Powers won the shot put with a toss of 46-8 1/4 and teammate Scott Coyne took fifth in the mile in 4:37.2.

Powers, who was to have been North's starting fullback in football last fall, broke his ankle in the final pre-season scrimmage and sat out the season.

North's Tom Wildes and Harry Morash finished 2-3 in the two-mile, Chris Ricciuti was third in the shot put and Jon Paul was sixth in the high jump.

The Quincy and North teams will compete in the state divisional meets Friday and Saturday at Harvard.

Squirt B's Roll Along

Quincy's Squirt B team continues to win in the newly-structured "open" division of the Greater Boston League.

Quincy defeated Needham's A team, 3-1. The winning goal by Eric Kreuz came midway through the second period. Jim Smith and Aiden O'Donoghue had the other goals. Kevin Flaherty, Gerard Walsh and Michael Christopher-son had assists. Doug Johnson was outstanding in goal.

In the state playdowns the Squirt B's finished first in Division 3, defeating Holbrook-Avon, 6-0, in the semifinals and blasting Braintree, 10-2, in the finals.

In the finals Christopher-son, O'Donoghue, Jim Smith and Brian Wood had two goals apiece and Walsh and Bob Daggett one each. Steve O'Brien, Kreuz, Amy Bertrand and O'Donoghue had two assists apiece and Jim Ford, Kevin Mantville and Daggett one each.

Shaughnessy Gets 4-Year Scholarship At U-Mass

By TOM SULLIVAN

Year in and year out many outstanding student-athletes have by-passed Quincy and North Quincy High schools to attend out-of-town schools.

Schools like Abp. Williams, Boston College High, Don Bosco and others have benefited greatly from Quincy and North Quincy athletes.

This year things began to turn around as the outstanding North Quincy hockey team, battling for the Suburban League title, received transfers from Abp. Williams, B.C. High and Don Bosco.

In recent years several graduates of Quincy and North have shown that they can get just as good an education at these two schools and go on to college.

The latest is Bill Shaughnessy, Quincy's outstanding quarterback, who accepted a four-year football scholarship to the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and last week signed his letter of intent to enter UMass in the fall.

Shaughnessy signed his letter of intent at a mini-press conference at Quincy High attended by UMass assistant coach Jim Reid (under NCAA rules head coach Bob Stull couldn't be present), Quincy coach Jack Raymer and Shaughnessy's mother and sister.

Quincy Sun Channel 8 taped the proceedings and the rules prohibited

Shaughnessy from signing the "real" thing in front of the cameras and had to wait until the cameras were off to sign the official letter of intent.

Shaughnessy, a two-year quarterback starter for Quincy, last fall had an excellent season, throwing nine touchdown passes and completing more than 60 per cent of his passes. He also was a Doug Flutie-type scrambler and gained many yards rushing.

He was named Quincy's Most Valuable Player and was a near-unanimous choice as the Suburban League all-star quarterback.

Billy is also an outstanding basketball player and this season is running away with the Suburban League scoring race, averaging nearly 28 points a game. However, he must forego that sport at UMass.

"I will have a good opportunity to quarterback there," he said. "I like the coaches real well and the business school has a good ranking. I'll miss basketball, but football and my studies will keep me busy."

"We are really happy to get Bill," said Stull. "We saw him in one game and he was chased all over the field. He showed a lot of poise and we think he's got all the right ingredients."

"I've enjoyed recruiting Billy as much as anyone," said Reid. "I'm really impressed with him. This thing (the mini-press conference) is the nicest thing I've seen done in my 12 years in the business."

Raymer was delighted at Shaughnessy's signing. "This is a great opportunity for Billy and I think he will fit right into the picture at UMass," he said. "I know the coaches and they are very high on him. He did a tremendous job for me and I know he will do just as fine a job there."

"This just shows that a boy can get just as good an education at Quincy or North Quincy and go on to college as they can at an out-of-town school. This is just a fine thing for the school."

"Billy is not only an outstanding athlete and a good student, he is a fine person," said Principal Lloyd Hill. "I am very pleased that he received this scholarship and I know he will do a fine job and bring much credit to Quincy High School. It just shows a student doesn't have to go out of town for a good education and a chance to go on to college."

DiBella, Mahon Give Quincy, North Titles

The Quincy and North Quincy wrestling teams each had a champion in last weekend's Div. 1 South Sectional championships at Plymouth-Carver.

North's Al DiBella won the heavy weight title with an early pin of Stoughton's Bill Lamm.

Brian Mahon of Quincy decided to win the 140-pound crown.

Ron Ivisi of Quincy also made the finals and lost a close 10-8 decision to Neil Baker of Stoughton in the 134-pound class.

Others advancing to the semifinals were Mike Kenney of North Quincy in the 121-pound class, Rob Cabezas of Quincy, 128; Pat Bull of North, 140; Dave Murphy of Quincy, 147; Sean Cahill of Quincy, 157; Bill Iaton, Quincy, 169; and John Zajonc of Quincy, 188.

Quarterfinal losers were Gary Silverman, North Quincy, 100; Paul Lobin, North, 114; Dennis Nacotte, Quincy, 121; Pat Marchant, North, 121; and John McDonald, North, 147.

DiBella, Mahon and Ivisi will compete in the state meet Friday and Saturday.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

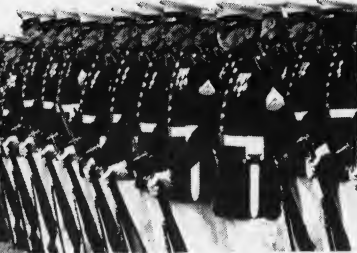

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Raiderettes' Tourney Hopes Dashed By Waltham

After defeating Quincy for the second time, 60-45, last week, the North Quincy girls' basketball team saw its tournament hopes dashed last Friday when it lost to Waltham, 55-48.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes took a 10-9 record into Tuesday's non-league finale against Southeast Conference, power New Bedford. North has only a 4-8 Suburban League record but is 6-1 in non-league games.

North, which had defeated Waltham by two points earlier, raced out to a 17-12 first quarter lead as it was able to get the ball inside at will. Karen Runge was most instrumental, scoring seven points. Eileen Warren hit for four while Capt. Ann Duggan and Sandra Proude had three each.

Waltham dominated the opening three minutes of the second quarter, outscoring North, 7-0. North scored only seven points in the quarter with Duggan hitting on three foul shots. North trailed, 25-24, at halftime.

• Senior Basketball

The Raiderettes tightened their defense and held Waltham to six points in the third quarter. Proude penetrated Waltham's defense to score six of her team's nine points as North regained the lead, 33-31, after three quarters.

North lost Runge on fouls early in the final session but still managed to hold a lead. Proude and Warren combined for 11 of North's 15 points in the quarter.

Tied at 44-44 with three minutes left, Jean Welby made two foul shots to give North a two-point lead. However, North then went cold from both the floor and foul line, managing only a field goal in the last three minutes. Waltham outscored North, 12-2, during that stretch, hitting 10 of 12 free throws, while the Raiderettes missed eight free throws.

Proude again led North with 15 points, six assists and three steals. Warren had 12 points and a season's high 18 rebounds. Runge had nine points and Duggan had eight points and four steals.

Montclair Defeats Beechwood, Takes Top Spot

Two undefeated teams tapped off in a first place battle in the Quincy Recreation Department's Senior High Hoop League.

Before a large crowd at Atlantic Middle School, Montclair Center defeated Beechwood Knoll, 37-29, to move in to first place in the seven-team league.

Montclair's Dean Zoia coached team received a game high 16 points from

Ted Stevenson and Angelo Kapranis followed closely with 14. Jeff Morris also had 6. Kevin Duffey had 10, Jose Nelson 7 and John Maloney 6 for Jack Kelly's Beechwood Knoll team. Kelly also praised Micky McDonald, Joe Mulvey and for their defensive play and John Kelly for his rebounding. Zoia's defense was headed by Brain Flukes, Chris Grey and Mark

The Raiderettes swept their home-and-home series from Quincy for the first time since the mid-1970s.

North clung to an early 12-11 lead as Quincy Capt. Linda Mahoney scored five first quarter points. North increased its margin to 28-22 at halftime as Proude, Runge, Warren and Anne Marie Hughes had six points each.

The First Ladies scored the first six points of the second half to tie the game at 28. But North, behind Warren's eight points, Proude's four and Welby's three, managed a 45-35 advantage going into the final quarter.

Two assists by Proude midway through the quarter sealed the victory. Runge and Proude accounted for all of North's fourth quarter points.

Proude led the way with 20 points and four steals. Warren had 14 points and 12 rebounds. Runge had 11 points, five rebounds, five assists, three steals and two blocked shots. Hughes had eight points and Welby had five points, four assists and three steals.

Quincy received excellent performances from Mahoney, who scored 13 points; sophomore Terry Duggan, who had 11, and Chris Cuccinata with eight.

"The girls were heartbroken after the Waltham loss," said Bregoli. "We had maintained control throughout the game but picked an awful time to come up cold in the shooting department. But, we did have our opportunities to qualify for the tournament. Other teams were eliminated long ago. But we hung tough with my team giving me 150 per cent all the way."

North's junior varsity was 12-5 with a game left and the fine freshman team was 11-3, also with one game left.

The Quincy girls finished their league season last Friday by losing to Newton North, 62-50.

Outstanding sophomore Terry Duggan had 17 points for Quincy and Cuccinata added nine.

Bilton. Kevin Segalla was outstanding as a ball handler. Montclair is now 2-0 while Beechwood drops to 2-1.

In the second game of the day Quincy Point defeated Atherton Hough, 45-32. Fran Garvey had 17 points while Mark Cronin 14 and Mike Snow 10. Atherton Hough had no one in double figures but Steve Austin and Kyle Robertson each had 9.

Atherton coach Fran Donovan praised the rebounding of Chris Doyle and the hustle of Rich Callanan. Ed McArde of Point pointed to Ron Reichert defense and Dennis Cronin's ball handling as the key to holding off a late Atherton Rush.

Games continue each week, Saturday at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. at Atlantic Middle School.

NQHS Girls Basketball History Being Compiled

Paul Bregoli, the North Quincy girls' basketball coach for five years, is asking for assistance in compiling a history of girls' basketball at North.

"Out of curiosity, I began looking through the yearbooks and was unable to gather much information about the previous teams," Bregoli said. "Unfortunately, information on many of the fine teams and outstanding players and their accomplishments have been lost over the years."

"I would like any member of any North girls' team prior to the 1980-81 season who might have any information about the following to contact me:

Leading scorer for season and career, leading rebounder for season and career, assists for season and career, steals for season and career, most points in a game (individual and team), most rebound in a game (individual and games), all-scholastic selections, league all-star selections and team records.

Information can be mailed to Paul Bregoli, Squantum School, 50 Huddins Avenue, Quincy 02171.

Pee Wee B's In First Loss

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, suffered its first defeat of the season when it bowed to West Roxbury, 7-2, making its record 15-1-1 in the Greater Boston League.

Jeremy Burm and Sal Manganaro scored in the first period to tie the score at 2-2. Burm was assisted by Mark Kelleher and Greg Hohmann, while Matt Swierke and Richie Brooks assisted on Manganaro's goal. West Roxbury then scored five unanswerved goals.

In the final state playdown game Quincy defeated Wellesley, 7-2, scoring five goals in the opening period. Billy Lydon had a big day with five goals and Danny Savage and Kelleher had one each. Manganaro, had five assists, David Mellyn two and Jimmy McCarthy, Jeff Freeman, Duane Keegan, Hohmann and Brooks one each.

The Pee Wee B's won all their state playdown games and will be seeded first in their division for the state tournament.

They will play in Randolph's Valentine Tournament and the Watuppa Tournament before the states.

Limited Openings For Indoor Soccer Clinics

The Quincy Recreation Department announces registration for limited openings for its second session of indoor soccer clinics to be conducted for boys and girls age eight through the fifth grade.

The program will be held Tuesday afternoons and will utilize the staff and facilities of the South Shore Sports Center, the area's only indoor soccer facility.

The program will cost $20. for four weeks and includes bus transportation from the Recreation Department to Hingham and return which will be supervised by a member of the recreation staff, and 1½ hours of clinic and play. The bus will leave Quincy at 12:15 p.m. and return by 3 p.m.

The program will start February 26, and will run for the next four Tuesdays. Registration will be taken beginning immediately at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery weekdays from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Registration will be on a first come, first served basis and is limited. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, extension 204.

Carrying On The Dearden Magic

The name Dearden was prominent in Quincy basketball in the mid-1950s when Ron was an outstanding player for the Quincy High Tech Tourney teams.

Ron is now a resident of Tallahassee, Fla., where he works for the State Department of Education.

His four sons have followed in his footsteps and his youngest, Bob, is currently starting at Lincoln High School, where his three brothers preceded him.

Bob, a senior, is averaging 15 points a game and has two 20-plus games (21 and 24).

The first Dearden to play at Lincoln was Brian, who was voted the Most Valuable Player and who this year is rounding out a successful career at Flagler College, where he is top rebounder and defensive player.

He was followed by Mi-who leads the all-time Lincoln scoring charts and was a three-year starter. He took Big Bend and All-State honors and is now attending Florida State University.

In the 1980 game between Lincoln and Rickards in the first round of the district playoffs, Mike sank a shot from 35 feet out to win at the buzzer.

Next in line was Craig, who decided not to play beyond his junior year. He is at Tallahassee Community College and is considering applying for Florida State to work on his BA degree in either architecture or computer science.

In addition to their basketball talent, the Deardens also perform well in the classroom. Brian, Mike and Craig all held at least a 3.5-grade point average at Lincoln and Bob is currently doing as well.

Ron, whose parents still live in Quincy, had a fine career at Quincy High.

Sgt. Daniel Awalt Receives A.F. Medal

Air Force Senior Master Sgt. Daniel A. Awalt, son of Jeanette C. Awalt of 46 Cleverly Court, Quincy, has been decorated with the Meritorious Service Medal at Ramstein Air Base, West Germany.

The Meritorious Service Medal is awarded specifically for outstanding non-combat meritorious achievement or service to the United States.

Awalt is a food service manager with the 86th Services Squadron.

He is married to the former Jenonail Cone.

He is a 1967 graduate of Boston English High School.

John Carty Promoted To Sergeant

John W. Carty, son of Joseph R. Carty of 221 Beach St., Quincy, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of staff sergeant.

Carty is an explosive ordnance disposal specialist at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., with the 49th Equipment Maintenance Squadron.

He is a 1981 graduate of Quincy Vocational Technical High School.

Pandora's Box

By PAT RIDLEN

Recently on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 news, a man from this area told how he had begun a fascinating hobby of collecting beer cans ever since he was married.

I heard of another couple in another state, but their life was a little bit different:

First Year of Marriage:

Husband: "Dear, I've been thinking of taking up a new hobby, perhaps collecting beer cans, how does that sound to you?"

Wife: Sure, why not, lovey, it will give you something to do and will keep you home, close to me."

After 3 Years of Marriage:

Wife: "Dear, There are over a thousand beer cans in the living room, and trying to move them to vacuum is becoming very difficult, could you please do something about it?"

Husband: Sure, sweetie, I'll empty them and it will be much easier for you to move them."

After 5 Years of Marriage: And 20,000 Beer Cans:

Wife: Darling, I am finding it most inconvenient trying to get around the kitchen and living room and climbing over the beer cans to get into the bathroom can be very difficult at times. Could you please help me out with this problem?"

Husband: "Honey, your wish is my command, I had planned to redo all the walls in the house, but now I'll just stack them around every wall and it will be wonderful insulation as well. The only bad thing about it, is that I may be forced to consume more beer to get every wall well insulated."

After 8 Years of Marriage: And 40,000 Beer Cans:

Wife: "Sweetheart, the neighbors are complaining about all your "Drink up, so that I can extend my beer can collection." Parties, they have suggested that you start a Perrier water bottle collection, could you please consider it?"

Husband: "Gee, sorry, honey Bun, but Perrier water bottles are made of glass and if they should break, why my little wife, might cut her hands picking up the pieces and besides, I couldn't stand to drink all that water."

After 10 Years of Marriage: And 75,000 Beer Cans:

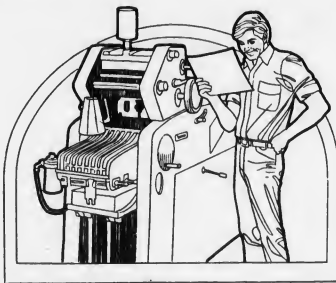

A messenger delivers the following note to the husbands office: "Dear, I have cashed in all your beer cans for the deposit money, and by the time you read this I will be on a plane for my 'around the world' flight, I figure I should be gone about three months, but whenever I stop and shop and think of you I will send you a card. Why, dear, this could be the beginning of another hobby - collecting post cards from around the world...now dear husband, don't bother to thank me, although, even now I can picture the tears of gratitude welling up in your eyes and almost hear the sounds of your sobbing as you wish my 'Bon Voyage!'"

'Lincoln Play' At Woodward School

The one-man show, "Lincoln Play", will be presented by the Quincy Historical Society today (Thursday) at 1:30 p.m. at the Woodward School for Girls, Quincy Center.

The free play, which stars Bart McCarthy, is a collection of anecdotes, descriptions and interpretations that reveal Lincoln's personal and public life during his White House years.

Playwright/actor McCarthy investigates Lincoln the public servant and uncovers the visionary who had recurring prophetic dreams, the father who suffered the death of a son and the husband who watched his wife become increasingly remote.

The event is made

BART MCCARTHY as LINCOLN

possible by a grant from the Massachusetts Arts Lottery as administered by the Quincy Arts Council.

Cabletalk's 100th Program On Ch. 3 Thursday

Cable Talk, the weekly public affairs program seen on Quincy Community Television, will air its 100th production tonight (Thursday) at 9 p.m. and Sunday (Feb. 24) at 9:30 p.m. A highlight of the program will be a review of several programs presented during the past three years and the presentation of special plaques commemorating the occasion to members of the all-volunteer workshop production crew responsible for putting the show together. Steve Marx, program manager for Quincy Cablesystems, will present the plaques to Bob Gohl, George and Nancy Santry, Edna and Diane Solandier, Kay Borek, Hugh McLeod and John Noonan. Cable Talk is the longest running public affairs program on local cable television. The program has featured national, state, and local officials, celebrities, and personalities in a variety of half hour or one hour specials. Several programs were on location.

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 21, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Possibilities become probabilities in the romance department. Last minute decisions can have positive results. Mysterious friend becomes much more open, to your relief.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Moves and promotions are positively spotlighted. You may find yourself in the center of a mild controversy. Professional or academic uncertainties are cleared by Tuesday.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Responses to your complaints are mostly favorable. Thanks to your straightforward approach. Creative juices are bubbling. He aware of overly cautious neighbors and their friends.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

More time than usual is spent sifting through a mound of paper. Social agenda becomes unusually lively. Libra or Sagittarius steps into the romance or friendship picture.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Romance-wise, a maybe becomes a yes. This is a week in which commitment is a keyword. A natural look suits your present frame of mind. Earthly colors are you.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

A change may indeed be preferable to a rest. This may be the week for testing a new approach. It's also a positive time for making long range forecasts.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Consistency in the keyword. Avoid changing your style midway through a job. Your personal radar is effective, and you can pinpoint problems and come up with solutions.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Family pressures ease off but on the job hassles may increase before they diminish. Series of coincidences are experienced through the weekend. Partner is more trusting.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

A week of peaks and valleys. Slow periods alternate with frantic ones. Professional or academic plans may be altered. Variety makes for a refreshing social period.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Intuition pays off in matters of the heart. In finance, put into action a system of checks and balances. Plan for detours, distractions if traveling.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Week features a potpourri of happenings. Agenda may include visits from overseas guests, a small bonus, a large but amusing social gaff, and a second chance at a relationship.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

You're easily influenced, but always empathetic; you seem to know where you're headed, but often take detours. Avoid short cuts this year, especially where finances are involved. Joint efforts pay off handsomely throughout '85.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

THE SOUTH SHORE Chamber of Commerce recently held its annual Legislative Buttonhole Session at the Sheraton Tara Hotel in Braintree. Among those attending, left to right, were Charles Simpson, president of Quincy Savings Bank; Charles Pearce, chairman of the board of Quincy Savings Bank; Ira Jackson, state revenue commissioner; Rep. Thomas Brownell; and Fred Salvucci, state transportation secretary.

Condon Files For State Aid In GD Payback

City Councillor Joanne Condon filed a home rule petition in the Council Tuesday night authorizing the state to pay the city $17,715,999 in extra state aid to satisfy Quincy's tax rebate debt to General Dynamics.

The amount would be repaid to the state in equal installments of $1,771,600 over a period of 10 years as a deduction in the amount of the first local aid distribution to the city in each of those years.

Currently, the city is paying off its court-ordered debt to General Dynamics by way of a $28 million bond that is being paid at the rate of $2.8 million for 10 years.

Condon's petition carried an emergency preamble which would instruct the state treasurer to pay the money immediately on passage by the Legislature since "the deferred operation of this act would tend to defeat its purpose."

Cameras, Ring, Cash Stolen In Wollaston Break

Nearly $2,000 worth of articles and cash was reported stolen last week from the home of Thomas Pearson, Cushing St., Wollaston, by thieves who entered by breaking a porch window.

The loot included a Pentax camera valued at $900, a Yashica camera at $250, a gold wedding ring with three diamonds at $500 and $200 in cash.

2 Residents In Wesleyan Student Foundation

Two Quincy students have been selected by Ohio Wesleyan University to the Wesleyan Student Foundation.

They are: Sean Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Barry, 184 Marlboro St., and Michelle Saltzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Saltzman, 33 Cheriton Rd.

The Wesleyan Student Foundation is a select group of students who assist the Admissions Office in recruiting prospective students. WSF members give campus tours, assist with on-campus programs, host students overnight, and visit high schools. Members are selected through recommendations and interviews.

PRY NOW, PAY LATER

If you think tampering with a cable converter box means free entertainment, think again. Soon illegal viewers will pay for prying, because cable theft is a crime punishable by a stiff fine, imprisonment, or both.

And cable thieves can get caught, because improved technology makes it easier to identify homes that are illegally receiving basic and premium services.

Cable Theft is a federal crime punishable by 6 months in jail and a $1000 fine.

Brockton Woman To Head SSEDC

Cathy M. Gonzales of Brockton has been named executive director of the South Shore Economic Development Corp., a subsidiary of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

A native of Quincy,

Save Gas and Money...
...Shop Locally

Gonzales joined the U.S. Small Business Administration in 1977 and advanced to the position of commercial loan officer.

As executive director of the SSEDC, she will be actively seeking companies which want to expand on the South Shore.

"We're delighted to have Cathy with us for two reasons," said Donald Godby, president of the Rockland Trust Co. and president of the SSEDC.

"First she has an outstanding record as a commercial loan officer with the Small Business Administration, and second she knows the South Shore."

A graduate of Brockton High School, Gonzales holds an associates degree in business management from Fisher Junior College.

Economic Development Corp. Opposes SBA Elimination

The South Shore Economic Development Corp. has gone on record questioning the wisdom of proposed federal budget cuts that would eliminate the Small Business Administration.

"Our membership is extremely upset and concerned about the possibility of losing the Small Business Administration entirely," said President Donald F. Godoy.

"However, we do feel that it is possible for the budget to be cut and areas realigned to save money within the Small Business Administration Budget."

"As a cost-cutting measure, it may be possible to eliminate the direct loan programs now offered by the Small Business Administration."

The South Shore Economic Development Corp., a subsidiary of the South

Shore Chamber of Commerce, has been responsible for securing 70 loans representing $25 million.

"We believe that the abolishment would do irreversible harm to the health and vitality of a free enterprise system and would flow counter to President Reagan's call for a 'revolution of hope,' as enunciated in his State of the Union Address," said the corporation's resolution.

Quincy Savings Bank Building Condominium Conversion Underway

Flavin & Flavin Realtors of Quincy announces the sale of the Quincy Savings Bank's former main office building at 1372-1374 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

The property is being converted to office condominiums by E & G Realty Trust. The 89-year old landmark has been purchased by Frank A. Evans and Paul Gil.

The bank will retain its present location and will become one of the unit owners along with The Quincy Sun.

Flavin & Flavin Realtors of 1085 Hancock Street will be handling the marketing of the remaining office condominium units located on the second, third and fourth floors. The building will be completely renovated and the name will remain the same. Several law firms presently located in the building have indicated a strong interest in the newly renovated suites and additional space for investment and future expansion.

Flavin noted the bank building is located in the heart of the Quincy Center business and financial district where other nearby renovations and developments are underway.

Selling of office units will begin immediately with a starting price of $75. per square foot.

Are last minute trips to the video store driving you wild?

Face it, renting tapes has its disadvantages. After you've finished you've got to race them back to the video store or face a fine. Just thinking about those hairy last minute trips is enough to take the fun out of any movie.

That's why Cable is such a wonderful addition to your VCR. Taping off Cable channels for personal use is legal, free and most times you'll end up with movies and concerts that will never see the inside of a video store.

If you have a VCR and Cable and are having trouble getting them together, call us at 471-9143 and we'll help. If you don't have Cable, why not look into it? It's the best friend any VCR ever had.

Neighbors Raise Concerns

Hospital Issue Goes Before Council March 18

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he plans to bring the controversial hospital expansion issue officially before the City Council at its March 18 meeting.

The action will be in the form of a home rule petition to the state legislature authorizing the city to borrow money to replace a major portion of City Hospital.

But Council President James A. Sheets said hospital officials and nearby residents had better get their act together before going to the legislature for bonding.

The two factions came no nearer to a meeting of the minds Monday night at a hearing before the Council's Public Health and Hospital Committee.

Neighborhood residents were highly critical of the way hospital officials were implementing the expansion program and several councilors joined them in criticism.

"The City Council is going to have to take a leadership role in resolving this major issue," said Sheets. "The months of confrontation places the whole program in some jeopardy."

"If the issue is not resolved then outsiders will have to conclude that Quincy does not have the issue under control and that would be a clear danger to the future of the project."

Sheets noted that the Council holds "absolute control" of the situation since it has to approve the home rule petition as well as the bonding for the proposed $60 million project.

"The home rule petition may be the next technical step but it is not the next practical step," said Sheets. "The next practical step is that the Council will have to work out the differences popped up, sometimes angrily, at Monday night's hearing, in which councilors, despite their collective role as peacemaker, also were targets of both sides."

"The hospital was very defensive," said Councilor John J. Lydon Jr. "They were told that Council was holding up expansion. That is far from the truth. There is no request before the Council."

Sheets told the hearing that the Council was forced to step into the situation because "we are not going to be made the scapegoats and called obstructionists."

Mr. Walter Kagan, a cancer specialist, told the hearing that he was mad that his patients were being treated in dungeon-like conditions in the Rice Pavilion at the hospital, which was built in 1912.

He said he was mad that someone was trying to prevent his patients from having a modern hospital facility and some of the councilors thought he was referring to them.

Councilor Joanne Condon said she was mad that Dr. Kagan was mad.

"We have nothing before us to approve and you people missed the boat," she said.

Members of the Colonial Heritage Association, neighbors of the hospital, said they were not against hospital rebuilding but they have strong objections to the present architectural plans as "too high and too close."

Hospital officials said the more expansive and modern facility is needed to maintain and provide the best in medical care of its patients. Both councilors and neighbors agreed to that.

But they criticized the Hospital Board of Managers and the operating Hospital Corp. of America for their lack of communication and lack of responsiveness to questions about the project.

Councilor Lydon was critical of hospital officials for not being "up front" with the Council on the matter of bond financing and the FHA approval needed for the project.

He noted that the Council recently voted a $2 million bond issue for the hospital for new equipment only to learn that it was used as "good faith" money to get the FHA to put up the money for expansion. The equipment would not be purchased until after the

McCauley Backs Condon's GD Petitions

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he will be happy to pass along to the State Legislature two home rule petitions that would authorize the state to pay the city's multi-million debt to General Dynamics in the celebrated tax case.

"If the state wants to give us the money I'll be glad to accept," said the Mayor. "But I don't count on them passing."

The two home rule petitions were filed with the City Council last week by Councilor Joanne Condon, who is opposing McCauley in his bid for a third term in the fall city elections.

One petition would have the state give the city

$17,715,999 in extra state aid to satisfy the judgement obtained by General Dynamics.

The amount would be repaid to the state in equal installments of $1,771,600 over a period of 10 years as a deduction in the amount of the city's state aid.

Currently, the city is paying off the tax abatement debt to the company by way of a $28 million bond that is being paid at the rate of $2.8 million a year for 10 years.

Condon's second petition would authorize the state to pay the city $2,436,727 as an outright gift to balance the books for the tax money legally withheld by General Dynamics.

The Council's Finance Committee Monday night approved the first petition, which, said Councilor Stephen J. McGrath, is similar to one that allowed the city of Medford to receive $2.8 million as state aid for a tax rebate package.

McCauley said he has strong doubts that the petitions will pass the legislature.

"I spoke to our representatives," he said, "and their reaction was guarded. They said they were willing to cooperate but they didn't know if they would pass. This is big money, even in good times; don't count on it passing."

Quincy's $3 Million Will Stay In Bank Of Boston

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he has no intention of following the lead of several other communities and withdraw $3 million in city funds from the scandal-plagued Bank of Boston.

The bank was fined $500,000 recently after it pleaded guilty to failing to report $1.2 billion in foreign money transfers with Swiss banks. The case had overtones of organized crime.

City Councilor Michael Cheney filed a resolution with the Council last week asking the Mayor to reconsider the feasibility of removing all the city's funds from the bank.

The resolution was sent to the Finance Committee for possible later action.

McCauley said he has received letters from the bank explaining its international currency transactions and its dealings with the family of Gennaro Angiulo, reputed to be the head of organized crime in Boston.

"I plan no changes at the present time," said McCauley. "The Bank of Boston has given us good service over the years. It has been strongly supportive of the city in borrowing money. That's what I base my decision on, at least for now."

At the same Council meeting, Councilor Patricia Toland introduced a resolution asking that City Treasurer Franklin Jay appear before the Council and identify the banks in which the city's money is kept.

Buses Readied For Sewer Plant Hearing

Buses were scheduled to leave the Vocational Technical School yesterday (Wednesday) at 6:30 p.m. to take as many Quincy people as possible to a Cambridge hearing on plans for a new sewage facility on Boston Harbor.

"We want to pack the meeting," said Leo J. Kelly, the Quincy member of the Water and Sewer Advisory Board. "Cambridge is a neutral meeting. People from Winthrop will be there to fight against the plant at Deer Island."

Later hearings will be conducted in Winthrop and in Quincy, Thursday, March 7, at 7 p.m. in the Voke Tech School Gym. City officials had handbills printed and distributed in churches, stores and other places where people gather last Saturday, alerting them to the meeting in Cambridge.

Anyone wishing to attend the meeting and needing transportation should call Kelly at 773-1534 or 773-1380, extension 252.

100,000 Parking Tickets On Way

Bad news for the city's parking scofflaws.

Parking Clerk Robert Denvir is having 100,000 new parking tickets printed.

The City Council last week approved a $5,000 appropriation to have the job done.

It's not that he has run out of tickets, said Denvir, but three changes have to be made on the tickets because of new handicapped ordinances passed by the Council.

A 9-year-old girl was injured Monday when she was struck and run over by a van near her Germantown home.

Isabelle Carretas of 38 Taffrail Rd. was treated and released from Quincy City Hospital.

Police identified the driver of the van as Cynthia A. Shepherd, 36, of Whitman.

Shepherd told police she was driving on Bicknell St. when the little girl walked out of Taffrail Rd. into the side of the van.

Police said she fell down and the rear wheel of the van ran over her leg.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a one-day all alcoholic license to the Catholic Daughters of America for an Irish Cabaret Sunday, March 3, 7 p.m. to midnight at Most Blessed Sacrament Church Hall.
- Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney said the organization has done an excellent job in the past.
- Granted permission for the Disabled American Veterans to conduct a Forget-Me-Not Drive May 3 and 4, 10 and 11, with no soliciting at intersections.
- Granted a request from the Squam Four of July Committee for a one day all alcoholic license for Friday, March 22, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall, 5 Hollis Ave.
- Granted permission for a flea market to be held Sunday, March 3, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Bryan VFW Post, 24 Broad St., Quincy Center, to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The board also took the following action on requests and hearings continued from last week's meeting when the board took no action because it lacked a quorum:

- Continued to March 12 a hearing regarding a gas and repair shop license issued to Frank Caracchi and Nicola Maffeo for 365 Washington St. The license holders are to contact board chairman John Gillis regarding the articles of organizations.
- Granted a request for transfer of the common victualer-all alcoholic license for Liberty Lounge, 73-75 Liberty St., South Quincy from Michael McEvoy and Wayne Milford to William F. MacDougall of Randolph, manager. The new owner is to meet with Ward Councillor James Sheets and abutters within two weeks.
- Continued to March 12 a hearing regarding a motor oil (used car) license at Karl's Auto Body, 65 Holbrook Rd., Wollaston. Board members will inspect the premises.

• Continued to March 26 a hearing regarding conditions at Piccarini Auto Sales, 24 Raymond St., Quincy Point. Board members will research whether or not the license covers the entire property, and whether to allow a sign off the premises.

• Granted a request from California, 79 Parkway, for change of name to Chevy's Belair Cafe.

Any new sign is to be approved by the Building Inspector.

• Continued to March 5 a request from the Quincy Bay Inn, 29 Hancock St., for change of name of its restaurant from The Blue Iris to Grill 29.

• Granted a request from North Quincy Taxi Service, 2 Billings Rd., for two additional hackney licenses.

If that is the case, he said, "then we should begin immediately to see that a solution to the problem is included in the current reconstruction of the expressway."

Board Again Continues Dairy Mart Request For Dacey Licenses

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

After a lengthy hearing, the License Board voted Tuesday to continue to March 26, a request from Dairy Mart Corp. for licenses for four former Dacey Brothers stores.

The matter was continued so that Dairy Mart could try to work out solutions to problems at the stores proposed by area residents and three ward councillors.

The board also requested dates for removal of a freezer chest outside the 263 Beale St. store and for emptying of dumpsters.

In addition to the Beale St. location, Dairy Mart is requesting licenses for 213 Somerset Ave., 139 West Elm Ave., and 330 Washington St.

Dairy Mart purchased the stores last fall, and several hearings have been held on requests for licenses.

Atty. Robert Fleming, who represented Dairy Mart, noted that common victualer licenses for the stores were not being requested at the meeting.

Atty. Fleming told the board that a meeting was held recently with the Merrymount Association regarding the Somerset Ave. store and the Sea St. location where the store plans to move by late summer.

Fleming said that subjects such as cleanliness, traffic and problems with young people were discussed and concessions made by Dairy Mart.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney complained that the Somerset Ave. location has "not provided the neighborhood with a quality bread and milk store," and cited such evidence as outdated, sour milk among the merchandise.

Cheney also complained about large delivery trucks travelling through the residential area to the store.

He suggested that smaller trucks be used, but Fleming said that would not be economically feasible since the trucks originate from Enfield, Conn. and serve 16 stores.

Fleming also said that deliveries would be made only twice a week and the trucks would be at the stores for 30 to 45 minutes.

Cheney added that his objections were to the Somerset Ave. store but not to the new store planned for Sea St.

Ward 3 Councillor John J. Lydon said that the freezer chest outside of the Beale St. store and the need for more frequent emptying of the dumpsters were "festering problems," and asked when they would be addressed.

Fleming, who noted that it requires time for a company to take over management of new property, said that he would try to have the freezer chest removed that day.

He also said that the dumpster company has been asked to make removals more often.

Ward 5 Councillor Stephen McGrath noted problems at the West Elm Ave. store and said that if he had a company which was coming into a city for the first time he would "go through hoops to see that things were done properly."

McGrath suggested that managers of the stores or representatives appear before the board.

Buliding Inspector Allan MacDonald asked that the city solicitor rule on whether the board can require for the public good, that Dairy Mart have compactors inside the stores rather than dumpsters outside, and use smaller delivery trucks in the city.

Police Chief Francis Finn, acting board chairman in the absence of City Clerk John Gillis said that neither he nor MacDonald was ready to vote on the request and that more answers to questions were needed.

"You don't have the votes," explained Finn.

TV Set Taken

A thief smashed the window of Dean's Video Store, 419 Hancock St., North Quincy, Sunday with a cement block and made off with a 25-inch television set valued at $429.

Stereo Stolen

Robert H. Maguire of Hood St., Houghs Neck, reported to police Sunday that two boxes of tapes and two stereo speakers were stolen from his car while it was parked in the driveway at 295 Rock Island Rd. Entry was gained by smashing the window in the driver's door.

$1,263 Stolen

Patricia Mezuh of Weymouth reported to police Saturday that $1,263 in cash in a bag was stolen from the Friendly Ice Cream store at 213 Independence Ave., South Quincy.

She told police she came to work about noon and opened the safe to find the bag missing.

Loaded Pistol Taken

Kenneth G. Flynn of Narragansett Rd., Merry-mount, reported to police last week that a loaded Smith and Wesson .22 calibre pistol was stolen from the bedroom of his home.

$74,000 To Study Ballou St. Floods

The City Council has appropriated $74,000, reimbursable by the state, to fund a study of the flooding problem in the Ballou St. drainage area of West Quincy.

Councillor James A. Sheets said he wanted to find out if the flooding was caused or aggravated by the construction of the Southeast Expressway.

If that is the case, he said, "then we should begin immediately to see that a solution to the problem is included in the current reconstruction of the expressway."

Mike's Corner

by Representative
Michael W. Morrissey

This is the 71st in a series of articles written by Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, 1985 Legislative Session.

The legislature is back in full swing. While there are some bills not yet in print, the majority of the legislature committees have set their hearing dates and rules for the 1985 session. The House has adopted new rules, and I have been recently appointed the new Chairman of the Committee on Counties by Speaker George Kevean. While my focus and direction on legislative matters has changed, my commitment to constituent requests and concerns is still my highest priority.

The Governor has filed his budget request for fiscal year 1986, and the House Ways and Means Committee has already started its hearings. The Governor has also submitted his proposal for Educational and Workmen's Compensation Reform. It is expected that we will act on these most important matters this session.

If I can be of any assistance, please don't hesitate to call me at home (328-0900) or in the State House (722-2060).

Ordinance Committee To Meet On Adult Books, Movies Ban

By TOM HENSHAW

The City Council's Ordinance Committee will meet Monday, March 4, at 6:30 p.m. to discuss a proposed zoning ordinance that would make it difficult, if not impossible, to open an adult book store or movie house in Quincy.

The ordinance would ban such book stores and movies from within 1,500 feet of a residential area, a bar or another porno store.

It would permit them only in industrially zoned areas and then only with a permit approved by two-thirds vote of the City Council.

"As a practical matter," said Jay MacRitchie, the assistant city solicitor who drew up the ordinance, "there would be no place in Quincy to put one, except possibly in the middle of the General Dynamics Shipyard."

MacRitchie said that, in his opinion, the proposed ordinance fulfills the requirements set up by the state law governing the issuance of special permits for adult bookstores and motion picture theatres.

No opposition was voiced last week at a Council public hearing on the ordinance. Seven persons spoke in favor of it and 10 others signed up as supporters.

The Rev. Fred Barr, associate pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount, called the sale and display of adult books, pictures and movies "a heinous crime," even though it is permitted by court decision.

"I wish we could have a display of that material right here," said John Hatcher of 18 Main St., Quincy Point. "People don't realize what kind of material is being sold."

"There is a correlation between child pornography and molestation and people who use this material."

Susan Bruce of 25 School St., Quincy Center, told the hearing that pornography "creates a lot of rape."

"I know of a store in South Quincy that has a lot of it," said Hazel Taylor of South Quincy. "God wouldn't approve of us having any books like this."

MacRitchie told the hearing that, in the absence of such an ordinance, adult entertainment centers can be established in any section of the city.

"We can't prohibit them outright," he said, "but we can limit them to industrially zoned districts as much as possible."

He said the 1,500-foot restriction was selected because anything less is doomed to be within walking distance.

State law defines an adult bookstore as "an establishment having as a substantial or significant portion of its stock in trade, books, magazines and other matter which are distinguished or characterized by their emphasis depicting, describing or relating to sexual conduct or sexual excitement."

The material sold in the stores is defined in the General Laws, Chapter 272, Section 31, in such graphic detail that it too could be sold only in an adult bookstore.

West Quincy Fields To Get Spring Facelift

O'Rourke Field and its companion area, Flaherty Playground, in West Quincy are about to get a $46,100 facelift, starting in April.

Plans include conversion of the little used tennis court in Flaherty Playground into a basketball court. The playground is across Quarry St. from O'Rourke.

"The basketball courts at O'Rourke are being heavily used since the sale of the Willard and Gridley Bryant Schools took away those courts," said City Councilor James A. Sheets.

Money for the work will come from federal Community Development Block Grant funds.

"There will be a general refurbishing of O'Rourke Field to make it more playable," said Sheets. "The playground area of Flaherty will be spruced up and the rides refurbished."

Sheets said the work is expected to be finished by June in time to handle the summer rush of youngsters.

The problem of sewage surcharge that has at times covered O'Rourke Field will also take a step toward solution in the next few months.

The design plan for a sewage lift station at the corner of Furnace Brook Parkway and Adams St. is scheduled to be completed in April.

"It will take three to four months for the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering to review the final design," said Sheets, "and it will be ready for construction as soon as we get the funding."

Funding may come 90 per cent from the federal government and 10 per cent from the state under the Clean Water Act or it may come from two new state programs available July 1.

Depending on the problem to be resolved, the state will pay 50 per cent and the city a like amount under one program and the state 65 per cent, the city 35 per cent under another.

Sheets said the lift station may qualify for funding under both programs.

Crane Library Joins Old Colony Network

The Thomas Crane Public Library is joining libraries in 14 other communities in the computer-based Old Colony Library Network designed to help locate and exchange library materials.

Establishment of the network depends upon the award in June of a $400,000 federal grant which will be used to purchase central site hardware and software.

Local funding will be used in each participating community to buy local hardware and ongoing system operation and maintenance.

The participating communities are Abington, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Duxbury, Hanover, Marshfield, Norwell, Plymouth, Quincy, Rockland, Scituate, Sharon, Stoughton and Walpole.

Network officials are negotiating with Massachusetts Community College in Brockton to locate the network's central system in the school's computer facility.

Bids are scheduled to be distributed in June.

The 15 member communities will be seeking funding support from local governing bodies over the next few months and $100,000 has been allocated by the State Regional Library System.

Mandatory Seat Belt Law 'Babysitting' People

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Well, Governor Dukakis is mandating yet another regulation on us. This time it's a mandatory seat belt law very similar to the one recently enacted in the State of New York by Gov. Mario Cuomo.

Dukakis Administration spokespersons are calling it a rate reduction law but it is, in fact, another way of controlling people and babysitting for them.

It is time for government to let people make more choices in their lives, not fewer. Politicians love passing things like mandatory seatbelt laws because it gives off the impression that they are doing something about public safety. However, street crime continues and the government spends inordinate amounts of time passing unenforceable laws upon law-abiding citizens.

People ought to have the right to choose whether or not to wear seat belts. Our Constitutional rights are slowly being dwindled down one by one until Big Parent controls all our personal choices.

I find it amusing that it is not conservative politicians who are out to regulate more and more of our actions but so-called liberals like Dukakis and Cuomo. It is ironic that these are the same politicians who think government has no right to bar a woman's right to choose an abortion but wouldn't think twice about ordering people to strap up before driving their cars.

Whatever happened to our rights? We are a government of, for and by the people, not the politicians. Seat belts are there for our safety but if we choose to disregard them, we do have that right.

Gov. Dukakis may personally believe that seat belts are in the best interests of the public but he shouldn't be imposing his personal beliefs on me or anyone else.

The government would better spend their time finding ways to lower the tax burden and provide for a safer community in which to live. Dukakis and Cuomo still believe that government should be the Big Parent when we need a government only as big to meet those needs that can not be met elsewhere. The role of government should be one of getting out of the way as much as possible. Perhaps, a mandatory handcuff law for politicians is necessary to stop them from writing or signing unnecessary mandates upon the people!

What Is Being Done For Low Income Elderly Housing?

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Are our past and present city officials involved in the real estate business?

Food for thought. Lets face it the Pollard school would have been an ideal spot for low income family housing with its playground.

What is being done about low income housing for the elderly? List is getting longer and longer. Evidently Quincy has no interest in regards to the low income or elderly people's problems. Rents keep increasing beyond their income.

Pollard Won't Be Forgotten

It seemed that whenever one of our five kids reached elementary school age I'd somehow find myself driving by the Pollard School.

"That's where I went to school," I told them, one by one through the years.

I said it with pride. And with a secret wish that their school would come to mean as much to them as the Pollard did to me.

The kids are grown up now—the youngest, a sophomore in college. I haven't driven by the Pollard as often in recent years.

But I did the other day. I wish I hadn't. A demolition bucket and a bulldozer had turned the Pollard into a rubble of red brick. It was a painful sight.

A terrible way to die. First ravaged by flames from a fire that was set. And then, assaulted by the thump, thump, thump of a heartless bucket that only cared to cave in her walls.

It was bad enough that the Pollard had to be closed. But the fact the building would be used for something else was a comforting thought. At least those of us who went to school there could still drive by and see that familiar ranch style building that held so many fond memories for us.

That was before the fire. The building is now gone. But the memories are still there. They can't take that away from us.

Whenever I think of the Pollard, I remember the teachers and the kids who were there with me. That's only natural, I guess. But there was something special about them.

Dedicated teachers—the school was full of them. Teachers like Mildred Litchfield, Ruth Abbiatti, Mary DiBartholomeo, Irma Salvucci, Ester Sullivan, Helen O'Connor, Helen Duncan, Beatrice Fitts, Loretta McDonald, Sadie Berman. And, of course, Principal William Morrison and Assistant Principal, Frank Mills.

They were interested in us like we were also their children instead of just their pupils. If pupils needed help, they were there to help even if it meant staying after school to do it.

They kept track of us as we grew up. Miss Litchfield even kept a list of every pupil she had in every one of her classes for 30 years before her retirement. She could tell you the exact year each of them was in the fourth grade.

There were a lot of poor kids in Quincy Point during the depression. Miss Litchfield would never admit it but there were mornings when she provided breakfast for the hungry ones. And there were times she bought them clothing. Other teachers did a lot of other nice things quietly, too.

It was there at the Pollard—and later at Quincy Point Junior High School—that we learned to judge people not by their ancestry but by the kind of individual he or she was.

Quincy Point was the great "melting pot" with many children from a wide variety of immigrant families: Italian, Jew, Scotch, Syrian, Lebanese, Moslem, Irish, English.

We learned to live together. If you liked someone or didn't like someone—it was because of him or her and not because of what country the parents or grandparents came from.

And if there was a wise guy somewhere in the crowd, it was inevitable that one day someone was going to dump a little humility on him.

For me, the Pollard School was where I decided to make journalism a career. Back in those days there was another daily newspaper in Quincy called The Quincy News.

It featured a weekly page or two of contributions written by school children. I got one published when I was in the fifth grade—my first byline.

From that day on I knew what I wanted to do.

If you were lucky enough to go to the Pollard School, you never forgot it.

TV personality Dave Garroway went there for a short time in the 1920's. His father was in the merchant marine and was here waiting for a ship to be completed at the old Fore River Shipyard. They lived on Ruggles St. during their short stay.

Some 30 or so years later I was covering the arrival of Mayflower II at Plymouth for the old Boston Traveler and Garroway was on assignment for NBC.

We got to talking and I said I understood he once lived in Quincy.

"Oh, yes," he replied with a smile. "I lived on Ruggles St. and went to the Pollard School. I loved it there."

Miss Abbiatti, who later became assistant principal of the Pollard and principal of other schools looked sad the other day shortly after the Pollard had been sentenced to death.

"Those were the good times," she said. "We will always have the memories—such good memories."

And, we will. Whatever kind of building is erected on the site, whenever I look at it I will still see the Pollard School.

The Pollard was more than brick and mortar. It was a wonderful teacher-pupil relationship. It was a warm spirit of community pride.

They can't take that away from us. Not even with a fire, demolition bucket and bulldozer.

Never!

Treasurer Crane To Release Unclaimed Money Names

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane plans to release in March the names of more than 35,000 Massachusetts residents who are due money under the state's Unclaimed Money Law.

The law seeks to protect individuals by assuring that unclaimed bank accounts, uncashed payroll checks, gift certificates, insurance proceeds and other funds that have been inactive for five years are returned to rightful owners.

One of Crane's responsibilities is to administer this law and see that banks and other institutions are in compliance with the law.

In the past, Crane has had to sue banks, department stores and insurance companies to make them turn over unclaimed funds.

The Treasurer's Office then must try to locate the missing owners to return their monies to them.

The lost of Quincy residents who are due money under the Unclaimed Money Law will be published in The Quincy Sun when it is released in March.

McCauley Backs Condon's General Dynamics Petitions

(Cont'd from Page 1)
McCauley said two years ago when he was negotiating the settlement with General Dynamics he considered the possibility of seeking state aid.
"I was told that, due to the magnitude of the situation, the outlook was dim for state action," he said. "We were in a pressure situation. We had to settle in 60 days by court order and the clock was running on the interest."

"The economic situation in the state is better now. Tax revenues are up. The state is doing well. There would be no loss in asking the state. Now we have everything to gain. If the petitions do not pass we already have the settlement."

McCauley said he was unaware of the Medford case when he was negotiating with General Dynamics. "The situation may well have been settled before the Medford case came along.

"If I had known about it," he said, "I would have pursued state aid to the point of going to our people and saying, 'Hey, you did it for Medford, how about Quincy?'"

New Video Gear For Police Approved

The City Council has appropriated $2,500 to purchase a 19-inch color television receiver, a 15-inch monitor-receiver and a video cassette recorder for the Police Department. Police Chief Francis X. Finn called the equipment "critical to our present training programs." The need came to light during recent civil rights training sessions. Capt. William Murphy told the Council the department would be able to tape one-shot guest lectures and use them over and over during inservice training sessions. The current equipment, said Murphy, is out of date and black and white only.

Mayor To Proclaim March Special Needs Awareness Month

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will proclaim March as "Special Needs Awareness Month" Monday, March 4, at 9 a.m. to highlight the programs and services available to children with special needs and to increase the community's sensitivity to and awareness of persons with special needs.

The many events scheduled throughout the month have been planned by the Department of Special Education in the Quincy Public Schools, the Office of the Mayor, the Thomas Crane Public Library, and the Quincy Parent Advisory Council to Special Education.

announcer. The Kaleidoscope Theater will present two nationally acclaimed, 45 minute plays Monday, March 25, at 7 p.m. in the North Quincy High School auditorium. The first, "I'm Special-You're Special," is a play of compassion and understanding about a retarded youth when he is mainstreamed into a regular school.

Following a refreshment break, the performers will present the second play "Welcome Home" about a young retarded man who goes into a group residence. Throughout the month, Jane Granstrom, Director of Children's Services at the Thomas Crane Public Library, will display books about special needs and distribute publications relevant to special needs. Quincy Cablesystems will feature several programs on issues related to the handicapped in the community. Exhibits of the artistic and academic work of special needs students will be on display in the lobby of new City Hall, the Thomas Crane Public Library, and the administrative offices of the Quincy Public Schools. The Planning Committee includes Jane Granstrom, Julia McCarthy, Susan McKeon, Allan G. Osborne, Jr., Judith Paul, Louis Tozzi, and Carol Lee Griffin. For more information, contact the Department of Special Education at 786-8743.

Sewage Bill Seeks To Clean Up Quincy Bay

More than 300 Quincy residents jammed a legislative hearing room in support of a bill that would require the city of Boston to spend $5.5 million annually to treat sewage before it is dumped into Quincy Bay.

Dr. Richard M. Ash, the Quincy public health commissioner told the hearing that if conditions do not change "I will have to ban all swimming in Quincy Bay."

Sen. John D. Mackay testified that 80 million gallons of raw sewage from the city of Boston was pumped into the bay from Moon Island every 24 hours, making sewage conditions so "entirely intolerable" that people do not go in the water.

Harold C. Shaw of the Houghs Neck Improvement Association said he had 10 sons and that four of the boys had suffered skin diseases the previous summer because of the condition of the bay waters in which they swam.

The lone opponent of the bill at the hearing was Rep. Thomas Dorgan legislative counsel for the city of Boston.

"The mayor of Boston is entirely in sympathy with the desires of the people of Quincy," he said, "but where are you going to get the money?"

BOULEVARD DRINK BAN

Wild scenes of drunken revelry on Wollaston Beach were described by Mrs. Frank Long of Wollaston at a legislative hearing into a bill, sponsored by Rep. Charles W. Hedges, that would ban the sale of liquor along Quincy Shore Boulevard.

"In the summertime the drunken women are a disgrace and it's a wonder their children don't get drowned," she said.

"I live 16 inches from the boundary line of the inn's property and I'm a nervous wreck from the lack of sleep. Midnight bathing parties of vulgar, dirty women come down at midnight and stay until 4 a.m., drinking, cursing and shouting."

APPEAL DENIED

The Massachusetts Supreme Court denied an appeal for a new trial by Oscar Bartolini, the Quincy handyman who was convicted of murder and sentenced to the electric chair in the slaying of Mrs. Grayce Asquith of Weymouth.

George B. Lourie, counsel for Bartolini, said his next move would be a request for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment or an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

QUINCY BAY CLEAN UP

On March 7, 1985 the E.P.A. will hold the final meeting on the site alternative of the new sewer treatment plant in Boston Harbor. The meeting will be at the Quincy Vocational Technical School, in the gymnasium at 7:00 p.m.

It is extremely important that local residents comment on the potential site options which includes Deer Island, Long Island, and Nut Island. Two of the potential sites will have a direct effect on the City of Quincy.

While this issue has been brewing for over a ten year period, it is expected that the E.P.A. the Commonwealth will make its final recommendations before the end of the summer.

Please plan to attend and express your views on this most important matter that could affect the quality of life in Quincy for decades to come.

METALS: PRECIOUS AND BASE

Metals are generally categorized into "precious" and "base." The precious metals include gold, platinum and silver which are also called the noble metals because they resist corrosion and oxidation. This is the process in which air and the elements in the air eat away at the metals to form tarnish and rust. All other metals are base metals. Their resistance to corrosion is less and include such metals as copper, nickel and iron. Most metals used in jewelry are combinations of both precious and base metals. Although the precious metals can be said to be diluted by the base metals, the reason that they are combined has less to do with making the precious metals less expensive than in making them more durable.

You see a piece of jewelry that catches your eye but the price is too steep. Then you see the same piece in another store at a much lower cost. What do you do? You go to a jeweler you can trust who knows jewelry and will give you quality pieces at fair prices. You can feel confident when you come to TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY at 1163 Hancock St. because we not only sell you attractive jewelry but we know about jewelry and its composition. Samuel Long, 78, Home For Aged Administrator

Funeral services for Samuel Long, 78, of Quincy, a recently retired administrator at the Home for Aged Women in Dorchester, were held Sunday at the Mortimer N. Peck Funeral Home, 516 Washington St., Braintree.

He died Feb. 22 in a Quincy nursing home after an illness of several months. Mr. Long previously worked in industrial relations and union negotiations at the Fore River Shipyard, now the General Dynamics Shipyard, in Quincy. He also had been an instructor at Thayer Academy in Braintree and, during summers, a real estate broker and residential developer in Chatham.

He was a former member of the Braintree Rotary Club.

Mr. Long graduated from Thayer Academy and Cornell University, where he was a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

He leaves a son, John J. Long of Hazel Crest, Ill., and a granddaughter, Faith Long.

Memorial donations may be sent to the American Cancer Society, 247 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

Frank J. O'Rourke, 91, Sheet Metal Instructor

A funeral Mass for Frank J. O'Rourke, 91, of Quincy, a retired sheet metal instructor at the Quincy Trade School, was held Monday in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount.

Mr. O'Rourke died Feb.

22 in Mystic, Conn., after a brief illness.

He had lived in Quincy for 67 years.

Born in Worcester, he was a sheet metal instructor at the Quincy Trade School for 40 years before he retired in 1962.

He was also an instructor in the Department of Vocational Education at Norfolk Correctional Institution and the state Division of University Extension Services.

Mr. O'Rourke also worked for the Commonwealth Youth Service Corps and was a civil service examiner.

Husband of the late Alice G. (Foley) O'Rourke, he is survived by three daughters, Mary J. Hanlon of Quincy, Doris K. Hagerty of Mystic, Conn., and Virginia A. Rogers of Reading; a brother, Charles O'Rourke of Quincy; eight grandchildren and three great-grandsons.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be sent to the Society of St. Edmund, Enders Island, Mystic, Conn., 06355.

Rev. Thomas Garrett Formerly Of Sacred Heart Parish

A funeral Mass for Rev. Thomas Garrett, formerly of Sacred Heart Parish, North Quincy, will be celebrated Saturday, at 10 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church, Amesbury.

Fr. Garrett died suddenly Friday in San Diego where he was serving as a Naval chaplain. Previously he had spent two years in Italy as chaplain at a naval base.

Rev. Garrett spent 1976-80 at Sacred Heart Parish,

Rev. THOMAS GARRETT

North Quincy where he formed the Silver Citizen's Club and the Couples Club. He was also the spiritual director for the Sacred Heart Youth Organization.

He founded the Christmas Pageant Program conducted each December by the Christmas Festival Committee in Church of Presidents, Quincy Square.

A bus will be going to Amesbury for those wishing to attend the funeral. Call 328-8666 for details.

Sestino Tocchio, 67, Retired Police Officer

A funeral Mass for Sestino J. Tocchio, 67, of Quincy, a retired member of the Quincy Police Department, was celebrated Tuesday in St. John's Church.

Mr. Tocchio died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, he was with the police department for 30 years before his retirement. He was a member of the Sons of Italy.

H. Joseph Buckley, 56, Machine Operator

A funeral Mass for H. Joseph Buckley, 56, of Quincy, a machine operator at the Allied Container Corp. in Dedham for 30 years, was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) in St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

He died February 24 at Norwood Hospital after a brief illness.

He was born in County Cork, Ireland, and moved to Boston where he lived in the Dorchester section for many years. He moved to Quincy two years ago.

He had worked at Allied Container for 30 years.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret (Dullea) Buckley; two sons, Daniel J. Buckley and Joseph P. Buckley, both of Quincy; three daughters, Joanne C. Buckley, Sheila E. Buckley and Margaret M. Buckley, all of Quincy, and two sisters, Ellen Lashus of Brockton and Maryann Crean of Cork, Ireland.

Funeral arrangements were by Alfred D. Thomas Funeral Home, 326 Granite Ave., Milton.

Contributions may be made to the St. Matthew's Church Restoration Fund, 33 Stanton St., Boston 02124.

Rose Marie Forte, 68, Former Design Dressmaker

A funeral Mass for Rose Marie (Merolla) Forte, 68, of Quincy, a retired design dressmaker in the Boston Garment Industry was celebrated Tuesday in St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point.

Mrs. Forte died Feb. 23 at Milton Medical Center after a long illness.

Born and educated in Brookline, she lived in Quincy for 48 years.

She retired four years ago.

She was a member of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, Local 229, and was a past president of St. John's Junior League.

She is survived by her husband, Lawrence J. Forte; a son, Lawrence A.J. Forte of Cambridge; a daughter, Marie R. MacPherson of Albany, N.Y.; two sisters, Eleanor J. Merolla of South Weymouth and Anna G. Cellucci of Medfield; and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were made by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Affected By An Alcoholic?

Do you love an alcoholic? Is your child affected by it? South Shore Mental Health Center is running groups for children who live in a family with an alcoholic. Kids will learn how alcohol is affecting them and their families and what they can do to help themselves. The groups meet one hour per week for eight weeks and will be starting the end of January.

'Holy People' Sermon At Bethany Church

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Cir., at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and 10 a.m. sanctuary service.

On this second Sunday in Lent, the senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will give the Communion meditation entitled "Holy People", based on Biblical texts in Leviticus 19:1-4, 15-18 and in the First Letter of Peter 1:13-25.

Scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood in the chapel and Evangeline V. Brennan in the sanctuary. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist at both hours.

During the sanctuary service, the chancel choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing the anthem, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure", by J. S. Bach.

The worship service will be broadcast over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class, 9th through 12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. with Bob Peoples as the teacher.

Nursery care is provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m. there will be a Fellowship Hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

On Wednesday, March 6, at 7 a.m. there will be 30-minute Lenten devotional service held in Bethany Chapel. The theme is "Places of the Passion" and Rev. Arnold will give the meditation "Caiphas' Aule", covering the events which took place in the courtyard of the high priest's palace. Following the Lenten service, a light breakfast will be served in the Parish House. No reservation required, free-will donation. Both the Lenten service and the breakfast are open to the public, and people can leave for work or school by 7:45 a.m.

For information on any of Bethany's ministries or programs for youth and adults, contact the Church office at 479-7300.

Observance Of Lent Squantum Church Topic

"How Shall We Observe Lent?" was the title of the pastor's sermon at both services Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum.

The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin took as his text this verse from the prophet Joel: "Rend your heart and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God..." (2:13a)

The Youth Choir sang Jack North's arrangement of "Just a Closer Walk with Thee" at both services. The Chancel Choir sang "Sanctus" by Franz Schubert.

Mary Ruth Scott directed both choirs. A recording of the soprano aria "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" from Handel's "Messiah" was included as part of the sermon.

Hymns were "Lord, Who Throughout These Forty Days", "In the Cross of Christ I Glory" and "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today."

Susan Mildram and Robert Dixey were ushers at the early service. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers at the second service for which Arthur and Virginia Sorenson were greeters.

The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Sally Wainwright and Ellen Ogilvie.

The Lenten programs on "Getting Serious About Being a Disciple" continue

Wednesday evenings. The fellowship supper begins at 6:30 p.m. with the program at 7:30 p.m. Topic this week was "Is Christ Changing Your Life?"

This Sunday is Covenant Sunday at the church. All members are invited to renew their covenant with God and with each other by attending the Lord's Supper at either the 8:30 a.m. guitar service or the 10:30 a.m. traditional service.

Members who cannot be present but wish to have their names included in the list of covenanting members should contact the pastor before the service.

Laity Sunday Observance At Wollaston Congregational Church

Wollaston Congregational Church will observe Laity Sunday this week.

Mr. Karl Schwendeman will deliver the sermon, "Blessed Assurance, Jesus is Mine," based on the text, Romans 8:31-39.

A Fellowship Hour follows the 10 a.m. service.

Parishioners are invited to an open meeting of the Executive Board Monday at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Mr. Charles Harper, Area Minister, Metropolitan Boston Association, Mass. Conference, U.C.C.

Purpose of the meeting is to examine the recent church survey and consider possible directions.

A Lenten Bible Study Group will meet Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. to explore the Gospel of St. Mark.

For more information on activities, call the church office at 773-7432.

Irish Cabaret March 3 At Blessed Sacrament

February Proclaimed Brotherhood/Sisterhood Month

Mayor Francis X. McCauley recently signed a proclamation declaring February Brotherhood/Sisterhood Month.

The proclamation was issued jointly by Governor Michael Dukakis and the mayors of eight cities, among them Quincy, in the greater metropolitan area. Brotherhood/Sisterhood Month is sponsored by The National Conference of Christians and Jews, Inc.

NCCJ recently dropped what used to be the National Brotherhood Week designation originated in 1934 to broaden the idea of national brotherhood as more of a year-round consideration.

The theme for 1985's celebration of Brotherhood/Sisterhood Month is "America is Many, Count Me In."

Some of NCCJ's activities during National Brotherhood/Sisterhood Month include:

The distribution of thousands of "America is Many, Count Me In" booklets, posters, and brochures to public and parochial schools throughout metropolitan Boston.

The distribution of a series of short stories on cassette tape, by Bill Cosby, on the theme "Let's Keep It Fair." NCCJ will also host an annual Good Neighbor Awards luncheon to recognize volunteers.

Lupus Support Group To Meet Sunday

The South Shore Lupus Support Group will meet Sunday, March 3, at 2 p.m. for the emotional and informational support of Lupus patients and their families.

The group, which also educates the public to the needs and problems of its members, is a member of the Lupus Foundation of America.

Speaker William Lane, D.M.D., will discuss "The Dental and Oral Implications for the Patient With Lupus."

Following the presentation by Dr. Lane, questions will be received from those attending the meeting.

Refreshments will be served and a social period allowed for sharing of experience in learning how to live with Lupus, a chronic disease.

Meetings are held the first Sunday of each month at the Milton Health Care Facility, Neponset Valley Parkway, Milton.

All are welcome to attend. For more information, call 326-4960.

Marines To Honor William Caddy

The William R. Caddy Detachment will hold a 40th Anniversary Service for Pfc. William R. Caddy Sunday, noon at the William R. Caddy Memorial Park.

Caddy received the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously on Iwo Jima, March 3, 1945. The Detachment was named for him the following year.

Medi Mart Free Blood Pressure Screenings

The Medi Mart Drug Store, 225 Quincy Ave., Presidents Plaza, Quincy, will hold a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, March 5, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

In 1961 Iresure Island Park off Quincy Shore Drive, was renamed after him.

Each year, the Detachment meets on the nearest Sunday to the anniversary of his death to place a wreath at his memorial. Caddy is buried at the National Cemetery at the Punch Bowl in Hawaii.

The William R. Caddy

Detachment invites other veterans organizations and their colors to participate along with other Marine Corps League Detachments. They also request that anyone who was involved in the invasion of Iwo Jima participate.

There will be a collection downstairs at the Fore River Clubhouse following the service.

The screening will be conducted by qualified personnel. Anyone with an elevated reading will be advised to see a physician.

To help customers keep track of their blood pressure, Medi Mart has developed a new wallet size record card which is being distributed to customers at all Medi Mart pharmacies. The card explains blood pressure and the ranges for normal, border line and high blood pressure.

The clinic is one of a series of health screenings held regularly by the Medi Mart Drug Stores.

Quincy Kiwanis Hockey Tourney Roundup

BOBBY ROCHE scores for Quincy's Bantam team in the championship game against Melrose. Quincy won, 6-3.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP Quincy Bantam team, Eddie Ryan, Sean O'Neil, Mike McClory, Bobby Roche, Bill Dineen, Paul Scola, Bobby Thomas, Erik Abboud, Wayne Chambers, Matt Collins, Mike Leonard, Tony Pecce, Jay Rodrigues, Billy Connolly, Jon Berton, Tom Roberts, Paul McGrath, Jeff MacDonald, Kirk MacDonald, Brian Mahoney, Tony Scola, Pat Bamberry and Jim Moore.

Quincy Bantam A's Win Championship

Quincy's Bantam A team, enjoying an outstanding season, won its division championship last week in the 14th annual Kiwanis International Youth Hockey Tournament at the Quincy Youth Arena.

The Bantam, who had started the season by winning a tournament in Connecticut and who have qualified for the state tournament March 15, 16 and 17, by winning all their preliminary games, won the Kiwanis event despite losing one player 10 days before the tournament and two more in the tourney's first game.

Despite the loss of defensemen Jon Berton and Erik Abboud and forward Jay Rodriguez, the Bantams clinched the title with a 6-3 victory over Melrose in the title game Sunday.

The game was tied, 3-3, with three and a half minutes to play when Jeff MacDonald scored the second of his three goals.

Melrose had a power play with 1:50 left, but Bob Roche stole the puck and scored a short-handed goal.

Jeff MacDonald then completed his hat trick for the final 6-3 score.

Tom Roberts and Kirk MacDonald scored the other Quincy goals. Paul Scola, Bill Dineen and Sean O'Neil had assists. Ed Ryan and Brian Mahoney made several outstanding saves in goal.

The other players were Tony Pecce, Paul McGrath, Billy Connolly, Matt Collins and Mike Leonard.

In earlier games Quincy defeated Chelsea, 9-0; Milton, 9-2, and Providence, 7-1.

The Bantams, 10-2-2 in the Greater Boston League, coached by Tony Scola, Jim Moore and Pat Bamberry, traveled to Austria in January and competed against teams from Vilach, Klagenfurt and Salisbury, Austria, and a team from Yugoslavia.

MATHEW MCGOWAN of Quincy's Squirts team gets shot off against Enfield, Conn. The Squirts went to the finals of the Kiwanis tournament before bowing to Canton, 4-3.

JAMIE SCHATZL, 11, Karen McCabe, 10, and Scott McClory, 15, join Canton players in fight for the puck in the Squirts' championship game in Kiwanis tournament. Canton won, 4-3.

Quincy Squirts Edged Out In Final 25 Seconds

Quincy's Squirts team went to finals of the annual Kiwanis International Youth Hockey tournament at the Quincy Youth Arena before losing to Canton, 4-3, in the final 25 seconds of the title game.

The Squirts, sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank, had two goals from Bobby Fitzpatrick and one by Joe Zona. Sean Vermette, Shane Abboud, Sean McArdle, Scott McClory, Jamie Schatzl and Brian Fitzgerald had assists.

The other players were Dennis Ruggere, Jeff Craig, Dan Morrell, Mathew Riley, Karen McCabe, Mathew McGowan, Walter Swierk and A. J. Pugliese. In earlier games Quincy defeated Troy, N.Y., 4-3; Enfield, Conn., 5-3, and Milton, 7-3.

"The team played superbly and gave a total team effort," said Coach Walter Swierk. "It is too bad there had to be a loser in a game like that."

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Raiders Defeat Brockton Finish In Second Place

By TOM SULLIVAN
North Quincy's hockey team failed to win its first Suburban League championship, but the Raiders pulled out a fine 5-3 come-from-behind win over Brockton in their league finale to finish second in the league and are seeded fifth in the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

North, which finished its best season in many years with a 14-3-1 record, lost its chance to tie Waltham for the title when it played one of its very rare bad games and lost to Newton North, 5-1, prior to the Brockton game. The Raiders finished a game behind Waltham and a game ahead of Brockton.

North played its first tournament game Tuesday against 12th-seeded Malden Catholic (10-6-3) at Danvers. If it survived, it will face the winner of No. 4 seed Catholic Memorial (11-5-3) and No. 13 Weymouth South (13-5-1) Saturday at 6 p.m. at Northeastern's Matthews Arena (formerly the Boston Arena).

If the Raiders make the semifinals they could face Boston College High which, under first-year coach Bob Hayes of Quincy, made the tournament for the first time since 1968.

Hayes, one of the organizers of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association, has coached in the league for many years.

Last season North Quincy qualified for the tournament for the first time in 23 years, defeating Saugus and losing to St. John's Prep.

"Of course I'm disappointed at not at least tying for the league title, but I'm very pleased with our season and the boys did a great job," said coach Kevin Jago. At the start of the season I expected we would do well with 11 veterans and four excellent transfers.

"Actually, the kids were on a roller coaster ride. We had some great periods but we also had some not so good. We saved one of our best periods of play for the third period of the Brockton game. That was the team I know and love (the Raiders scored four unanswered goals to overcome a 3-1 deficit). These kids are smart when they're as physically and mentally ready as they were in that game. They just don't like to lose."

North had one of the highest-scoring lines in the league in Capt. Rich Horrigan, Rob Reidy and Dave Tapper. They scored 91 points a year ago and finished with 109 this season.

Reidy scored 40 points, Horrigan had 36 and Tapper 33. The line did all the scoring in the final win over Brockton.

"This is an outstanding line," Jago said. "It did the great majority of our scoring. I juggled our other two lines throughout the season. We also have an excellent defense, headed by Pete Furtado, Dave Cooke and Greg McGlame, and the best goalie in the league in Matt Higgins, who finished with the league's best goals-against average (1.5)."

Five Raiders made the league all-star team, Furtado, McGlame, Higgins, Horrigan and Reidy.

Tapper scored three of the five goals against Brockton, while Reidy had two goals and three assists and Horrigan three assists.

Reidy scored in the second period with Horrigan and Furtado assisting to tie the game 1-1, but Brockton scored two goals 10 seconds apart to take a 3-1 lead into the final period.

Reidy hit Tapper with a perfect pass 2:50 into the period for a goal and McGlame blasted a 40-footer that goalie Jeff Krauthamer stopped. Reidy's rebound shot was also stopped but Tapper flipped it home at 10:57 to tie it, 3-3.

Reidy converted a Horrigan pass to score at 13:23 and Tapper scored an insurance goal at 14:52 with Reidy and Horrigan assisting.

"This was a big win," said Jago. "It should be good for us mentally and we should go into the tournament sky-high. I think, if we play our game, we can do well in the tournament."

Jago paid tribute to his two assistant coaches, Rich Hutchins and Rick Avery. "They did an excellent job all season," the head coach said.

In the loss to Newton North, Mark Simonelli scored the only goal for the Raiders.

Joyce Leads Quincy Five To 15-2 Mark

Big John Joyce scored 16 points as the Quincy High School Basketball team breezed to a 40-31 victory over Waltham to run its record to 15 wins in 17 games and enhance the Presidents' chances for an invitation to the Tech Tourney.

Joyce's point production was an individual team record for the season, erasing the old high of 14 scored by George Page against Fitchburg.

Quincy started slowly, making only five of 37 field goal attempts during the first half for a 14-10 lead at the intermission. But then, with Joyce hitting from the pivot, the Presidents took a 26-19 lead at which time the seconds took over.

The Quincy lineup included: Page, McCollom, Pettinelli, Mackie, Dobbyn, forwards; Joyce, Ross, centers; Disantis, Sabatini, Graham, Ramieri, guards.

NORTH SCORES

Jack Mullarkey's North Quincy High School basketball team threw a scare into powerful Medford by leading with two minutes to play but then Jack DeVries and George Reilly were lost to foul trouble and the Raiders bowed, 43-38.

Reilly led the North scorers with 12 points while Tom Underwood at 10 and DeVries six.

The North Quincy lineup included: Reilly, McCutcheon, Darling, forwards; Underwood, center; DeVries, Dowling, Ryan, Driscoll, guards.

ALL STAR GIRLS WIN

Mary Pratt and Rita Darling scored 17 points between them to lead an all star team from the Quincy Girls Church Basketball League to a 24-16 victory over the Quincy Alphas. Helen (Spud) Spadorcia had 10 points for the Alphas.

The All Star lineup included: Darling, Pratt, forwards; Morton, center; Pyyny, Walbur, Soderberg, guards.

The Alphas lineup included: Moscardelli, H. Spadorcia, DiCesare, forwards; Crotty, center; Spadorcia, O'Leary, guards.

PUCKSTERS WIN

Capt. Bill Mayer scored two goals and Charlie Winslow play an outstanding all around game as the Quincy High School hockey team ended the season with a 4-2 triumph over Malden Catholic in an exhibition game.

APPLETON ON TEAM

Everett Appleton of Quincy scored a first round TKO over Albert McElvany of Dorchester and knocked out Elmer Paquette of Taunton in the first round to win a place on the Quincy-Boston team for the intercity bouts on St. Patrick's Day.

WRESTLER DOWNED

Franklin McGovern and Ray DiBona registered the only victories as the Quincy High School wrestling team dropped a 25-6 decision to Weymouth in the Central Junior High School gym. DiBona's bout with Joe Tucei was judged best.

O'MAHONEY ON TOP

Art O'Mahoney of Ireland lost the first fall to Lee Chang of China in 14 minutes of grappling, then came back to win the next two falls and take the decision in their main wrestling bout at Quincy Arena.

North Girls Rally To Edge New Bedford

The North Quincy girls' basketball team finished on a winning note last week when it came from behind to edge New Bedford, 54-50, in overtime.

Paul Brogli's Raiderettes finished 11-9 overall (4-8 in the Suburban League and 7-1 in non-league games). The North girls who had been knocked out of the Eastern Mass. Tournament in their previous game, eliminated New Bedford from the tournament.

Brogli started his five seniors, Capt. Ann Duggan, Sandra Proude, Geraldine Murphy, Stephanie Petrakos and Mary Alice Sullivan. The new combination found themselves trailing, 15-4, after the first quarter.

The Whalers scored the first seven points before Sullivan hit a turnaround jumper from the baseline and Duggan also added a basket.

North used mostly underclassmen in the second quarter and took a 21-20 halftime lead. Eileen Warren hit for six points from inside, Jean Welby stole the ball off the half-court press and had four points and Karen Runge added four.

North's seniors started the third quarter and stayed even with the visitors until the last 1½ minutes when

New Bedford took a 35-29 lead.

Proude had five points and Duggan three, while Petrakos, Murphy and Sullivan did a fine job on the boards.

The fourth quarter was nip and tuck throughout. Anne Marie Hughes, as she had done all season, came off the bench to play excellent defense and also scored three points. Proude heated up, scoring six points and Runge added four.

North had a chance to win the game in regulation time, but missed two foul shots with one second left.

Proude popped in five of North's 10 points in overtime and fed Welby for another basket. Freshman Nancy Flukes, who had a fine season, added three free throws.

Proude led North with 18 points, seven rebounds, seven steals and three assists for a tremendous performance in her final game. She led the team in scoring with 236 points, in steals with 78 and tied with Runge for second in rebounding with 122. Warren, who finished her junior year with 219 points, scored eight in the finale and added eight rebounds to lead the team with 218. Runge finished with eight points, eight rebounds, three assists and six steals. She was second in rebounding and third in scoring with 177 points. Welby, whose offense doubled in the last six games, added six points. She led the team in assists with 65.

Also playing well in their final games as Raiderettes were Duggan, who had five points and led the team in taking charges with seven, Murphy, Petrakos and Sullivan, who combined to pull down 10 rebounds.

"We just fell short of our goal of qualifying for the tournament," said Brogli. "I feel particularly bad for the seniors, none of whom played in any type of tournament while at North. We certainly are going to miss their leadership, I hate to single out any individual, but our captain, Ann Duggan, was an inspiration to all of her teammates."

"She only knew one way to play, and that was all-out, giving 150 percent. We'll miss Sandra Proude and her instant offense. I wish she had been a part of the team for three years (she was a transfer from South Carolina this year). Murphy, Petrakos and Sullivan were model seniors. They were not starters, but gave their all in practice and always contributed when called upon."

"I feel we will have as exciting a team next year. However, we must tighten up our defense if we are to reach our full potential as a team. Of the five teams I've coached, this year's team scored the second most points of any, but also allowed more points than any of the other four."

"Kids like Welby, Hughes, Runge, Warren and Flukes have all gotten a solid year of experience. What we have to hope for is that we can fill in the other spots with Jim Timmins' junior varsity team (13-5). Coach Timmins has done a fine job of teaching his group the fundamentals. That is going to pay off in the future. I'm going to miss him and his input next season."

Raiderettes Win 5th State Division Title

The North Quincy girls' track team's string of Suburban League championships came to an end this season, but the Raiderettes last Saturday won their fifth state Div. I title in six years at Harvard.

The North girls outscored Suburban League rival Cambridge Rindge and Latin, the favorite, 46-35, despite winning only one event. Falmouth was third with 25 points and Randolph and Taunton tied for fourth with 20 each.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes were expected to do well yesterday (Wednesday) in the all-state meet at M11.

North's Lisa Fitzgerald won the 600 with her best time, 1:26.9 and Lee Ann Fitzgerald was fourth.

In the two-mile Iria

Barrett was second in 11:26.5, with Meg Leary finishing third in 11:35.4, topping her previous best by 25 seconds.

"Lisa had surgery on her knee and it was the tremendous work of her physical therapist, Dr. Al Roncarati that enabled her to return," Tozzi said. "Meg's performance was outstanding. She has been a great leader all season."

Mary Ann Kelleher was second in the 1000 in 2:44.8, moving up from 12th place. The winner, Bonnie Yuen of Taunton, set a meet record of 2:34.

Georgia Trifanice, who missed the meet last year due to an injury, placed second in the high jump at 5-4 and the Raiderettes' relay team of the two Fitzgeralds, Kelleher and Leary, was fifth. "This was an outstanding group of girls," said Tozzi. "They had some tough luck during the league season, but turned in some excellent performances."

North lost its first meet to Newton North, ending a 20-meet win streak, but Barrett and Kelleher, two of the top scorers, were missing. The Raiderettes also lost to Cambridge when a controversial ruling in the high jump cost them a possible victory.

"My assistant coaches, John Finney and Peter Chisom, deserve much of the credit for our performance," said Tozzi. "I want to thank our principal, Peter Chisom, and our assistant principal, Eileen Leary, for their support."

Squantum Upsets Montclair, Beechwood Rolls Over Merrymount

Squantum Center knocked off previously unbeaten Montclair to create a two-way tie at the top of The Quincy Recreation Department's Senior High School Basketball League.

In taking the 56-50 win, Squantum relied upon a balanced scoring attack that saw Dave Ziurms score 17, while Steve Dever and John Panaro each had 16. Montclair also had a balanced attack although coming up just short. Ted Stevenson and Garry Macanmara each had 14.

Brian Hukes put in a solid performance rebounding, while Jeff Morris led Montclair's defense. Jim Cataldo was top rebounder for Squantum.

Beechwood Knoll Center jumped to an early lead and never looked back in a 51-39 win over Merrymount. The win brought Beechwood to a 3-1 and a first place tie with Squantum.

Kevin Duffy led all scorers with 20 while Beechwood teammate Mike Murphy had 10 and Colin Powers 8. For Merrymount Billy Roche and Chris Meger each had 10 followed by Dave Maimaron with 4. Beechwood's Joe Mulvey was a key to Jack Kelly's zone defense while Dan Steele was strong off the defensive boards.

For Merrymount Matt Gorman, Pat Hadjian and Bobby Roche all played well in the losing effort. Roche had five blocked shots.

The standings: Beechwood, 5-1; Squantum, 3-1; Montclair, 2-1; Point, 2-1; Merrymount, 1-2; Central, 0-2; Atherton, 0-3.

Quincy Edges Canton, But Bows to Milton In Overtime

The Quincy boys' basketball team won only one Suburban League game this season, a 50-47 squeaker over North Quincy, but the Presidents did prove themselves a pretty good tournament team.

Rick DeCristofaro's Quincy team won the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament with wins over South and Weymouth North. Quincy had one previous win over Walpole and had only the win over North Quincy since that tournament, taking a 4-13 record into last week's Fighting Irish Tournament at Milton.

The Presidents edged Canton, 58-56, in the semifinals but dropped a 56-54 overtime decision to host Milton in the championship game.

Quincy thus finished at 5-14 and proved it would do all right if it moved into another league. The same is true for North Quincy, whose lone league win was a 43-42 cliffhanger over Quincy.

"We finished up well with two good games at Milton," said DeCristofaro. "We shouldn't be in the Suburban League and North shouldn't be either."

"We held our own with some of the league teams. Of course, we couldn't compete against teams like Brockton and Cambridge Ring and Latin and we showed we could do all right in another league."

Quincy's wins were over Walpole of the Bay State League, Weymouth North and Weymouth South of the Old Colony League, Canton of the Hockmoeck League and North Quincy, Milton, which topped Quincy in overtime in its tourney finale, is also a Bay State League entry.

The Presidents won their game against Canton on Bill Shaughnessy's basket at the buzzer. Shaughnessy, who ran away with the Suburban League scoring title with an average of 28 points a game, paced Quincy with 15 points, while Pat Faherty and Daron Tucker had 10 apiece.

In the final against Milton, the teams were tied, 12-12, after a quarter. Quincy led, 26-25, at the half and still held a one-point advantage, 36-35, going into the fourth quarter.

Milton led, 46-40, with 2:12 left in regulation thanks to a 7-2 run, but Don Parry hit three jumpers and Quincy trailed, 50-48, with nine seconds remaining.

Shaughnessy, who had 25 points, tied it with a jumper from the corner to send the game into overtime.

In the extra session Parry gave Quincy a 52-50 lead but Milton tied it and won it with 31 seconds left on Chris Whitney's basket.

Parry scored 23 points for his best game of the season as he and Shaughnessy did almost all of the Quincy scoring.

Meanwhile, North Quincy finished one of its most frustrating seasons as it was blasted by Marshfield, 85-45, to finish at 3-15.

In addition to its one-point league win over Quincy, the Raiders' other wins were over Marshfield and Hingham of the Old Colony League. North had previously beaten Marshfield by 17 points.

The win over North put the Rams, winners of eight of their last 10 games, into the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

Ken Runge, North's leading scorer, paced the Raiders with 16 points.

'Pebbles' Thatcher Scores 1000th Point

Alicia Thatcher, better known as "Pebbles" a junior at Eastern Nazarene College, recently scored her 1000th point in the last game of the season against Western New England College.

A psychology major from Wareham, Alicia kept telling her roommate, "I only have 16 more points to reach 1000. If I don't make it, I have to wait until next season."

She reached the milestone with 20 points in the final game, giving her 1004 points with another year to go.

"Pebbles" was a major asset to this year's team, which finished at 8-9.

Adams Shore Program For Historical Society

A meeting of the Quincy Historical Society will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 pm in the Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy.

The evening's program will be the history of the Adams Shore section of Quincy, given by State Sen. Paul D. Harold.

Originally part of the Adams properties, Adams Shore is the section of Quincy between Merry-mount and Hough's Neck, say the historical society. It is one of the first Adams properties to be developed and sold for housing.

Originally the area was predominantly summer residences but has evolved into an attractive area of year-round homes, according to the society.

Sen. Harold's presentation will cover the history of the area from Indian settlement, Adams holdings, summer residences, to year-round neighborhood.

The public is invited. There is no charge.

Refreshments will be served.

A portion of the Quincy Historical Society's operating funds for fiscal year 1984-1985 has been made possible with support from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency, and through a grant from the Institute of Museum Services, a federal agency in the Department of Education, which offers operating and program support to the nation's museums.

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 28.

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Relationship remains sunny and warm, but prepare for a brief storm at work. Study is all important, and you begin to broaden your horizons significantly.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Experimentation can lead to bright results at the workplace. It's not too late to devise a list of resolutions. Youngsters can learn from your example.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Good week for shopping for unusual gift items. It's also a lost-and-found time, and you're likely to misplace objects as well as make pleasant discoveries.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

You can achieve key objective thanks to a combination of inspiration and perspiration. Relatives prove good work partners. Answers arrive in pairs.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Unexpected guests and surprise announcements punctuate the week. Recycling is a current theme. You can take an old idea or object and put it to new use.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Travel and business mix well, but business and romance do not. Bargain hunters should be pleased this week. Correspondence may be delayed.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Enterprising Leo can come up with a profit-making idea. Beware of salespeople who promise more than you know they can deliver. Overdue funds may arrive presently.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

New hobbies can lead to a new friendship, or vice versa. Co worker is in a competitive mood. Your surprise gestures bring special pleasure to a sensitive relative.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Temper can be explosive unless you play diplomat, a role that can leave you weary by Monday. Financial news brightener provides the positive note of the week.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

Financial idea may fizzle, but old-fashioned hard work brings long-lasting results. Keep an eye on the newspaper; you may find an item that proves of key value.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Quality is emphasized over quantity, at work, the key is to set the highest possible standards. Sense of humor leads to a new friendship.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Timing is all-important if you're trying to repair a wounded relationship. Innovative ideas capture the attentions of an influential and anonymous admirer.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You understand and respond to the needs of others, you treasure security, and your first impressions are generally not strong. Year ahead offers opportunities for travel, renewed friendship, and stronger family ties.

BORN THIS WEEK

February 28th, actor Stanley Baker; March 1st, singer Harry Belafonte; 2nd, actress Jennifer Jones; 3rd, actress Jean Harlow; 4th, actress Susan Clark; 5th, singer Andy Gibb; 6th, actor Rob Reiner.

South Shore Buick Presents Automobile To Weymouth Vo-Tech

General Motors in cooperation with South Shore Buick Co., 50 Adams St. Quincy, has presented a 1985 Buick Electra Park Avenue to the Weymouth Vocational Technical High School.

The presentation is an ongoing commitment by General Motors to encourage schools to provide hands-on training for students entering the automotive trades as technicians.

The automobiles provided are equipped with the latest technical innovations and provide up to the minute examples of what customers will experience in day-to-day commuting.

Presenting the 1985 Electra Park Avenue to the school were Robert C. Costello, president South Shore Buick; Tom Lampman, district service manager Buick Motor Division and Ernie Jacobson, service manager at South Shore Buick.

Eugene Stenstrom, director Weymouth Vocational Technical School and Dan Wettergreen, auto instructor, received the vehicle on behalf of the school.

'Early Pregnancy' Program At Hospital

Quincy City Hospital will sponsor a two-session program, "Early Pregnancy - For Healthy Mom and Healthy Baby" for expectant women in the early stages of pregnancy, beginning today (Thursday).

The program, for women only, will cover the emotional and physical changes of pregnancy, fetal development, nutrition, exercises and other information that will guide mothers-to-be in making important decisions for themselves and their baby.

Classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on consecutive Thursdays in the Childbirth Education Classroom at the hospital's Family-Centered Maternity Unit.

Expectant women, regardless of their hospital affiliation, may call 773-6111, Ext. 291 to register or receive a brochure. The program is free to all participants.

in History Monday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the Quincy Historical Society.

The program is sponsored by the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women in conjunction with the Historical Society as part of Women's History Week.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will introduce the program and Alicia Colletti of the Women's Center at Quincy Junior College will present it.

The public is welcome.

O'Connell Scores 'Big Brother' In Federal Bank Indictments

The president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce has issued a strong protest over recent indictments of financial institutions and the publicity surrounding them.

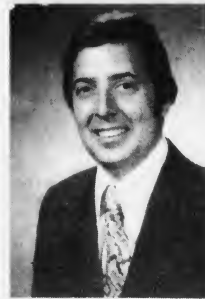

"We are deeply distressed over what appears to be a major campaign by federal authorities to undermine the public's confidence in financial institutions," said Peter F. O'Connell.

O'Connell, a partner in OBC, Inc., Quincy developers, criticized "the Big Brother tactics which appear to be attempts to link some financial institutions to organized crime."

While he mentioned no institution by name, his statement came on the heels of indictments involving unreported cash transaction by the Bank of Boston and others.

"When a financial institution pleads guilty to not following certain procedures, there is a strong implication that the guilt extends far beyond the failure to complete particular forms," O'Connell said.

"Of all businesses in a community, financial institutions have outstanding records of leadership in solving community problems. Then, that long and distinguished history of service is wiped away amidst the turmoil and suspicion caused by these attacks.

"As a businessman, I know there is no way to follow every government directive. Whether a business is large or small, there are so many regulations it would take a huge staff just to keep track of all the paperwork. It all results in higher prices."

O'Connell pointed to a study conducted by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce a few years ago, adding, "When we surveyed our membership, it was clear that government over-regulation was the biggest problem facing businesses."

"It is terribly disturbing to see government becoming a threat to business," O'Connell said. "Every business is going to wonder where the lightning is going to strike next. Such an environment of suspicion is destructive on individual businesses and a strong economy."

"We all make mistakes and when that happens, we expect to pay a price. But what is happening today goes way beyond just punishment. It appears that the government is out to destroy a few in order to scare the rest of us. That is a totalitarian tactic and it's totally unacceptable."

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

INGREDIENTS FOR INVESTMENT

QUESTION: Why has real estate proven to be such an excellent investment over the years as compared to other investments?

ANSWER: Housing prices have gone up steeply since the mid-60's for two basic reasons. First, the number of new housing units built each year was far below that which it should have been. Since there is a steady growth in population, this puts pressure on our housing reserves and prices rise.

Second, there have been inflationary increases in land, labor and material costs that go into building a house. Historically, real estate values have always increased faster than the cost of living.

CITY OF QUINCY IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 45 JANUARY 21, 1985
ORDERED:

Whereas, M.G.L. C. 40A, the Zoning Act authorizes Municipalities to enact ordinances regulating so called "Adult Uses" to require special permits and

Whereas, absent such an ordinance, "Adult Uses" would be allowed at any location which allows retail sales,

Now Therefore, Be it ordained, that the revised ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976 as amended are further amended as follows:

In Chapter 24, The Zoning Ordinance, Article I Administration Section 15 special permits, subsection 1 to read as follows:

ARTICLE I ADMINISTRATION

Section 15 Special Permits

1. By the terms of this Ordinance and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 40A, as amended, of the General Laws of the Commonwealth, the Board of Appeals is hereby designated as the "special permit granting authority" and is authorized to approve or disapprove certain uses (specified in Article IV, Section 42, Table of Use Regulations), for which a special permit is required, except that the City Council is designated as the "special permit granting authority" for applications filed under ARTICLE III, Section 31, Subsection 2, Planned Unit Development and ARTICLE IV, Section 42, Table of Use Regulations, subsection 12, Adult Uses. In acting on these matters, the Board shall take into consideration the general purpose and intent of this Ordinance and may impose such conditions and safeguards deemed necessary to preserve community values. The Board may grant a permit without finding of hardship, or, for stated reasons, may deny the permit. In granting a permit, the Board may impose further restrictions on the property as are appropriate, but shall not waive or relax any applicable provisions of this Ordinance.

and in Article IV Use Regulations, Section 42 Table of Use Regulations after subsection 11 Accessory Uses, add the following:

12. Adult Uses.

Any adult bookstore or Adult Motion Picture Theatre as defined by M.G.L. C. 40A S. 9A, provided that such adult bookstore or adult motion picture theatre is not located within fifteen hundred (1500) linear feet of, a) any district designated by this chapter for any residential use; b) any other adult bookstore or adult motion picture theatre; or, c) any establishment licensed under the provisions of section twelve of chapter one hundred and thirty-eight. Prior to section twelve of chapter one hundred and thirty-eight, the special permit granting authority may seek the recommendations of the Building Inspector as to the specific improvements, amenities or location of the proposed use. The special permit granting authority shall not be bound by the Building Inspector's recommendations.

Hospital Issue Goes Before Council March 18

"That's telling half truths," he said.

Some reference was made at the hearing about two recent oil spills at the hospital which upset the neighbors.

In an interview with the Quincy Sun's Channel 8, Jack Mitchell of the Colonial Heritage Association said the latest oil spill at the hospital "reinforces our idea of having the hospital do an environmental impact study."

"We think an environmental impact study is mandatory," he said. "We have no idea what is under the ground here. They had a civil engineer who said there are thousands of springs up here. That's their own man."

"We don't oppose them rebuilding the hospital. All we want is our concerns to be taken into consideration. They have been very shortsighted in their plans."

"We had no idea of what they were going to do until Dec. 10 when they presented the proposal to us. They knew about it as early as May or June last year."

"She was told (by engineers) that there are no bench marks so they can't survey the land," he said. "The hospital, out of sheer decency, should come out and put up some kind of fence and survey the land."

"Situations like this show us the type of concerns the hospital has for the people in the neighborhood when they can't even come out and have their land surveyed."

Mitchell told of a woman whose home abuts the hospital who does not know precisely where the line

Mitchell said he recently read an article which called the hospital industry in the United States "scandalous."

"They are run by these for-profit corporations which take the decision-making process out of the hands of the people the hospitals belong to," he said, "and it is made in board rooms far, far away from the hospital."

"We feel that is what is happening here."

Another association member Roger Hamel, said the last time there was an oil spill at the hospital "my children were cutting through the woods and stepped in oil and brought it into the house. It's a serious problem."

"In the past they've told us stories. We checked them out. They really haven't come clean and told us everything that's going on up here."

Put Sewage Plant On Deer Island

For more than 30 years, the people of Quincy have suffered through the abomination of what amounts to an open sewer in their backyard.

Foul odors emanating from the MDC's decrepit sewage treatment plant on Nut Island have periodically befouled the air in Houghs Neck.

Excrement and other effluent of indescribably filth have defiled our beaches to the point where on one of the state's great water playgrounds—Wollaston Beach—is often virtually useless in the summer when it is needed the most.

Pollution of the waters of Quincy Bay and Boston Harbor has reached such an extent that it threatens the peerless flounder fishery in Houghs Neck, which brings hundreds of fishermen from as far away as Pennsylvania on a spring weekend.

All this because of a sewage treatment plant on Nut Island.

Now, the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, successor to the MDC's Water and Sewer Division, has a golden opportunity to do something about it.

And tonight (Thursday), the long-suffering people of Quincy have an equally golden opportunity to let the state and federal governments know that they have had it up to here with sewage treatment of any form on Nut Island.

The occasion is a Federal Environmental Protection Agency hearing on a supplemental draft environmental impact statement on the siting

Condon GD Petition Approved

The City Council Monday night approved a home rule petition asking the state to loan the city $17,715,999 interest free with which to satisfy a tax abatement judgement won by General Dynamics.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has said that he will sign the petition and send it to the State Legislature without delay.

The loan amount would be paid back to the state in equal installments of $1,771,600 over a period of 10 years, as a deduction in the amount of the city's state aid. Currently, the city is paying off the abatement debt to the company by way of a $28 million bond that is being paid at the rate of $2.8 million a year for 10 years.

Councillor Joanne Condon, sponsor of the petition, said she has found a number of instances in which the state has bailed communities out in similar situations.

"The money is available at the state levels," she said. "The sooner this gets in to the state the better."

Traffic Study Sought On Chestnut, Maple, Foster Sts.

City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia filed a resolve Monday night asking that the mayor's task force studying traffic problems look into the situation on Chestnut St. between Maple and Foster Sts.

LaRaia suggested that the sidewalk on Chestnut St. be narrowed between Maple and Foster and that section of the street be made one way to traffic.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro suggested that if the traffic light in front of the South shore Bank be repaired it might help the situation. The light has not functioned in 10 years, he said.

City Elections Sept. 10, Nov. 5

The preliminary city election will be held Tuesday, Sept. 10, and the general election Tuesday, Nov. 5, this year.

The City Council set the dates Monday night and stipulated that the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. for both elections.

Candidates may pick up nomination papers starting Monday, May 20.

The following election campaign deadlines also were set:

Aug. 6 at 5 p.m. - Last day and hour to file nomination papers for all offices.

Aug. 6 at 5 p.m. - Last day and hour to file statement of candidacy with the city

Ban 7 A.M. Dumpster Pickups

A proposed ordinance that would ban dumpster pickups in the city before 7 a.m. was placed on file Monday night by City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath.

McGrath told fellow councillors that the problem had been resolved in the city's new contract with Browning Ferris Industries containing the 7 a.m. limit.

The old contract specified that dumpsters could not be picked up between sundown and sunrise. Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson said the new contract, which is for three years with a one year option, was reworded to bring it into compliance with the city's antinoise ordinance.

Last Hearing Thursday

Nut Island Opposition Unified

By TOM HENSHAW
Mayor Francis X. McCauley brought in reinforcements Tuesday in the mounting effort to insure a large outspoken crowd at tonight's (Thursday's) Environmental Protection Agency hearing on the future of Nut Island.

The public hearing on the siting of new sewage treatment facilities on Boston Harbor will be held at 7 p.m. in the Vocational Technical School.

McCauley's reinforcement turned out to be Sen. William Golden, whose downshore district includes the town of Weymouth, Hingham and Hull, which are also impacted by the sewage treatment plant on Nut Island.

"It is important that we stand united," Golden told a news conference in McCauley's office Tuesday afternoon. "There will be people from Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham and Hull at the hearing."

"They are giving their support to Deer Island as a primary or secondary treatment facility and Nut Island as a pumping station."

Golden, who now lives in Weymouth, was a resident of Squantum and city solicitor of Quincy in 1983 when the city filed its law suit against the MDC that touched off the current effort to clean up the bay.

Both McCauley and Golden urged all Quincy residents to "get to the hearing at all costs whether they plan to speak or not."

The mayor noted that some 2,000 people showed up at a similar hearing in Winthrop to oppose the siting of primary and secondary treatment plants at Deer Island.

McCauley said he was sure that Michael R. Deland, the EPA regional administrator and others will "look at the matter objectively" when they site the plant.

"But they'll also be impressed by a large turnout," he said.

McCauley announced that school buses will be used to ferry people to the Vo Tech School for the hearing from several outlying districts because of an expected parking problem.

Two buses will leave the Houghs Neck Community Center, and one each from community centers in Germantown, Atlantic, and Squantum at 6 p.m.

Meanwhile, the City Council passed two resolutions offered by Councillors Michael Cheney and Patricia Toland opposing any new sewage facility on Nut Island.

"This is the single most important environmental issue of our time," said Cheney. "We are not only fighting for ourselves but for our children."

The Council, again at the behest of Cheney, passed a second resolution urging residents of Quincy to Mary Blake of North Central Ave., Wollaston, reported to police Monday that someone kicked in a porch door at her home but apparently failed to gain entry to the house.

A small pane of glass on an inner door was broken but the intruder was stopped by a deadbolt lock.

A neighbor told police that he saw two men in a car pull into the Blake driveway about noon and remained for about 10 minutes.

They were described as about 21 years old and one of them wore blue jogging pants.

Elks 7-Day Suspension Upheld By ABCC

By NANCY
McLAUGHLIN

The Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission has upheld the Quincy License Board's suspension of the Quincy Lodge of Elks alcoholic club license for seven days.

The suspension, which will take place March 18 through 24, is for failure to cooperate with police officers in the performance of their duties, stated the ABCC.

The Quincy board's decision last Aug. 2 to suspend the license resulted from an incident at the lodge June 24.

Two police officers testified at the commission's hearing that they arrived at the lodge to investigate an automobile accident which had occurred nearby, according to the ABCC.

Inside they said they found about 15 persons, some of whom identified themselves as members and officers of the club, the ABCC reported.

In the opinion of the police officers, a considerable number of the patrons were intoxicated. They pushed the officer-in-trouble button on the police car radio and summoned other members of the Quincy Police Force, said the ABCC.

The officers testified that they were assaulted physically by "pushing" being "grabbed from behind" and "rushing."

Three members of the club and the bartender testified to a contrary version of the incident, reported the ABCC.

"Based upon the above testimony, the commission finds that the Quincy Licensing Board was not arbitrary or unreasonable in its decision to suspend the above-named licensee's license," concluded the ABCC.

Anderson Sworn In To Water Board

Public Works Commissioner Paul N. Anderson has been sworn in as a member of the board of directors of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, which is charged with cleaning up the polluted waters of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

Anderson was selected for membership on the 11-member board by Gov. Michael Dukakis from a list of three nominees chosen by Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

The authority will take over responsibility for operating the facilities of the MDC's Water and Sewer Divisions on July 1.

300 Quincy Residents Due Unclaimed Money

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane has released the names of some 300 Quincy residents and organizations who are due money under the state's Unclaimed Money Law.

Under that law, bank accounts, insurance proceeds, uncashed gift certificates, payroll checks, customer over-payments that have gone untouched for five years are deemed to be abandoned.

All such accounts are reported to the treasurer, who then attempts to locate the rightful owners.

Seeks $10,000 To Pay Negotiator

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has asked for an appropriation of $10,000 to cover the cost of the city labor negotiator, David F. Grunbaum, to the end of the fiscal year.

City Solicitor Dean

Nicastro said only $6,007.62 remains in current appropriation and the $10,000 represents his estimate of what more is needed.

The $10,000 would bring the total appropriation for fiscal 1985 to $35,000, he said, while the city spent $34,604 for the same services in fiscal 1984.

The Council sent the request to the Finance Committee for study.

Editorial Put Sewage Plant On Deer Island

of wastewater treatment facilities for Boston Harbor.

That sentence filled with the three and four syllable words the bureaucrats love so well boils down to this: Will there be a primary sewage treatment plant on Nut Island? Will there be a secondary sewage treatment plant on Nut Island? Or will there be no sewage treatment plant whatsoever on Nut Island?

The choice is there and it will be heard tonight. One of the alternative sitings for a primary treatment facility places all of it on Deer Island. A second alternative splits it between Deer Island and Nut Island. A third splits it between Deer Island and Long Island.

There are four alternative sitings for a secondary treatment plant. One consolidates all facilities on Deer Island. The second splits the plant between Deer Island and Nut Island. A third puts everything on Long Island. And the fourth splits facilities between Deer Island and Long Island.

For residents of Quincy, who have endured the outrage of Nut Island for so long, the choice is simple.

The siting of a primary treatment plant should be Deer Island.

The location of a secondary treatment plant should be Deer Island.

Nut Island should be a head works, passing along safely to Deer Island the effluent of the south.

Long Island should remain just what it is—the site of Boston's Chronic Disease Hospital and a harbor recreation area of great potential.

The supplemental draft environmental impact statement itself anticipates that any siting of a primary or secondary treatment plant on Nut Island "would generate severe environmental effects."

Nearby residents of Houghs Neck would be exposed "during the construction period to five years of noise and mess, and, therefore, to the sight and infrequent smells of an even larger sewage treatment plant than now exists."

In order to create a buffer zone between the plant and the neighborhood it would be necessary "either to fill up three acres of Hingham Bay or to relocate the small number of families immediately adjoining the site."

How many is a small number? Well, when the MDC started talking about expanding the Nut Island plant five years ago it was three families. Now it is 10 and the lord knows how many it will be tomorrow or the next day once constructions gets underway in the full flower of bureaucratic enthusiasm.

Would it not be better to relocate prisoners at the Deer Island House of Correction to make way for the treatment plant rather than 10 or more longtime homeowners in Houghs Neck?

The time for the long suffering citizens of Quincy to answer that and other questions about the future of Nut Island and surrounding waters is tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in the Vocational Technical School.

Vacant School Seat(s)?

Right now, the School Committee is the quietest political front in Quincy.

But that could change fast.

The three incumbents—Mary Collins, Joan Picard and Nick Verenis—are due up for re-election this year.

But will they all seek re-election?

There is a possibility of one maybe two vacant seats materializing.

Some observers think Collins may make a run for the Ward 6 City Council seat being vacated by Joanne Condon to challenge Mayor Francis McCauley.

Collins opposed Condon two years ago but bowed out mid-way because of a medical problem.

She was interested in the Ward 6 seat in 1983 and observers think she is still interested in 1985. And what better time to go for it than when a seat is wide open?

VERENIS

There's also some speculation about Verenis not seeking re-election.

He has started a new business. New business ventures need a lot of time and attention. The question seems to be:

Will he have enough time to devote to a new business and to the School Committee which is a time devourer itself.

At this moment, Picard looks like the only incumbent sure to seek re-election.

MEANWHILE, regardless of whether there is an open seat or not, the School Committee has at least one potential new candidate.

Peggy Nigro of Houghs Neck reportedly is "thinking about it."

She thinks it's a shame, she tells friends that more people aren't interested in running for the School Committee which she considers one of the most important elective posts in a community.

She and husband, Jack, have been long-time community activists.

He was mentioned as a possible Ward 1 candidate in the special election last year but became Michael Cheney's campaign manager instead.

Maybe Peggy will be the first candidate in the family this year in a bid for the School Committee.

COLLINS

COUNCILOR Joanne Condon who, political observers say, needs somewhere between $75,000 and $100,000 to finance an effective campaign as a mayoral challenger takes the first step in that direction Saturday night.

Her first campaign fundraiser billed as a St. Patrick's Day Celebration will be held from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Quincy Sons of Italy Social Center, Quarry St.

Tickets are $10 per person.

According to financial reports filed in the City Clerk's office, Mayor Francis McCauley has a big head start on Condon in the money department.

He has $32,165 left over from previous campaigns and she has only $2,811.

McCauley says he plans spending $50,000 in his bid for a third term about the same amount he spent defeating Daniel Raymond for mayor four years ago.

McCAULEY

SPEAKING of fundraisers, Councilor Patricia Toland has one coming up Tuesday, March 19, 6 to 9 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club. Tickets are $25 per person and may be obtained from Carol Leman or Alicia Gardiner or by calling 328-9382.

CONDON

TOLAND

ELEANOR REIDY, Mayor McCauley's secretary, is in San Diego visiting her son, Brian, a Navy helicopter pilot.

PHIL DINE, the Patriot Ledger writer, is taking some good natured ribbing from Quincy press and political figures who made the trip to Cambridge to attend the hearing on plans for a new sewage facility on Boston Harbor.

Dine, who said he knew the area well, offered directions to assist the bus driver. But the bus, among other things, wound up doing big circles on some side streets, ran into a dead end (with another bus following right behind) and crossing a bridge with a sign on it proclaiming: "No Buses Allowed On Bridge."

But the Quincy delegation got there, got the chance to protest the use of Nut Island as the site for the new sewage facility and got back home safely.

Dine, who is now known around City Hall as "The Great Navigator," pleads innocent.

"Mike Cheney did it," he says.

THE LAST PUBLIC HEARING

Dear Fellow Residents:

For many years, I have been active in local issues. Never have I felt more strongly about an issue than that which confronts us concerning Quincy Bay and sewage treatment. Quincy Bay is dying because of the mismanagement of waste products. For years the Nut Island facility has been incapable of handling both the amounts and types of wastes that it has been forced to handle. Industrial wastes, raw sewage, and processed sludge have killed the benthic life, and have destroyed our city's most important recreational resource.

There is now an effort on the part of both state and federal agencies to site additional sewage treatment facilities in the Quincy Bay. We have one chance to stop them. I implore you to come to this meeting on Thursday, March 7 at 7 p.m. at the Gym in the Quincy Vocational-Technical School and help stop the destruction of our Bay.

Mayor Francis McCauley's appointee to the Water-Sewage Advisory Board

City Council President James Sheets appointed as Chairman
City Environmental Control Commission requesting McCauley to proclaim today: "Save Our Bay Day" in Quincy.

Cheney spent a busy week circulating notices of the hearing—which he called the "last chance to speak out on Nut Island—and urging the people attend."

"It is imperative that there be heavy attendance at this final public hearing," he said. "I cannot emphasize enough how important this single public hearing is to all of us."

The new sewage treatment plant or plants, which would be located on Deer Island or Nut Island or Long Island, would be part of a $2 billion plan to clean up pollution in Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay as demanded in the Quincy law suit.

Quincy residents turned out in droves Feb. 27 for the first of three EPA hearings on the siting, which was held in the "neutral" site of Cambridge. The second hearing was held Feb. 28 in Winthrop, where Deer Island is located.

McCauley told the Cambridge hearing that either or both primary and secondary treatment plants should be sited on Deer Island, which is considerably larger than Nut Island and would have less impact on the environment.

He also objected to an alternative that would locate a plant on Long Island, which would impact the Boston Chronic Disease Hospital and the streets of Squantum with traffic.

Under consideration are three alternatives for siting a primary treatment plant on Deer Island or splitting it between Deer and Nut Islands or Deer and Long Islands.

There are four alternatives for a secondary treatment plant, if it is decided to build one, all on Deer Island or Long Island or split between Deer and Nut Islands or Deer and Long Islands.

Cable TV Subscribers Near 20,000 Mark

By TOM HENSHAW

The number of subscribers to Quincy Cable-systems is expected to hit the 20,000 mark in a month or so and General Manager John King says that's better than expected.

"That's more than 60 per cent of the homes in Quincy," he said. "When we planned the system we aspired to 60 per cent but I didn't think we'd reach it this early."

Quincy Cable-systems, a subsidiary of American Cable-systems, is in its third year of service to the city.

The company's annual report to Mayor Francis X. McCauley says that, as of Dec. 1, 1984, Cable-systems had 19,524 subscribers, up by some 1,000 from the previous year.

"The growth of more than 1,000 subscribers during the year is significant, but more importantly it is further indicated that our business is the delivery of service satisfaction to our customers," said the report.

King said that by the end of January Cable-systems had 19,000 subscribers and "if we could do 5 per cent more we'd be getting close to the maximum."

The annual report noted that four new services were added to the system's offerings during 1984 and three more new channels are planned for 1985.

The new ones, expectable in a couple of months, are the UHF Channels 66 in Marlboro and 64 in Providence, R.I. and Video Hits One, with a music video format aimed at the 25-45 age group.

Last year's additions were the Financial News Network, the Eternal Word Television Network, the New England Sports Network and the locally produced American Channel.

American Channel allows Quincy, Milton and Randolph Cable-systems to exchange programming of mutual interest. The Quincy-produced "Newsmakers" is a frequent offering.

One improvement that is expected to go on line in a month or so is the permanent studio facility in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

"We are now televising City Council meetings and other hearings from a remote van parked outside City hall with wires going through the window," said King.

"We are installing permanent camera hook-ups, permanent lighting and a control booth, which will result in a slicker production."

Cost of the studio facility is $40,000 with the funds contributed by Quincy Cable-systems to the Community Television Council.

King said he is satisfied with the progress being made by community television in which local programming is done by volunteers.

"We get rave reviews from across the state," he said. "Of course, it is largely done by our volunteers. We have terrific sources here in Quincy."

Police Seek $5,000 Salary

Atty. Francis X. Bellotti, in an eloquent plea for a pay raise for Quincy police officers that was described as "masterly," told a hearing of the City Council's Finance Committee that a telegraph delivery boy gets $16.80 in Sunday pay while a policeman gets only $11.09.

A Quincy patrolman's weekly pay of $77.63, he said, should be compared with the following wages: state police, MDC police and registry inspectors $93.50; truck drivers $113; janitors $108; Brink's guards $101; New Haven Railroad police $112.

"I defy anyone to bring forth a more dedicated group of men," he said. "Big job, small job. In order to maintain a proper standard of living, a policeman must receive $5,000 a year."

Current police salaries were captains $5,900, lieutenants $5,250, sergeants $4,600 and patrolmen $4,050. They were seeking $7,250 for captains, $6,500 for lieutenants, $5,600 for sergeants and $5,000 for patrolmen.

George A. Yarrington, executive director of the Quincy Taxpayers Association, pointed out that the city is faced with a tax rate increase of $5 to $9 and asked that any increases be limited to 5 per cent effective July 1.

Later, the City Council approved a record $15,538,748.48 budget for 1987 but left the salary increases for city employees for a supplemental budget.

CENSORSHIP HIT

Mrs. Ida Glasser resigned from the Quincy Literary Review Board and the two other members were considering a similar move after City Manager Edward T. Lewis said he planned to expand the board's duties from comic books to a general cleanup of the city's newsstands.

"We've done an effective job on comic books," said Mrs. Glasser. "We've done all we can. To go any further would be censorship."

Board Chairman the Rev. Peter V. Corea, pastor of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, was out of town but he was quoted by a Boston newspaper as saying he planned to ask repeal of the ordinance that created the board.

TAX PLAN DEFEATED

City Councillor Thomas S. Burgin led the fight that shot down a plan by Councillor James R. McIntyre to use $300,000 of the water reserves as a device to keep down the tax rate. Councillor David S. McIntosh called it "a very unwholesome proposition."

City Council Studies Stiffer Leash Law

The City Council's Ordinance Committee studied the possibility of increasing fines for violation of the city's leash law Monday night but came to no decision.

Councillor James A. Sheets, who asked for the study, told his colleagues that he is "deeply concerned with the city's failure to enforce the leash law."

"There is a substantial problem in Quincy with dogs roaming free," he said. "We have an obligation to enforce the leash law or remove it from the books."

Mrs. Phyllis Berlucchi, acting dog officer in place of her ailing husband, Frank, said right now first violations bring a warning, second $15 and subsequent violations $20.

"The fines are difficult to collect, she said. "We are in court now working on early 1983," she said. "The courts are very busy and they give leash law violations a low priority."

Mrs. Berlucchi said

Randolph fines violators $50 and Weymouth has increased its fine from $20 to $25.

"But," she said, "if we increase the fines high enough people will not retrieve their dogs and the pound will be full."

She said some towns on the North Shore handle leash law violations like a parking fine.

Sheets suggested that the committee ask the city solicitor to look into new ways of paying the fines.

Personal Property Update Funds Passed By Council

The City Council finally passed Monday night an appropriation of $50,000 to enable the assessors to update personal property values in the city.

The order was voted down by a 5-4 vote on Jan. 21 and was brought back to life Feb. 4 when Councillor Stephen J. McGrath moved for reconsideration.

It passed by a 6-2 vote

Monday night with Councillors Joanne Condon and John J. Lydon Jr. still in opposition. Councillor Patricia Toland was absent. Lydon called the personal property tax "an antiquated tax that is unfair to the business community."

Councillors Theodore DeCristofaro and Michael Cheney, who originally opposed the appropriation, said they had changed their minds after talking with the assessors.

Personal property valuations, which include machines, desks, etc., owned by business firms, have not been updated in the city for several years.

Mayor Francis McCauley has said the updating would net the city $8 million in additional valuation.

Outside Help Approved For Assessors' Work

The City Council Monday night approved a $5,000 appropriation for the assessors to hire an outside firm to do listing work for the remainder of the year.

"I hope this is the last time the assessors come before us for outside contractual work," said Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr., who skirmished verbally with the Chief Assessor Elmer Fagerlund on the matter previously.

Assessor Marion Fantuccio assured Koch that this would indeed be the last time.

"Until two years ago," she said, "the assessors did the permit listing work themselves but then we got caught up in revaluation work and we fell behind.

"We have hired an outside firm to expedite the listing. Now we are back in shape and we will do it in the future. This is the last time we'll ask for money for outside help."

The appropriation order passed by a 5-4 vote, with Councillor Joanne Condon, John J. Lydon Jr., Stephen McGrath and James A. Sheets in opposition.

Special Needs Athletic Night To Be Held March 13

More than 75 special needs students will be eager participants in the Fifth Annual Special Needs Athletic Night Wednesday, March 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the North Quincy High School gym.

The younger children will participate in a variety of relay races and team sports. Older students will demonstrate their athletic prowess in polo, polo, hit-pin soccer, and a basketball game.

Overall coordinator Lou Tozzi promises that "everyone will be a winner" in these activities organized by Mary Pratt, adaptive physical educator.

Teachers working with Miss Pratt to prepare the students are Brenda Shore, Christine DeSaulniers, Jane Joyce, James Lynch, Howard Mason, John Burton, Anne Smith, Constance Graham, Dorothea Craig, Gail Nogueira, Ann Foster, Peter Conroy, and Gerard Reed. Jack Raymer will be the announcer.

Throughout the evening, representatives of community agencies that provide services for the handicapped will have information tables in the lobby.

They include Jane Belcher, Children's Developmental Disabilities Center; Att. Robert Quinn, Commission for the Handicapped; Barry Welch, Quincy Youth Soccer; Tim Hassett, Sally and Michele Frost, South Shore

Association for Retarded Citizens; Pamela Maltz, South Shore Mental Health Center; Phyllis Fazio and Kathleen Haran, Early Intervention Program; and Deborah Bowers, The Respite Care Program.

Special Needs Athletic Night is one of the many events and activities planned as part of Special Needs Awareness Month in Quincy.

Purpose of the activities is to highlight the services and programs available to children with special needs and to increase the community's sensitivity to and awareness of persons with special needs.

The public is invited to attend. Admission is free.

Bryant Carter, Jr. To Receive DeMolay Honor

The Rural Masonic Lodge will sponsor the Investiture of the DeMolay Cross of Honor upon Bryant L. Carter, Jr. of Quincy, tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. The investiture is open to the public and will be preceded by dinner at 6:30 p.m. at the Quincy Masonic Temple, 11170 Hancock St.

The DeMolay Cross of Honor is awarded to recognize exceptional, dedicated service as an adult DeMolay leader.

Raymond C. Warmington, 82, Former Norfolk County Treasurer Quincy School Committeeman

A funeral service was held Monday in Harwich for Raymond C. Warmington, 82, a Quincy banker who served as Norfolk County treasurer for 22 years.

He died March 1 at Cape Cod Hospital in Hyannis after a brief illness.

He was born and educated in Quincy and for most of his life lived on Furnace Brook Parkway with his family. He was a graduate of Burdett Business College in Boston.

He began work as a messenger for the Granite Trust Co., now South Shore Bank in 1921 and worked his way up to the position of manager of the bank's Wollaston branch.

In 1950, Mr. Warmington was appointed county treasurer after the death of the incumbent treasurer. He resigned from the bank so he could work full-time for the county, but later served on the boards of several local banks, including the Quincy Savings Bank and the Weymouth Savings Bank.

A Republican, he won election to the treasurer's post in a special election held in November 1950, and was re-elected in 1954, 1960 and 1966. He served as treasurer until 1972, when he retired and moved to Harwichport.

"He was always a gentleman and was one of the finest men I ever knew," said James J. Collins, chairman of the Norfolk County commissioners. "He was very professional and very well regarded. Ray was a Republican in a county that turned Democratic, but he could have been elected again and again because he was so well-liked."

Mr. Warmington also served on the Quincy School Committee from 1945 to 1949 and the Quincy Housing Authority from 1953 to 1965.

He was a senior past master of the Rural Masonic Lodge in Quincy and a past deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Massachusetts. He was a former president of the Quincy Council of Churches, the first lay person to be appointed to the position.

He was former treasurer of the Harwich Athletic Association, a life member of the Harwich Police Association, a member of the Mid-Cape Men's Club and the Christ Church Episcopal in Harwichport.

He is survived by his wife, Marion H. (Stevenson) Warmington and a daughter, Carol Warmington, both of Harwichport.

Burial was in Island Pond Cemetery, Harwich Center.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

"I don't have to do a thing, unless I want to. I don't owe anybody anything. . . . You hear it often, but don't believe it. There is no such thing as individual isolation. All of us must depend on others every day of our lives. If we did not rely on others, we would have no clothes, no shelter, or food, or protection against the elements. Every person has a point of responsibility to others. This holds true from the moment of birth to the moment of death.

If we may be permitted, here is a personal example. Many times we are called at a time of death to make "arrangements" and suddenly realize no instructions were left by the deceased. The family, already under stress and grief-stricken, find it hard to handle the many decisions that have to be made in a short period of time.

These matters can and should be handled properly . . . ahead of time. We can and will give you counsel and guidance at any time, with no obligation and at no cost.

ROGER G. HAMEL, Director

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director.

... cemetery or cremation charge ... monuments or markers ... newspaper death notices and flowers.

Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time.

Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. Call the pre-need specialists of Quincy and the South Shore, Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home at 472-5888. That's 472-5888.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, difference of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to avoid and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

OT Loss But Raiders Heads High

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy hockey team's best season in many years came to a disappointing end last week when the Raiders dropped a double-overtime 4-3 decision to Malden Catholic in the opening round of the state tournament.

But, Coach Kevin Jago and his players can look back on the season with a lot of satisfaction and can be proud of their achievements.

North, blessed with 11 veterans and four excellent transfers (from Quincy, B.C. High, Don Bosco and Abp. Williams), finished with a 14-3-1 record and placed second to Waltham in the strong Suburban League.

The Raiders earned a lot of respect in losing the heartbreaker to Malden Catholic, one of five Catholic Conference teams in the tournament.

"No one ever gave us a chance against Catholic schools, but we proved we could play with them," said Jago. "I hate to use all those old cliches, but you talk about heart, they work and pure physical toughness. The kids really have showed all that. They have earned every thing they have received and have put North Quincy hockey on the map again-today."

North spotted Malden Catholic a 2-0 first period lead but came back to take a 3-2 lead in the third period.

"I've never seen a team as tough as this one," Jago went on. "They really proved themselves. These kids do not know what it means to quit and they have risen to every occasion."

North's Matt Higgins, the league's all-star goalie for two years in a row, finished his high school career with another super performance, having 36 saves, many of them spectacular. The Raider defense killed off a pair of two-man disadvantages and the offense nearly pulled off a great comeback.

Malden Catholic scored in the opening period and made it 2-0 early in the second.

Dave Tapper, a member of one of the league's top-scoring lines, cut the gap to one with a goal at 14:51 of the middle period with Pete Furtado assisting.

The other two members of that line, Rob Reidy and Rich Horrigan, scored in the first 57 seconds of the third period for a 3-2 North lead. Horrigan assisted on Reidy's goal and scored himself unassisted.

But, Malden tied it at 4:24 and the teams battled until 1:37 of the second overtime when Rob Hardy beat Higgins for the winning goal.

"That is one very good hockey team," said Malden coach Jim Molloy. "They never gave up for one second."

The Reidy - Horrigan Tapper line finished the season by scoring 113 points, after scoring 81 a year ago.

Jago faces a big rebuilding year next season as he loses many of his top players. Graduating will be Higgins, forwards Horrigan, Reidy, Tom McGrath, John Reinhardt, Brian Ostiguy, Jerry Layden, Mike Doherty and Frank Coymann, and defenseman Furtado. Dave Cooke, Don Guthro and Joey King.

The big job, of course, will be trying to fill Higgins' shoes.

Paul Hanscom and Sean Dwan played junior varsity this season and show promise. A freshman, Brian Mahoney, who transferred from Abp. Williams and played the last few games for the jayvees, also is a fine prospect. He played this year for Quincy's Bantam team which won the recent Kiwanis International Tournament.

Returning on the forward lines will be Tapper, Dave Fasano, Mark Simonelli, Pat Feeney, and Mike Haynes, and defensemen Greg McGlame, Derek Holt and Bill Connelly.

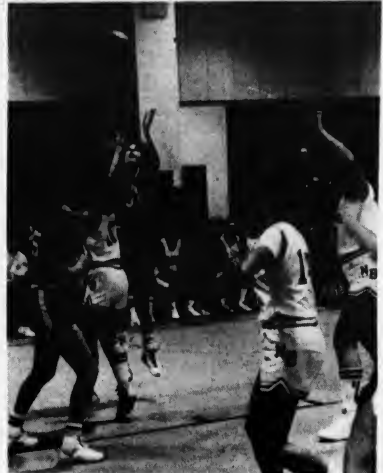

Junior varsity coach Rich Hutchins feels some of his players will come through for the varsity next season.

They include Matty Furtado, Pete's brother; Jay Rodriguez, John Pacino, Matt Ostiguy, Brian's brother; Hanscom, Mahoney and Mike Leonard.

North's other coaches were freshman coach Rick Avery and volunteer assistant Dick Tapper.

North Girls Wind Up Season

The North Quincy girls' track team rang down the curtain on another successful season last week when it finished sixth in the state all-class meet at MIT.

Cambridge Rindge and Latin won the meet with 23 points. Four teams tied for second with 18 and the Raiderettes were sixth with 15½.

Cambridge had won the Suburban League title, ending North's string of championships, but the North girls upset Cambridge to win their fifth state Div. 1 crown in six years.

"This was a close meet with six or seven of us having a chance with 15 to 18 points going into the relay, but Cambridge won the relay and clinched the championship," said North Quincy coach Lou Tozzi.

North's Lisa Fitzgerald finished second and Leanne Fitzgerald sixth in the 600, Tricia Barrett third in the two-mile and Georgia Traficante tied for sixth in the high jump.

Traficante was North's only entry in Sunday's Eastern States meet at Harvard, finishing sixth in the high jump at 5-4.

"The girls did very well this year and with just a couple of breaks could have won the league title again," Tozzi said. "They again showed their great desire and dedication and I am proud of every one of them."

Fitzgerald To Wear Two Big Coaching Hats

By TOM SULLIVAN
Things have been happening fast lately for Tom Fitzgerald.

First, the former North Quincy all-scholastic center and head football coach at Quincy High for five years, was named varsity baseball coach at his Alma Mater.

Shortly after, he was named the new head football coach at Stoughton High.

At North, Fitzgerald succeeds Charlie Bunker, who resigned after 14 years as the Raiders' baseball coach.

At Stoughton he succeeds Jack Cosgrove, who stepped down as football coach after four losing seasons.

Fitzie was one of 14 applicants for the Stoughton position.

He has been a schoolboy coach for more than 30 years and, although most of his time has been spent in football, he coached baseball as well as football in New York state and Detroit.

Tom was an all-scholastic under Jack Donahue at North Quincy. He went on to Boston University, interrupted his college career to go into the service, the returned to BU where he excelled in football for two years.

While in the service he played football for an outstanding team that featured many top college players.

After coaching in New York state and Detroit, during which time he was named coach of the year in Michigan, he returned to North Quincy in 1969 and was a Raider assistant coach for eight years.

He took over the head coaching reins at Quincy in 1978, coached the Presidents for five seasons, going 7-3 in his final season.

Fitzgerald said last fall he stepped down at Quincy because of his health.

"I've solved my problems and feel better now than ever," he said. "If I felt this good then, I wouldn't have resigned as Quincy coach and I would like to be a head coach again, if an opening arises."

For the past two seasons he was assistant backfield coach and offensive coordinator at Weymouth North High.

Tom was offensive coach at North Quincy under Ralph Frazier and Dave Burke and each credited him for their exciting offenses.

Fitzie will stay on as a physical education teacher at Quincy's Sterling Middle School.

"I'm looking forward to both my new jobs," he said. "I hope I can get Stoughton back on the winning path (Cosgrove's record was 6-31-3 and the Black Knights were 1-9 each of the last two years). I'm also looking forward to coaching North Quincy baseball. I haven't coached baseball for a number of years but I always enjoyed it when I did."

"I hope I can continue the winning tradition North has had under Charlie Bunker, who is an excellent baseball man."

Fitzgerald can name his own assistant coaches at Stoughton and said he has some former Quincy players in mind.

Williams Bows To Lawrence In Tech Play

Coach John Bane used his entire 13-man squad but the Archbishop Williams High School basketball team needed more than bodies as they bowed to undefeated Lawrence Central, 60-41, in the quarterfinals of the Tech Tournament at Boston Garden.

The Bishops, who tied for second place in the Catholic Conference and finished the regular season with a 13-5 records, managed to stay close during the first period, largely on the shooting of Dennis Lynch, who led the team's scorers with 12 points.

The victory was a measure of revenge for Lawrence Central which has been eliminated from the tourney by Williams in 1954 after having won both games between the two clubs during the regular season.

The Williams lineup included: D. Lynch, Cutting, Moynihan, Williams, M. Lynch, J. Lynch, forwards; Fleming, Beaton, centers; Chiros, Ketchen, Harries, Richards, Mayor, guards.

BLADES IN FINALS

Norm Wood scored four goals and assisted on two other to lead the Quincy Blades to a 7-2 victory over the North Quincy Hockey Club and a spot against Brockton in the playoff finals of the South Shore Amateur Hockey League.

The Quincy Blades lineup included: Wood, Ford, Sullivan, forwards; Yeadon, MacLeod, defense; Carroll, goal; Wheeler, Kinlan, Salvucci, Curry, J. Belanger, McKee, spares.

The North Quincy lineup included: McDonald, R. Hayes, R. Belanger, forwards; Moran, Hurley, defense; K. Hayes, goal; Gallagher, Paige, Walsh, Chiavaroli, Marcell, Alberti, Poirier, MacKenzie, spares.

CENTRAL ASSURED

Kenny Burgess was high 19 points and John Walsh added 12 as Coach Hank Conroy's Central team assured itself of at least a tie for the Junior High School Basketball League title with a 52-26 romp over Point.

Coach Jack Donahue's North team remained one game behind with one game remaining with a 56-24 trouncing of South as Center Paul LeBrecque turned the contest into a rout with six second period baskets.

KOCHS WIN TWO

Ed Phelan had 26 points, Fran Scanlon 18 and Pete Ramponi 17 as the North Quincy Koch Club basketball team rolled the Stollier AC of Dorchester, 96-66, and Weymouth scored 20 points in the Koch Club's 81-70 win over the Weymouth Alphas. The Kochs ran their record to 8-10.

QTC OBSERVES 70TH

The George E. Pfaffman Memorial Trophy was presented to club champion Tom Raleigh of Weymouth as the Quincy Tennis Club observed its 70th birthday. Karl S. Pfaffman presented the trophy on behalf of his late father, a club leader for two decades.

Durante Fills In, Leads Point To Win

Steve Durante, filling in for the injured Ed McArdle, coached Quincy Point to a 46-42 victory over Central in action in the Quincy Recreation Department Senior Hoop League.

Mike Snow paced the winners with 13 points while teammate Fran Garvey had nine and Jim Rice eight. Central's Larry Taglieri also had 13.

followed closely by Ted McCarthy with 12 and Donald Green nine. Central Coach Brian Buckley also praised the playmaking of Scott Sacherri and the rebounding of Sean Pohl. The Cronins, Mark and Dennis, each played outstanding defense for Point.

In the second game, Jack Kelly kept Beechwood on the winning path with a 20-point victory over Atherton Hough, 59-39. Mike Murphy and Kevin Duffy each had 16 followed closely by Mike Sullivan with 12. Atherton's Fran Donovan had a balanced attack with three players in double figures. Steve Gardner had 12 while Mark Farrano and Steve Austin chipped in 10 each. Colin Power, John Kelly and Steve Murad each contributed to an excellent defense for Beechwood, while Tom Elsmore and Chris Doyle led all rebounders.

The standings: Beechwood Knoll, 4-1; Point, 3-1; Squantum, 3-1; Montclair, 2-1; Merrymount, 1-2; Central, 0-3; Atherton, 0-4.

The Top Ten: Marini, 118.6; Dick Guerriero, 112.4; Saluti, 112.4; Panarelli, 111.3; Faiella, 105.0; Joe Matarazzo, 102.9; Darcy, 102.9; Mike Guerriero, 99.3; Frank Guerriero, 98.9; Lew MacLennon, 98.7.

DiBella On South Squad In Shriners' Game

Al DiBella, North Quincy's outstanding all-scholastic lineman, will play on the South squad in the annual Shriners' schoolboy football classic June 22 at Boston College.

The annual North-South game benefits the Shriners' Burns Institute.

DiBella, called "one of the finest defensive linemen I've ever seen at North Quincy" by Coach Ken Mc-Phee, won the annual Jack Donahue as the best North player in the Quincy game. He was named to the Herald, Globe and Patriot Ledger all-scholastic teams and was a first team Suburban League all-star selection.

He is also a standout wrestler. He won the South Sectional heavyweight title last week and placed third in the State championships.

Keenan Rolls 362 In Koch Men's League

Joe Keenan fired a 362 to lead the "320 Club" bowlers in the Koch Club Men's Bowling League.

Others in the elite group are Bob Woodman Sr., 333; Mike Martinelli, 331; Dave Roy, 328; and Tom Koch, 323.

Keenan with his performance pulled into a first place tie with Martinelli in the league average. Each has 111. Others in the top 10 are Jim Broadbent, 109.7; Mario Scorza, 104.3; Mike Doyle and Steve Mancuso, 104; Tony Monti, 103.7; Russ Melanson and Dave Salvati, 101.7, and Dave Roy, 101.2.

Martinelli owns the best individual three string total of 403 and top solo string of 156.

Martinelli and his teammates have the lead in the standings for the second half with 26 wins and 6 losses followed by Dave Prescott, 22-10; Jim Prescott, 18-14; Joe Keenan, 16-16; Tony Monti, Mike Doyle and Steve Mancuso, identical 12-20 marks, and Larry McGue, the cellar dweller, with 11-21.

Tony Monti and his combine have the best team three string total of 1584 while Dave Prescott has the best team single string of 583.

DiBella Drops N.E. Title Decision

Al DiBella, North Quincy's outstanding heavy-weight wrestler, saw his season come to an end last Friday when he lost a 7-4 decision to Shawn Colbeth of Spaulding, Vt., High in the opening round of the New England championships at Wayland.

DiBella, trailing, 4-2, flipped Colbeth over briefly but was unable to win two points on the reversal and tie the bout.

"I'm only a three-year wrestler," said DiBella, also one of the Raiders' best football players. "Coming into the New Englands themselves is something to be proud of."

DiBella lost only two bouts during the regular season, one a close 7-5 decision to Norwell's Brett Chicko, who was undefeated for the second year in a row and pinned every opponent except DiBella.

DiBella won the South Sectional title and took third place in the state championships, coming back from a first round loss to win his next five bouts.

Raiderette JV's Complete Successful Season

The North Quincy girls' junior varsity basketball team recently completed a successful season, going 13-4 overall, including an 8-4 Suburban League record.

Coach Jim Timmins' Raiderettes were led by junior co-captain Nancy Lyons and sophomore co-capt. Maureen Donovan.

Lyons was the team's "sixth man", coming off the bench to provide spark with her strong defense and outstanding passing. Donovan was the offensive leader, sharing scoring honors with sophomore Anne McGuigan. Both averaged just over 10 points a game. McGuigan also led the team in rebounding.

"Whenever we needed a big hoop, we always went to Anne or Maureen," said Timmins. "They never let us down."

The defensive leaders were sophomores Nancy Leonard, Marybeth Maloney and Tricia Koski. Leonard and Maloney were the best guards in the league, according to Timmins. "Nancy always covered the other team's best player and only once did anyone score more than 10 points against her," he said.

Maloney, also a talented defensive player, was the leader of the fast break. Koski always covered the opponents' best forward, proving strong rebounding and added scoring punch as well. "We held our opponents to just over 30 points a game," said Timmins, "and these three were the big reasons."

Coming off the bench were sophomores Lisa Mitton and Ann Anderlionis. Mitton led the team in steals, along with Maloney, and was also a strong rebounder.

"Lisa was unquestionably the most improved player on the team," Timmins said. "She worked hard all year, and it really showed on the court." Anderlionis is an excellent shooter and ball handler, whose offensive skills added spark to the Raiderettes' offense.

Rounding out the squad were two newcomers to the program, junior Julie Abouzeid and sophomore Maureen Tolson. Coming out for basketball for the first time, both players improved steadily over the course of the season. Tolson was a strong defensive player and a good foul shooter.

"Maureen improved so much that at the end of the season I was using her when the game was on the line," the coach said. Abouzeid was a good shooter and a very aggressive player, who also saw her playing time increase as the year progressed.

"This was a great group of girls to work with," Timmins said. "They played hard all year, and really dedicated themselves to winning. We won our last six games, which is a real indication of how well our season came together. We won, we had fun, and you can't ask for more than that."

Varsity coach Paul Bregoli, who loses some outstanding players from this year's squad, which missed qualifying for the Eastern Mass. Tournament by one win, feels several of the jayvee players will help next year's varsity squad.

ANNE McCARRON of Quincy is a key member of the Plymouth State College women's basketball team. The 5-9 senior backup forwards leads the Panthers in free throw percentage. She transferred from New England College in 1982 and is averaging 4.7 points a game. She is a graduate of Quincy High where she excelled.

Umpires Clinic Starts

The South Shore Umpires Association will conduct a baseball rules clinic for anyone over 18 years of age interested in umpiring.

All meetings will be held at the Eagles Hall on Route 53, Weymouth, starting at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 6, 13, 20 and 27.

The statewide umpires exam will be held Wednesday, April 3, at 7 p.m.

The clinic is free of charge and further information can be had by calling Bob McGrady at 471-7746, George Dunn at 471-2966 or Pete Williams at 328-0743.

Koch Basketball Awards Night March 28

The Koch Club of Quincy will close out its 36th season of basketball activities on Thursday, March 28, at the Atlantic Middle School gymnasium with the 7 through 9 year olds program starting at 6 p.m. and the 10 to 12 year olds meeting at 7:15 p.m.

Over 80 participants will be recognized at the Awards and Parents Night when each will receive a trophy for the attendance and reliability demonstrated on behalf of their league and team.

Parents are invited to attend the ceremonies and observe the Achievement Award Presentations.

The Koch Club basketball recreational program was founded in 1949 at the original North Quincy High School gymnasium and during its 36 years has conducted programs at the Houghs Neck, Broad Meadows and Montclair Districts of the city with thousands of boys and girls participating in the Koch Club Basketball Leagues where the emphasis was enjoyment and competition has always been secondary.

Following the presentations, ice cream will be distributed to those in attendance.

Miss Simone J. Koch has directed the basketball league Thursday Night five-month winter program for the past three years and has been assisted by Robert Woods, treasurer; Edward Leary, Tom Bowes, Tim Healy, Mike Bowes, David Barnes, George Woodman, Joe Nelson and Bob Austin.

Water Safety Course Registration Starts

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, announces that the Quincy Recreation Department will sponsor an American Red Cross Water Safety Instructor's Course.

The course is designed to provide individuals with the skills necessary to teach American Red Cross swimming programs to the public.

The course is open to individuals who are at least 17 years of age and hold a current advanced life saving certificate. Although phone reservations will be accepted, all persons must pass a qualifying swim test before formal acceptance into the course.

The course begins Tuesday, March 19 and will continue Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m. The training lasts approximately nine weeks and will be conducted at the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool.

Registration can be made by phone or in person at the Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, starting March 7. Quincy residents will be given first preference, followed by persons who live in communities served by the South Shore Chapter of the American Red Cross. These communities include Quincy, Weymouth, Randolph, Braintree, Hingham, Hull, Milton, Norwell, Scituate, and Cohasset.

Registration is limited and will be done on a first-come-first-serve basis.

There is a fee for this program. For more information call Barry Welch at 773-1380 ext. 204.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Hayes Steers B.C. High To Tourney Semi-Finals

Quincy's Bob Hayes, in his first year as Boston College High hockey coach, not only led the Eagles into the state tournament for the first time in 17 years, but they have advanced to the Div. 1 South semifinals.

B.C. High, which defeated Silver Lake, 5-1, and top-seeded Waltham, 7-2, will face Malden Catholic, Saturday morning at 10 a.m. at Northeastern's Matthews Arena. Malden edged North Quincy, 4-3, in double overtime in the first round.

Hayes was one of the organizers of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association and coached for several years in the league. He is currently playing in the Youth Arena's Senior League.

Softball Clinics Begin

The Metro Boston Amateur Softball Association, will hold its annual umpire and rules clinics beginning in March.

These clinics are designed to familiarize all players, coaches, and umpires with the rules.

Each clinic is a three-night session and is offered at no charge to anyone interested in softball. All persons interested in taking the ASA umpires exam for certification are required to attend.

One of the clinics will be held at Our Lady of Good Counsel Hall, Sea St., Quincy, on March 5 and 6 with the test being held March 12 at 7 p.m.

Pre-registration is not required. Anyone wishing additional information should call the Metro Boston ASA office at 665-9745.

Plymouth Lands On Pee Wee B's Twice

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, hopes it won't have to face Plymouth again for a while.

Quincy was eliminated by Plymouth in the Valentine Tournament at Randolph, losing twice to them, and was also ousted by Plymouth in the Wattuapa Invitational Tournament.

In the Randolph tournament Plymouth edged Quincy, 3-2, in the opening game after Quincy had taken a 2-0 lead on goals by Jeff Freeman and Billy Lydon. Sal Manganaro had two assists and Lydon one. Quincy was then blanked through the next two periods as Plymouth scored three unanswered goals.

Quincy came back to wallop host Randolph, 12-1, as Greg Hohmann scored four goals and Mark Kelleher had a hat trick. Manganaro two goals and John Witham, Freeman and Lydon one each. Freeman had four assists, Kelleher three, Lydon two, Danny Savage two and Witham, Hohmann, Manganaro, Bobby Scott, Matt Swierk and David Melynn one each.

Quincy then faced Plymouth again and lost, 6-4, with Freeman having two goals and Lydon and Jeremy Burm one each. Lydon and Manganaro had two assists apiece and Hohmann, Swierk and Kelleher one each.

Medford edged Plymouth, 6-5, for the tournament championship.

In the Wattuapa Tournament Plymouth again ousted Quincy, 3-2, after Quincy had held a 2-1 edge midway through the third period.

Lydon and Freeman scored the goals with Manganaro assisting on each.

Quincy earlier defeated Cranston, R.I., 10-1, led by Manganaro's four goals. Kelleher had two and Keilly Morris, Savage, Witham and Lydon one each. Freeman and Morris each had four assists, Kelleher two and Duane Keegan, Scott, Burm, Hohmann and Manganaro one each.

Quincy then topped Cape Cod, 4-1, with Hohmann scoring unassisted, Scott scoring from Witham, Manganaro scoring from Freeman and Lydon scoring from Manganaro.

In a Greater Boston League game Quincy and Norwood played to a scoreless tie. Richie Brooks saved a sure Norwood goal by stopping a shot that had eluded goalie John Bertrand.

In a non-league game Quincy walloped Billerica, 8-0, as Manganaro had a hat trick, Savage two goals and Witham, Burm and Kelleher one each. Hohmann had three assists, Kelleher and Scott two apiece and Lydon, Savage, Burm and Witham one each.

The Pee Wee B's will play in the state championships at Billerica Friday through Sunday.

Runge, Choukas Shine, But Bridgewater Bows

Despite outstanding performances from sophomores Joanne Runge and Chris Choukas of North Quincy, the Cinderella season of the Bridgewater State College women's basketball team came to an end Saturday night when it was upset by Salem State, 63-59, in the NCAA Division 3 Northeast Regional championship game.

Bridgewater had twice defeated Salem during the regular season and took a 27-game win streak into the game. The Lady Bears were third-ranked in New England and fourth in the nation in Div. 3.

Runge led Bridgewater to an early 10-5 lead and Choukas spearheaded a Bears' run later and Bridgewater held a 30-26 lead at halftime.

Bridgewater still led, 51-46, with six minutes left and had a three-point lead with 2:20 left. But Salem's Evelyn Oquendo, who had 27 points, 15 in the second half, came through with some last minute points to clinch it for the Vikings.

Bridgewater had made the finals with an 80-59 win over Rhode Island College in the semifinal game.

Runge, who set a school record for assists this season, added seven in this game, while contributing eight points.

Squirt C's Bow

Quincy's Squirt C team, sponsored by Granite City Electric Supply, advanced to the finals of the recent Valentine Tournament in Randolph before bowing to the Green Machine from Long Island, N.Y., 8-2.

Brian Connolly scored both Quincy goals and Joe Carinci and Steve Miller had assists.

In their first game the Squirt C's defeated Canton, 5-1, with Matt O'Toole scoring two goals and Mike DesRoche, Danny Grant and Connolly one each. Mark Gilmore, Carinci and Dave Manning had two assists apiece and Jim Cipriano and O'Toole one each.

Quincy then topped

Whitman-Hanson, 5-0, as John Lewis scored twice and Robby Guarnieri, Grant and Carinci one each. Guarnieri had two assists and O'Toole one.

Steve DesRoche was outstanding in goal throughout the tournament and the defense played well.

The team rolled over the Seahawks' B team, 10-0, with O'Toole having two goals and two assists.

Connolly, Peter Nee, Lewis, Carinci, Cipriano, Gilmore, Gladu and Mike DesRoche had a goal each. Cipriano, Miller, Carinci and Paul Rogan had assists. David Edwards, Manning and Grant played excellent two-way hockey and DesRoche had many outstanding saves.

INVESTING IN LAND

QUESTION: What is the key to a good land investment?

ANSWER: One of the nice things about investing in land is that it rarely presents management problems. However, since it will produce no income, it should be bought only if you are financially able to carry the debt. If you prefer to pay taxes on a long-term capital gain, rather than ordinary income, then land can be an attractive investment.

The key to a good land investment is predicting land needs of the future. Here is where the experience of a good, local Realtor comes in. He has intimate knowledge of community needs, and can forecast the best areas for growth potential.

Scholarship Pageant Seeks Quincy Contestants

Entries are now being accepted from women of Quincy for the 1985 Miss Norfolk County - Tri County Scholarship Pageant, an official local preliminary to the Miss Massachusetts and Miss America Scholarship Pageants.

Any single woman between the ages of 18-26, who is a high school senior or graduate and who resides, works or attends school in Quincy or a surrounding Norfolk County city or town is eligible to compete for the 1985 title. The current Miss Norfolk County Donna Mollo of Franklin was third runner-up in the 1984 state pageant finals. There is no entry or sponsorship fee.

Additional entry and pageant information may be obtained by writing to Ed Howe, 696 Tremont St. No. 5, Boston, Mass 02118 or by calling 593-9454 or 569-0459.

Judging will be based on four areas, a personal interview, a talent presentation, swimsuit and evening gown modeling.

In addition to receiving a cash college scholarship the new Miss Norfolk County will be eligible to represent the area in the 1985 Miss Massachusetts Scholarship Pageant finals to be held in June in New Bedford. The winner will represent Massachusetts in the nationally televised Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J.

The reigning Miss Massachusetts, Margaret Marie O'Brien of Weymouth was one of 10 semifinalists in the 1984 Miss America Pageant. She was also selected as a prestigious preliminary talent award winner.

Year 1984 News Highlights On Sun Ch. 8 Friday

The highly acclaimed "1984: A Year That Changed Quincy" will be repeated on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 Friday night at 8 p.m.

The two-hour special, originally shown in January, highlights the top news stories in Quincy during 1984.

It will be shown Friday immediately following the 7:30 p.m. Sun Ch. 8 Video News Report.

Highlights of the program include:

Mayor Francis McCauley's second term inaugural, the deaths of former Mayor-Senator James McIntyre, Marine Sgt. Edward Gargano and former School Committee member John Sullivan, former Mayor Thomas Burgin recalling President Roosevelt's visit to Quincy, reconstruction of the Southeast Expressway.

"The Battle of the Budget," Archbishop Bernard

Law's visit to Sacred Heart Church, the Miss Quincy Bay Pageant, "Summerfest," the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon, the retirement of School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, Ruth Gordon Day, the Ward 1 special election, visits to Quincy by Marvin Hagler and Senator Edward Kennedy, the Fourth of July celebration, the Christmas Parade and other events of interest for viewers to look back on.

Dukakis Among Guests On Newsmakers

Governor Michael Dukakis is among the guests who will be appearing on Newsmakers, the weekly public affairs program aired Thursdays and Sundays at 8:30 p.m. on Quincy Community Television Ch. 3.

Ruby Pearl, Newsmakers producer said scheduled guests for the next several weeks are:

March 7, Quincy Police Chief Francis X. Finn; March 14, Rep. Robert Cerasoli; March 21, Jay

Carr, Boston Globe; March 28, Gov. Dukakis.

April 4, Alex Rodrigues, Chairman of Mass Commission Against Discrimination; and Peter O'Connell, President, South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

The guests are questioned by a news panel consisting of Herb Fontaine, WJDA; Phil Dine, Patriot Ledger, and John Noonan, Quincy Sun.

News highlights of the Newsmakers programs are also presented on Quincy

AMNESTY DECLARED!

THEFT OF CABLE IS AGAINST MASSACHUSETTS STATE LAW. We at Quincy Cablesystems have become increasingly concerned that a growing number of customers have altered their converter box(s) in order to receive premium services they are not paying for. New technological devices are now available to us that make detection of theft possible without entering the home and the evidence is admissible in a court of law.

Some of you might not have realized the seriousness of this crime and in an effort to eliminate cable theft and prosecution of violators, we are declaring a fair amnesty period during the month of March.

If you are receiving unauthorized cable service or suspect that your converter box has been altered in any way, bring it in to our office (81 School St., Quincy) and we will exchange that converter to receive whatever level of service you want to pay for — NO QUESTIONS ASKED!

After April 1st, you may be subject to prosecution under the law, so we urge you to act now. If you have any questions, please call 471-9143.

WE ALL KNOW STEALING IS A CRIME.

WHAT MAKES STEALING CABLE SERVICES ANY DIFFERENT? NOTHING.

March is Amnesty Month at Quincy Cablesystems

WEEK OF: MARCH 7.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
You may find yourself in elegant surroundings this weekend. Prepare for some overtime at work, followed by added responsibility. Loved one challenges your instinct and logic.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Stay informed of current events; this can give you the edge in an upcoming competition. Romantic intuition is sharp. Real estate transactions are presently spotlighted.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
You see where a new relationship is headed, and may determine the degree of commitment you wish to make. Loved one's success has a lovely benefit for you too.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
This is a week in which you're both highly mobile and highly visible. Local travel is featured on weekdays, while through the weekend you bask in the limelight.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
If traveling, you may make some special discoveries. You can communicate most of your ideas through a new medium, but romance calls for a tried and true approach.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
New friendship can be launched, with long-lasting results. Colleague has a habit of changing his or her mind, to your frustration. Decisions have a habit of reversing themselves.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Habit can be broken and new directions forged during this optimistic, upbeat week. Travel ideas may begin to take shape. Healthwise, commonsense is all-important.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
It's easier to start jobs than to complete them, but devote needed time to the finishing touches. Financial favor is returned after the weekend. Romantic surprise is happier than expected.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Salesmanship is your present strong point -- you can promote your ideas with bright results. Sort out your priorities after the weekend. Romantic slump is strictly temporary.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Platonic friendship is highlighted. Week favors honest discussions of financial situation. If family tensions are brewing, it's wise to keep a very low profile.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
It's easy to bend rules, particularly at the workplace, but following procedures is all-important. Exercise and recreation can brighten your outlook. Family appreciates your independence.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Long-distance news arrives unexpectedly -- the message should be read between the lines. Friction with colleague begins to smooth. You excel now in contests involving your verbal skills.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
The planet of love and art and beauty is strong in your sign, and the next eight months highlight the romantic side of your life. You tend sometimes to live in a fantasy world. A more realistic approach can lead to career advances by October.

BORN THIS WEEK
March 7th, composer Maurice Ravel; 8th, dancer Cyd Charisse; 9th, comic Marty Ingels; 10th, actress Pamela Mason; 11th, bandleader Lawrence Welk; 12th, actress Lisa Minelli; 13th, songwriter Neil Sedaka.

City Seeks Counsel For Duane Bankruptcy

The McCauley administration has asked for $10,000 to hire outside counsel to handle the city's interest in bankruptcy proceedings involving the Duane Wrecking Co.

The company owes the city some $850,000 in back taxes dating to 1976.

"Practice before the bankruptcy court is a highly specialized field with a limited number of practitioners," said Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie.

"It is my belief that contracting with such a specialist will maximize the amount ultimately collected by the city."

Another hearing in the bankruptcy case is scheduled to be held with the United States Trustee on April 1.

The Council sent the request to the Finance Committee.

Professional Bartenders For One-Day Liquor License Events?

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy License Board is investigating the possibility of requiring that professional bartenders be employed at events for which one day liquor licenses have been issued.

Police Chief Francis Finn will study the matter, then make a recommendation to the License Board which may be forwarded to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission.

The Board, and especially Finn, has frequently advised applicants for one day all alcoholic and wine and malt beverage licenses of the responsibility of the license holder.

Finn has said that liability could be traced to the license holder if, for example, someone attending the event is served to intoxication then gets into a car and has an accident.

He has recommended to applicants that professional bartenders be hired.

In response to an inquiry, Assistant City Solicitor

Donald W. Hansen told the board that it has authority to impose "reasonable requirements" with respect to the conduction of business by any licensee.

"The board must therefore determine whether such a 'professional bartender' requirement is reasonable," stated Hansen.

"In deliberating this point, the board should consider the fact that no licensing mechanism exists for bartenders and that there is no accepted definition of 'professional bartender.'"

"Further, the board should consider the practical aspects of regulating and enforcing such a proposed requirement," said Hansen.

$15,676 Needed For Tax Transactions

The City Council Monday night sent to the Finance Committee a request by the city treasurer for $15,676 for the posting of real, personal property, water lien and interest transactions for the second half of fiscal 1985.

Treasurer Franklin Jay told the Council the request is needed "so that the records will be posted current and up to date when in-house data processing takes over on July 1."

McCauley Seeks Borrowing

$75 Million QCH Expansion Bond Going To Council

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will send a home rule petition to the City Council Monday, March 18, asking the State Legislature for permission to borrow up to $75 million to build a new and expanded Quincy City Hospital.

McCauley conceded that there are still some problems with the hospital's neighbors over the siting of the new hospital on the west end of the grounds but he added, "I'm confident that we can get together before construction starts."

"But we can't wait to get this thing started," he said. "I hope that ground can be broken in the late summer or early fall and that differences will be resolved by then."

The Mayor said he expects the new construction work will come in at about $60 million, but the $75 million bonding limit will give flexibility. "It does not give a blank check to the hospital," he said.

The bonds would mature in 40 years and be secured by a mortgage on the real and personal property at the hospital, or they may be secured in whole or in part by bond insurance. The hospital may also pledge revenues as security.

"We will try to structure this as a revenue bond so that it will not have to show up on the city's credit statement," he said, and the bonds will not be included in the city's debt limitations.

McCauley said the hospital has made some progress in reaching agreement with its neighbors.

"Several major concessions have been made," he said. "The hospital has agreed to drop one floor from the plan and the siting of the psychiatric wing has been changed."

"The hospital authorities are on notice that the work must be done expeditiously with the least possible impact on the neighborhood.

"There are always some inconveniences but we will work hard to keep them at a minimum."

McCauley said Hospital Corp. of America has done a good job since taking over management of the hospital in January, 1981. It is on the last year of a five year contract.

As a professional management firm, he said, HCA has attracted a lot of new young doctors and hospital revenues have been good, netting a profit of $742,945 in fiscal 1984, money which is put back into the hospital.

Political patronage has been eliminated, too, said the Mayor. He said people have asked him for jobs at the hospital and he has sent the names to HCA without recommendation.

McCauley Signs Condon GD Petition

Mayor Francis X. McCauley signed a home rule petition Tuesday asking the State Legislature for an interest free loan of $17,715,999 with which to satisfy a tax abatement judgement won by the General Dynamics shipyard.

The order for the home rule petition was filed in the City Council by Councillor Joanne Condon, who will be McCauley's chief if not only opponent when he seeks a third term as mayor in the fall.

"It is a good proposal no matter who made it," said the Mayor. "We have everything to gain and nothing to lose. If the petition passes, it will save the city money; if it doesn't, we are no worse off than now."

The city is now paying off its debt to General Dynamics with a $28 million bond issue, settled at a rate of $2.8 million a year for 10 years. The city would pay back the state at a rate of $1.7 million a year.

McCauley said his administration considered a state loan a few years ago when the bond agreement was in the works but "we did not get much encouragement, it was such a lot of money."

Since that time, he said, he has been informed by Sen. Paul D. Harold that the Legislature has set a new policy of helping cities and towns that have gotten themselves in trouble with judgements.

There have been at least four cases, he said, where the state has bailed out Everett, Taunton, Medford and Revere.

The Revere case, in which the city was judged to have overassessed Wonderland dog track and had to repay $2 million, closely approximates Quincy's dilemma, he said.

"I'm not sure what kind of a reception our petition will get," said McCauley. "I will talk to Sen. Harold and our representatives about it."

Hurt In Car Collision

A 67-year-old Houghs Neck man was injured Monday when he was in collision with a car while riding his bicycle on Sea St. in Merrymount.

Norman Munn of 101 Manet Ave. was treated and released from Quincy City Hospital.

Police said the driver of the car, John D. Pokecki, 38, of 28 Empire St., Adams Shore, told them he was making a turn into the Getty station when the bike came out from behind a stopped MBTA bus.

No Sewer Charge Plans, Says Mayor

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he has no plans to burden Quincy home owners and small businessmen with a sewer user charge even in the face of projected major increases in sewer and water rates by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

Not in the coming fiscal year, anyway. "I want at all costs to keep the present ad valorem system because it is good for the homeowners," he said Tuesday. "We plan to hold the line in fiscal 1986 and monitor the sewer costs to see what happens down the line."

Residential and small business taxpayers in Quincy are charged for sewer and water on their real estate tax bills while major industries that use a lot of water are charged a user fee based on the amount of water.

"We are in a situation now where we have water bills but there is no sewer user fee except for big industrial users," said McCauley.

"Right now we have no plans to raise water rates. We did that in July as a means of encouraging conservation. We have no plans now for a sewer user fee."

It was disclosed Tuesday morning that the finance committee of the newly formed Water Resources Authority is entertaining plans for large rate hikes to communities to make up for a $20 million operating shortfall.

Board Recommends That Bartenders Be Licensed

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy License Board voted unanimously Tuesday to recommend that licensing of bartenders be mandated by the Commonwealth either legislatively or through the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission.

A letter, prepared by Police Chief Francis Finn, which states the board's feelings on the matter was to be sent to the ABCC.

The letter states that bartenders "are serving the public alcoholic beverages and their responsibility for public safety, both of their patron and those who might come in contact with their patron, is great."

"There are numerous examples of life and limb costing abuses caused by over indulgence of people being served from licensed establishments."

"Bartenders should be qualified through training, both academically and through work experience. "Standards of training should be established by the ABCC and monitored both locally and by the state."

"A system of suspension and revocation of the bartender's license by abusers and non-competents should be established."

The board, and especially Finn, has frequently advised applicants for one day all alcoholic and wine and malt beverage licenses of the responsibility of the license holder.

Wollaston Man Hurt In Accident

A 33-year-old Wollaston man was in stable condition at Quincy City Hospital Tuesday following an accident in which his car hit two poles and a store in Quincy Point.

George L. McKinnon of 80 Prospect Ave. was in the progressive care unit.

Police said McKinnon's car was going south on Washington St. early Sunday when it apparently went out of control, went across the road and struck a telephone pole, a traffic signal pole and the Sidney Charles Hair Salon building at 386 Washington St.

McKinnon had to be extricated from the car by firefighters.

Whole Body Cat Scan Operational At Hospital

A new state-of-the-art CT Scanner, designed to scan the entire body to detect a broad range of diseases and injuries, has become operational at Quincy City Hospital.

The new equipment, commonly called a "Cat Scan," was displayed last week to the public at an open house.

The new CT scanner means a patient will be exposed to less radiation, doctors will have more accurate images for diagnosis and more difficult examinations can be made.

Dr. Donald Tracey of the Radiology Department said the scanner's speed at capturing images will enable pictures to be taken of a squirming child or an uncooperative adult.

The average time is two seconds, sometimes one, he said, whereas when the Cat Scan was first introduced in 1976 it took about 5 minutes.

"This CT Scanner has more detectors and gives you superior resolutions," said Tracey. "And the more detectors you have the less radiation the patient will receive from the scanning. "It is extremely important in evaluating people with cancer. The scanner may save a patient exploratory surgery in the abdomen, chest and head looking for tumors.

"It's extremely reliable and the computer retains the image which can be later recalled.

Tracey said the computer is able to enhance the image to highlight specific problems and conventional X-rays can be made from the computerized images.

"No scanner but this type will show these tiny nerve roots," said Tracey, indicating a spinal disc and nerve canal on a computerized image.

"One of the nice things about this scanner is that you may be looking for one thing and can possibly find something else nobody expected to find.

"This is very important in the early detection of problems."

The computer has two disc storage units, enabling hundreds of patients' records to be kept on magnetic tape.

The whole body scanner is the only one of its kind in a South Shore hospital.

Board Changes Dates Of Elks Suspension

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy License Board voted Tuesday to change the dates of the suspension of the Quincy Lodge of Elks liquor license from seven days in a row to seven consecutive Mondays.

The lodge's alcoholic club license will be suspended Mondays, from March 18 to April 29, rather than March 18 to 24, as was voted last week by the board.

The Elks requested the change in dates because its members have already been notified of the lodge's installation March 23, and the hall has been rented for a function March 24.

City Clerk John Gillis, board chairman, suggested the suspension take place on consecutive Mondays.

The board voted last August to suspend the lodge's license for failure to cooperate with police officers in the performance of their duty.

The lodge appealed the suspension to the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission, which recently upheld the local board's action.

Police Chief Francis Finn, who made the motion to change the suspension dates, said that the point has been made that no officer is to be interfered with in the performance of his or her duties.

Finn said that the week-long suspension would penalize anyone who had rented the hall for a function such as a wedding.

He and Fire Chief Edward Barry noted the contributions of the Elks lodge to the city.

The Elks lodge has been located since last April at the abandoned Myles Standish School, 440 East Squantum St., where it moved from 1220 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Gillis said that, to his memory, this is the first time since he has been board chairman that a license holder has asked for and received a change in the dates of suspension.

Cheney: Sewer Plant Siting Long Way Off

Some 1,500 people jammed the Vocational Technical School gym last week for the final environmental hearing on the siting of new sewage treatment facilities on Boston Harbor.

But City Councillor Michael Cheney said the final decision is still a long way off.

"There will be no decision by the Water Resources Authority possibly for two months," he said.

"And whatever the decision is it will undoubtedly end up in court.

"Quincy would sue if there is any treatment plant located on Nut Island.

"Quincy and Boston would sue if it is placed on Long Island.

"Winthrop already has promised to sue if it is sited on Deer Island.

"And there is a foundation that plans to sue if the secondary treatment plant is waived.

"Whatever happens it will be a long time before the plant is built."

Cheney said he feels that the plethora of expected law suits is a good thing.

"It will place the responsibility for the siting up to the courts," he said, noting that it was not until the courts got involved that a start was made on cleaning up the Harbor and Quincy Bay.

The Water Resources Authority, which takes over the operations of the MDC's Water and Sewer Divisions July 1 plans to spend $2 billion in 10 years on updating the MDC's old inadequate facilities.

Two Applicants For Health Commissioner

The Mayor's office has received four applications for the post of City Public Health Commissioner to succeed the late Dr. M. Grace Hussey.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he plans to interview two of the applicants, one from Quincy, the other from outside, and he will make a decision after the first of April.

One of the four applicants did not meet the qualifications for the job, McCauley said. Another did not want to give up a private practice; and the two remaining are well qualified.

Qualifications for the post are strick and narrow.

The applicant must be a medical doctor willing to devote full time to the commissioner's job and have a degree in public health and two years experience or four years experience without a degree.

"It's very restrictive," said the Mayor. "And it only pays $40,000, which is not much when you consider what a doctor can make in private practice."

He said he might go the City Council to raise the commissioner's pay if a qualified person cannot be found.

Commends Hospital Staff But Says Equipment Needs Updating

Recently I returned home from my first major surgery, unexpected complications, and a 21-day stay at Quincy City on "Surgical Four." I would like to take this opportunity to share some of my feelings and also express some opinions.

First, I had the best surgeon, after which comes the most crucial part—Care After Surgery. Well, I received, without a doubt, the most competent, courteous and efficient care.

The nurses saw me through some hectic times, with smiles, reassurances and were always there to calm my doubts and fears by giving me honest answers to questions I would ask. I could not want for more and I thank each one with a very grateful heart. I, too, would like to include in my thanks: my family, clergy, friends and dear husband.

Now, for a few of my observations and opinions: The whole Surgical Four staff works short of help, under very hectic demands, at times, and with beds, gerry-chairs, etc. so antiquated, it is a sin. I think one bed is the same bed my mother was in over 30 years ago. I autographed it then and I swear I can see my initials.

Can you imagine in 1985—talking about building a new wing! I surveyed each room on S-4 and to my utter astonishment I was lucky to see maybe one electric bed per room. Did it ever occur to those in charge that ones only source of movement for days is the ability to put a bed up or down. This is very important to ones getting well. I felt confined, but at the same time, not independent, but at the same time not. But the necessity of not feeling totally helpless is a must in recuperating and being able to do just this without bothering an already busy nursing staff is a rewarding feeling to the patient.

Quincy City Hospital is lucky—you have a most efficient staff of people on S-4, working together so smoothly and efficiently to help the ill—Please do something about updating the equipment and forget the new wing until you straighten out a few of the so-called old wings. What good is a new wing when the old wings are not up to par?

A new wing, neglected, will soon become an old wing eventually, and so the circle goes unless Hospital Corporation of America does something about it—now.

Quinn Decides Not To Run

Well, you can officially scratch former City Councillor John Quinn from this year's mayoral race.

Quinn, the city's political longevity champ, gave it considerable thought but has decided not to run.

"I'm not free to give it an all out effort," he says.

He's a Blue Cross-Blue Shield executive.

Quinn served 24 consecutive years in the City Council between 1957 and 1981 when he lost his final re-election bid.

No one has served as long in an elective office in Quincy's history.

Although he has removed himself from this year's race, Quinn is leaving the door open for a possible future run.

"Maybe two years from now I'll look at it again," he says.

Two years from now he will be on the verge of retirement from Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

QUINN

EVERY CITY ELECTION year you can count on someone referring to that big "Italian vote bloc" in Quincy.

Observers have long contended that a candidate with an Italian name can be pretty sure of getting most of the votes from this bloc.

But is it a political fact or myth?

The Sun's Tom Henshaw, who does a lot of research for his "Quincy's Yesterdays" column comes up with the fact that there actually has been only eight city councillors of Italian descent elected in Quincy. The eight and there first year elected:

Angelo Bizzozero (1921), Aldo Della Chiesa (1936), Amelio Della Chiesa (1944), William Papilo (1948), Joseph LaRaia (1960), Albert Barilario (1968), Daniel Raymondi (1976) and Ted DeCristofaro (1982).

And, of course, there have been only two mayor of Italian descent—Amelio Della Chiesa and LaRaia.

It adds up to two mayors and eight councillors of Italian extraction since Quincy became a city 97 years ago.

It would seem that the so-called "Italian bloc" votes the candidate rather than the name much more often than observers think.

Harold Bill Would Turn Quarries Over To MDC

The Legislative Committee on Housing and Urban Development has given a favorable report to a bill sponsored by Sen. Paul D. Harold to permit the MDC to acquire the West Quincy quarries for inclusion in the Blue Hills Reservation.

The legislation was endorsed by the Friends of the Blue Hills, Appalachian Mountain Club and the Quincy Conservation Commission and Planning Board.

Since the legislation was filed, the MDC has taken steps to acquire the quarry properties, but Harold asked for favorable action to assure that the MDC follows through with the acquisition, and to provide a vehicle for additional funding if necessary.

QUINCY Atty. George Burke and his wife, Sandra, were among some 30 couples who were guests of Abp. Bernard Law at a dinner at the latter's Brighton residence the other night.

Also a guest was Tomas Cardinal O'Faich, Archbishop of Armagh and prelate of all Ireland who came to Boston to announce the formation of a special education fund to promote reconciliation among religious traditions in Ireland and to raise funds to finish the library at St. Patrick's College in Maynooth, Ireland.

Cardinal O'Faich captivated those attending by singing Irish songs to them.

Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn and his wife were also among the guests.

Flynn has a long memory. He reminded Burke that he outscored him 44 points to 41 in the final basketball game they played against one another.

Burke played for the Koch Club of Quincy and Flynn for the South Boston Boys Club—25 years ago!

A Little Sunshine In Youngsters Lives For Terminally Ill Elk's Rainbow Foundation Makes Dreams Come True

By NANCY
McLAUGHLIN

With a little luck, most people will have 70 to 80 years to pursue their interests, ambitions and dreams.

But youngsters stricken with terminal illnesses don't have that luxury of time.

So a local organization is getting involved and making some dreams come true for such youngsters.

The Quincy Lodge of Elks, active in many charitable endeavors, is reaching out to terminally ill youngsters through its Rainbow Foundation.

The foundation was established in the fall of 1982 after lodge members heard of the untimely deaths of terminally ill children in the community.

Members asked what they could do to bring a little sunshine into the lives of these children and the foundation was born.

Its motto is "A wish granted, a dream come true, a promise kept."

"There's no greater tragedy in the world than the loss of a child," said Tom Walsh, exalted ruler of the 900-member lodge which will celebrate its 80th birthday next year.

Walsh is a director of the foundation along with Joe Grant, chairman; Fred Connolly and Jim Conroy.

It was through Grant, administrator at Braintree High School, that the foundation made its first wish come true after learning about Marianne Grace.

Marianne, terminally ill with cancer, longed to visit Hawaii.

The foundation sprang into action and came up with $4,000 needed for the excursion.

The trip had to be postponed three times

because of her illness, but finally last winter Marianne, her boyfriend, Chris Mackey, chaperone Peggy Madden and Mrs. Madden's daughter made it to the tropical island.

While she was there, Marianne also had a second wish come true.

She was being driven to the airport for the trip home when a member of the Hawaii Lodge of Elks asked her what she would request if she could have one more wish granted.

"Another week in Hawaii," she replied. The lodge members turned the car around and hosted her for that week.

"She cried for two hours when she left Hawaii," said Walsh, "and when she came home, she couldn't thank us enough."

Marianne died a few short months later at the age of 17.

The Quincy Lodge has also performed kindnesses such as paying the air fare for a Quincy girl to fly to Florida to donate a kidney for her sister, and sending a young boy to the Ted Williams Baseball School.

In the planning stages are a trip to Bermuda for a 16-year-old terminally ill girl and a visit with the Bruins for an East Boston resident dying of leukemia.

To be eligible for help from the Rainbow Foundation, youngsters must be terminally ill, not older than 16 years of age and must come from a family without great financial resources.

The lodge would like to help other youngsters, but contributions are needed.

The main source of income for the foundation has been contributions at the lodge's weekly bingo games.

There have also been donations such as $6,000 from a two-hour aerobathon at Nu Wave Aerobics, Quincy Sq. and $1,500 from a dance-a-thon held by St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury.

A fundraiser bazaar is planned by the Quincy Nursing Home.

"We'd like to get more people to contribute," said Walsh.

"Quincy is a big city - a lot of people can help."

Tax deductible donations made payable to the Rainbow Foundation may be sent to the Quincy Lodge of Elks, 440 East Squantum St., Quincy, 02171.

"How can you say no to a dying child," asked Walsh. "We want to do everything we can to help."

Lack Of Money Abruptly Closes CD Office

The Quincy Civil Defense office on Saville Row, the nerve center of local defense activities since Pearl Harbor, was closed abruptly and Mrs. Lillian Single's position as general secretary was eliminated at the same time.

Mayor Charles A. Ross said the office was terminated because the Defense Council failed to provide additional funds to carry on its work "and what money there was ran out today."

March 14-20.

1944

41 Years Ago

This Week

Ross said files and other materials from the Civil Defense office would be moved to the mayor's office because "what little has been done there in the way of correspondence could just as well be handled from my office."

Z. Cranston Smith, the city's chief air raid warden, deplored the growing lack of interest among defense personnel and the general public.

"There seems to be a strong feeling that the war is about over," he said. "But actually we are not out of the woods yet. We are still very much at war and there is still the danger possibilities from enemy action."

BROAD STREET PLANNED

The City Council accepted a Planning Board recommendation to lay out a new 500-foot street from Southern Artery to Town River Bay to prepare for expected post-war industrial development on the city's waterfront.

Walter A. Schmitz, chairman of the Planning Board, declared that "in order to develop the land between the cemetery and the Town River prospective industrial buyers should have a means of access."

$5 MILLION BUDGET

After 36 days of debate and cuts amounting to $228,367, the City Council passed a $5,106,824.86 municipal budget for 1944, some $83,000 less than 1943. However, a supplementary budget of $44,000 was expected to be added later.

TAKING CARE OF PEARLS

Pearls should never be allowed to come in contact with acids as it will spoil them. This means no spraying of perfume or hairspray while wearing them. With pearl rings, care when hand washing and in food preparation is necessary. Air is good for pearls, however. They should not be put away in sealed plastic bags or left in closed boxes in the dark for long periods of time. In fact, pearls actually improve with wear. Some people are "pearl healers" whose skin chemistry is beneficial to the appearance of the pearl. Others have such acidity in their systems that they harm the luster of their pearls by wearing them. They should wear pearls over their clothing.

Pearls are treasure from the sea. And aren't things that are natural more beautiful? TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY will show you how pearls can be stunning by themselves in simple settings or in more ornate surroundings with diamonds and other precious gems. You'll love our jewelry the moment you see it, and it will continue to be beautiful the more you look at it. People will admire any piece you buy from us. Tell them you bought it here in Quincy at 1163 Hancock St., and not in the "Jewelers Building" in Boston. Mon.-Fri. 10-6; Sat. till 4 Tel. 479-9464. Visa, Diners, Master Card & American Express.
